Another early version

This revelation does not appear in BC. It does appear, though, in Sidney Gilbert's notebook; see the full text of that version here.

Historical Background

JSP

"After revelations in late December 1830 and early January 1831 instructed all church members in New York to move to Ohio, believers 'made preparations to Journey to the Ohio, with their wives, and children and all that they possessed, to obey the commandment of the Lord.' The group of sixty or more members residing in and around Colesville in Broome and Chenango counties, New York, constituted one of three groups that emigrated from New York to Ohio. Under the leadership of Newel Knight, they left their homes in mid-April 1831; their monthlong journey included a delay in Buffalo, New York, for more than a week because of ice in the harbor. Once vessels were again able to navigate, the group sailed for Fairport, Ohio, and arrived in the Kirtland area in mid-May.

"Knight later wrote that upon their arrival 'it was advised that the Coalesville Branch remain together and go to [a] neighboring town called Thompson as a man by the name [Leman] Copley owned a considerable tract of land there which he offered to let the Brethren occupy.' An earlier revelation had directed newly appointed bishop Edward Partridge to institute new economic arrangements among church members, who were each to consecrate property to the church and in turn be appointed steward either over the property thus consecrated or over other property distributed by the bishop. The revelation presented here gave specific directions to Partridge about how he should implement the consecration of properties and money in Thompson among the newly arrived Colesville members. Although Copley apparently offered to allow church members to live on his land in exchange for making improvements upon it, he may have lacked clear title, a possibility suggested by the language in this revelation that instructed Partridge to 'go & obtain a deed or Article of this land.' Joseph Knight Sr.'s later history affirmed that one of JS's revelations gave instruction 'to purchase a thousand acres of Land which was Claimed By Leman Copley and not paid for.'

"There was little opportunity to do as this revelation directed because Copley soon rescinded his agreement to permit the Colesville group to live and work on his land. This occurred after Copley's early May mission to the Shaker settlement at North Union, Ohio, and sometime before 6 June 1831. Neither Partridge nor the Colesville church members would have another opportunity to implement the principles of consecration expressed in this and other revelations until they arrived in Missouri."

Section 52 (6 June 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“In June 1831 a conference was held in Kirtland, Ohio, which all of the elders of the church had been directed to attend by a February revelation. As part of the conference, according to Levi Hancock, many church members gathered on 5 June ‘on the hill in a field where there was a large concourse of people collected.’ JS addressed the congregation and told them that ‘from that time the Elders would have large congregations to speak to and they must soon take their departure into the Regions west.’ The next day, 6 June, the conference continued, and that night JS dictated the text featured here, later writing that he received it ‘by an heavenly vision.’

“The revelation declared that the next conference would be held in Missouri and directed the elders to travel to Missouri two by two, by different routes, preaching along the way. Nearly all the men who had been ordained to the ‘high priesthood’ a few days earlier were now called to preach, as were several others. The revelation further instructed JS and Sidney Rigdon to leave for Missouri as soon as possible, promising that if they were faithful, the Lord would make known the location in Missouri of ‘the land of your inheritance.’”

¹This verse and the previous are an interesting example of the Lord taking a pragmatic approach with how he deals with the people—it clearly makes a difference to them psychologically, which is why it matters. Compare DC 54:9, along with everything that happened to them that summer.

Historical Background

JSP

“Sidney Gilbert, the recipient of this revelation, was Newel K. Whitney’s business partner and an early convert to the church. He may have been present at a 5 June 1831 meeting at which JS taught that ‘the Elders would have large congregations to speak to and they must soon take there departure into the Reagions west.’¹ The next evening, JS dictated a revelation that commissioned a number of elders to accompany him to Missouri, which the text called ‘the land which I will consecrate unto my People which are a remnant of Jacob & those who are heirs according to the covenant.’ The 6 June revelation did not name Gilbert among those who should travel to Missouri. JS’s history records that shortly after the reception of that revelation, Gilbert approached JS and requested direction for himself. In response, JS dictated this revelation that gave Gilbert assignments in the church, including the instruction to travel to Missouri with JS and Sidney Rigdon. Gilbert left for Missouri on 18 June with JS and Rigdon.”

Section 54 (10 June 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“This revelation provided instructions to the church members from Colesville, New York, after they encountered difficulties settling in Thompson, Ohio. In May 1831, shortly after they arrived in Ohio in compliance with revelations directing all New York members to gather there, JS instructed Bishop Edward Partridge to settle the Colesville members in Thompson on land offered by convert Leman Copley, a former Shaker.

“When JS moved to Ohio in early February, Copley had invited JS and Sidney Rigdon to live with him at Thompson, offering to ‘furnish them houses & provisions &c.’ While both JS and Rigdon made other living arrangements for their families, Joseph Knight Sr., who accompanied JS to Ohio, recalled that in March he and JS went to Thompson, presumably to see about settling the soon-to-be-emigrating Colesville congregation on Copley’s property. Once the Colesville members arrived in Ohio, JS sent them to Thompson to live on Copley’s extensive landholdings.

“The arrangement with Copley apparently granted the Colesville members the privilege to live on the property in return for making improvements upon it, and according to Joseph Knight Sr., they ‘all went to work and made fence and planted and sowed the fields.’ On May Copley was called to preach, along with Sidney Rigdon and Parley P. Pratt, to the Shaker settlement in nearby North Union, Ohio.⁷ However, the missionary expedition failed to convert any of the Shakers, and the resulting confrontation between the Mormon elders and the Shakers apparently disturbed Copley. He soon went back to North Union, where he apparently reconciled with the Shaker community, and he then returned to Thompson with Shaker leader Ashbel Kitchell, perhaps intending to evict the Mormons. During his visit to Thompson, Kitchell held a meeting with the Mormons on Copley’s farm, was involved in a contentious altercation, and initiated efforts to remove them. Joseph Knight Jr. recalled, ‘We had to leave his [Copley’s] farm and pay sixty dollars damage,’ adding bitterly that the payment was for ‘fitting up his houses and planting his ground.’

“Because of the difficulties with Copley, Newel Knight, the presiding elder over the Colesville group, went to Kirtland to consult with JS before the conference held in early June. Knight later explained that as a result of a revelation on 6 June, the last day of that conference, ‘we now understood that this [Ohio] was not the land of our inheritance—the land of promise, for it was made known in a revelation, that Missouri was the place chosen for the gathering of the Church, and several were called to lead the way to that state.’ Though that 6 June revelation addressed the church generally, the 10 June revelation responded specifically to the concerns of the Colesville members living in Thompson. Knight later introduced the revelation with these words: ‘As I had come to see brother Joseph concerning our position in Thompson, he enquired of the Lord and received the following revelation.’ John Whitmer similarly recalled, ‘At this time the Church at Thompson Ohio was involved in difficulty, because of the rebellion of Leman Copley. Who would not do as he had previously agreed. Which thing confused the whole church and finally the Lord spake unto Joseph Smith Jr the prophit.’”

HDDC 701–702 has a long entry from Jared Carer’s journal describing the “fighting and bickering among the people,” which also made this situation more difficult.

Historical Background

JSP

“This revelation was directed to William W. Phelps. In 1830, Phelps was the publisher of an anti-Masonic newspaper, the Ontario Phoenix, in Canandaigua, New York, about fourteen miles from Palmyra. On 9 April, two weeks after the Book of Mormon was offered for sale, Phelps purchased a copy. He later wrote, ‘Notwithstanding my body was not baptized into this church till...June, 1831, yet my heart was there from the time I became acquainted with the book of Mormon.’ In December 1830 he traveled to Fayette, New York, to meet JS and came away from the experience further committed to the new movement and convinced that he needed to ‘quit the folly of my way, and the fancy and fame of this world, and seek the Lord and his righteousness.’ In late April 1831, shortly after the majority of church members left New York for Ohio, Phelps was arrested and imprisoned for thirty days in Lyons, New York, apparently over a delinquent debt he owed in Canandaigua. While incarcerated, Phelps relinquished the editorship of the Phoenix, and immediately after his release he journeyed with his family to Ohio to join the Mormons. He reached Buffalo, New York, on 12 June 1831 and was in Kirtland, Ohio, by 14 June. His arrival prompted this revelation, which directed that he be ordained an elder and that he assist Oliver Cowdery in doing ‘the work of Printing.’ Phelps was soon ordained an elder and later served as a printer for The Evening and the Morning Star.”

And again, you shall be ordained to assist my servant Oliver Cowdery to do the work of printing, and of selecting and writing books for schools in this church, that little children also may receive instruction before me as is pleasing unto me.

Section 55:5

And again, verily I say unto you, for this cause you shall take your journey with my servants Joseph Smith, Jun., and Sidney Rigdon, that you may be planted in the land of your inheritance to do this work.

Section 55:6

And again, let my servant Joseph Coe also take his journey with them. The residue shall be made known hereafter, even as I will. Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“When he copied the following revelation into Revelation Book 1, John Whitmer introduced it by writing, ‘Thomas [B.] Marsh was desirous to know what he should do as the Lord had commanded him & Ezra Thayer to take their Journey to the land of Missorie but Thayer could not get ready as soon as Thomas wanted that he should.’ Thayer and Marsh had been commanded in a 6 June 1831 revelation to ‘take their Journey also preaching the word by the way unto this same land [Missouri],’ and nine days later, Marsh was apparently ready to depart with others traveling to Missouri while Thayer was not. An earlier revelation directed Thayer to board with Joseph Smith Sr. on Frederick G. Williams’s farm. That same revelation directed that ‘all the Brethren immediately assemble together & put up an house for my Servent Ezra’ on Williams’s property. It also instructed Thayer to ‘humble himself & at the conference meeting he shall be ordained unto power from on high & he shall go from thence (if he be obedient unto my commandments) & proclaim my Gospel unto the western regions with my Servents that must go forth even unto the borders of the Lamanit[e]s.’

“It is uncertain what prevented Thayer from accompanying Marsh, but this revelation refers to the ‘former commandment which I have given him [Thayer] concerning the place upon which he lives’ and the money Thayer had apparently paid for it. It is likely that he paid some of the balance Williams owed Isaac Moore on the farm where he and the Joseph Smith Sr. family lived and worked. Because the revelation asserts that ‘there shall no divisions be made upon the land,’ Thayer may have previously requested that before his departure for Missouri, a title be assigned to him for the portion of land he had paid for. The revelation also suggests that he might have requested that the money he had paid toward the debt be returned to him if he was not assigned title.

“The 6 June 1831 revelation had also directed that Newel Knight, leader of the Colesville branch then located at Thompson, Ohio, and Selah Griffin travel together to Missouri. Both men received further instruction in this 15 June revelation. Recent difficulties between the Colesville, New York, believers and landowner Leman Copley, who withdrew his offer to allow them to settle on his property, prompted a 10 June revelation that directed the Colesville group to move to Missouri. That revelation further instructed the Thompson members to ‘appoint whom you will to be your leader & to pay moneyes for you.’ Upon learning that revelations had both dictated their removal to Missouri and assigned their leader Newel Knight to leave them for a preaching mission, some of the members in Thompson may have voiced concerns to JS. Whatever the impetus, this revelation rescinded the command for Knight to leave on a mission and instead assigned Knight’s previously named missionary companion, Selah Griffin, to accompany Marsh in place of Thayer.”

Historical Background

JSP

“A 6 June 1831 revelation instructed JS, Sidney Rigdon, and certain elders to travel to ‘the land of Missorie,’ which God would ‘consecrate’ to his people. It further stated that if JS and Rigdon remained faithful, God would reveal to them the land of their inheritance. Leaving Kirtland, Ohio, on 19 June 1831, JS reached Independence, Jackson County, Missouri, on 14 July. After arriving in Independence, JS dictated this revelation on 20 July 1831 identifying ‘the land of Missorie’ as the ‘land of promise.’ John Whitmer recorded it in Revelation Book 1 as the ‘first Revelation given in Missorie.’ In Independence, JS and his group—Martin Harris, Edward Partridge, William W. Phelps, and Joseph Coe—met Oliver Cowdery, Ziba Peterson, Peter Whitmer Jr., and Frederick G. Williams, who had reached Missouri by January 1831 to proselytize among the American Indians living just west of the Missouri state line. Some of the others assigned by the June revelation to travel to Missouri arrived later in the month—apparently after the dictation of the 20 July revelation.

“According to the history JS initiated in 1838, JS spent time upon his arrival in Independence ruminating on the situation of the American Indians living in the ‘wilderness’ across the border. Perhaps because an earlier revelation explained that the city of Zion was to be built ‘among the Lamanites,’ these meditations prompted him to ask questions about when and where the city would be built: ‘When will the wilderness blossom as the rose; when will Zion be built up in her glory, and where will thy Temple stand unto which all nations shall come in the last days?’ In another account, JS remembered ‘viewing the country’ before ‘seeking diligently at the hand of God’; according to that account, God ‘manifested himself unto me, and designated to me and others, the very spot upon which he designed to commence the work of the gathering, and the upbuilding of an holy city, which should be called Zion.’ The revelation designated Missouri as the ‘Land of Zion,’ established Independence as the place at which to build the city of Zion, and designated the spot on which to build the temple. It also provided instruction to Partridge, who was appointed a bishop in February 1831, and Sidney Gilbert, who was designated in June 1831 as an agent to the church, on purchasing lands and distributing them to church members so that the members could gather in Missouri. It further assigned Gilbert to open a store and Phelps to establish a printing operation.

“The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant. John Whitmer, who did not go to Missouri at this time, later copied it into Revelation Book 1, probably sometime after JS returned to Ohio from Missouri. In August 1831, Partridge wrote to his wife that ‘the commandments’ given in Missouri would be ‘carr[ied] home’ to Ohio by ‘our brethren.’”

Historical Background

JSP

"On 1 August 1831, JS dictated this revelation to the elders of the church who had joined him in western Missouri. Just a few days earlier, a revelation had designated Jackson County, Missouri, as the location at which to build the 'City of Zion.' Upon arriving in Jackson County, however, some of the elders expressed disappointment with what they found. Oliver Cowdery, Ziba Peterson, Peter Whitmer Jr., and Frederick G. Williams had been preaching to white settlers in Independence and the vicinity since they were ejected from Indian Territory west of Missouri by February 1831. Despite their efforts, those arriving in Missouri in July found fewer than ten converts, whereas some had expected a burgeoning community of believers and perhaps a settlement that would soon be able to accommodate the migration of church members. Meanwhile, tension arose between Bishop Edward Partridge and JS. The revelation of 20 July called Partridge to manage the properties of the church and 'see to all things as it shall be appointed' by God's 'Laws,' with the assistance of Sidney Gilbert, who had been appointed 'an agent unto the church to buy lands.' According to one observer, Partridge argued with JS about the quality of the land selected for purchase. The disagreement apparently generated hard feelings on both sides. Partridge considered JS abusive, while Sidney Rigdon accused Partridge of 'having insulted the Lord's prophet.'

"In the wake of this incident and faced with the daunting prospect of actually building the city of Zion, JS dictated this 1 August revelation, probably at Independence. After addressing the 'unbelief & blindness of heart' of Partridge and others, the revelation gave 'further directions' for the establishment of Zion, as had been promised in the 20 July revelation. The revelation instructed JS to return to Ohio, directed those appointed to build up Zion to take the initiative in moving their families to Missouri, and encouraged the elders to look beyond the land's undeveloped condition and focus on its prophesied glory. The revelation also anticipated a major migration to Jackson County and provided information about the key roles that the bishop and the agent would play in regulating that migration by making known 'from time to time' the 'privileges of the lands,' or the number of individuals that the church community could accommodate. Conferences of elders were to help control the migration as well, providing counsel on who should move.

"The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant. John Whitmer later copied the version featured here into Revelation Book 1, the revelation book he was keeping in Ohio. Several copies were made in addition to Whitmer's; Partridge, for example, indicated in a 5 August letter to his wife that copies of this and other Missouri revelations were to be carried to Ohio by 'our brethren' returning from Missouri, and Elizabeth Van Benthussen Gilbert later showed a copy to Levi Hancock after Hancock arrived in Jackson County. Ezra Booth also had a copy of the revelation, and it is likely that others made personal copies.

"Eber D. Howe, editor of the Painesville Telegraph, denounced JS and the church in his 1834 book Mormonism Unveiled, which published a version of the revelation 'as a specimen of the manner in which the Prophet governs and rebukes his dupes.' Howe's copy differs somewhat from Whitmer's copy in Revelation Book 1: several phrases included in Whitmer's copy do not appear in Howe's, suggesting that Howe's copy may be derived from an earlier text. Howe also dated the revelation 3 August 1831, which differs from Whitmer's date of 1 August. Whitmer's copy, however, was inscribed much earlier than Howe's copy was published, and it is not known when or from whom Howe obtained a copy of the revelation, nor is it known what textual changes may have been made to Howe's copy, whether intentional or unintentional. Because Howe's version may have been copied from an earlier text than the Whitmer version, significant differences between the versions are noted in the annotation that follows."

Section 58:33

Then they say in their hearts: This is not the work of the Lord, for his promises are not fulfilled. But wo unto such, for their reward lurketh beneath, and not from above.

Section 58:34

And now I give unto you further directions concerning this land.

¹Compare Galatians 4:18,

²This is one of three scriptural uses of the phrase “free will.” The other two are at Mosiah 18:28 and DC 124:69.

³This verse, more than most, describes the way a Christian should be living—you should just be out there doing good things and doing righteous things. Christ lived this way, as we know from the record of his life, but it’s also described this way in Acts 10:38.

⁴What “power” are we talking about here? The power to do good? If you read it this way, the verse ends up feeling like a proclamation of our free will or liberty, which isn’t a bad thing; compare Moroni 7:13 and also 2 Nephi 2:27, where this power is enough to make us “free to choose.” This isn’t the only reading of “power,” though; I think in the past I’ve also connected it to the priesthood and priesthood power through righteous action according to the laws of the gospel.

⁵I’ve been reading the sections of the DC in order (it’s 8 June 2022), and I think there’s no question that this use of “agent” cannot be separated from other uses which are talking about the bishop or others, in a more legal or business sense (see verse 49 and verse 55 for example); we have to use those senses to understand what is going on in this verse, and probably what is going on in the BOM and elsewhere too, in places where it talks about “acting for yourself.”

⁶This is a good example of where the LDS view of damnation as cessation of progress makes sense. Here, if you obey the commandments in this way, you aren’t changing, and so you aren’t progressing. This is also good for repenting as learning, because it makes me see that damnation is just where you are not learning or refusing to learn—and learning is progress. See things like DC 93:36.

⁷JSP note: “The Howe copy has ‘ordained’ instead of ‘promised’.”

⁸Note the “command” and “revoke” language in DC 56:4.

Section 58:35

It is wisdom in me that my servant Martin Harris should be an example unto the church, in laying his moneys before the bishop of the church.

Section 58:36

And also, this is a law unto every man that cometh unto this land to receive an inheritance; and he shall do with his moneys according as the law directs.

Section 58:37

And it is wisdom also that there should be lands purchased in Independence, for the place of the storehouse, and also for the house of the printing.

Section 58:38

And other directions concerning my servant Martin Harris shall be given him¹ of the Spirit, that he may receive his inheritance as seemeth him good;

Section 58:39

And let him repent of his sins, for he seeketh the praise of the world.

Section 58:40

And also let my servant William W. Phelps stand in the office to which I have appointed him, and receive his inheritance in the land;

Section 58:41

And also he hath need to repent, for I, the Lord, am not well pleased with him, for he seeketh to excel, and he is not sufficiently meek before me.

Section 58:42

Behold, he who has repented of his sins, the same is forgiven, and I, the Lord, remember them no more.

Section 58:43

By this ye may know if a man repenteth of his sins—behold, he will confess them and forsake them.

Section 58:44

And now, verily, I say concerning the residue of the elders of my church, the time has not yet come, for many years, for them to receive their inheritance in this land, except they desire it through the prayer of faith, only as it shall be appointed unto them of the Lord.

¹JSP note: "The Howe copy omits 'shall be given him'."

Section 58:45

For, behold, they shall push the people together from the ends of the earth.

Section 58:46

Wherefore, assemble yourselves together; and they who are not appointed to stay in this land, let them preach the gospel in the regions round about; and after that let them return to their homes.

Section 58:47

Let them preach by the way, and bear testimony of the truth in all places, and call upon the rich, the high and the low, and the poor to repent.

Section 58:48

And let them build up churches, inasmuch as the inhabitants of the earth will repent.

Section 58:49

And let there be an agent appointed by the voice of the church, unto the church in Ohio, to receive moneys to purchase lands in Zion.

Section 58:50

And I give unto my servant Sidney Rigdon a commandment, that he shall write a description of the land of Zion, and a statement of the will of God, as it shall be made known by the Spirit unto him;

Section 58:51

And an epistle and subscription, to be presented¹ unto all the churches to obtain moneys, to be put into the hands of the bishop, of himself or the agent, as seemeth him good or as he shall direct, to purchase lands for an inheritance for the children of God.

Section 58:52

For, behold, verily I say unto you,² the Lord willeth that the disciples and the children of men should open their hearts, even to purchase this whole region of country, as soon as time will permit.

And again, inasmuch as there is land obtained, let there be workmen sent forth of all kinds unto this land, to labor for the saints of God.

Section 58:55

Let all these things be done in order; and let the privileges of the lands be made known from time to time, by the bishop or the agent of the church.

Section 58:56

And let the work of the gathering be not in haste, nor by flight; but let it be done as it shall be counseled by the elders of the church at the conferences, according to the knowledge which they receive¹ from time to time.

Section 58:57

And let my servant Sidney Rigdon consecrate and dedicate this land, and the spot for the temple, unto the Lord.

Section 58:58

And let a conference meeting be called; and after that let my servants Sidney Rigdon and Joseph Smith, Jun., return, and also Oliver Cowdery² with them, to accomplish the residue of the work which I have appointed unto them in their own land, and the residue as shall be ruled by the conferences.

Section 58:59

And let no man return from this land except he bear record by the way, of that which he knows and most assuredly believes.

Section 58:60

Let that which has been bestowed upon³ Ziba Peterson be taken from him; and let him stand as a member in the church, and labor with his own hands, with the brethren, until he is sufficiently chastened for all his sins; for he confesseth them not, and he thinketh to hide them.

Section 58:61

Let the residue of the elders of this church, who are coming to this land, some of whom are exceedingly blessed even above measure,⁴ also hold a conference⁵ upon this land.

Section 58:62

And let my servant Edward Partridge direct the conference which shall be held by them.

¹JSP note: "The Howe copy reads 'which they shall receive'."

²JSP note: "The Howe copy inserts 'my servant' before 'Oliver'."

³JSP note: "The Howe copy has 'given to' instead of 'bestowed upon'."

⁴JSP note: "The Howe copy omits 'even above measure'."

⁵JSP note: "In the copy of this revelation in Revelation Book 1, Rigdon inserted here the line 'upon this land: and let my Servent Edw. direct the conference.' Rigdon's insertion may have restored a line from the original revelation inadvertently omitted by copyist John Whitmer when his eye skipped from the end of the phrase 'hold a conference' to the end of the phrase 'direct the conference.' However, the Howe copy of the revelation does not include the line either. This conference was apparently held on 24 August 1831. (McLellin, Journal, 24 Aug. 1831.)"

Section 58:63

And let them also return, preaching the gospel by the way, bearing record of the things which are revealed unto them.

Section 58:64

For, verily, the sound must go forth from this place into all the world, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth—the gospel must be preached unto every creature, with signs following them that believe.

Section 58:65

And behold the Son of Man cometh. Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“On 7 August 1831, JS dictated a revelation in Missouri ‘instructing the sa[i]nts how to keep the sabbath & how to fast and pray.’ The revelation was specifically addressed to those ‘who have come up unto’ Missouri, in fulfillment of the commandment to gather there and build up the city of Zion. Some of the instruction in the revelation probably came in response to the conduct of the inhabitants of Independence, Jackson County, Missouri, among whom these Saints were living. Many of those already in Jackson County had migrated there from southern states, whereas most church members entering the area were from the Northeast. As William W. Phelps, who traveled with JS to Missouri, explained in a July 1831 letter, Jackson County residents were ‘emigrants from Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, and the Carolinas, &c., with customs, manners, modes of living and a climate entirely different from the northerners.’ One custom that was especially different was Sabbath day observance. A later JS history characterizes many of the residents as ‘the basest of men’ who ‘had fled from the face of civilized society, to the frontier country to escape the hand of justice, in their midnight revels, their sabbath breaking, horseracing, and gambling.’ A traveler to western Missouri in 1833 made a similar observation, stating that ‘the only indications of its being Sunday’ in the area was ‘the unusual Gambling & noise, & assemblies around taverns.’ Sabbath day observance, however, was an important component of worship to many members of the Church of Christ. Perhaps because of the general nonobservance of the Sabbath among the inhabitants of Jackson County, the 7 August revelation emphasized the importance of keeping the Sabbath day holy, outlining what church members should do on that day. These guidelines filled a void that neither the ‘Articles and Covenants’ of the church nor the February 1831 revelation giving the ‘Laws of the Church of Christ’ had addressed, thereby providing direction to those who would be building up the city of Zion without the benefit of JS’s in-person leadership.

“The revelation may have also been a response to the concerns of those who had gone to Missouri and felt daunted by the task of building up Zion in a region described by one observer as containing only ‘two or three merchants stores, and fifteen or twenty dwelling houses, built mostly of logs hewed on both sides.’ The writer Washington Irving, who traveled through Independence in 1832 on an expedition with federal Indian commissioners, also commented on the ‘rougher and rougher life’ he encountered as he got closer to the town, while his traveling companion Charles Latrobe described Independence as ‘full of promise’ but containing ‘nothing but a ragged congeries of five or six rough log huts, two or three clapboard houses, two or three so-called hotels, alias grogshops; [and] a few stores.’ Perhaps to encourage the Saints in such conditions, the revelation promised the bounties of the earth to church members and reminded them to express gratitude to God.

“The revelation assured heavenly rewards for the obedient who would die in Zion—prompted, perhaps, by the death on the morning of 7 August of Polly Peck Knight, the fifty-seven-year-old wife of Joseph Knight Sr., and a friend of JS and his family. Polly Knight had traveled to Missouri with the Colesville Saints, but after falling ill she became ‘the first death in the church in this land.’¹ It is unclear whether this revelation was dictated before or after JS was informed of her death.

“Oliver Cowdery served as the scribe for the original inscription of this revelation. The copy featured here belonged to Newel K. Whitney and is also in Cowdery’s handwriting. Whitney’s copy may be the original but is more likely a fair copy. It was likely made for him sometime after Cowdery returned to Ohio at the end of August. Around that same time, John ¹HDDC 752 contains an account of Polly Knight’s death.

Whitmer copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1. That there are few differences between the two copies suggests they were made around the same time or from the same copy.”

Historical Background

“On 8 August 1831, JS dictated a revelation instructing ‘some of the Elders’ who had traveled to Missouri to return to Ohio, preaching along the way. These elders had reached Missouri in mid- to late July and participated in the dedication of the land for the building of the city of Zion, the dedication of a temple site, and a conference with JS and other leaders. ‘Finding but little or no business for us to accomplish’ once this ‘work’ was done, Ezra Booth wrote, ‘most of us became anxious to return home.’ A later JS history recounts that the elders inquired of JS ‘what they were to do,’ and this revelation was the response.

“The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant. John Whitmer copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1 (which he was keeping in Ohio), probably shortly after the elders returned from Missouri. Others present at the time the revelation was dictated may have made personal copies as well; Booth, for example, referenced the revelation in a September letter to Edward Partridge, suggesting that he had his own copy.”

Section 61 (12 August 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“Having overseen the dedication of the land for the establishment of Zion, JS departed Independence, Jackson County, Missouri, for Ohio on 9 August 1831 in the company of ten elders. On 12 August, at a location on the Missouri River that a later JS history calls ‘McIlwaine’s Bend,’ JS dictated a revelation explaining the many dangers that existed on the river and instructing most of those returning to Ohio to leave the water and travel by land. The content of the revelation reflected experiences JS and his group had gone through as they made their way to St. Louis, Missouri. Although nothing eventful occurred in the first day or two of their journey, discord apparently arose within the group when Oliver Cowdery chastised some of the elders for inappropriate conduct and warned them that misfortune would befall them if they did not repent. Soon after, a sawyer—a submerged tree anchored to the bottom of the river—nearly capsized the canoe carrying JS and Sidney Rigdon. Unnerved by this encounter, JS instructed the group to exit the water and camp for the night. According to a later JS history, William W. Phelps then experienced ‘an open vision, by daylight,’ of ‘the Destroyer, in his most horrible power, rid[ing] upon the face of the waters.’¹ The contention within the group was resolved later that night, and JS dictated the revelation the next morning.

“The revelation stated that God had permitted the elders to travel via the Missouri River to St. Louis, as instructed in an 8 August revelation, so that they could testify of the dangers on the water and warn church members not to travel to Zion on the river. At the time, the Missouri River was considered navigable only approximately three months out of the year. An 183 Missouri gazetteer referred to the ‘mad water’ of the river and noted that ‘freights and ensurance and pilot-wages’ were higher for Missouri River navigation than for other waterways because of ‘the dangers of the ever-varying channel of the river.’⁷ Other publications noted the frequent occurrence of sawyers, which were ‘the most formidable dangers to navigation of the river’ and caused 70 percent of all steamboat wrecks. ‘These snags were the terror of the pilot,’ according to an early history of Missouri River navigation, and were perhaps one reason for John Whitmer’s designation of the river in the revelation’s heading as ‘the River Distruction.’ After speaking to some of the elders who journeyed to Missouri, Elizabeth Godkin Marsh relayed that the river ‘is always rily and bubly and looks mad as if it had been cursed.’ The revelation emphasized again the need for the elders to proclaim the gospel as they journeyed home and gave specific instructions to JS, Rigdon, and Cowdery to forego traveling on the river. Thereafter, JS, Rigdon, and Cowdery traveled by land to St. Louis and then took a stagecoach to Kirtland, Ohio, by way of Cincinnati.

“The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant. Presumably, either Cowdery or Rigdon, two of JS’s scribes, wrote the revelation as JS dictated it. Whitmer copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1, probably shortly after JS, Rigdon, and Cowdery returned to Kirtland, Ohio. Sidney Gilbert also made a copy in a book of revelations he was keeping, probably in this same time period.”²

But verily I say unto you, that it is not needful for this whole company of mine elders to be moving swiftly upon the waters, whilst the inhabitants on either side are perishing in unbelief.

Section 61:4

Nevertheless, I suffered it that ye might bear record; behold, there are many dangers upon the waters, and more especially hereafter;

Section 61:5

For I, the Lord, have decreed in mine anger many destructions upon the waters; yea, and especially upon these waters.

Section 61:6

Nevertheless, all flesh is in mine hand, and he that is faithful among you shall not perish by the waters.

Section 61:7

Wherefore, it is expedient that my servant Sidney Gilbert and my servant William W. Phelps be in haste upon their errand and mission.

Section 61:8

Nevertheless, I would not suffer that ye should part until you were chastened for all your sins, that you might be one, that you might not perish in wickedness;

Section 61:9

But now, verily I say, it behooveth me that ye should part. Wherefore let my servants Sidney Gilbert and William W. Phelps take their former company, and let them take their journey in haste that they may fill their mission, and through faith they shall overcome;

Section 61:14

Behold, I, the Lord, in the beginning blessed the waters; but in the last days, by the mouth of my servant John, I cursed the waters.

Section 61:15

Wherefore, the days will come that no flesh shall be safe upon the waters.

Section 61:16

And it shall be said in days to come that none is able to go up to the land of Zion upon the waters, but he that is upright in heart.

Section 61:17

And, as I, the Lord, in the beginning cursed the land, even so in the last days have I blessed it, in its time, for the use of my saints, that they may partake the fatness thereof.

Section 61:18

And now I give unto you a commandment that what I say unto one I say unto all, that you shall forewarn your brethren concerning these waters, that they come not in journeying upon them, lest their faith fail and they are caught in snares;

Section 61:19

I, the Lord, have decreed, and the destroyer rideth upon the face thereof, and I revoke not the decree.

Section 61:20

I, the Lord, was angry with you yesterday, but today mine anger is turned away.

Section 61:21

Wherefore, let those concerning whom I have spoken, that should take their journey in haste—again I say unto you, let them take their journey in haste.

Section 61:22

And it mattereth not unto me, after a little, if it so be that they fill their mission, whether they go by water or by land; let this be as it is made known unto them according to their judgments hereafter.

Section 61:23

And now, concerning my servants, Sidney Rigdon, Joseph Smith, Jun., and Oliver Cowdery, let them come not again upon the waters, save it be upon the canal, while journeying unto their homes; or in other words they shall not come upon the waters to journey, save upon the canal.

Section 61:24

Behold, I, the Lord, have appointed a way for the journeying of my saints; and behold, this is the way—that after they leave the canal they shall journey by land, inasmuch as they are commanded to journey and go up unto the land of Zion;

Section 61:25

And they shall do like unto the children of Israel, pitching their tents by the way.

Section 61:26

And, behold, this commandment you shall give unto all your brethren.

Section 61:27

Nevertheless, unto whom is given power to command the waters, unto him it is given by the Spirit to know all his ways;

Section 61:28

Wherefore, let him do as the Spirit of the living God commandeth him, whether upon the land or upon the waters, as it remaineth with me to do hereafter.

Section 61:29

And unto you is given the course for the saints, or the way for the saints of the camp of the Lord, to journey.

Section 61:30

And again, verily I say unto you, my servants, Sidney Rigdon, Joseph Smith, Jun., and Oliver Cowdery, shall not open their mouths in the congregations of the wicked until they arrive at Cincinnati;

Section 61:31

And in that place they shall lift up their voices unto God against that people, yea, unto him whose anger is kindled against their wickedness, a people who are well-nigh ripened for destruction.

Section 61:32

And from thence let them journey for the congregations of their brethren, for their labors even now are wanted more abundantly among them than among the congregations of the wicked.

Section 61:33

And now, concerning the residue, let them journey and declare the word among the congregations of the wicked, inasmuch as it is given;

Section 61:34

And inasmuch as they do this they shall rid their garments, and they shall be spotless before me.

Section 61:35

And let them journey together, or two by two, as seemeth them good, only let my servant Reynolds Cahoon, and my servant Samuel H. Smith, with whom I am well pleased, be not separated until they return to their homes, and this for a wise purpose in me.

Section 61:36

And now, verily I say unto you, and what I say unto one I say unto all, be of good cheer,¹ little children; for I am in your midst, and I have not forsaken you;

Section 61:37

And inasmuch as you have humbled yourselves before me, the blessings of the kingdom are yours.

Section 61:38

Gird up your loins and be watchful and be sober, looking forth for the coming of the Son of Man, for he cometh in an hour you think not.

Section 61:39

Pray always that you enter not into temptation, that you may abide the day of his coming, whether in life or in death. Even so. Amen.

Section 62 (13 August 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 13 August 1831, as JS and several elders were on their way back to Ohio after spending a few weeks in Independence, Jackson County, Missouri, JS dictated this revelation outlining the responsibilities of elders traveling to Missouri who had not yet reached the land of Zion. At this time, some elders commanded to journey to Missouri had been delayed, in part because of their efforts to preach along the way and in part because of illness. John Murdock and Hyrum Smith, for example, were instructed in a June 1831 revelation to go to Missouri by way of Detroit, Michigan Territory. They followed this direction but were delayed when Murdock fell ill in the first part of August. Murdock and Hyrum Smith spent a week in Chariton, Chariton County, Missouri, while Murdock recovered, and were soon joined by David Whitmer and Harvey Whitlock, who were also en route to Independence. In anticipation of the arrival of these missionaries, a 1 August revelation had instructed ‘the residue of the Elders of this church which are coming to this land’ to ‘hold a conference’ in Jackson County once they arrived.

“On 13 August, JS and his companions crossed the Missouri River at Chariton and found Murdock, Hyrum Smith, Whitmer, and Whitlock there. ‘After the joyful salutations with which brethren meet each other,’ a later history recounted, JS dictated the present revelation. The copy of the revelation made by John Whitmer locates the revelation ‘on the Bank of the river Missorie,’ likely meaning the northern bank, at Chariton. The revelation instructed those elders to continue to Zion, to hold a meeting there, and then to return to their homes.

“The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant. John Whitmer copied the text featured here into Revelation Book 1, probably shortly after JS, Sidney Rigdon, and Oliver Cowdery returned to Kirtland, Ohio, at the end of August. Some personal copies of the revelation were also made, including a copy Elizabeth Van Benthussen Gilbert showed to Levi Hancock¹ when he came to Independence in late 1831.²

²JSP note: “According to Hancock’s account, when the Saints in Jackson County saw a copy of this revelation—probably brought to them by one of the four elders to whom it was directed—it ‘tried’ their faith. The revelation’s contents, which included commendations of those who had borne testimony and which implied high expectations for proselytizing success, apparently struck the Missouri Saints as incongruous with the results of the elders’ preaching. As Elizabeth Van Benthussen Gilbert explained to Hancock, ‘Their faith almost failed them because they had heard that nothing was done.’ In reference to the elders, she said that ‘many had apostatized.’ After Hancock, Zebedee Coltrin, Simeon Carter, and Solomon Hancock arrived later in the fall with news that they had baptized over a hundred individuals, the ‘drooping Spirits’ of the Missouri saints were ‘revived.’ (‘Autobiography of Levi Ward Hancock,’ ca. 1896, 40–41; see also History of the Reorganized Church, 1:195; and Minutes, 1 Sept. 1831.)” HDDC 784 has some of the Hancock material.

Historical Background

JSP

“Three days after JS arrived in Kirtland, Ohio, from Independence, Jackson County, Missouri, a 30 August revelation provided information about the gathering of the Saints to Missouri. As a later JS history explained, the identification of Independence as the ‘centre place’ of Zion made “‘the land of Zion’...the most important temporal object’ to church members. Despite Zion’s importance, much uncertainty still surrounded the process of gathering to Zion. Funds were required to purchase lands in and around Independence for the gathering. A 1 August 1831 revelation had intimated that not all of the Saints would migrate to Zion at once, and some members may have questioned how leaders would determine who would move. That same revelation also instructed that an epistle and subscription ‘be presented unto all the Churches to obtain money to be put into the hands of the Bishop,’ but who would take these documents to the different churches had not been determined. Compounding the problem of this uncertainty, JS, Sidney Rigdon, and Oliver Cowdery discovered upon their return to Ohio that ‘many [had] apostitized’ in their absence. Coming on the heels of the antagonism that JS had apparently experienced from some of his company of elders on the return trip to Ohio, the knowledge that many others had fallen away was distressing: ‘We could not help beholding,’ a later JS history recounts about this time period, ‘the exertions of Satan to blind the eyes of the people so as to hide the true light that lights every man that comes into the world.’

“The 30 August revelation addressed many of the issues JS faced on his return to Kirtland, providing instruction on how those who were to move to Zion would be selected, how quickly the Saints should gather to Zion, and how to prepare for Christ’s return to the earth. It condemned the wicked both in and out of the church, especially sign seekers and adulterers, and appointed Newel K. Whitney and Cowdery to raise money for Zion. As Rigdon wrote the next day, the revelation gave instruction on how to ‘escape...the day of tribulation which is coming on the earth.’ A passage in this revelation addressed the church members residing on ‘this farm,’ indicating that JS dictated the revelation on the Isaac Morley farm, where he had left his family in June and where many of the Saints traveling to Ohio in 1831 relocated.

“Oliver Cowdery served as scribe for this revelation. Whitney had a copy of the revelation in Cowdery’s handwriting, which may be the original inscription. However, the handwriting is so compact and neat that it is likely a fair copy made by Cowdery. He may have made it for Whitney and himself to take with them as they traveled together to the different churches. Whitney endorsed his copy with the date of 31 August 1831, likely an incorrect date. Other early copies of the revelation inscribed around this same time—including one that John Whitmer made in Revelation Book 1 and one that Sidney Gilbert made in his book of revelations—bear the date of 30 August.”¹

Section 64 (11 September 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“JS dictated a revelation in Kirtland, Ohio, on 11 September 1831, just a few days after arriving back from Independence, Jackson County, Missouri. Although the Missouri trip involved the identification of the site for the city of Zion and the dedication of land for the construction of a temple, it generated disappointment and disillusionment for some. Despite high expectations, Oliver Cowdery and his companions had been unsuccessful in their attempts to preach to the American Indians, or ‘Lamanites,’ west of the Missouri border. Their subsequent efforts among the white population of Jackson County, Missouri, yielded little success. Disappointment also stemmed from the designation of Independence, a rough frontier village, as the ‘centre place’ for the city of Zion. Ezra Booth, one of the elders called to travel to Missouri in the summer of 1831, also expressed disillusionment with JS himself. Booth complained that he and his companion, Isaac Morley, had to walk to Missouri while JS, Sidney Rigdon, and other church leaders traveled by way of stagecoach and canal. Apparently, Booth witnessed a confrontation between Edward Partridge and JS over the quality of Missouri land selected for purchase. Booth believed that JS’s conduct in these disagreements was unbecoming a Christian. Rigdon, likely referring to the same incident, placed the blame on Partridge, stating he had ‘insulted the Lord’s prophet in particular & assumed authority over him in open violation of the Laws of God.’¹ Partridge was later penitent: the same minutes that contain Rigdon’s accusation record Partridge saying that ‘if Br. Joseph has not forgiven him he hopes he will, as he is & has always been sorry.’ Booth, on the other hand, apparently became more resentful, and a conference barred him from preaching as an elder in the church on 6 September 1831.

“A week later, this 11 September revelation expounded on the necessity of forgiveness and specifically referred to problems involving Booth, Morley, and Partridge, indicating that the latter two were forgiven for their sins. It also discussed preparations for the gathering to Missouri. The revelation clarified the relationship between Kirtland and Missouri: a previous revelation had established Independence as the ‘centre place’ at which to build the city of Zion, and this revelation declared that Kirtland, where the Saints had previously gathered, would remain ‘a strong hold’ for five years. It also identified what property should be retained in Kirtland. Portraying a bright future for the land of Zion, the revelation offered encouragement to those who remained committed to the mission and leadership of JS.

“The original manuscript of the revelation is not extant. John Whitmer copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1 probably soon after its dictation, calling it ‘Directions to the Elders &c &c.’ Sidney Gilbert also made a copy, dating the revelation 12 September 1831. Although JS held a conference of elders on 12 September—an appropriate setting for dictating a revelation—all other manuscript copies bear the same 11 September date as the version of the text featured here.”

HDDC

“At least as early as December 1830, Joseph Smith, with Sidney Rigdon as scribe, was working on a project to correct the text of the Bible. Such a project was very time consuming [sic], but was considered important enough for Joseph to devote many hours of labor to it. The extended trip to Independence, Missouri had interrupted this work for about three months, and the Prophet must have been anxious to recommence his labors on the Bible when he returned in late August 1831. At this point a real friend stepped forward² and offered Joseph the aid he needed to have sufficient time and solitude to work on the project” (811).

Historical Background

JSP

“On 30 October 1831, JS dictated a revelation later characterized as a ‘revelation on prayer.’ William E. McLellin, who may have been present when the revelation was dictated and who made a copy of it soon after, wrote that it related to Matthew 6:10—the passage of the Lord’s Prayer in which Christ petitions, ‘Thy kingdom come.’ Although JS was working on his revision of the Bible at this time, he had already reached the last chapters of Matthew or even the first chapters of Mark. His review of Matthew 6:10 came more than six months earlier, suggesting that the revelation was not connected to the revision of that passage,³ although, as McLellin stated, the two certainly had a thematic tie. The revelation, which declares that the keys of God's kingdom have been returned to the earth to prepare it for the second coming of Jesus Christ, culminates with a prayer for the growth of that kingdom.

"The revelation may have been dictated as part of a church service held at John and Alice (Elsa) Jacobs Johnson's home on Sunday, 30 October 1831. McLellin wrote in his journal that he preached there that day in a meeting attended by JS and several others of 'the brethren & sisters.' McLellin did not refer to this revelation in his journal, but since JS was present, this may have been the venue where the revelation was dictated.

"It is unclear who served as scribe for the original manuscript. McLellin inscribed a revelation just the day before,¹ but John Whitmer, Sidney Rigdon, and Oliver Cowdery, all of whom had worked or were working as JS's scribes, were at the Johnson home that Sunday. In any case, within three weeks both Whitmer and McLellin made copies of the revelation.⁷ It is difficult to determine which of the two is the earliest extant version, but because Whitmer's copy (which he included in Revelation Book 1 and which is featured here) shows less punctuation, it may more closely represent the original."²

JSP

“On 29 October 1831, William E. McLellin wrote in his journal, ‘The Lord condescended to hear my prayr and give me a revelation of his will, through his prophet or Seer (Joseph).’ McLellin, a recent convert from Paris, Illinois, met JS for the first time at the 25–26 October 1831 conference in Orange, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, where McLellin was ordained to the high priesthood. At the conclusion of the conference, he accompanied JS to Hiram, Ohio, arriving there on 29 October. McLellin later recalled that on that day, he ‘went before the Lord in secret, and on my knees asked him to reveal the answer to five questions through his Prophet.’ At McLellin’s request, JS dictated a revelation for him, perhaps in the southeast upstairs bedroom of the John and Alice (Elsa) Jacobs Johnson home, where JS worked on his revision of the Bible. According to McLellin, the revelation answered the questions ‘to my full and entire satisfaction.’ Although McLellin never explained what his five queries were, the revelation’s contents indicate that he was probably concerned about his standing before God and about what the Lord desired him to do.

HDCC

“One of the most interesting sidelights of this revelation occurred after William E. McLellin apostatized. Elder Heber C. Kimball related how a warning given in this revelation was literally fulfilled. The following is taken from Heber C. Kimball’s journal.

William E. McLellin wanted to know where Heber C. Kimball was, some one pointed me out to him, as I was sitting on the ground: he came up to me and said ‘Bro. Heber what do you think of Joseph Smith the fallen prophet, now, has he not led you blindfolded long enough; look and see yourself poor, your family stripped and robbed, and your brethren in the same fix, are you satisfied with Joseph? I replied ‘Yes, I am more satisfied with him a hundred fold, then ever I was before, for I see you in the very position that he foretold you would be in; a Judas to betray your brethren, if you did not forsake your adultery, fornication, lying and abominations. Where are you? What are you about? you, and Hinkle, and scores of others; have you not betrayed Joseph and his brethren into the hands of the Mob, as Judas did Jesus? Yes, verily, you have; I tell you Mormonism is true, and Joseph is a true prophet of the living God, and you with all others that turn therefrom will be damned and go to hell, and Judas will rule over you.’¹

“William E. McLellin never did repent in order to affiliate with the Church again and finally died an obscure person in Independence, Missouri on April 24, 1883.”

Section 67 (Circa 2 November 1831)

Relation to section 1

Section 67 was given at the same conference during which JS received section 1.

Historical Background

JSP

“At a 1–2 November 1831 conference that discussed the publication of the Book of Commandments, JS ‘received’ a ‘testimony of the witnesses to the book of the Lord’s commandments.’ Several elders signed the statement and, by so doing, testified that the Holy Ghost had ‘born record’ that the revelations ‘are given by inspiration of God & are profitable for all men & are verily true.’¹ At this same conference, JS dictated this revelation, which addressed the fact that some of the elders had not received such a spiritual conviction. That manifestation had not come, the revelation explained, because of ‘fears’ in the hearts of the elders. The revelation also disclosed that some of the elders questioned the ‘imperfections’ in the language JS used in the revelations, even though another revelation that emerged from the conference declared that the commandments were given to God’s ‘Servents in their weakness after the manner of their Language.’² To dispel the hesitation to testify about the source of the revelations, this November revelation challenged the elders to write a revelation ‘like unto’ those dictated by JS, emphasizing that if the elders failed, they would be justified in testifying to the world of the divine origin of JS’s revelations and condemned if they did not so testify.

“The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant, but John Whitmer dated it 2 November when he copied it into Revelation Book 1, likely sometime before his departure for Missouri on 20 November 1831. Unlike the minutes for proceedings of the conference on 1 November, the minutes for 2 November do not specifically mention dictation of a revelation, leaving open the possibility that this revelation could be the one referred to in the 1 November minutes as coming after JS ‘asked the conference what testimony they were willing to attach to these commandments.’ According to the minutes, several elders ‘arose and said that they were willing to testify to the world that they knew that they were of the Lord.’ Thereafter, a revelation was ‘received relative to the same’—perhaps this revelation, despite its being dated 2 November. A later JS history supports this possibility, stating that after the dictation of the preface to the Book of Commandments on 1 November, ‘some conversation was had concerning Revelations and language.’ The history then presents this revelation as following that conversation.⁶ Although this is a plausible scenario for the production of the revelation, it does not explain why Whitmer then dated the document 2 November. Whatever the case, it is clear that the revelation—addressed to ‘ye Elders of my Church who have assembled yourselves together’—was dictated sometime during the 1–2 November conference.”

Relation to section 1

Section 68 was given at the same conference during which JS received section 1.

Historical Background

JSP

“On 1–2 November 1831, ten elders convened a conference in Hiram, Ohio, to discuss the publication of the Book of Commandments, a compilation of JS’s revelations. According to a later JS history, four of the conference attendees—Orson Hyde, Luke Johnson, Lyman Johnson, and William E. McLellin—approached JS during the conference and requested to know the Lord’s will concerning them. This revelation came in response to their inquiry. The revelation provided more information about the evangelizing duties of the four men specifically and of elders in general. While Hyde, McLellin, and Luke Johnson were all ordained to the high priesthood at a conference held in Orange, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, a week earlier, Lyman Johnson was ordained to the high priesthood at the Hiram conference on 2 November.

“After closing the portion of the revelation addressed specifically to the four men with an ‘Amen,’ the document shifts its audience to the church in general and gives additional information about the office of bishop, as well as counsel to members of the church ‘in Zion’ about teaching and baptizing their children and avoiding idleness and greed. The text may originally have been dictated as two discrete revelations, which, like some other revelations closely related in time or content, were then copied together and presented as a single, unified text. All extant copies of the text—whether in manuscript or published form—present both parts as one revelation.

“The original manuscript of the revelation is not extant, and the conference minutes do not mention the revelation. However, the copy in Revelation Book 1 is dated 1 November 1831 and a heading states that it was ‘given in Hiram Nov. 1. 1831.’ John Whitmer and Oliver Cowdery copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1, probably soon after its dictation.”

HDDC

“There are several rather important alterations in the text of this revelation. Most of them are connected with explaining the duties and qualifications of a Bishop, and the responsibility of the person who calls another to that office in the priesthood. In 1831, when this revelation was given, there was no First Presidency of the Church, and it was not until March 1835 that much of the information about bishops was revealed (see DC 107). Therefore, in light of these later revelations, Section 68 contained several changes when it was published in the Kirtland reprint of the Evening and Morning Star, June 1835, and these changes have been retained in all printings since then. Most of the changes are identified in the Text Analysis by the letters E, F, G, and I on page 111 and letters A and B on page 112.

⁴A lot of this stuff in these passages just doesn't make a lot of sense to me. How do you know if you're a "literal" descendent of Aaron? And what does it mean to be the "firstborn" in this sense? (You're going to have to look to verse 21 here.) The relationship to the "high priesthood" doesn't make a lot of sense to me either.

Section 69 (11 November 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 11 November 1831, JS dictated this revelation assigning ‘John [Whitmer]’ to accompany ‘Oliver [Cowdery]’ on an upcoming trip to Missouri. Sometime in late October or early November, Oliver Cowdery received the assignment to carry JS’s revelations to Missouri so they could be published at the printing office William W. Phelps was establishing there. John Whitmer later wrote that he was appointed by revelation to accompany Cowdery. This 11 November directive for Whitmer—who, according to a March 1831 revelation, was responsible for keeping ‘the Church Record & History continually’—to go to Missouri indicates that the records necessary to maintain a history of the church were to be kept there. While this revelation did not enumerate exactly which records should be preserved, it indicated that among them were the accounts of Saints who were ‘abroad in the Earth,’ supplemented by records Whitmer himself was to obtain by traveling to different congregations. The revelation also reiterated the need for Whitmer to write in his history ‘all the important things which he shall observe & know concerning my Church.’

“The original manuscript of the revelation is not extant. John Whitmer copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1, probably before his and Cowdery’s departure for Missouri on 20 November. When Whitmer copied the revelation, he dated it 11 October 1831, but he later changed the date to 11 November 1831. Whitmer copied the revelation between the testimony of the divine origin of JS’s revelations, written sometime around 2 November, and another revelation dated 11 November, suggesting that November and not October was the correct month. Although ‘11’ is probably the correct day, an account in a later JS history raises some questions. According to that history, ‘The Book of Commandments and Revelations was to be dedicated, by prayer, to the service of Almighty God, by me; and after I had done this, I enquired of the Lord concerning these things, and received’ the revelation. This dedication occurred at a conference held on 12 November. Since that conference focused on the publication of the revelations, it is plausible that the revelation was dictated then, although the minutes of the conference do not record such an event. Without additional evidence, 11 November remains the more probable date.”

Section 70 (12 November 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 12 November 1831, JS dictated this revelation in which he and others were appointed stewards over the revelations and commandments of the church. JS may have dictated this revelation during or immediately after a conference held that same day, in which he petitioned the elders to compensate those who had assisted him in producing the ‘sacred writings’ of the church. Although the 12 November minutes do not explicitly mention the revelation, the similar subject matter of both the conference and the revelation indicate that the two are closely related. A later history states that the revelation came ‘in answer to an enquiry’ and suggests that JS dictated it after the conference approved a resolution stating that the revelations were ‘worth to the church, the riches of the whole earth, speaking temporally.’ It is unclear what the original inquiry was, but the revelation’s designation of JS and five others as stewards over the publishing concerns of the church allowed them to claim compensation for their service in recording, preserving, and publishing the revelations.

“According to the revelation, the stewards would have claim to any profits resulting from the publication of the revelations ‘for their necessities & their wants,’ with any remainder to be transferred to the Lord’s storehouse. This mode of compensation through stewardships followed earlier instructions given to church members about consecrating property, whereby Saints were appointed stewards over an inheritance and then donated any surplus to the bishop. Church members had also been told that the elders and their families would be ‘supported out of the property which is consecrated to the Lord either a stewardship or otherwise.’ This revelation reemphasized these principles while also reiterating that no one—not even those in leadership positions—was exempt from ‘this law.’ All were required to adhere to the principles embedded in the consecration commandments.

“The original manuscript of this revelation is not extant. Oliver Cowdery, who as clerk of the conference may have been the original scribe for the revelation, copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1, which he and John Whitmer were preparing to take to Missouri.”

Section 71 (1 December 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“After holding several conferences early in November regarding the publication of the revelations, JS dictated a revelation on 1 December 1831 directing the Lord’s ‘Servents’ to proclaim the gospel ‘in the regions round about . . . for the space of a season.’ Later copies of this revelation identified the ‘Servents’ as JS and Sidney Rigdon. This revelation directed JS and Rigdon to pave the way for the publication of the revelations through preaching. The need to preach seems to have grown more urgent because of the actions of Ezra Booth and Symonds Rider, who had begun to antagonize the church. A conference of elders including JS disciplined Booth on 6 September 1831, and in October the Ravenna, Ohio, newspaper Ohio Star began publishing Booth’s letters criticizing JS and the Church of Christ. The issue of the Ohio Star published shortly before this revelation was dictated printed Booth’s seventh letter, which included a message to Edward Partridge. Booth counseled Partridge to ‘place yourself from under the influence of the men who have deceived you’ and to ‘fly from the habitations haunted by impostors.’

“In response to these criticisms and prompted by the revelation, Rigdon invited Booth to a lecture in Ravenna on 25 December, where he would ‘review’ Booth’s letters and show them to be ‘an unfair and false representation of the subjects on which they treat.’ Rigdon also challenged Rider to a public debate on the Book of Mormon. Both men declined Rigdon’s invitations. Rigdon still lectured in Ravenna against Booth’s letters, and he and JS preached in Shalersville ‘and other places, setting forth the truth.’

“JS probably dictated this revelation in the upstairs bedroom of the John and Alice (Elsa) Jacobs Johnson home in Hiram, Ohio. Rigdon, who was then serving as JS’s scribe on the Bible revision, likely wrote the revelation as JS dictated it. The original manuscript is apparently not extant. The copy featured here, which is in Rigdon’s handwriting, later came into the possession of Newel K. Whitney in Kirtland, Ohio. But because Rigdon wrote this copy of the 1 December revelation on the same sheet of paper as a 4 December 1831 revelation—with the 4 December revelation coming first—it is unlikely that Whitney’s copy is the original inscription.”¹

JSP

Verses 1–8

“This revelation and the two that follow were all dictated on 4 December 1831 in the same setting. On 3 December 1831, JS and Sidney Rigdon traveled to Kirtland from Hiram, Ohio, to fulfill a commandment given in a 1 December revelation to preach ‘unto the world in the regions round about and in the church.’ According to a later JS history, ‘on the 4th several of the Elders and members assembled together to learn their duty and for edification’—a gathering described in the revelation as a conference of high priests. Minutes of this meeting are not extant, but the JS history notes that it included conversations about ‘our temporal and Spiritual welfare.’ JS and Rigdon may have also instructed the elders on the need to counter the published criticisms of former church member Ezra Booth.

“This revelation, the first of three JS apparently dictated during the conference, focused on the appointment of Newel K. Whitney as the second bishop in the church. In August 1831, Whitney was designated as ‘an agent unto the Desiples,’ a role that included some responsibilities that were similar to the duties he would have as bishop. Edward Partridge was originally called as bishop in Kirtland in February 1831, but in the summer he relocated to Independence, Missouri, where he served as the bishop in Zion. In November 1831, a revelation explained that as the church grew, ‘other Bishops’ were ‘to be set apart unto the church to minister even according to the first.’ These bishops, the revelation continued, were to ‘be appointed by a confrenc [conference] of high priests.’ Accordingly, after Whitney was selected by revelation, he was appointed during the 4 December conference. A second revelation dictated at this same conference dealt with Whitney’s duties as bishop, while the third revelation gave requirements for those migrating to Zion.

“Because no minutes of the 4 December conference exist, it is difficult to determine the exact circumstances under which these revelations were dictated. Conference attendees may have decided before the first revelation was dictated—possibly in connection with their conversation on ‘temporal and Spiritual welfare’—to appoint a bishop for Ohio. If so, the first revelation apparently affirmed this decision, since it told the assembled high priests that ‘in this thing ye have done wisely.’ The revelation then identified Whitney as the man appointed.

“When the three 4 December revelations were published, they were presented as a single combined text, but manuscript copies indicate they were originally three separately dictated texts. The first revelation refers to Whitney as ‘the man who shall be appointed and ordained,’ whereas the second revelation begins with a sentence referring to the bishop who ‘has been ordained,’ indicating that Whitney’s appointment and ordination occurred after the first revelation was dictated but before the second. The second revelation begins with ‘The word of the Lord’—a conventional textual marker for the beginning of a discrete revelation text. A copy of these two revelations made by JS and Frederick G. Williams in Revelation Book 2 around March 1832 supports this assessment: a clear break exists in the text between the first and second revelations, and a new heading with a date appears before the second revelation. The table of contents to Revelation Book 2 also treats these as two separate 4 December revelations, referring to one as ‘A Revelation given to choose a Bishop’ and the other as ‘also another in addition to the Law making known the duty of the Bishop.’ Furthermore, other early manuscript copies (including the copy held by Whitney) preface the second revelation with the heading ‘The duty of the Bishop as made known at the same time.’ Although there is not a similar break or heading in manuscript copies before the third revelation, it too appears to be separate: the second revelation ends with the words ‘and now I make an end of my sayings Amen,’ indicating the formal closure of a discrete revelation text.

“Sidney Rigdon probably served as the original scribe for these three revelations. The copy featured here, which is in Rigdon’s handwriting and was held by Whitney, may be the original manuscript. The versions of the 4 December revelations featured in this volume were written on the same sheet of paper as a 1 December 1831 revelation, but the 4 December revelations were apparently inscribed first, meaning that Rigdon could have written the revelations on the paper as JS dictated and then copied the 1 December revelation thereafter.”

“JS dictated this revelation at the same 4 December 1831 conference in Kirtland, Ohio, at which he dictated two other revelations, including one calling for the appointment of Newel K. Whitney as a bishop in Ohio. A November 1831 revelation explained that when other bishops were appointed, they would ‘act in the same office’ as Edward Partridge, bishop in Zion. The revelation designating Whitney as bishop stated that his responsibilities would be ‘made known’ both by revelation and ‘by the voice of the conference,’ indicating that some of these duties may have been discussed at the conference at which the revelation was dictated. This 4 December revelation specified Whitney’s duties, in coordination with Partridge’s, and emphasized that Whitney and Partridge should maintain close ties. Whitney was to operate the storehouse in Ohio to provide for the needs of the elders preaching the gospel and of the stewards over the revelations. Any debts these individuals incurred for obtaining goods from the storehouse but could not repay would be covered by funds or assets held by Partridge in Missouri. Whitney was also to receive accounts—apparently both temporal and spiritual—from the elders of their stewardships. He was then to recommend the faithful to Partridge as worthy to receive an inheritance in Zion. Since other revelations declared that JS and conferences of elders would decide who should relocate to Missouri, Whitney likely was not tasked with actually sending individuals to Zion—only with providing recommends when such individuals were designated to go.

“Although early manuscript versions indicate that this was a separate revelation from the one appointing Whitney a bishop, the two revelations were combined with a third and presented as a single revelation when published.”

Verses 24–26

“JS dictated this revelation the same day he dictated two other revelations pertaining to the calling of Newel K. Whitney as the bishop in Ohio, probably at a conference held on 4 December 1831 in Kirtland. The other two revelations explained how Whitney’s duties as bishop were closely related to those of Edward Partridge. Partridge was responsible for dividing the land of Zion for inheritances, and Whitney was to provide recommends to those who had been faithful in their stewardships and had been designated to go to Missouri. This revelation provided additional instructions about these recommends. Although manuscript versions indicate that this revelation was separate from the two others dictated on 4 December, the three revelations were combined when they were published.”

HEARKEN, and listen to the voice of the Lord, O ye who have assembled yourselves together, who are the high priests of my church, to whom the kingdom and power have been given.

For he who is faithful and wise in time is accounted worthy to inherit the mansions prepared for him of my Father.

Section 72:5

Verily I say unto you, the elders of the church in this part of my vineyard shall render an account of their stewardship unto the bishop, who shall be appointed of me in this part of my vineyard.

That this also may be consecrated to the good of the church, to the poor and needy.

Section 72:13

And he who hath not wherewith to pay, an account shall be taken and handed over to the bishop of Zion, who shall pay the debt out of that which the Lord shall put into his hands.

And the labors of the faithful who labor in spiritual things,¹ in administering the gospel and the things of the kingdom unto the church, and unto the world, shall answer the debt unto the bishop in Zion;

Section 72:24

A few words in addition to the laws of the kingdom, respecting the members of the church—they that are appointed by the Holy Spirit to go up unto Zion, and they who are privileged to go up unto Zion—

Historical Background

JSP

“This revelation instructed JS, Sidney Rigdon, and the other elders of the church to continue preaching ‘in the regions round about’ until the convening of another church conference. In accordance with direction given in a December 1831 revelation, JS and Rigdon had set aside their Bible revision work so they could preach to church members and others in the general vicinity around Hiram and Kirtland, Ohio. Their preaching, as well as that of other elders sent from Kirtland, was intended in part to combat misinformation and criticism published by former church member Ezra Booth in the Ohio Star. Following instructions in the December revelation to ‘call upon’ the church’s critics ‘to meet you both in publick and in private,’ Rigdon challenged Booth and Symonds Rider, a former member in Hiram, to defend their claims against the church in public, but neither man accepted. According to a later JS history, these efforts ‘did much towards allaying the excited feelings’ that stemmed from Booth’s influence.

“JS and Rigdon returned to Hiram, Ohio, around 8 January 1832, and on 10 January JS dictated this revelation, ‘making known the will of the Lord’ regarding what they and the elders should do until the next conference, which was held two weeks later. In addition to instructing JS, Rigdon, and the other elders to continue preaching, the revelation directed JS and Rigdon to renew their work on the Bible revision after the conclusion of the upcoming conference.

“JS probably dictated this revelation to Rigdon in an upstairs bedroom of the John and Alice (Elsa) Jacobs Johnson home where they worked on the Bible revision. A copy of the revelation inscribed by Rigdon was provided to Newel K. Whitney, the newly appointed bishop in Kirtland, perhaps shortly thereafter. The revelation's instructions to the elders preaching in the area were probably spread through other copies or by word of mouth."

Dating this revelation

Woodford (HDDC 908–911) associates it with the translation of the Bible, following JS's history. Marquardt does the same and offers this comment in a footnote:

¹See 1 Peter 1:13.

This explanation of scripture has no date even though it was recorded twice in the KRB. The 1835 D&C also has no date as to when the explanation was given. The manuscript history when including the explanation in the narrative for January 1832 dates it to “this period” (Jessee, Papers of Joseph Smith, 1:371). The approximate date of 17 February-early March 1832 is based on the revision of the NT that Smith and Rigdon were working on. They were revising John 5 on 16 February and by 20 March had proceeded to about Revelation 11.

The key information for dating it to 1830 is the fact that Whitmer included it in RB1; see the historical background from the JSP below. JS could have produced it at any point during a period of about a year, from most of 1830 into the early part of 1831.

Historical Background

JSP

“This ‘explanation’ clarifies a New Testament verse, 1 Corinthians 7:14, which historically had been an important passage for justifying infant baptism.¹ Like the Book of Mormon, this document rejects the need for infant baptism by explaining that little children are made clean through the atonement of Jesus Christ, without baptism. Although it is possible that questions regarding 1 Corinthians 7:14 or infant baptism prompted this explanation, the precise circumstances are unknown.

“The date the document was produced is also uncertain. When John Whitmer copied the document into Revelation Book 1 in 1831, he dated it simply ‘1830.’ However, he placed it between documents dated 6 January 1831 and 4 February 1831. The editors of the Book of Commandments did not include this document with JS’s printed revelations in 1833, and when it was included in the Doctrine and Covenants in 1835, no date was mentioned. Years later, the editors of JS’s history mistakenly wrote that JS dictated this document in January 1832 in conjunction with his revision of the New Testament. But the location, which Whitmer identified as Wayne County, New York, indicates that the document was created before JS moved to Ohio in the second half of January 1831, and that it could have been written as early as January 1830.”¹

³Now, in the days of the apostles the law of circumcision was had among all the Jews who believed not the gospel of Jesus Christ.

¹JSP footnote: “JS could have been in Wayne County at almost any point during 1830, but there is some likelihood this document was produced during April, when JS was known to be in Wayne County. During that month, JS began baptizing believers and organizing branches of the church in New York; he also dictated two revelations that gave directions regarding baptism. Conversations with new and prospective converts may also have led to discussion about scriptural passages regarding infant baptism. In early December 1830, JS met recent convert Sidney Rigdon, who opposed infant baptism. JS and Rigdon worked together in December on JS’s Bible revision, and during that period JS dictated a passage about baptism, but at that time JS and Rigdon were working in Seneca County. Similarly, any discussions JS might have had with James Covell would likely have taken place in Ontario or Seneca counties, not in Wayne County. If this document did result from contact with Covell, it could possibly have been produced in late January 1831 when JS and Rigdon traveled through Wayne County on their way to Ohio.”

²This first verse is 1 Corinthians 7:14.

³Here begins the explanation of the verse.

Section 74:3

And it came to pass that there arose a great contention among the people concerning the law of circumcision, for the unbelieving husband was desirous that his children should be circumcised and become subject to the law of Moses, which law was fulfilled.

Section 74:4

And it came to pass that the children, being brought up in subjection to the law of Moses, gave heed to the traditions of their fathers and believed not the gospel of Christ, wherein they became unholy.

Section 74:5

Wherefore, for this cause the apostle wrote unto the church, giving unto them a commandment, not of the Lord, but of himself, that a believer should not be united to an unbeliever; except the law of Moses should be done away among them,

Section 74:6

That their children might remain without circumcision; and that the tradition might be done away, which saith that little children are unholy; for it was had among the Jews;

Section 74:7

But little children are holy, being sanctified through the atonement of Jesus Christ; and this is what the scriptures mean.

Section 75 (25 January 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

Verses 1–22

“JS dictated this revelation and the one that follows at a general conference in Amherst, Ohio, fifty miles west of Kirtland, Ohio, on 25 January 1832. On 10 January 1832, a revelation stated that at the next conference, the ‘severall missions’ the elders were to fulfill would be ‘made known unto them.’ William E. McLellin later wrote that the 25 January conference was attended by ‘between 70 and 80 official characters’—apparently men who held church offices—from various locations. Minutes of the conference, if kept, are not extant, but a later JS history recounts that ‘considerable business was done to advance the kingdom.’ This included the licensing of one or more elders, the appointment of Orson Pratt as president of the elders, and the ordaining of JS as the ‘President of the High Priesthood,’ following instruction in a November 1831 revelation that ‘one be appointed’ to that office.¹

“Some of the conference participants apparently also petitioned JS for guidance. In response, this 25 January 1832 revelation and the revelation that follows assigned various individuals to preach the gospel in specific locations. The 25 January revelations indicate that the men appointed to missions were ones who volunteered to preach, but earlier instructions suggest that proselytizing was a duty rather than a choice for faithful elders. The minutes of an October 1831 conference noted that ‘the Spirit’ declared that proclaiming the gospel and ‘warn[ing] the inhabitants of the earth of the things known in the Church of Christ in these last days’ was one of the elders’ duties. A November 1831 revelation reiterated that commandment, instructing ‘all the faithful Elders’ to go ‘unto all the world’ and ‘preach the gospel to every creature acting in the authority which I have given you baptising in the name of the Father & of the Son & of the Holy Ghost.’ However, it seems the practice was that the men who made known their desire or willingness to preach were then assigned. Most of the individuals mentioned in this 25 January revelation attended an October 1831 conference; at that conference, ‘several brethren were then called by the Clerk who were desirous to preach the gospel,’ and JS examined them for fitness to be ordained. These men were likely the ones assigned in this revelation to preach.

“Perhaps because the two 25 January revelations were later printed together, reminiscences describe JS dictating a revelation on that day but do not specifically describe two separate texts. A reminiscence written by Pratt, for example, states that a revelation was ‘written in the presence of the whole assembly’ on 25 January. Edson Barney, who was also present, recalled that Sidney Rigdon inscribed the revelation text as JS pronounced it on that day. In both of these accounts, it is unclear whether the author is referring to just one or to both of the 25 January revelations. Yet it appears that these were indeed two distinct revelations. Newel K. Whitney’s copies of the 25 January 1832 revelations, which are in the handwriting of Rigdon, are inscribed on two separate leaves differing in both size and thickness. Whitney also added separate dockets to the two revelations, noting that the first was given to ‘10 Elders’ while the second was given to ‘the Elders.’ The collection of revelations kept by Samuel Smith and Orson Hyde—who were appointed as companion missionaries in the first revelation—includes the first revelation but not the second. When John Whitmer copied both revelations into Revelation Book 1, he introduced the second as ‘Another Revelation Received at the same time & place.’ Upon their publication in the 1835 Doctrine and Covenants, however, the revelations were combined into a single text, a pattern followed in subsequent publications.”

“This is the second of two revelations dictated at a general conference of elders held on 25 January 1832 in Amherst, Ohio. As with the first revelation, this revelation called several individuals to serve missions. It is unclear why these individuals were not included in the appointments made in the first 25 January revelation. The elders appointed in that revelation were expressly described as those who volunteered to travel to preach. The elders in this second revelation are described as those who requested to know the Lord’s will concerning them, perhaps indicating that they did not volunteer with the first group but nevertheless desired counsel.

“This revelation also instructed the recipients on ways to provide for the families of absent elders, a previous topic of concern in the church. The February 1831 ‘Laws of the Church of Christ’ instructed the bishop to ensure that the families of those elders who were ‘proclaiming repentance’ were ‘supported out of the property which is consecrated to the Lord,’ but some families still struggled. For example, Thomas B. Marsh, one of those appointed to preach in this 25 January revelation, was in Missouri during the summer and fall of 1831. While he was away, his family was ‘somewhat destitute,’ according to the minutes of an October 1831 conference. After a discussion about the family’s situation at that conference, JS emphasized that ‘the Lord held the Church bound to provide for the families of the absent Elders while proclaiming the Gospel.’ This 25 January revelation suggested that one way of providing this support was by having other church members take the families of those preaching into their own homes to care for them. Recently appointed bishop Newel K. Whitney, who had been commanded to administer to the wants of the elders, was likely responsible for coordinating aid for these families. Perhaps because of this assignment, Whitney was given a copy of the revelation.

“Whitney’s copy of the revelation, which was inscribed by Sidney Rigdon, is transcribed here. Although manuscript copies, including Whitney’s, present the 25 January 1832 revelations as separate revelations, both were combined into a single text upon publication.”

Section 76 (16 February 1832)

The “poetic paraphrase” of DC 76

For the poetic version of this section, likely written by W. W. Phelps, see here.

JSP D2

“On 16 February 1832, JS and Sidney Rigdon saw a vision ‘concerning the economy of God and his vast creation throughout all eternity,’ likely while in the upstairs bedroom of the John and Alice (Elsa) Johnson home in Hiram, Ohio. This vision came after JS returned from the January conference in Amherst, Ohio, and after he resumed his work of revising the New Testament at the Johnson home, with Rigdon working as scribe. According to a later JS history, revelations JS had dictated up to February 1832 showed ‘that many important points, touching the salvation of man, had been taken from the Bible, or lost before it was compiled.’ Included in these ‘important points’ was information on what happens after death. This information led JS to think ‘that if God rewarded every one according to the deeds done in the body, the term ‘heaven,’...must include more kingdoms than one.’ According to the description of the vision, on 16 February 1832, JS and Rigdon reviewed John 5:29, wherein Jesus Christ prophesies that the dead will ‘come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.’ They reported that when they pondered this verse they together beheld a vision of what awaited humankind after death.

“JS and Rigdon’s description of the vision outlined three levels of heavenly glory—celestial, terrestrial, and telestial—and the requirements for entrance into each. According to their report, every person who lived on earth—apart from followers of Satan known as ‘sons of perdition’—would spend the afterlife in one of these ‘kingdoms.’ These concepts differed considerably from views of the afterlife held by most Protestant churches that the souls of the ‘righteous’ are received into heaven while the ‘wicked’ are cast into hell. Other thinkers and theologians, however, had conceptions of heaven that were more similar to JS and Rigdon’s vision: The Universalist church, with which JS’s grandfather Asael Smith had affiliated, proclaimed that Christ would temporarily punish sinners but eventually redeem all people. Emanuel Swedenborg, a Swedish scientist and mystic, posited in the mid-1700s that heaven consisted of three different levels (celestial, spiritual, and natural). Alexander Campbell, Rigdon’s former associate in the Disciples of Christ, also wrote about ‘three kingdoms’—the Kingdom of Law, the Kingdom of Favor, and the Kingdom of Glory. Campbell’s Kingdoms of Law and Favor, however, could be experienced during mortal life, and only the Kingdom of Glory was reserved for the afterlife. In describing these three kingdoms, Campbell wrote that the first was entered through birth, the second through baptism, and the third through good works. One differed from the next, Campbell declared, ‘as the sun excelled a star.’

“Neither JS nor Rigdon described in detail how the vision occurred—only that they both saw it at the same time. The shared nature of the vision made it somewhat unusual. Although some experiences of angelic visitations had multiple participants—including the appearance of John the Baptist to JS and Oliver Cowdery in May 1829 and the appearance of an angel showing the gold plates to Cowdery, David Whitmer, and Martin Harris in the summer of 1829—most visions and revelations had been experienced by JS alone. Philo Dibble, who claimed to have been with JS and Rigdon in the Johnson home when the vision occurred, later recounted that JS and Rigdon sat in the upstairs room, where they had conducted much of their work on the Bible revision, with twelve other men. By turns, either JS or Rigdon would ask, ‘What do I see?’ and then relate the scene, after which the other would reply, ‘I see the same.’ There is no indication in Dibble’s account that anyone was recording the vision as it occurred; instead, Dibble said there was ‘not a sound nor motion made by anyone’ in the room. Dibble recalled that neither JS nor Rigdon ‘moved a joint or limb during the time I was there.’

“The text of the vision account itself contains JS and Rigdon’s descriptions of what they saw, interspersed with the voice of Deity explicating parts of the vision. According to this record, Jesus Christ conversed with JS and Rigdon during the vision. In some ways, such interaction parallels other visions recounted in the Bible and the Book of Mormon. The Book of Mormon, for example, describes a prophet named Nephi being taken by ‘the spirit’ to ‘an exceeding high mountain,’ where he is shown, among other things, Jesus Christ’s life on earth. Nephi’s account of this vision records both what he saw and questions and statements made by ‘the spirit’ and by an angel as they observed the vision with Nephi.

“How or precisely when JS and Rigdon recorded the experience of seeing the vision is unknown. According to the written account of the vision, JS and Rigdon were commanded four separate times to record what they were seeing. It may be that they made a record after each command and then proceeded. Alternatively, JS and Rigdon may not have recorded anything until after the vision concluded. They were instructed to write their account while they were ‘yet in the spirit,’ and the text in the account indicates that they did so. If JS and Rigdon recorded the event after its conclusion, therefore, they apparently did so soon thereafter. The first part of the vision (beginning ‘Here O ye heavens’ and ending ‘...yet entered into the heart of man’) seems similar in language and style to JS’s revelations, suggesting that JS may have dictated the first part separately from the rest of the account. It is unknown whether JS dictated the entire record to Rigdon, Rigdon wrote it himself, or the two worked collaboratively. Whatever the case, both apparently signed the record after its preparation as a testament to its legitimacy. The placement of Rigdon’s signature before JS’s indicates that Rigdon was serving as the scribe for the account and signed after completing it. Moreover, JS and Rigdon’s vision occurred, as their own account attests, ‘as we sat doing the work of translation’—in which process Rigdon served as a scribe. Rigdon had also recently transcribed some of JS’s dictated revelations.

“The earliest extant copy of the account of the vision is in Frederick G. Williams’s handwriting, with a few lines penned by JS. Williams was doing scribal work for JS in July 1832 (and possibly as early as February). He and JS copied the account of the vision into a new blank book—probably during February or March 1832—making the vision the first item in Revelation Book 2. Indeed, JS may have purchased the book for the purpose of entering the account of the vision, given the vision’s emphasis on writing down what was seen. Additional copies of the document quickly circulated.

“Reaction to the contents of the vision varied among individuals in the Hiram community and among church members in other areas. Some, such as Lincoln Haskins, thought it contained ‘great & marvilous things.’ Others struggled to reconcile its concepts of the afterlife with traditional notions of heaven and hell. It also became a target of criticism by outsiders, some of whom regarded it as both ‘pompous’ and an attempt to ‘embrace and teach Universalism.’ A later JS history stated that the vision transcended the knowledge of the afterlife available at the time, declaring that ‘nothing could be more pleasing to the Saint, upon the order of the kingdom of the Lord, than the light which burst upon the world, through the . . . vision.’”

Philo Dibble, 1877, Payson Ward General Minutes

“Elder Philo Dibble of Springville next addressed the Congregation: Said he was a stranger to most of this congregation, but was not a stranger to the gospel, He had been in the church over 47 years. He was among the first 50 that embraced the gospel in this dispensation. He was present when Jos. Smith and Sidney Rigdon when they had that glorious vision of the creation &c. It was shown unto them that a hundred and forty four thousand should stand on the earth in the last days as Saviors of men. We all agreed in the heavens to come onto this earth and pass through this probation having forgotten all that we knew before. We are here for trial and they who hold out faithful will receive the crown. He was familiar with the Prophet Joseph from boyhood and knew him to be a man of God. Never loved any one as he loved Joseph. The Lord told the prophet when this church was organized with six members, that he was laying the foundation of a great work. It has already grown to greater dimensions than man could have dreamed of. He was present when the heavens were opened and men saw within the veil and saw the man of sin revealed and many other great and glorious things” (Payson Ward general minutes).

Philo Dibble, 1882, Early Scenes in Church History

“When I arrived at Father Johnson’s the next morning, Joseph and Sidney had just finished washing up from being tired and feathered the night before. Joseph said to Sidney: ‘We can now go on our mission to Jackson County’ (alluding to a commandment given them while they were translating, but which they concluded not to attend to until they had finished that work). I felt to regret very much that I had not been with them the evening before, but it was perhaps providential that I was not. On a subsequent visit to Hiram, I arrived at Father Johnson’s just as Joseph and Sidney were coming out of the vision alluded to in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants, in which mention is made of the three glories. Joseph wore black clothes, but as this time seemed to be dressed in an element of glorious white, and his face shone as if it were transparent, but I did not see the same glory attending Sidney. Joseph appeared as strong as a lion, but Sidney seemed as weak as water, and Joseph, noticing his condition smiled and said, ‘Brother Sidney is not as used to it as I am’” (Early Scenes in Church History, Juvenile Instructor Office, Salt Lake City, 1882, 80–81).

Philo Dibble, 1892, JI

““The vision which is recorded in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants was given at the house of ‘Father Johnson,’ in Hyrum, Ohio, and during the time that Joseph and Sidney were in the spirit and saw the heavens open, there were other men in the room, perhaps twelve, among whom I was one during a part of the time—probably two-thirds of the time,—I saw the glory and felt the power, but did not see the vision.

“The events and conversation, while they were seeing what is written (and many things were seen and related that are not written,) I will relate as minutely as is necessary.

“Joseph would, at intervals, say: ‘What do I see?’ as one might say while looking out the window and beholding what all in the room could not see. Then he would relate what he had seen or what he was looking at. Then Sidney replied, ‘I see the same.’ Presently Sidney would say ‘what do I see?’ and would repeat what he had seen or was seeing, and Joseph would reply, ‘I see the same.’

“This manner of conversation was repeated at short intervals to the end of the vision, and during the whole time not a word was spoken by any other person. Not a sound nor motion made by anyone but Joseph and Sidney, and it seemed to me that they never moved a joint or limb during the time I was there, which I think was over an hour, and to the end of the vision.

“Joseph sat firmly and calmly all the time in the midst of a magnificent glory, but Sidney sat limp and pale, apparently as limber as a rag, observing which, Joseph remarked, smilingly, ‘Sidney is not used to it as I am’” (Juvenile Instructor 27:303–304 [15 May 1892]).

Philo Dibble, undated

“At another time I had occasion to visit Hyrum. When I arrived at Father Johnson’s Joseph and Sidney were just coming out of the vision of the Three Glories as recorded in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants. Joseph was dressed in black, but he seemed to be enveloped in an element of glorious white. His face shone as if it were transparent. I did not see the same glory attending Sidney. Joseph appeared as strong as a lion, but Sidney seemed as weak as water. Joseph, seeing this situation of Sidney, smiled and said, ‘Sidney is not as used to it as I am’” (CHL, MS 15447, Philo Dibble reminiscences, undated, PDF 13).

JS saw more than what is recorded in the vision

“There are are Some things in my own bosom that must remain there. If Paul could say I knew a man who ascended to the third heaven & saw things unlawful for man to utter, I more” (21 May 1843, JSP D12:326).

Section 76:2

Great is his wisdom, marvelous are his ways,⁵ and the extent of his doings none can find out.

¹In the version in JSP (see it here), the text contains the following preface:

A vision of Joseph & Sidney [Rigdon] February 16th. 1832 given in Portage County Hiram Township State of Ohio in North Ame[r]ica which they saw concerning the church of the first born and concerning the economy of God and his vast creation throughtout all eternity

Here are some 1828 definitions for “economy”:

- 1 Primarily, the management, regulation and government of a family or the concerns of a household.
- 4 The disposition or arrangement of any work; as the economy of a poem.
- 5 A system of rules, regulations, rites and ceremonies; as the Jewish economy.
- 6 The regular operation of nature in the generation, nutrition and preservation of animals or plants; as animal economy; vegetable economy.
- 7 Distribution or due order of things.
- 8 Judicious and frugal management of public affairs; as political economy.
- 9 System of management; general regulation and disposition of the affairs of a state or nation, or of any department of government.

All of these senses could be in play here, but the most important ones are probably #5, #6, and #9. Note that all three of these allow us to connect the idea of an “economy” here to BY’s understanding of the priesthood as the system of laws that govern everything.

Calling this a vision on “the economy of God” tells us something important about how we are supposed to take it; it isn’t just about the kingdoms. There is much more here.

The only place that “economy” appears in the scriptures is DC 77:6.

²This invocation at the beginning, which calls out to the heavens and to the earth, comes from Isaiah 1:2, the beginning of Isaiah’s vision: “Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth: for the LORD hath spoken, I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against me.” The “hear...give ear” construction appears elsewhere in the OT, including again in Isaiah 1 (verse 10) and other places in Isaiah (28:23, 32:9, 42:23, and sort of 51:4), and also in Deuteronomy 32:1, Judges 5:3, Job 34:2, plus in Psalms, Jeremiah, Hosea, and Joel.

They key here is that the speaker—who appears to be a combination of JS and Sidney Rigdon, who experienced the vision—is not the Lord, but addresses the heavens and earth anyway. See Isaiah 1:2 for more discussion. Note that in verse 1 of that chapter in Isaiah, the text introduces itself as “the vision.”

The occurrence in Deuteronomy 32:1 is particularly interesting, as that is the “Song of Moses” and the very next verse is referenced by another important (but much later) passage in the DC, DC 121:45.

³See Deuteronomy 4:35, “Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know that the LORD he is God; there is none else beside him,” and Isaiah 45:21, “Tell ye, and bring them near; yea, let them take counsel together: who hath declared this from ancient time? who hath told it from that time? have not I the LORD? and there is no God else beside me; a just God and a Saviour; there is none beside me”; see also 1 Samuel 2:2, 2 Samuel 7:22, 1 Kings 8:60, 1 Chronicles 17:20, Isaiah 43:11, Isaiah 44:6, Isaiah 45:5, Hosea 13:4, and Moses 1:6.

The “beside him” construction is pretty common in the OT, as you can see from these references; the word “besides” in any form appears only three times in the BOM, four times in the DC, and once in the PGP.

When you combine this construction with the first half of the verse, it’s a very biblical way of calling on the hearers to pay attention, because something very important is about to come out.

⁴Note that the JSP version as well as the original EMS printing have this as “and beside him there is none else” (the comparison after the verse). The “no Savior” bit gets added in the 1835 edition of the DC.

⁵Verse 1 includes a lot of biblical language, but then there’s an immediate shift here—the “great/marvelous” combination occurs only twice in the OT, at Job 5:9 and Job 37:5 (sort of; note that the KJV spells the word as “marvellous”). You then get a similar construction in Revelation 15:1 and 15:3 (verse 3

His purposes fail not, neither are there any who can stay his hand.¹

Section 76:4

From eternity to eternity he is the same, and his years never fail.²

Section 76:5

For thus saith the Lord—I, the Lord, am merciful and gracious³ unto those who fear me,⁴ and delight to honor⁵ those who serve me in righteousness and in truth unto the end.

Section 76:6

Great shall be their reward⁶ and eternal shall be their glory.

Section 76:7

And to them⁷ will I reveal all mysteries,⁸ yea, all the hidden mysteries of my kingdom from days of old, and for ages to come, will I make known unto them the good pleasure of my will⁹ concerning all things¹⁰ pertaining to my kingdom.¹¹ again mentions the “song of Moses”). But then the combination of these words appears dozens of times in the BOM. So the first verse has a very biblical construction, but then in this second verse, or second part (remember the verses came much later), you get a very restoration-y construction. Note that “extent” later in this verse only appears twice in the scriptures, here and DC 19:38.

¹The “stay...hand” construction appears a couple of times in the OT (see especially Daniel 4:35, but also 2 Samuel 24:16 and 1 Chronicles 21:15). It appears a few times in the BOM (Alma 10:23 and Mormon 8:26 are two examples) and in the DC too (see DC 38:22 and 33).

²See Hebrews 1:12: “And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.”

³Here, in the context of the Lord having these qualities “unto those that fear” him, I think we want to take “merciful” as “mercy-giving” and “gracious” as “grace-giving.” See Nehemiah 9:17 for the pair of “merciful and gracious.”

⁴Compare Luke 1:50.

⁵The “delight...honor” construction appears only here, but see Isaiah 42:1.

⁶Augustine, DDC 1:32: “For what words can express, what thoughts conceive, the reward which he is going to give at the end, seeing that he has already given us, to support us on our journey, so much of his spirit, in order that in the troubles of this life we may have this enormous confidence and delight in one whom we do not yet behold, and seeing that he has also bestowed individual gifts for the consolidation of his church, in order that we may perform the tasks that he has indicated not only without murmuring but even with positive enjoyment?”

⁷Remember, the “them” here goes back to verse 5: we’re talking about “those who fear” the Lord, and “those who serve [him] in righteousness and truth unto the end.”

⁸This verse and the next three are key passages for the epistemology of revelation. They have a lot in common with other passages of scripture, as I’ve noted in various places, but there is a particularly strong parallel with 1 Corinthians 2.

The word “mystery” doesn’t appear in the OT; it appears a bunch of times in the NT. It doesn’t appear there, though, in conjunction with the word “reveal”; you only get that in the restoration scriptures, and there only Jacob 4:8, Alma 26:22, this verse, and also DC 77:6.

⁹See Ephesians 1:9 and DC 38:39 plus notes there.

¹⁰This is a weird part of the verse—it feels like it’s lacking punctuation or something to be clearer about what is being said. It looks like the direct object of “will I make known unto them” should be “all the hidden mysteries,” but then right after it you get “the good pleasure of my will,” which seems like it ought to be the direct object. So I’m not totally sure what is going on here. It could be punctuated in different ways to make it make sense, but switching the order of “I” and “will” make it a bit difficult:

#1 And to them will I reveal all mysteries, yea, all the hidden mysteries of my kingdom from days of old, and for ages to come. Will I make known unto them the good pleasure of my will concerning all things pertaining to my kingdom.

#2 And to them will I reveal all mysteries, yea, all the hidden mysteries of my kingdom from days of old, and for ages to come, will I make known unto them; the good pleasure of my will concerning all things pertaining to my kingdom.

I think I prefer #2, because it allows you to put it together better with the next verse as well; the verse break is probably not a good one. So the two verses together would read like this:

And to them will I reveal all mysteries, yea, all the hidden mysteries of my kingdom from days of old, and for ages to come, will I make known unto them. The good pleasure of my will concerning all things pertaining to my kingdom, yea, even the wonders of eternity shall they know, and things to come will I show them, even the things of many generations.

This reading seems to make the most sense, and also allows you to use the “yea” properly, which introduces either an explanatory apposition or just an additional (“and also”) thing that will be revealed.

¹¹Note the difference in the JSP version, which finishes, “concerning all things to come.”

JSP and unto them will I reveal all my misteries yea all the hidden misteries of my Kingdom from days of old and for ages to come will I make Known unto them the good pleasure of my will concerning all things to come

By the power of the Spirit³ our eyes were opened and our understandings were enlightened, so as to see and understand the things of God—⁴

Section 76:13

Even those things which were from the beginning before the world was, which were ordained of the Father, through his Only Begotten Son,⁵ who was in the bosom⁶ of the Father, even from the beginning;

¹This verse is quoting Isaiah 29:14, though it makes a slight change—the end of that verse reads, “the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid,” but here it says that the understanding of the prudent “shall come to naught.” See also Isaiah 5:20–21, Hosea 14:9, Matthew 11:25 and Luke 10:21, 1 Corinthians 1:19, and 2 Nephi 9:43.

²See 1 Corinthians 2, especially verse 9. The poetic version, in stanza 10, also makes the connection to the “natural man” as discussed in that chapter of Corinthians.

³For “power of the Spirit,” see here.

⁴This verse then describes how JS and Rigdon experienced what the Lord himself was describing earlier—being enlightened by the Spirit and seeing and understanding the things of God. They are living the promise that the Lord gave earlier.

⁵The Son being the agent of the Father, to come here and do his will; see John 4:34 and John 5:30. “Ordain” here could be meaning #2, #3, or #5 from the 1828 dictionary—#3 seems most appropriate, given the context of the things existing for such a long time prior to the present moment.

Of whom we bear record; and the record which we bear is the fulness of the gospel of Jesus Christ,¹ who is the Son, whom we saw and with whom we conversed in the heavenly vision.

Section 76:15

For while we were doing the work of translation,² which the Lord had appointed unto us, we came to the twenty-ninth verse of the fifth chapter of John, which was given unto us as follows—

Section 76:16

Speaking of the resurrection of the dead, concerning those who shall hear the voice of the Son of Man:

Section 76:17

And shall come forth; they who have done good in the resurrection of the just; and they who have done evil, in the resurrection of the unjust.³

Section 76:18

Now this caused us to marvel, for it was given unto us of the Spirit.

Section 76:19

And while we meditated upon these things, the Lord touched the eyes of our understandings and they were opened,⁴ and the glory of the Lord shone round about.

Section 76:20

And we beheld the glory of the Son, on the right hand of the Father, and received of his fulness;⁵

Section 76:21

And saw the holy angels, and them who are sanctified before his throne, worshiping God, and the Lamb, who worship him forever and ever.

¹This is one of the scriptural “definitions” of the term “gospel”; see this study for more.

²The next few verses are helpful for seeing how JS himself understood the “translation” of the Bible. See this study at Translation for more sources related to this issue.

³The KJV gives John 5:29 as: “And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.” Here is the Greek: καὶ ἐκπορεύσονται οἱ τὰ ἀγαθὰ ποιήσαντες εἰς ἀνάστασιν ζωῆς, οἱ δὲ τὰ φαῦλα πράξαντες εἰς ἀνάστασιν κρίσεως. Note that Luke 14:14 speaks of the “resurrection of the just” (ἐν τῇ ἀναστάσει τῶν δικαίων), and so does Acts 24:15. The “just” are those who are δίκαιος, who are “just” and especially “lawful.” See also Alma 12:8; 3 Nephi 26:5 (Christ speaking) speaks of the resurrection as one of “everlasting life” and one of “damnation,” more like the KJV John 5:29. Maybe the best approach to take is to just put them together: those who are δίκαιος get a resurrection of everlasting life, and those who are not δίκαιος get a resurrection of damnation. This would be in line with BY’s view of how the law of the priesthood is intended to preserve life. The “resurrection of the unjust” is still a resurrection, though, so life is still being preserved; you’re obeying some of the laws, and not trying to be a law unto yourself, maybe.

⁴The “eyes of the understanding” locution comes from Ephesians 1:18, but both the Greek and modern translations differ from the way that the KJV puts it. The locution also appears elsewhere in the DC, including at 110:1 and 138:11. This verse is also a callback to verse 12 from before.

⁵There are many verses relevant to understanding what it means to “receive of his fulness” here, including John 1:16 (ἐκ τοῦ πληρώματος αὐτοῦ ἡμεῖς πάντες ἐλάβομεν, καὶ χάριν ἀντὶ χάριτος), DC 63:20–21, 76:56, 76:71–94, especially verses 71–77; 88:29–30; 93:12–35, and 132:6. See also the NT verses listed in the LSJ entry for πλήρωμα.

Section 76:22

And now, after the many testimonies which have been given of him, this is the testimony, last of all, which we give of him: That he lives!

Section 76:23

For we saw him, even on the right hand of God; and we heard the voice bearing record that he is the Only Begotten of the Father—

Section 76:24

Section 76:25

And this we saw also, and bear record, that an angel of God who was in authority³ in the presence of God, who rebelled against the Only Begotten Son whom the Father loved and who was in the bosom⁴ of the Father, was thrust down from the presence of God and the Son,

JSP and was called perdition for the heavens wept over him for he was Lucifer even the son of the morning

¹See Romans 11:36, DC 88:41, 93:10.

²This verse could be the basis for believing that we are not necessarily of the same form as God—we are begotten sons and daughters unto him, not of him. This is important because it's a way to think that God doesn't necessarily have human form. Of course, other scriptures and most of LDS theology pushes against this, but it's very important for thinking about biological evolution. See also this unusual comment in the opening part of the endowment prior to 1990: "The work of the six creative periods will be represented. They will organize man in their own likeness and image, male and female. This, however, is simply figurative, so far as the man and the woman are concerned." That last sentence was removed in the 1990 revision.

See also DC 88:20, with its use of "bodies";

See also Orson Pratt here, 17a, where he discusses this verse and the "unto."

³If this revelation had been received in the Greek of the NT, the word here would be ἐξουσία for "authority." See the notes at verse 31 below.

⁴See notes at John 1:18.

⁵See John 17:12 but especially 2 Thessalonians 2:3—the end of that verse says, "and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition." The "man of sin" is ὁ ἄνθρωπος τῆς ἀνομίας (there is a different manuscript tradition that does have ἀμαρτίας; the reading with ἀνομίας has a certain level of "B," "almost certain"). This is extremely important because it solidifies the connection to DC 88:35 as a description of Satan, and as an explanation of why he could not have succeeded: "That which breaketh a law, and abideth not by law, but seeketh to become a law unto itself, and willeth to abide in sin, and altogether abideth in sin, cannot be sanctified by law, neither by mercy, justice, nor judgment. Therefore, they must remain filthy still." See also verse 33 below.

⁶See the important discussion of the title "Lucifer" at Isaiah 14:12. The short version is that modern interpretations and translations seem to agree that those verses in Isaiah are not referring to the fall of Satan, and are referring to human pride or to a Babylonian king (as possibly a symbol of human pride). JS clearly took it to refer to Satan, however, since he quotes that passage here in discussing Satan.

The methodology here is a bit tenuous here, because we have to go with JS in taking Isaiah to be talking about Satan, but we can look at the Hebrew for a bit of support for the theology that JS builds up around Satan here and in other places. In the previous verse we read that Satan was an "angel of God" who was "in authority in the presence of God." In the Isaiah verse, the term which gets translated as "Lucifer" in the KJV is לִלִּית, coming from a root that means "to shine" (see discussion in my notes at that verse). If you connect to restoration ideas like DC 50:24 and 93:28, then you could take Satan's "shining" as an example of how he had gained a lot of light and truth but for some reason chose to go away from that.

Section 76:27

And we beheld, and lo, he is fallen! is fallen, even a son of the morning!

Section 76:28

And while we were yet in the Spirit, the Lord commanded us that we should write the vision; for we beheld Satan, that old serpent, even the devil, who rebelled against God,¹ and sought to take the kingdom² of our God and his Christ—

Section 76:29

Wherefore, he maketh war with the saints of God, and encompasseth them round about.³

Section 76:30

And we saw a vision of the sufferings of those with whom he made war and overcame,⁴ for thus came the voice of the Lord unto us:

JSP and we saw a vision of the eternal sufferings of those with whom he made war and overcame for thus came the voice of the Lord unto us

Section 76:31

Thus saith the Lord concerning all those who know my power, and have been made partakers thereof,⁵ and suffered themselves through the power of the devil to be overcome, and to deny the truth⁶ and defy my power—

Section 76:32

They are they who are the sons of perdition, of whom I say that it had been better for them never to have been born;⁷

¹See Moses 4:3–4, where God is speaking: “Satan rebelled against me.”

²The concept of a “kingdom” is closely connected to ideas of laws in the restoration, so you could read this as saying that Satan was trying to change or go against the laws that form the basis of the priesthood (in BY’s way of understanding the priesthood); see DC 88:35 again, but also 36–38.

³See note at 2 Nephi 4:18.

⁴The battle is ongoing—this is a vision involving people who lost the war in the long run. The rest of us will fight this war and lose some battles but not be overcome in the end; see Helaman 5:12, and in connection with that verse, 2 Nephi 1:13, 2 Nephi 26:22, Alma 12:11, Alma 34:35 and 39, and Helaman 3:29. We allow this to happen to us, by the ways we live and think over long periods of time (see the next verse, and also Alma 5:20 and Moroni 7:17).

See also DC 50:8 and notes there,

⁵We’ve got three uses of “power” in this verse, and when I see this word in the restoration scriptures, I think to myself, what would the Greek word be if this verse appeared in the NT? “Partake” and “power” don’t appear often together. The clearest example of their use together, besides this verse, is 1 Corinthians 9:12, and the word there is ἐξουσία, but it isn’t really talking about the same idea, as far as I can tell. But when you look at the next bit in this verse—about people “suffering themselves” (allowing themselves) through the devil’s power to be overcome—then it looks more like ἐξουσία is the right word, rather than δύναμις (note that Hebrews 2:14 mentions a “power of death,” where the “power” is κράτος). Then you get to the end of the verse and see that these people deny the truth and defy God’s power, which definitely sounds like ἐξουσία in connection with DC 88:35, but could also be δύναμις too (compare Moses 4:3). Note the connection between DC 76:34, Matthew 12:32, and DC 84:41; these verses help us understand that Satan must have been a partaker in the priesthood (the ἐξουσία, through which he gained the δύναμις). He then broke the covenant and so lost the power.

⁶Compare JS in various accounts of his 7 April 1844 discourse—speaking of this kind of person, who deny the Lord in this special way, he says: “he has got to say that the Sun does not shine while he sees it he has got to deny J. C. when the heavens are open to him” (Thomas Bullock).

⁷I take this to mean that it would have been better for these individuals to never come to Earth to receive a body. But why? Why would that have been better? I guess the question is about the ultimate difference in fate between that group of spirits who never did come to Earth or get a body, and those who did but then ended up in this group, of the “sons of perdition.” Now that I’m thinking about it, I guess I don’t know anything about the fate of the former group.

Section 76:33

For they are vessels of wrath,¹ doomed to suffer the wrath of God, with the devil and his angels in eternity;

Section 76:34

Concerning whom I have said there is no forgiveness in this world nor in the world to come—²

Section 76:35

Having denied the Holy Spirit after having received it,³ and having denied the Only Begotten Son of the Father,⁴ having crucified him unto themselves and put him to an open shame.⁵

JSP having denied the holy ghost after having received it and having denied the only begotten son of the father crucifying him unto themselves and putting him to an open shame

Section 76:36

These are they who shall go away into the lake of fire and brimstone, with the devil and his angels—

Section 76:37

And the only ones on whom the second death⁶ shall have any power;⁷

¹The phrase “vessels of wrath” comes from Romans 9:22. That verse is part of a passage speaking about different groups of people, or “vessels” (σκεύη). There are some vessels which are vessels of wrath, and the way it is written allows us to read the verse as saying that they are filled with their own wrath (which is how I’ve always taken this verse in DC) as well as with the wrath of God. The other group of people is the “vessels of mercy,” and along the same lines you can see them as filled with their own mercy (extended toward themselves and others) as well as with the mercy of God (DC 88:40, “mercy hath compassion on mercy and claimeth her own”). The connection to the “sons of perdition” is made even clearer by the claim at the end of Romans 9:22, which says that these vessels are fitted “to destruction,” or εἰς ἀπώλειαν. That’s ἀπώλεια, the same word I was discussing up at verse 26 above.

²Presumably referring to Matthew 12:31–32 here, but see also DC 42:18 and DC 84:41. I think that verse in DC 84 is especially important because it comes in context of a discussion on the priesthood, and then says that those who break the covenant “shall not have forgiveness of sins in this world nor in the world to come,” that is, the same language used to describe the individuals here in this verse in section 76.

³A lot of scriptures talk about denying the Holy Ghost, including 2 Nephi 28:4, Alma 39:5–6, Moroni 8:28, and DC 76:83. There are also others that speak more specifically of denying the gift of the Holy Ghost, which seems like a separate thing.

⁴Other verses to see about denying Christ include Matthew 10:33, Matthew 26:34 (and the ensuing events for Peter), Luke 12:9, Acts 3:13, 1 John 2:22–23, 2 Nephi 25:28–29, 2 Nephi 28:32, 2 Nephi 31:14, Jacob 7:9 and 19, Alma 30:39, 3 Nephi 29:5, 4 Nephi 1:29, Mormon 9:3, Moroni 1:2–3, Moroni 7:17, Moroni 10:6, DC 76:43, DC 101:5, and Moses 6:28.

⁵This last part of the verse comes from Hebrews 6:6, which puts it this way: “they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame.” The verse in DC leaves out the part about “afresh,” or really “again,” which is supposed to come from the prefix on ἀνασταυρώω, giving the idea of “again.” See the note at the Hebrews verse for more on that; the word technically just means “crucify” (without the “again”), though the context seems to require the “again,” and it has long been understood that way.

What does it mean, then, to crucify Christ unto yourself, and expose him to shame or ridicule? It could just be, you’re refusing to acknowledge the atonement; you’re refusing to let it be a part of your life, and maybe even, you’re trying to cause it not to be a part of the lives of other people as well. You would have crucified Christ not necessarily to hurt him, but to try to make his atonement of no effect in the world. I think that’s the key here—it’s not how cruel you would be to Christ as a person, it’s what you would hope to accomplish by trying to erase Christ and his sacrifice from the world.

⁶For “second death,” see here.

⁷The phrase “second death” occurs 12 times in the scriptures; it stems from the book of Revelation, but is in the restoration scriptures too. See the complete list here. You might see the “second death” as the ultimate fate of the sons of perdition, as described by BY, with the stuff about “native element,” but that doesn’t really fit well with the way that the “second death” is spoken of elsewhere. See especially Alma 12:15–18 (and note the connection between that verse 18 and the next verse, 76:38) and Revelation 20:6–21:8. The second death is to die “as to things pertaining unto righteousness” (Alma 12:16). There is a connection in other scriptures between righteousness and life (Romans 8:10, 1 Nephi 15:36, Alma 5:58). Righteousness preserves life and organization, to put it in BY terms.

Section 76:38

Yea, verily, the only ones who shall not be redeemed in the due time of the Lord,¹ after the sufferings of his wrath.²

JSP yea verely the only ones who shall not be redeemed in the due time of the Lord after the sufferings of his wrath

For all the rest shall be brought forth by the resurrection of the dead, through the triumph and the glory of the Lamb, who was slain, who was in the bosom of the Father before the worlds were made.

JSP who shall be brought forth by the resurection of the dead through the triumph and glory of the lamb who was slain who was in the bosom of the father before the worlds were made

Section 76:40

And this is the gospel,³ the glad tidings, which the voice out of the heavens bore record unto us—

Section 76:41

That he came into the world, even Jesus, to be crucified for the world, and to bear the sins of the world, and to sanctify the world, and to cleanse it from all unrighteousness;

Section 76:42

That through him all might be saved whom the Father had put into his power and made by him;

Section 76:43

Who glorifies the Father, and saves all the works of his hands, except those sons of perdition who deny the Son after the Father has revealed him.⁴

Section 76:44

Wherefore, he saves all except them—they shall go away into everlasting punishment, which is endless punishment, which is eternal punishment,⁵ to reign with the devil and his angels in eternity, where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched, which is their torment—

JSP wherefore he saveth all save them, and these shall go away into everlasting punishment which is eternal punishment to reign with the devel and his angels throughout all eternity where the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched which is there torment

¹See Mosiah 16:5, Alma 11:41, Alma 12:18, and Moroni 7:38. The wicked will experience existence as though no redemption were made at all.

²Related to the idea of the “buffetings of Satan”? See that phrase here.

³We’re about to get one of the scriptural definitions of the term “gospel.” See some others here.

⁴I haven’t yet found any good scriptures that clearly discuss the idea of the Father revealing the Son to someone; see Matthew 11:27 and Luke 10:22 for Christ saying that he reveals the Father to people. On the other hand, there are a number of instances where the Father introduces the Son, and in that sense reveals him to be the Son, and maybe that’s what this is referring to here; that would be places like Matthew 3:17, Matthew 17:5, 3 Nephi 11:7, this account of JS’s first vision, and so on. So is it, then, that the sons of perdition have to have Christ revealed to them by the Father like it happens in these accounts? I’m not sure. See also 2 Nephi 32:6.

⁵See DC 19:6ff.

Section 76:45

And the end thereof, neither the place thereof, nor their torment, no man knows;

Section 76:46

Neither was it revealed, neither is, neither will be revealed unto man, except to them who are made partakers thereof;

Section 76:47

Nevertheless, I, the Lord, show it by vision unto many, but straightway shut it up again;

Section 76:48

Wherefore, the end, the width, the height, the depth, and the misery thereof, they understand not, neither any man except those who are ordained unto this condemnation.¹

Section 76:49

And we heard the voice, saying: Write the vision, for lo, this is the end of the vision of the sufferings of the ungodly.²

JSP and we heard the voice saying write the vision for lo this is the end of the vision of the eternal sufferings of the undodly [ungodly]

Section 76:50

³And again we bear record—for we saw and heard, and this is the testimony of the gospel of Christ concerning them who shall come forth in the resurrection of the just—⁴

Section 76:51

They are they who received the testimony of Jesus, and believed on his name and were baptized after the manner of his burial, being buried in the water in his name, and this according to the commandment which he has given—

Section 76:52

That by keeping the commandments they might be washed and cleansed from all their sins, and receive the Holy Spirit by the laying on of the hands of him who is ordained and sealed unto this power;

¹The “ordained unto this condemnation” language comes from Jude 1:4. In Greek it is οἱ πάλαι προγεγραμμένοι εἰς τοῦτο τὸ κρίμα; see κρίμα. The short version of the Jude verse is that “ordained” may convey too strong a sense of an ordinance or judgment that was made regarding the condemnation—the word is actually προγράφω, and BDAG 769a says that it’s meaning #1.b, “what is written before, is found in an older document (by another author, as well).” That entry glosses the Jude use as “who for a long time have been marked out (or written about) for this judgment (described in what follows).” But note also that this could be a case of JS seeing the “ordain” language, and, not knowing the Greek, he uses his own sense of “ordain” to reveal/develop some theology around this point that goes beyond what the NT use would license. This is an important thing to keep in mind when studying JS’s use of the NT.

²Strangely, “ungodly” shows up a bunch of times in Jude as well, including in verse Jude 1:4, which is important to the previous verse in this section of the DC. “Ungodly” is also in verse 15 an amazing four times, and Jude 1:18 as well (see also 2 Peter 2:5–6 and 2 Peter 3:7). In the Jude verses, “ungodly” is ἀσεβής.

³Hard shift at this point in the section—even the earliest published versions (EMS, 1835 DC, 1844 DC), which don’t have verses or anything, have a paragraph break here. We have just finished speaking about a group of people who will not be resurrected; the vision now moves on to describe people who are resurrected, and in particular, those which are resurrected in the “resurrection of the just,” which is mentioned in verse 17.

⁴See notes at verse 17 for the “resurrection of the just.”

Section 76:53

And who overcome by faith,¹ and are sealed² by the Holy Spirit of promise,³ which the Father sheds forth⁴ upon all those who are just and true.⁵

Section 76:54

They are they who are the church of the Firstborn.⁶

Section 76:55

They are they into whose hands the Father has given all things—⁷

Section 76:56

They are they who are priests and kings,⁸ who have received of his fulness,⁹ and of his glory;

Section 76:57

And are priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek, which was after the order of Enoch,¹⁰ which was after the order of the Only Begotten Son.¹¹

Section 76:58

Wherefore, as it is written, they are gods, even the sons of God—¹²

¹See 1 John 5:4–5: “For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” See notes there, and also see John 16:33. Faith is the force which produces our victory over the world, as is made clear here in this DC verse.

²The whole “sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise” language comes from Ephesians 1:13; see my notes there, and at Holy Spirit of Promise (DC 132 talks a lot about this as well). The Greek word for “sealed” is σφραγίζω.

³See Holy Spirit of Promise, and especially the DC uses of the term.

⁴An unusual construction, used in various places; see this study on “shed abroad” and “shed forth.”

⁵The “just and true” combination appears in various interesting places in the scriptures—see Revelation 15:3 (δικαιοὶ καὶ ἀληθινοὶ αἱ ὁδοὶ σου), 1 Nephi 14:23, Mosiah 4:12, Moroni 10:6, and DC 20:30–31.

⁷I think the best explanation of the idea in this verse is in DC 50:26–28; 27 reads, “Wherefore, he is possessor of all things; for all things are subject unto him, both in heaven and on the earth, the life and the light, the Spirit and the power, sent forth by the will of the Father through Jesus Christ, his Son.” See the notes at that verse. See also John 3:35, John 13:3, and verse 59 in this section. In thinking about the “Father” specifically doing this, it reminds me of 2 Nephi 31:20: “behold, thus saith the Father, ye shall have eternal life.”

⁸See Genesis 14:18, Exodus 19:6, Hebrews 7:1, 1 Peter 2:9, and Revelation 1:6 and 5:10. This language is in the introduction to the endowment: “Brethren, you have been washed and pronounced clean, or that through your faithfulness you may become clean, from the blood and sins of this generation. You have been anointed to become hereafter kings and priests unto the most high God, to rule and reign in the house of Israel forever. Sisters, you have been washed and anointed to become queens and priestesses to your husbands. Brethren and sisters, if you are true and faithful, the day will come when you will be chosen, called up, and anointed kings and queens, priests and priestesses, whereas you are now anointed only to become such. The realization of these blessings depends upon your faithfulness.”

⁹See verse 20, verse 71, and verse 77; see also DC 93:4 and 16–20. The idea of receiving the “fulness” of the Father seems related to the previous verse, in 55, where the Father “gives all things” into the hands of this group of people.

¹⁰For the “order of Enoch,” see here.

¹¹Fundamentally, the priesthood is “the Holy Priesthood, after the Order of the Son of God” (DC 107:3; see also 1–6 and notes there). Sometimes it receives another name, depending on who is alive and the “highest” priest at the time (or the one who holds all the keys; see the note above on the “order of Enoch”). But the priesthood is after the order of the Son of God, or Christ. This is why the fundamental law of the celestial kingdom is called the “law of Christ” (more on that phrase here; see also DC 88:21).

¹²Apparently a reference to Psalms 82:6.

Section 76:59

Wherefore, all things are theirs, whether life or death, or things present, or things to come, all are theirs and they are Christ's,¹ and Christ is God's.

Section 76:60

And they shall overcome² all things.

Section 76:61

Wherefore, let no man glory in man, but rather let him glory in God, who shall subdue all enemies³ under his feet.⁴

Section 76:62

These shall dwell in the presence of God and his Christ forever and ever.

Section 76:63

These are they whom he shall bring with him, when he shall come in the clouds of heaven to reign on the earth over his people.

Section 76:64

These are they who shall have part in the first resurrection.

Section 76:65

These are they who shall come forth in the resurrection of the just.⁵

Section 76:66

⁶These are they who are come unto Mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly place, the holiest of all.

Section 76:67

These are they who have come to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of Enoch,⁷ and of the Firstborn.

¹See Mark 9:41; DC 101:3;

²The Greek would be νικῶ.

³For the idea of overcoming "enemies," see JS on "salvation".

⁴It's surprising to me that the "subdue enemies under feet" construction is unique to restoration scripture; a search of "subdu* enem* feet*" only gives you this verse, verse 106, and DC 58:22. If you search "subdu* enem*" you get 1 Chronicles 17:10 and Psalms 81:14, plus DC 65:6, but that's it.

⁶This verse and the next three return again to Hebrews 12:22–24. It does add a bit to those verses, however—"the heavenly place, the holiest of all" and "church of Enoch" aren't in the Hebrews verses.

⁷This is the only occurrence of "church of Enoch" in all the scriptures.

Section 76:68

These are they whose names are written in heaven, where God and Christ are the judge of all.

Section 76:69

These are they who are just men made perfect through Jesus the mediator of the new covenant,¹ who wrought out this perfect atonement² through the shedding of his own blood.

Section 76:70

³These are they whose bodies are celestial, whose⁴ glory is that of the sun, even the glory of God, the highest of all, whose glory the sun⁵ of the firmament is written of as being typical.

Section 76:71

⁶And again, we saw the terrestrial world, and behold and lo, these are they who are of the terrestrial, whose glory differs from that of the church of the Firstborn who have received the fulness of the Father, even as that of the moon differs from the sun in the firmament.

Section 76:72

Behold, these are they who died without law;⁷

Section 76:73

And also they who are the spirits of men kept in prison, whom the Son visited, and preached the gospel unto them,⁸ that they might be judged according to men in the flesh;⁹

Section 76:74

Who received not the testimony of Jesus in the flesh, but afterwards received it.

¹This verse was my favorite scripture when I was a missionary, and in particular this first half. It's inspiring to know that we just need to be just, or δίκαιος, and that's enough. We are then made perfect through Jesus the mediator. Some of the language comes from Hebrews 12:23–24; the “made perfect” there is τετελειωμένων, a participle from τελειόω. Note that one of the definition #2.b of τελειόω is “bring to full measure, fill the measure of,” which is also language used in restoration scripture, such as DC 88:19 and the endowment ceremony.

²The only use of “perfect atonement” in the scriptures. It's interesting that it would be called “perfect” here, since we are talking about just people being made perfect through the perfect atonement. It reminds me of DC 19:19, where Christ “finished [his] preparations unto the children of men.” Meaning #1 of τελειόω—see the note for the first part of this verse—is “complete, bring to an end, finish, accomplish.” Christ τελειόω’d the atonement, and in doing so, τελειόω’d us as well.

³This verse begins a new sub-section which drops the language from Hebrews and instead picks up 1 Corinthians 15:40.

⁴The antecedent of this “whose” seems to be the “they” earlier in the verse, rather than “bodies.”

⁵Always makes me think of the allegory of the cave from Republic book VII.

⁶Now a much larger break—transitioning from the celestial world to the terrestrial world.

⁷Possibly a reference to Romans 7:8–9. See the categories of people to whom the atonement applies. Another way to view this comment is to see it as a reference to the priesthood, or the lack of integration of someone's life into the laws of the priesthood that govern salvation. See also Alma 42:17–22.

⁸See 1 Peter 3:18–20, 1 Peter 4:6, and DC 138.

⁹This entire last part, “that they might be judged according to men in the flesh,” comes from 1 Peter 4:6; see here for more occurrences of “according to men in the flesh.”

Section 76:75

These are they who are honorable men of the earth, who were blinded by the craftiness of men.¹

Section 76:76

These are they who receive of his glory, but not of his fulness.²

Section 76:77

These are they who receive of the presence of the Son, but not of the fulness of the Father.

Section 76:78

Wherefore, they are bodies terrestrial, and not bodies celestial, and differ in glory as the moon differs from the sun.

Section 76:79

These are they who are not valiant in the testimony of Jesus; wherefore, they obtain not the crown over the kingdom of our God.

Section 76:80

And now this is the end of the vision which we saw of the terrestrial, that the Lord commanded us to write while we were yet in the Spirit.

Section 76:81

And again, we saw the glory of the telestial,³ which glory is that of the lesser, even as the glory of the stars differs from that of the glory of the moon in the firmament.

Section 76:82

These are they who received not the gospel of Christ, neither the testimony of Jesus.⁴

Section 76:83

These are they who deny not the Holy Spirit.

¹Possibly a reference to Ephesians 4:14. In several places the BOM talks about “cunning and craftiness,” and the Ephesians verse uses “cunning craftiness.”

²Compare DC 88:28–32.

³This is the first use of the term “telestial” in restoration scripture, and it occurs only in DC 76 and in DC 88, nowhere else. It also appears in a few places in the endowment ceremony.

⁴Notice that the “gospel of Christ” and “the testimony of Jesus” are spoken of as separate things in this verse—you can receive one without receiving the other. This very section speaks in particular about the gospel in various places, and connects it somewhat directly with going beyond the testimony of Jesus into receiving ordinances; see verse 51 for example, and verse 101. A related term is the “doctrine of Christ” as spoken of in 2 Nephi 31:21, which is a summation of everything that Nephi taught about baptism and ordinances in that chapter. Sherem connects the terms at Jacob 7:6.

These are they who are thrust down to hell.

Section 76:85

These are they who shall not be redeemed from the devil until the last resurrection, until the Lord, even Christ the Lamb, shall have finished his work.

Section 76:86

These are they who receive not of his fulness in the eternal world, but of the Holy Spirit through the ministration of the terrestrial;

Section 76:87

And the terrestrial through the ministration of the celestial.

Section 76:88

And also the telestial receive it of the administering of angels who are appointed to minister for them, or who are appointed to be ministering spirits for them;¹ for they shall be heirs of salvation.

Section 76:89

And thus we saw, in the heavenly vision, the glory of the telestial, which surpasses² all understanding;³

Section 76:90

And no man knows it except him to whom God has revealed it.

Section 76:91

And thus we saw the glory of the terrestrial which excels in all things the glory of the telestial, even in glory, and in power, and in might, and in dominion.

¹DC 107:20 tells us that the Aaronic priesthood holds “the keys of the ministering of angels.” In the endowment ceremony, you receive the first token of the Aaronic priesthood while still in the garden; immediately after you enter into the telestial world. In that world you then receive the second token of the Aaronic priesthood, and you put on the robes in the Aaronic way before changing them to the Melchizedek way, still in the telestial world. Notice that Peter, James, and John visit you, as ministers or as ministering angels, while in the telestial room, and while you are receiving these tokens of the Aaronic priesthood, in line with what is described here in this verse. Immediately after changing the robes to the right shoulder, you enter the terrestrial room. In that room you receive both tokens of the Melchizedek priesthood—note that both are clear references to Christ, along the lines of verse 77 above, being in the terrestrial world. Once you’ve received all the tokens of the Melchizedek priesthood, and you get the name of the second token at the veil, you are ready to enter into the presence of Elohim, in the celestial kingdom: “Brethren and sisters, we are instructed to introduce you at the veil, where you will receive the name of the second token of the Melchizedek priesthood, the patriarchal grip, or Sure Sign of the Nail, preparatory to your entering into the presence of the Lord.” This is a very beautiful connection between this revelation, which comes ten years before the restoration of the endowment, and the endowment ceremony itself.

²The word “surpass” only occurs twice in all the scriptures—here, and in verse 114.

³See BY, 8 October 1865: “what will become of the inhabitants of the earth that have and now live all they that don’t sin against the Holy Ghost will be saved in a kingdom somewhere and they fare better than ever imagined and Father Wesley get a greater glory [than] ever entered into his heart but [when/one/won’t?] go where the Father and Son are and so it will be with others.”

Section 76:92

And thus we saw the glory of the celestial, which excels in all things—where God, even the Father, reigns upon his throne forever and ever;

Section 76:93

Before whose throne all things bow in humble reverence, and give him glory forever and ever.

Section 76:94

They who dwell in his presence are the church of the Firstborn; and they see as they are seen, and know as they are known,¹ having received of his fulness and of his grace;

Section 76:95

And he makes them equal² in power, and in might, and in dominion.³

Section 76:96

And the glory of the celestial is one,⁴ even as the glory of the sun is one.

Section 76:97

And the glory of the terrestrial is one, even as the glory of the moon is one.

Section 76:98

And the glory of the telestial is one, even as the glory of the stars is one; for as one star differs from another star in glory, even so differs one from another in glory in the telestial world;

Section 76:99

For these are they who are of Paul, and of Apollos, and of Cephas.⁵

¹I can't find a scriptural connection to the "see as they are seen/known as they are known" bit. Maybe I'm missing it somewhere but I can't find anything. The key question seems to be, seen and known by whom? The obvious answer is God, but given that everyone else receives the powers of God, it could also be that the verse is referring to each person who is part of the church of the Firstborn. Some scriptures to keep in mind: Galatians 4:9, Philippians 3:12 (uses "apprehend/apprehended of Christ"),

⁴This bit and the next two verses have material from 1 Corinthians 15:40–41. This verse here, when you read it with the next two, make it seem as though the "one" means something like "unitary"—"the glory of the celestial is unitary, one, single," like everyone has the same glory. I don't think the Greek can be read this way—the AB translation of the second part of 15:40 brings this out: "the splendor of the heavenly bodies is one thing; that of the earthly is another." In other words, the Greek is trying to underscore the distinction between the glories or levels of "splendor." These verses here in DC can be read that way, and probably should be read that way, but maybe they are suggesting other things too.

⁵See 1 Corinthians 1:12 and 3:22.

Section 76:100

These are they who say they are some of one and some of another—some of Christ¹ and some of John, and some of Moses, and some of Elias, and some of Esaias, and some of Isaiah, and some of Enoch;

Section 76:101

But received not the gospel, neither the testimony of Jesus, neither the prophets, neither the everlasting covenant.

Section 76:102

Last of all, these all are they who will not be gathered with the saints, to be caught up unto the church of the Firstborn, and received into the cloud.

Section 76:103

These are they who are liars, and sorcerers, and adulterers, and whoremongers, and whosoever loves and makes a lie.²

Section 76:104

These are they who suffer the wrath of God on earth.

Section 76:105

These are they who suffer the vengeance of eternal fire.³

Section 76:106

These are they who are cast down to hell and suffer the wrath of Almighty God, until the fulness of times, when Christ shall have subdued all enemies under his feet, and shall have perfected his work;⁴

Section 76:107

When he shall deliver up the kingdom,⁵ and present it unto the Father, spotless,⁶ saying: I have overcome and have trodden the wine-press alone,⁷ even the wine-press of the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God.

Section 76:108

Then shall he be crowned with the crown of his glory, to sit on the throne of his power to reign forever and ever.

¹Notice that Christ is one of the possibilities here—so even though some groups of people claim to be of Christ, they have not taken the actions that were required of them, as stated in the next verse.

²Compare Revelation 21:8, 22:15, and DC 63:17.

³As always with this stuff about punishment, you have to begin with DC 19.

⁴The gospel of John has a number of places where it talks about Christ and “perfecting” this work, but they use the word “finish” in the KJV—see John 4:34, 5:36, and 17:4. All three use forms of τελειόω, so that’s the way I want to interpret what is being said here in the DC.

⁵That part of existence governed by the law of Christ.

⁶“Spotless” does not occur in the Bible at all; it’s a word introduced into the gospel lexicon by the BOM. I almost want to take the term here as meaning “perfectly organized”—everything is in its place, obeying the laws it chooses to obey as well as it can, filling the measure of its creation. See my note at verse 69. The purpose of an implementation of the gospel on a world is to impose order and organization on all matter and life; see this comment in the endowment ceremony. Maybe another way of putting it is to say, “spotless” only has a meaning relative to a set of laws; it doesn’t really mean anything by itself, or absolutely.

⁷This language comes from Isaiah 63:3. See also DC 88:106.

Section 76:109

But behold, and lo, we saw the glory and the inhabitants of the telestial world, that they were as innumerable as the stars in the firmament of heaven, or as the sand upon the seashore;

Section 76:110

And heard the voice of the Lord saying: These all shall bow the knee, and every tongue shall confess to him who sits upon the throne forever and ever;

Section 76:111

For they shall be judged according to their works, and every man shall receive according to his own works, his own dominion,¹ in the mansions which are prepared;

JSP	for they shall be judged according to there works and every man shall receive according to his own works and his own dominion in the mansions which are prepared,
EMS	for they shall be judged according to their works; and every man shall receive according to his own works, and his own dominion, in the mansions which are prepared;
BC	—
DC 1835	for they shall be judged according to their works; and every man shall receive according to his own works, and his own dominion, in the mansions which are prepared,
DC 1844	for they shall be judged according to their works; and every man shall receive according to his own works, and his own dominion, in the mansions which are prepared,

Section 76:112

And they shall be servants of the Most High; but where God and Christ dwell they cannot come, worlds without end.

Section 76:113

This is the end of the vision which we saw, which we were commanded to write while we were yet in the Spirit.

Section 76:114

But great and marvelous are the works of the Lord, and the mysteries of his kingdom which he showed unto us, which surpass all understanding in glory, and in might, and in dominion;

Section 76:115

Which he commanded us we should not write while we were yet in the Spirit, and are not lawful for man to utter;

¹Note that in the JSP version, the EMS, and the 1835 and 1844 DC, you get an “and” before the “his own dominion” bit. HDDC 970 notes that this “and” was present in many early versions beyond just those I’ve listed below. Taking away the “and” makes a pretty serious difference in the verse. As it currently appears, it’s kind of an awkward sentence, but the most straightforward way of taking it is to see “his own dominion” as the object of “receive.” We could punctuate it in the following way to bring out this interpretation more clearly:

No “and” For they shall be judged according to their works, and every man shall receive, according to his own works, his own dominion in the mansions which are prepared.

This makes sense—but this is not what the punctuation is in the current version, so it isn’t even clear that this is the right way to understand it. I like adding back in the “and,” since it produces a more interesting idea. Here is a way to do that, with punctuation and other aids to suggest an interpretation:

With “and” For they shall be judged according to their works. And every man shall receive (i) according to his own works, and (ii) [according to] his own dominion, in the mansions which are prepared.

On this interpretation, “receive” is intransitive and so doesn’t take an object. The interesting thing that this interpretation adds—beyond being true to the original text—is that there is a new condition added that determines how we receive, and that condition is that we receive according to our “own dominion.”

Section 76:116

Neither is man capable to make them known, for they are only to be seen and understood by the power of the Holy Spirit, which God bestows on those who love him, and purify themselves before him;

Section 76:117

To whom he grants this privilege of seeing and knowing for themselves;

Section 76:118

That through the power and manifestation of the Spirit, while in the flesh, they may be able to bear his presence in the world of glory.

Section 76:119

And to God and the Lamb be glory, and honor, and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“As JS continued his revision of the New Testament in February and March 1832, he reached the book of Revelation with its abundance of symbolic language. “About the first of march, in connection with the translation of the scriptures,” a later JS history explains, “I received the following explanation of the Revelations of Saint John.” Given that JS was in Kirtland, Ohio, and was not working on the New Testament revisions between 29 February and 4 March 1832, this document was likely written sometime between 4 March and 20 March, when another revelation told JS and Sidney Rigdon (who was serving as JS’s scribe) to “omit the translation for the present time” so that they could travel to Missouri. By the night of 24–25 March 1832, when the pair was attacked by a group of men in Hiram, Ohio, JS and Rigdon were working on the eleventh chapter of the book of Revelation, the last chapter mentioned in the explanation.

“Because he was inscribing the New Testament revision, Rigdon probably served as the original scribe for the explanation, but Jesse Gause could have been the scribe instead. The earliest surviving copy is an undated one made by John Whitmer in Revelation Book 1, where it is identified only as “Revelation Explained.” Whitmer, who was residing in Missouri at the time, probably made the copy sometime after April 1832, when JS likely brought a copy of the original document to Missouri along with copies of revelations dictated in March.”

Q.

What is the sea of glass spoken of by John, 4th chapter, and 6th verse of the Revelation?

A.

It is the earth, in its sanctified, immortal, and eternal state.

Section 77:2

Q.

What are we to understand by the four beasts, spoken of in the same verse?

A.

They are figurative expressions, used by the Revelator, John, in describing heaven, the paradise of God, the happiness of man, and of beasts, and of creeping things, and of the fowls of the air; that which is spiritual being in the likeness of that which is temporal; and that which is temporal in the likeness of that which is spiritual; the spirit of man in the likeness of his person, as also the spirit of the beast, and every other creature which God has created.

Section 77:3

Q.

Are the four beasts limited to individual beasts, or do they represent classes or orders?

A.

They are limited to four individual beasts, which were shown to John, to represent the glory of the classes of beings in their destined order or sphere of creation, in the enjoyment of their eternal felicity.

Section 77:4

Q.

What are we to understand by the eyes and wings, which the beasts had?

A.

Their eyes are a representation of light and knowledge, that is, they are full of knowledge; and their wings are a representation of power, to move, to act, etc.

Section 77:5

Q.

What are we to understand by the four and twenty elders, spoken of by John?

A.

We are to understand that these elders whom John saw, were elders who had been faithful in the work of the ministry and were dead; who belonged to the seven churches, and were then in the paradise of God.

Section 77:6

Q.

What are we to understand by the book which John saw, which was sealed on the back with seven seals?

A.

We are to understand that it contains the revealed will, mysteries, and the works of God; the hidden things of his economy¹ concerning this earth during the seven thousand years of its continuance, or its temporal existence.

Section 77:7

Q.

What are we to understand by the seven seals with which it was sealed?

A.

We are to understand that the first seal contains the things of the first thousand years, and the second also of the second thousand years, and so on until the seventh.

Section 77:8

Q.

What are we to understand by the four angels, spoken of in the 7th chapter and 1st verse of Revelation?

A.

We are to understand that they are four angels sent forth from God, to whom is given power over the four parts of the earth, to save life and to destroy; these are they who have the everlasting gospel to commit to every nation, kindred, tongue, and people; having power to shut up the heavens, to seal up unto life, or to cast down to the regions of darkness.

Section 77:9

Q.

What are we to understand by the angel ascending from the east, Revelation 7th chapter and 2nd verse?

¹For "economy," see DC 76, this note.

A.

We are to understand that the angel ascending from the east is he to whom is given the seal of the living God over the twelve tribes of Israel; wherefore, he crieth unto the four angels having the everlasting gospel, saying: Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads. And, if you will receive it, this is Elias which was to come to gather together the tribes of Israel and restore all things.

Section 77:10

Q.

What time are the things spoken of in this chapter to be accomplished?

A.

They are to be accomplished in the sixth thousand years, or the opening of the sixth seal.

Section 77:11

Q.

What are we to understand by sealing the one hundred and forty-four thousand, out of all the tribes of Israel—twelve thousand out of every tribe?

A.

We are to understand that those who are sealed are high priests,¹ ordained unto the holy order of God, to administer the everlasting gospel; for they are they who are ordained out of every nation, kindred, tongue, and people, by the angels to whom is given power over the nations of the earth, to bring as many as will come to the church of the Firstborn.²

Section 77:12

Q.

What are we to understand by the sounding of the trumpets, mentioned in the 8th chapter of Revelation?

A.

We are to understand that as God made the world in six days, and on the seventh day he finished his work, and sanctified it, and also formed man out of the dust of the earth, even so, in the beginning of the seventh thousand years will the Lord God sanctify the earth, and complete the salvation of man, and judge all things, and shall redeem all things, except that which he hath not put into his power, when he shall have sealed all things, unto the end of all things; and the sounding of the trumpets of the seven angels are the preparing and finishing of his work, in the beginning of the seventh thousand years—the preparing of the way before the time of his coming.

¹The initial ordinations for high priests had happened less than a year before this, I think.

²About a month before this, JS received the vision of DC 76, which mentions “the church of the Firstborn.”

Section 77:13

Q.

When are the things to be accomplished, which are written in the 9th chapter of Revelation?

A.

They are to be accomplished after the opening of the seventh seal, before the coming of Christ.

Section 77:14

Q.

What are we to understand by the little book which was eaten by John, as mentioned in the 10th chapter of Revelation?

A.

We are to understand that it was a mission, and an ordinance, for him to gather the tribes of Israel; behold, this is Elias, who, as it is written, must come and restore all things.

Section 77:15

Q.

What is to be understood by the two witnesses, in the eleventh chapter of Revelation?

A.

They are two prophets that are to be raised up to the Jewish nation in the last days, at the time of the restoration, and to prophesy to the Jews after they are gathered and have built the city of Jerusalem in the land of their fathers.

Section 78 (1 March 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

“This revelation deals with the church’s mercantile and publishing endeavors. As church members gathered to Jackson County, Missouri, in 1831 to establish Zion, the need for money to purchase land became pressing. In July 1831, a revelation instructed Sidney Gilbert, who was a partner with Newel K. Whitney in N. K. Whitney & Co., to ‘establish a store’ in Independence, Jackson County, so that the church could receive ‘money to buy lands for the good of the Saints.’ Gilbert opened a store in Missouri in early 1832 that was funded in part by Whitney and operated under the name Gilbert & Whitney. Whitney, who remained in Kirtland, Ohio, to run his own store (which had been in existence since at least 1824), received direction in 1831 to provide funding for the establishment of Zion.

& commandments' and that any 'profits' they gained from publishing church materials over and above their needs be placed in the Lord's storehouse to benefit 'the inhabitants of Zion & . . . their generations.'

"On 1 March 1832, JS, who was in Kirtland on a short visit, assembled a group of high priests, presumably to discuss the coordination of the church's publication and mercantile endeavors. At the meeting, JS dictated this revelation, which instructed himself, Rigdon, and Whitney to organize a 'firm' to manage the 'Literary and Merchantile establishments' of the church. The revelation also required JS, Rigdon, and Whitney to travel to Zion and 'sit in council' with the church there and emphasized the need for church members to be equal in temporal things in order for unity to prevail in spiritual matters.

"The original manuscript of the revelation is not extant. Frederick G. Williams, who spent some time in March 1832 copying revelations into Revelation Book 2, made a copy of the document for Whitney, probably at the same time Williams recorded it in Revelation Book 2. Although it is unclear exactly when the Whitney copy was made, Williams probably made the entry in Revelation Book 2 sometime between 8 March (the date of a note that precedes the revelation) and 1 April (when JS departed for Missouri). He titled the Revelation Book 2 copy 'A Revelation given for Sidney Joseph & Newel to go an[d] sit in council with the elders in Zion, March 1— 1832.'"

“Jared Carter spent much of late 1831 and early 1832 proselytizing in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and Vermont. A few weeks after returning to his home in Amherst, Ohio, he traveled to Hiram, Ohio, where JS was living in the home of John and Alice (Elsa) Jacobs Johnson. Carter recorded in his journal that the purpose of his trip was to visit ‘the Seae[r] to enquire the will of the Lord concerning my min[ist]ry the ensuin[g] season.’ On 12 March 1832, JS dictated a revelation directing Carter to preach the gospel again in the eastern United States. When Carter departed for his new mission on 15 April 1832, he likely had the original manuscript of the revelation or a copy of it in his possession. The revelation was probably originally inscribed by Sidney Rigdon, Jesse Gause, or Frederick G. Williams, who served as scribes for JS in 1832. Williams copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2, probably sometime before JS left for Missouri on 1 April 1832.”

Historical Background

“The index to Revelation Book 2, which Frederick G. Williams was keeping in Ohio in March 1832, identifies the subject of this 7 March 1832 revelation as Stephen Burnett. At age seventeen, Burnett was ordained to the high priesthood at the October 1831 conference held in Orange, Cuyahoga County, Ohio. Three months later, at the 25 January 1832 conference in Amherst, Ohio, JS dictated a revelation appointing Burnett to travel and preach with Ruggles Eames, though it is not known if Burnett and Eames fulfilled that assignment. This 7 March revelation appointed Burnett to travel and preach again, this time with Eden Smith. However, the two did not preach together until August 1832 because Eden Smith became sick on 7 March and remained ill ‘for sometime.’ Instead, two weeks after this revelation was dictated, Burnett began his mission with John Smith, Eden’s father.

“The revelation was probably originally inscribed by Sidney Rigdon, Jesse Gause, or Frederick G. Williams, who served as scribes to JS in 1832. JS and Williams copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2, probably sometime before JS departed for Missouri on 1 April. The date on this copy of the revelation is 7 March 1832, written in JS’s handwriting. The copy of the revelation in Revelation Book 1, made sometime after April 1832, bears the date 17 March. However, the ink flow of the ‘1’ is heavier than that of the surrounding text, suggesting that it was inserted at a later time. When the revelation was published, the date was given as March 1832 and the revelation followed a 12 March revelation. Because JS originally inscribed the date of 7 March on the copy in Revelation Book 2 so close to the time of the original inscription, that date is probably correct.”

Historical Background

“The index to Revelation Book 2 identifies ‘Jesse Gauze [Gause]’ as the subject of this 15 March 1832 revelation, although the revelation refers to him only as ‘Jesse.’ Gause had recently been called as a counselor to JS in the presidency of the high priesthood. A November 1831 revelation declared that presidents were to be appointed to preside over groups of men who held various offices, including the office of high priest. JS was ordained president of the high priesthood at a 25 January 1832 conference in Amherst, Ohio. On 8 March 1832, JS appointed Gause and Sidney Rigdon as ‘councillers of the ministry of the presidency of th[e] high Pristhood.’ While Rigdon had been associated with JS almost since Rigdon’s baptism in November 1830, Gause was a relatively new member, baptized sometime in late 1831 or early 1832. This 15 March 1832 revelation instructed Gause in his duties as counselor. In addition, it acknowledged JS as president of the high priesthood and stated that ‘the keys of the Kingdom’ rested with him.

“Because Gause apparently acted as a scribe for JS’s revisions of the New Testament between 8 and 20 March 1832, it is likely that the nonextant original manuscript of this revelation was in Gause’s own handwriting. Frederick G. Williams copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2, probably sometime before 1 April 1832. At a later point—sometime after the appointment of Williams as a counselor to JS in January 1833—Oliver Cowdery replaced Gause’s name with Williams’s in the Revelation Book 2 copy (which is the version featured below). Someone—likely Cowdery—crossed out Gause’s name as well. The published versions of this revelation in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, the 1844 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, and the 15 August 1844 issue of the Times and Seasons all have Williams’s name instead of Gause’s. This indicates that JS and others regarded this revelation as containing general information about the duties of a counselor, rather than instructions specific to Gause.”

HDDC

HDDC 1017–1021 has some background information on Gause and other aspects of this section; it’s mainly because Woodford knew that Gause’s name appeared crossed off in manuscript copies of the revelation, and he was trying to figure out why. There wasn’t a lot of info available on Gause apparently.

Section 82 (26 April 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

“This revelation was dictated in the second half of the first day of a council of high priests and elders held 26–27 April 1832 in Independence, Jackson County, Missouri. Its contents reflected some of the business transacted by that council, including the resolution of a disagreement between Sidney Rigdon and Edward Partridge. The first part of the revelation acknowledged Rigdon and Partridge’s reconciliation, forgave them for the offenses in their earlier conflicts, and required the recipients of the revelation to forgive each other and obey God’s commandments. The second part of the revelation reiterated the need to organize a governing firm for the church’s business and publishing interests and named the individuals who were to participate in this organization. They included five men living in Missouri (Partridge, Sidney Gilbert, Oliver Cowdery, John Whitmer, and William W. Phelps) and four living in Ohio (JS, Rigdon, Newel K. Whitney, and Martin Harris). The revelation indicated that each of these individuals had a stewardship over some aspect of church business and that uniting them in the firm would allow them to draw on each other’s resources to manage these endeavors, thereby producing more ‘tallents,’ or surplus, for the church’s storehouses.

“The revelation also highlighted the evolving relationship between the church in Kirtland, Ohio, and the church in Missouri. A January 1831 revelation designated Kirtland as a temporary place for members of the church to stay until the Lord identified the location of the New Jerusalem. Subsequent revelations indicated, however, that the Mormon settlement at Kirtland was not to be quite so short lived. A May 1831 revelation stated that the Lord had consecrated Kirtland ‘for a little season until I the Lord shall provide for them otherwise.’ In July 1831, a revelation designated Independence as the ‘centre place’ of Zion, where the church would build the New Jerusalem in preparation for Christ’s second coming, but a September 1831 revelation explained that the Lord would still ‘retain a strong hold in the Land of Kirtland for the space of five years.’ The 26 April revelation featured here, evoking imagery used in Isaiah 54:2–3, designated Kirtland as a ‘stake’ of Zion, or a place that would support the establishment of Zion.

“As the clerk of the 26–27 April council, Whitmer likely recorded this revelation as JS dictated it, though the original manuscript is no longer extant. Whitmer likely copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1 shortly after its dictation. Sometime later, Whitmer wrote ‘Not to be published now’ on the first page of the manuscript in Revelation Book 1. The second page of the manuscript was crossed out, likely also to indicate the intention not to publish the revelation at that time. This is consistent with a similar notation, ‘Not to be printed at present,’ in the manuscript of a 20 July 1831 revelation mandating extensive acquisition of land for Zion in Jackson County. Church leaders apparently believed that publication of plans for their commercial and real estate ventures could be detrimental to their larger goals. The 26 April revelation was not published in the Book of Commandments, but it was published in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, with pseudonyms for the names of the elders in the revelation and for the name of the church’s governing business firm, which by 1835 had been discontinued.”

Section 83 (30 April 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

“According to a later JS history, JS ‘sat in council with the brethren’ on 30 April 1832 in Independence, Jackson County, Missouri, and dictated a revelation clarifying the rights of women and children who had lost their husbands or fathers. Although there were civil laws outlining specific property rights for women upon the death of their husbands, it was not clear what would happen if a husband had consecrated property to the church. The 30 April revelation helped clarify the church’s position in such instances.

“An earlier revelation on the laws of the church outlined principles of consecration, stating that consecration was a means for church members to take care of the poor among them. That revelation instructed members to consecrate their properties to the church and bishops to convey back stewardships that were sufficient for their needs and those of their families. The ‘residue’ of the consecrated property was then kept in the ‘store house to administer to the poor and needy.’ In accordance with this revelation, a few church members in Ohio consecrated properties to the church for a brief time in 1831. After Missouri was designated as the location of Zion in July 1831, the practice of consecration was instituted there. As more members consecrated property, questions inevitably arose. For example, according to Missouri statutes, a woman had no claim on her personal property when she married, giving up that right to her husband. If her husband died, a woman had a dower right, or a right to a third part of her husband’s real estate. She was also ‘entitled absolutely to a share’ in her husband’s ‘other personal estate’ that was ‘equal to the share of a child of such deceased husband, after the payment of debts.’ The doctrine of consecration, as established in the ‘Laws of the Church of Christ’ and subsequent revelations, did not address what claims a widow had on property her husband had consecrated to the church or what would happen to children who lost their fathers.

JS apparently became concerned about such questions while in Missouri in April 1832. Perhaps one reason was his short trip from 28–29 April to visit the Saints from Colesville, New York, who had settled about twelve miles west of Independence in Kaw Township, Missouri. JS had good friends in this settlement, including the Knight family. He later reported that he ‘received a welcome only known by brethren and sisters united as one in the same faith.’ Among those living in Kaw Township were at least two widows: Phebe Crosby Peck, who had four children, and Anna Slade Rogers, who had a daughter. These women’s husbands died in 1829 before the revelation on the ‘Laws of the Church of Christ’ was dictated, but JS’s association with them may have prompted him to wonder about a widow’s claim to consecrated property, which may in turn have led to this 30 April revelation.

Sidney Rigdon may have written this revelation as JS dictated it in late April 1832. The apparent misdating of ‘May 31st’ indicates that the version featured here, in Rigdon’s handwriting, is probably not the original but is a copy made for Newel K. Whitney. Whitney corrected this error in an endorsement that labeled and characterized the revelation: ‘as to Women & children; Inheretance at Zion 30 ap^l 1832.’ Sometime after April 1832, John Whitmer copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1, giving it the date of 30 April—a date that was perpetuated in a later JS history. It was also published in the January 1833 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star under the title ‘Items in Addition to the Laws for the Government of the Church of Christ, Given April, 1832.’”

Section 84 (22–23 September 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

“After JS relocated from Hiram to Kirtland, Ohio, on 12 September 1832, elders who had returned from preaching in the eastern United States came to JS to report on their proselytizing. While JS and these elders were ‘together in these seasons of joy,’ a later history recounts, JS ‘inquired of the Lord and received’ a revelation dated 22 and 23 September 1832. The beginning of the revelation identified its audience as JS and six elders, but partway through the revelation, the audience shifted to ‘Eleven high Priests save one.’ Because JS was living in Newel K. Whitney’s white store, the revelation was probably dictated in either the store’s upstairs ‘translating room’ or the upstairs ‘council room,’ places where JS frequently worked.

“The revelation was dictated over the course of two days, most likely beginning the evening of 22 September and continuing into the early morning hours of 23 September. Textual evidence indicates a pause in the dictation at some point on 23 September. The three existing manuscript copies of the revelation (one in the handwriting of Frederick G. Williams, another by Williams and JS, and one by John Whitmer) all contain a clear break between the phrase ‘for he is full of mercy Justice grace and truth and peace for ever and ever Amen’ and the phrase ‘And again verily verily I say unto you it is expedient . . . ,’ marking an interruption in the dictation. Whitmer’s copy even adds ‘Received on the 23 day of September 1832’ between those two lines. However, the three manuscripts also include ‘viz 23^d. day of September AD 1832’ as a notation several pages before this break, indicating that material presented before the interruption was also dictated on 23 September. It may be that the dictation went into the early morning hours of 23 September, halted for a period of time, and then recommenced later that day.

“The index of Revelation Book 2, one of the volumes in which this revelation was recorded, designated the revelation as one ‘explaining the two priest hoods and commissioning the Apostles to preach the gospel.’ An understanding of priesthood was still developing among followers of JS, especially in terms of its connection to different offices in the church. The Book of Mormon indicated that authority from God was necessary to perform certain ordinances, such as baptism and conferring the gift of the Holy Ghost, which led JS and Oliver Cowdery to petition God for such authority as they worked together in translating that record. Later accounts indicate that in May 1829 and sometime thereafter, they received angelic visitations that provided them first with the authority to baptize and later with the authority to officiate in other ordinances. However, extant records up to June 1831 did not call such authority ‘priesthood’; that term—while appearing in both the Book of Mormon and in JS’s Bible revision—did not appear in any other contemporary documents until the minutes of a June 1831 conference, which noted that several individuals ‘were ordained to the high Priesthood.’ Moreover, the ‘Articles and Covenants’ of the church explained the different duties of apostles, elders, priests, teachers, and deacons but did not explicitly associate these offices with the priesthood.

“By late 1831, the high priesthood was understood to refer to both the office of high priest and to a broader authority. The office, according to an 11 November 1831 revelation, was superior to other offices in the church, just as the authority seemed to be the highest authority. This revelation stated that after the offices of deacon, teacher, priest, and elder came ‘the high Priest hood which is the greatest of all.’ A history JS began writing around summer 1832 suggests that he had received two separate powers with different responsibilities. In that history, JS noted that ‘the ministring of—Aangels’ gave him an authority that allowed him ‘to adminster the letter of the Gospel.’ He also recorded receiving ‘the high Priesthood after the holy order of the son of the living God,’ which gave him ‘power and ordinance from on high to preach the Gospel in the administration and demonstration of the spirit.’

“This 22–23 September revelation similarly delineated the existence of two priesthoods: a greater priesthood that contains keys to the mysteries of the kingdom and to the knowledge of God, and a lesser priesthood holding the keys of the ministring of angels and of the gospel of repentance and baptism.¹¹ The revelation traced the lineage of the two priesthoods, noting that the greater priesthood was held by Moses, who received it from a line of individuals (including Melchizedek) who had ultimately received it from God. Aaron, meanwhile, held the lesser priesthood, which was passed to his descendants until it reached John the Baptist. Both priesthoods, the revelation posited, are eternal, and men in the Church of Christ could become the ‘sons of Moses’ and the ‘sons of Aaron’ by receiving these priesthoods and ‘magnifying there calling.’ Doing so would enable these ‘sons’ to enter the temple that the Saints would construct in Missouri, allowing them to receive God’s glory that would fill the temple. Some of this information seems a culmination of ideas first expressed in JS’s revisions to passages in Hebrews, Genesis, and Exodus, which were completed in the six months leading up to September. The revelation also explained how the different offices in the church are connected to the two priesthoods. The offices of elder and bishop, it states, are ‘appendages’ to the high priesthood, or to the office of high priest; the offices of teacher and deacon, meanwhile, are appendages to the lesser priesthood, or to the office of priest. High priests, elders, and priests, the revelation continued, have an obligation to travel to proclaim the gospel, while teachers and deacons are responsible for watching over the church in local congregations.

“After providing a detailed explanation of the greater and lesser priesthoods, their offices, and their duties, the revelation emphasized the necessity of preaching to the world and provided an extensive discussion of many aspects of missionary work. Revelations from 1830, 1831, and 1832 called specific individuals on missions, but few revelations gave general procedural instructions about missionary work. This 22–23 September revelation, however, provided direction on who should serve missions, how they should serve, how they should receive sustenance while serving, what they should proclaim, and what would happen to those who did not accept their message. These instructions parallel New Testament accounts of the resurrected Jesus Christ’s directions to the eleven apostles before his ascension into heaven. As in those accounts, Christ tells the high priests in this revelation that they have a responsibility to preach to all nations and to baptize those who believe. Signs will follow the believers, the revelation continues, and the Lord will go before them, just as Christ promised the ancient apostles that he would be with them always, ‘even unto the end of the world.’ The revelation specifically refers to ‘Eleven high Priests save one’ (perhaps a reference to the eleven apostles to whom Christ spoke in the New Testament) and calls these high priests ‘apostles’ and ‘friends’ of Jesus Christ. Although many had preached the gospel before this time, this revelation seemed to launch a more urgent and comprehensive missionary campaign, even including in its preaching assignments individuals such as Bishop Newel K. Whitney, who generally oversaw temporal, not spiritual, concerns.

“Frederick G. Williams, who was serving as JS’s scribe, probably recorded the revelation as JS dictated it. Williams also inscribed a copy of this revelation that was given to Whitney, stating that he was transcribing it ‘for N K, Whitney and Joseph the Seer.’ Whitney and JS traveled together in New York and other states in October 1832, and the copy was likely made for the two men to carry with them on that trip. Williams and JS also made a copy of the revelation in Revelation Book 2, probably soon after the revelation was dictated. Parts of the revelation—including a ‘new song’ on snake person themes, a condemnation of the church for neglecting the Book of Mormon, and the explanation of appendages to the greater and lesser priesthoods—were discussed in early 1833 issues of the church’s periodical The Evening and the Morning Star. A conference of high priests also wrote a letter in January 1833 calling church members in Missouri to repentance in conformance with instructions given in the revelation. Since at least six elders and ten high priests heard portions of the revelation while it was dictated, it is probable that information in it was also spread through word of mouth.”

Section 84:1

A REVELATION of Jesus Christ unto his servant Joseph Smith, Jun., and six elders, as they united their hearts and lifted their voices on high.

Section 84:2

Yea, the word of the Lord concerning his church, established in the last days for the restoration of his people, as he has spoken by the mouth of his prophets, and for the gathering of his saints to stand upon Mount Zion, which shall be the ¹city of New Jerusalem.

Section 84:3

Which city shall be built, beginning at the temple lot, which is appointed by the finger of the Lord, in the western boundaries of the State of Missouri, and dedicated by the hand of Joseph Smith, Jun., and others with whom the Lord was well pleased.

Section 84:4

Verily this is the word of the Lord, that the city New Jerusalem shall be built by the gathering of the saints, beginning at this place, even the place of the temple, which temple shall be reared in this generation.²

Section 84:5

For verily this generation shall not all pass away until an house shall be built unto the Lord, and a cloud shall rest upon it, which cloud shall be even the glory of the Lord, which shall fill the house.

JSP for verely this generation shall not all pass away untill an house shalt be built unto the Lord and a cloud shall rest upon it which cloud shall be even the glory of the Lord which shall fill the house,

³And the sons of Moses,⁴ according to the Holy Priesthood⁵ which he received under the hand of his father-in-law, Jethro,⁶

JSP and the sons of Moses according to the holy Priesthood which he received under the father in Law Jethro,

Section 84:7

And Jethro received it under the hand of Caleb;⁷

¹See Ether 13:2–12,

²I don't think this temple was ever built. I've been to see the temple lot area, what I remember is that it was just a field with a stone marking the position described here.

³The transition from the previous verse to this one is incredibly jarring. What you have to realize is that everything after "the sons of Moses" in this verse, all the way to the end of verse 30, is like a parenthetical remark explaining different aspects of the priesthood. So if you want to read this without the parenthetical remark, it would start here and then continue in verse 30: "And the sons of Moses...and also the sons of Aaron shall offer an acceptable offering and sacrifice in the house of the Lord..."

⁵I want to read the passage this way: "And those who are the sons of Moses according to the Holy Priesthood." In other words, "according to the Holy Priesthood" explains the respect in which these individuals are sons of Moses. This goes along with verse 32, which says that those listening are these sons.

⁶There follows here a lineage of the priesthood being described; to me the whole thing sounds made up. I don't doubt it could have been given by revelation, and that there could have been people with these names, but this seems like the kind of thing that JS would make up.

⁷There are two "Caleb"s listed in NIEBC. The first appears in Numbers and Joshua, and the second apperas in 1 Chronicles. If this reference here is meant to speak of one of these Calebs, it must be referring to the first.

Section 84:8

And Caleb received it under the hand of Elihu;¹

Section 84:9

And Elihu under the hand of Jeremy;²

Section 84:10

And Jeremy under the hand of Gad;³

Section 84:11

And Gad under the hand of Esaias;⁴

Section 84:12

And Esaias received it under the hand of God.

Section 84:13

Esaias also lived in the days of Abraham, and was blessed of him—

Section 84:14

Which Abraham received the priesthood from Melchizedek,⁵ who received it through the lineage of his fathers,⁶ even till Noah;

Section 84:15

And from Noah till Enoch, through the lineage of their fathers;

Section 84:16

And from Enoch to Abel, who was slain by the conspiracy of his brother, who received the priesthood by the commandments of God, by the hand of his father Adam, who was the first man—

¹NIEBC lists five people named “Elihu.” None appear early enough, I think, to have been the one spoken of here, who gave the priesthood to Caleb and received it from Jeremy.

²NIEBC lists nine people in the OT with the name “Jeremiah” (there are none with the name “Jeremy”). The first of these is the prophet Jeremiah, and he’s by far the best known; there are eight others, though none of them, including the big Jeremiah, appear early enough to be the person referred to here.

³Jacob’s seventh son, born to Zilpah, was named Gad; I don’t see how that could be the person spoken of here, since the timing doesn’t seem to work. But maybe.

⁴This is a term for “Isaiah,” apparently.

⁵See OTR1 of Genesis 14 for a lot more here about Melchizedek.

⁶See this “lineage” language also in DC 86:8.

Section 84:20

⁶Therefore, ⁷in the ordinances thereof, ⁸the power of godliness⁹ is manifest.¹⁰

JSP therefore in the ordinances thereof the power of Godliness is manifest

Section 84:21

And without the ordinances thereof, and the authority of the priesthood, the power of godliness is not manifest unto men in the flesh;¹¹

¹For this “beginning...years” phrase at the end, see here.

²This was hard for me to believe, but this “order” here is the only occurrence of this word in this section. It occurs some 14 times in section 107.

³This last part of the verse is referring to the Melchizedek priesthood, and calls it the one “after the holiest order of God.” See DC 107:3.

⁴Subjective or objective genitive? Maybe both? Subjective: “the key which acts as God’s knowledge; the key which God’s knowledge is.” Objective: “the key to God’s knowledge; the key to knowledge about God.”

⁵See DC 107:18–19.

⁶For this verse and the several after it, compare the very important verse 2 Timothy 3:5. The “power” spoken of these is δύναμις, not ἐξουσία. These verses maintain the distinction in speaking of “authority” in the next verse—the “power” here is δύναμις.

⁷I’ve also been very impressed by the relationship between these few verses here and Romans 1:16–20, so much so that it almost seems like these verses are a commentary on parts of those.

⁸Of the Melchizedek priesthood.

⁹The text does NOT say that the “power of God” is manifest; it says that the power of godliness is manifest. It is the ordinances of the priesthood—including things like resurrection, I’m thinking—that the power of godliness or godly living or a spiritual life is manifest. Without those ordinances, or absent the real power of the priesthood, you won’t be able to discover the true power of living that way.

¹⁰The word here is not “manifested” but “manifest.” The difference matters because “manifest” is an adjective while the past participle is “manifested.” So the question here is, is this a passive verb construction, “the power of godliness is manifested,” or is it a predicate adjective, “the power of godliness is manifest [adjective]”? I believe it’s the latter. “Manifested” appears five times in the DC, including in three passive constructions (20:5, 90:14, 115:18), and so at least some passages respect the distinction. The OED for “manifest,” in meaning #2.b, seems to be the primary meaning/use we would see here for a passive verb, but all the examples listed (of passive voice) use “manifested.” That isn’t sure proof, but I think the evidence is heavily on the side of “manifest” in this verse being an adjective and not part of a passive verb construction. I will say, though, that the use in the next verse looks more like a passive verb, though I still want to read it as an adjective. Compare DC 93:31.

¹Antecedent of this pronoun? Could be the "ordinances," the "authority" of the priesthood, the "power" of godliness, or a combination of all three: "For without this [system], no man can see the face of God."

²For this verse and the next several, see Exodus 34:1–2, especially the OTR2.

JSP and the sons of Moses, and of Aaron shall be filled with the glory of the Lord upon mount Zion in the Lords house whose sons are ye, and also many whom I have called and sent forth to build up my church ¹With the end of the previous verse we get the end of the long parenthetical remark that interrupts the discussion in verse 6. So the right way to see what's going on here is that verse 31 is picking up on what was happening at the start of verse 6, and so it's clearly related to the temple.

JSP for he that receiveth my servants receiveth me,

Section 84:37

And he that receiveth me receiveth my Father;

¹This verse begins an explanatory comment that elaborates on how someone becomes a son of Moses and Aaron, and what that means. Note, though, that it also introduces the idea of being the “seed of Abraham,” which is new, and has not appeared (I think) so far in this revelation.

²Must be referring to the Melchizedek priesthood and Aaronic priesthood.

³See Romans 11:13,

⁴See DC 24:9.

⁵See also Romans 12:2, 2 Corinthians 4:10–12, 2 Corinthians 4:16, Ephesians 4:23, DC 84:80,

⁶This is the only place in the scriptures where you get language about “renewing bodies.” For a similar idea of receiving strength or renewal in service, see Mosiah 2:11, DC 24:7, 12, ⁷Very important omission in this version, compared to the JSP—it’s missing a “that,” which connects this verse as a purpose or result clause following the previous one.

¹Roughly about here, though it's maybe not exact, is the place where I would say that the explanatory comment started in verse 33 ends. Or I mean, it ends in the previous verse.

²Notice that in this verse and the previous one we are now talking about "the priesthood," not "these two priesthoods" or "this priesthood." We seem to have moved to talking about it in more general terms.

³Compare DC 82:10.

⁴Possibly a reference to the sons of perdition? I also read this as related to Alma 32:19 idea of "knowing the will of God concerning you," but I think what we're talking about in this verse is a greater level of accountability.

⁵Back to the "this priesthood" language, and specifically, the Lord is now talking about the one that the audience for this revelation has received.

⁶"Confirm" reminds me of the anointing in the initiatory ceremony.

JSP and evry one that harkneth to the voice of the spirit cometh unto God even the father ¹For “words of eternal life,” see here.

³For me, this verse is maybe the premier example of living in the flow of the Spirit, and of making real the promise in the sacrament prayers that we will always have the Spirit to be with us. Notice that we’re supposed to “give heed” to the words of eternal life, per the previous verse; Christ has these words (John 6:68), and both angels and the Holy Ghost can deliver these words to us (2 Nephi 32:3–5). See also 1 Nephi 17:13, DC 6:14–15; DC 28:15; DC 97:1 (which allows you to connect the “voice” and “spirit” to these verses here); DC 98:11;

⁴This verse begins an explanatory comment on which elaborates on verses 43–44. This comment looks like it goes through verse 48.

⁵Note the connection between this verse and the next one and DC 88:11–13. There are also clear connections to DC 93.

¹This verse seems to be the last one in the explanatory comment to verses 43–44 which begins in verse 45. Notice that we’re talking again about “confirming” things, which we last did in verse 42.

²I think it’s extremely significant that the Father is doing the teaching here, though I’m not totally sure why yet. See John 6:45 and notes there for some important commentary—according to that verse we are to hear and learn from the Father; the Father also does the “draw”-ing in verse 44. See John 8:28, Mormon 5:17, Ether 6:17,

And this revelation unto you, and commandment, is in force from this very hour upon all the world, and the gospel is unto all who have not received it.

Section 84:76

But, verily I say unto all those to whom the kingdom has been given—from you it must be preached unto them, that they shall repent of their former evil works; for they are to be upbraided for their evil hearts of unbelief, and your brethren in Zion for their rebellion against you at the time I sent you.

Section 84:77

And again I say unto you, my friends, for from henceforth I shall call you friends, it is expedient that I give unto you this commandment, that ye become even as my friends in days when I was with them, traveling to preach the gospel in my power;

Section 84:78

For I suffered them not to have purse or scrip, neither two coats.

Section 84:79

Behold, I send you out to prove the world, and the laborer is worthy of his hire.

Section 84:80

And any man that shall go and preach this gospel of the kingdom, and fail not to continue faithful in all things, shall not be weary in mind, neither darkened, neither in body, limb, nor joint; and a hair of his head shall not fall to the ground unnoticed. And they shall not go hungry, neither athirst.

Section 84:81

Therefore, take ye no thought for the morrow, for what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, or wherewithal ye shall be clothed.

Section 84:82

For, consider the lilies of the field, how they grow, they toil not, neither do they spin; and the kingdoms of the world, in all their glory, are not arrayed like one of these.

Section 84:83

For your Father, who is in heaven, knoweth that you have need of all these things.

Section 84:84

Therefore, let the morrow take thought for the things of itself.

Section 84:85

Neither take ye thought beforehand what ye shall say; but treasure up in your minds continually the words of life, and it shall be given you in the very hour that portion that shall be meted unto every man.

Section 84:86

Therefore, let no man among you, for this commandment is unto all the faithful who are called of God in the church unto the ministry, from this hour take purse or scrip, that goeth forth to proclaim this gospel of the kingdom.

Section 84:87

Behold, I send you out to reprove the world of all their unrighteous deeds, and to teach them of a judgment which is to come.

Section 84:88

And whoso receiveth you, there I will be also, for I will go before your face. I will be on your right hand and on your left, and my Spirit shall be in your hearts, and mine angels round about you, to bear you up.

Section 84:89

Whoso receiveth you receiveth me; and the same will feed you, and clothe you, and give you money.

Section 84:90

And he who feeds you, or clothes you, or gives you money, shall in nowise lose his reward.

Section 84:91

And he that doeth not these things is not my disciple; by this you may know my disciples.

Section 84:92

He that receiveth you not, go away from him alone by yourselves, and cleanse your feet even with water, pure water, whether in heat or in cold, and bear testimony of it unto your Father which is in heaven, and return not again unto that man.

Section 84:93

And in whatsoever village or city ye enter, do likewise.

Section 84:94

Nevertheless, search diligently and spare not; and wo unto that house, or that village or city that rejecteth you, or your words, or your testimony concerning me.

Section 84:95

Wo, I say again, unto that house, or that village or city that rejecteth you, or your words, or your testimony of me;

Section 84:96

For I, the Almighty, have laid my hands upon the nations, to scourge them for their wickedness.

Section 84:97

And plagues shall go forth, and they shall not be taken from the earth until I have completed my work, which shall be cut short in righteousness—

Section 84:98

Until all shall know me, who remain, even from the least unto the greatest, and shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, and shall see eye to eye,¹ and shall lift up their voice, and with the voice together sing this new song,² saying:

Section 84:99

The Lord hath brought again Zion;
The Lord hath redeemed his people, Israel,
According to the election³ of grace,
Which was brought to pass by the faith
And covenant of their fathers.

JSP the lord hath brought again Zion the Lord hath redeemed his people Israel, according to the election of grace which was brought to pass by the faith and covenant of ther fathers,

Section 84:100

The Lord hath redeemed his people;
And Satan is bound and time is no longer.
The Lord hath gathered all things in one.
The Lord hath brought down Zion from above.
The Lord hath brought up Zion from beneath.

JSP the Lord hath redeemed his people and Satan is bound and time is no longer the Lord hath gathered all things in one the Lord hath brought down Zion from above the Lord hath brought up Zion from benieth

Section 84:101

The earth hath travailed and brought forth her strength;
And truth is established in her bowels;
And the heavens have smiled upon her;
And she is clothed with the glory of her God;
For he stands in the midst of his people.

JSP the earth hath travailed and brought forth her strength and truth is established in her bowels and the heavens hath smiled upon her and she is clothed with the glory of her God for he standeth in the midst of his people,

Glory, and honor, and power, and might,
Be ascribed to our God; for he is full of mercy,
Justice, grace and truth, and peace,
Forever and ever, Amen.

JSP glory and honor and power and might be ascribed to our god for he is full of mercy Justice grace and truth and peace for ever and ever Amen——

Section 84:103

And again, verily, verily, I say unto you, it is expedient that every man who goes forth to proclaim mine everlasting gospel, that inasmuch as they have families, and receive money by gift, that they should send it unto them or make use of it for their benefit, as the Lord shall direct them, for thus it seemeth me good.

Section 84:104

And let all those who have not families, who receive money, send it up unto the bishop in Zion, or unto the bishop in Ohio, that it may be consecrated for the bringing forth of the revelations and the printing thereof, and for establishing Zion.

Section 84:105

And if any man shall give unto any of you a coat, or a suit, take the old and cast it unto the poor, and go on your way rejoicing.

Section 84:106

And if any man among you be strong in the Spirit, let him take with him him that is weak, that he may be edified in all meekness, that he may become strong also.

Section 84:107

Therefore, take with you those who are ordained unto the lesser priesthood, and send them before you to make appointments, and to prepare the way, and to fill appointments that you yourselves are not able to fill.

Section 84:108

Behold, this is the way that mine apostles, in ancient days, built up my church unto me.

Section 84:109

Therefore, let every man stand in his own office, and labor in his own calling; and let not the head say unto the feet it hath no need of the feet; for without the feet how shall the body be able to stand?

Section 84:110

Also the body hath need of every member, that all may be edified together, that the system¹ may be kept perfect.

Section 84:111

And behold, the high priests should travel, and also the elders, and also the lesser priests; but the deacons and teachers should be appointed to watch over the church, to be standing ministers unto the church.

Section 84:112

And the bishop, Newel K. Whitney, also should travel round about and among all the churches, searching after the poor to administer to their wants by humbling the rich and the proud.

Section 84:113

He should also employ an agent to take charge and to do his secular business as he shall direct.

Section 84:114

Nevertheless, let the bishop go unto the city of New York, also to the city of Albany, and also to the city of Boston, and warn the people of those cities with the sound of the gospel, with a loud voice, of the desolation and utter abolishment which await them if they do reject these things.

Section 84:115

For if they do reject these things the hour of their judgment is nigh, and their house shall be left unto them desolate.

Section 84:116

Let him trust in me and he shall not be confounded; and a hair of his head shall not fall to the ground unnoticed.

Section 84:117

And verily I say unto you, the rest of my servants, go ye forth as your circumstances shall permit, in your several callings, unto the great and notable cities and villages, reproving the world in righteousness of all their unrighteous and ungodly deeds, setting forth clearly and understandingly² the desolation of abomination in the last days.

¹This is the only occurrence of “system” in all the scriptures—it does appear one other time but it’s in a note to the JS-H. In this verse, it seems to be referring to the “body” as a collection of “members” who have different functions and differing levels of strength. We need everyone, in order for everyone to grow, and so that the system can be kept “perfect.” From the 1828 dictionary, for “system”:

- 1 An assemblage of things adjusted into a regular whole; or a whole plan or scheme consisting of many parts connected in such a manner as to create a chain of mutual dependencies; or a regular union of principles or parts forming one entire thing. Thus we say, a system of logic, a system of philosophy, a system of government, a system of principles, the solar system the Copernican system a system of divinity, a system of law, a system of morality, a system of husbandry, a system of botany or of chemistry.
- 2 Regular method or order.
- 3 In music, an interval compounded or supposed to be compounded of several lesser intervals, as the fifth octave, etc. the elements of which are called diastems.

²This is the only use of “understandingly” in all the scriptures; it’s used in a very unusual way here. If we said it now, we would mean, “in an understanding [i.e., empathetic, compassionate] manner,” whereas here, it means, “in such a way as to make something understood.” It reminds me of DC 68:25.

Section 84:118

For, with you saith the Lord Almighty, I will rend their kingdoms; I will not only shake the earth, but the starry heavens shall tremble.

Section 84:119

For I, the Lord, have put forth my hand to exert the powers of heaven;¹ ye cannot see it now, yet a little while and ye shall see it, and know that I am, and that I will come and reign with my people.

Section 84:120

I am Alpha and Omega,² the beginning and the end. Amen.

First appearance of this section in the DC

As noted below, this section doesn't appear in the BC nor in the 1835 or 1844 DC. Its first appearance was in the 1876 DC put together by Orson Pratt. From HDDC 1080: "In 1876, Elder Orson Pratt, acting under the direction of Brigham Young, extracted that portion of the letter that is now in the D&C and placed it in the 1876 edition of that volume, that being the first time it was ever so published."

Historical Background

JSP

"After returning to Kirtland, Ohio, on 6 November 1832 from his trip with Newel K. Whitney to New York and New England, JS answered letters he had received from 'the brethren' in Missouri. The present letter, which was written by JS to William W. Phelps on 27 November 1832, may have been written in response to an earlier letter from Phelps, but no such communication has been located. The letter presented here reflects the continuing difficulties between JS and leaders in Missouri. Although JS expressed consternation about some of the leaders, he also conveyed satisfaction about Phelps's devotion. Such praise was in stark contrast to a 31 July letter that chastised Phelps for his 'cold and indifferent manner.'

"JS began the letter anticipating a question on the part of Phelps. JS imagined Phelps wondering what was to be the fate of those church members who came to Zion but did not 'receive an inheritance by consecration' from the bishop. Why such individuals may not have received an inheritance is unclear from JS's letter, but Phelps discussed this subject in the November 1832 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star. After noting that a total of 810 individuals had migrated to Zion 'since the gathering commenced' in 1831, Phelps posed several questions, including, 'Have you all fulfilled the law of the church, which saith: Behold thou shalt consecrate all thy properties, that which thou hast, unto me, with a covenant and deed that cannot be broken?' Apparently, at least some individuals had not followed the commandment to consecrate their properties and had consequently not received an inheritance.

"In writing to Phelps, JS highlighted the need for the church to maintain the system of consecration in Zion that previous revelations had established. He explained to Phelps that the Lord's clerk, John Whitmer, was to keep a 'Book of the Law of God' to record the names of those who consecrated their property and received their inheritance. Individuals who did not comply with the consecration commandment were not to be listed. In this way, the church could keep an orderly record of consecration and of inheritance distributions.

"Record keeping was of great concern to JS at this time. After sending Oliver Cowdery and Whitmer to Missouri in November 1831 with a record book containing copies of his revelations, JS purchased another record book in February or March 1832, into which he and Frederick G. Williams began copying revelations that had been dictated since November ²See Revelation 1:8 and notes there.

1831. Probably only a few months before writing this November letter to Phelps, JS composed his first history, ‘A History of the life of Joseph Smith Jr. an account of his marvilous experience . . . and also an account of the rise of the church of Christ in the eve of time.’ In his July 1832 letter to the Missouri Saints, JS instructed Phelps to remind Whitmer of the need ‘to keep a history of the church & the gathering.’ Moreover, the same day that JS composed the November letter to Phelps, JS purchased a record book and began his first journal ‘for the purpose to keep a minute account of all things that come under my obsevation &c.’ Instructing Phelps and Whitmer about keeping a ‘Book of the Law of God’ fits with this general pattern of maintaining records. However, if Phelps or Whitmer kept such a record at this time, it is not extant.

‘The original letter JS sent to Missouri has not been located. JS and Williams copied it as the first letter in JS’s first letterbook, likely before sending it to Phelps. The letter appears in the letterbook immediately after JS’s 1832 history, which is the first item in the book. After Phelps received the letter, he published a portion of it in the January 1833 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star, prefacing it by saying, ‘In relation to consecrating, and continuing worthy, and faithful to the end, we make the following extract of a letter.’ The extract commenced with the words, ‘It is the duty of the Lord’s clerk’ and ended after quoting from Ezra 2:61–62.”

²There’s no other occurrence of “bones quaking” in the scriptures.

³Note that this appears to be a quotation of something that was given to JS directly from the Spirit. This passage appears to extend at least until the end of verse 9 below.

⁴According to HDDC 1080, 1083, this “one might and strong” is Edward Partridge. Woodford quotes from an Edward Partridge journal in the CHL, page 70, which says this: “At his [Edward Partridge’s] funeral says mother Partridge John E. Page was speaking and refered to the revelation, predicting the raising up of one who should be mighty, who should devide the inheritance as to the saints, and said he did not know but the one should be Bishop Partridge. The Prophet Joseph Smith spoke up and said he was the one refered to.” Partridge died on 27 May 1840.

“ON PRIESTHOOD”

In the 1835 and 1844 DC versions of this section, it has a heading above it which reads “ON PRIESTHOOD.”

Historical Background

JSP

“JS wrote in his journal that on 6 December 1832, he spent part of the day ‘translating,’ or working on his revision of the Bible. It is not known whether he was working that day on the New Testament revision or the Old Testament revision. But on that same day, he ‘received a Revelation explaining the Parable [of] the wheat and the tares [tares],’ found in Matthew 13, suggesting that he may have been working on the New Testament. When JS worked on that parable more than a year earlier while revising the New Testament, he made few significant changes. Between late July 1832 and early February 1833, however, he apparently spent time reviewing his revisions to the New Testament. At some point, JS and Sidney Rigdon changed the text of Matthew 13:30 (which JS had originally left intact) from ‘I will say to the reapers, gather ye together first the tares’ to ‘gather ye together first the wheat into my barn, and the tares are bound in bundles to be burned.’ This inverted order followed the eschatological sequence of events outlined in a November 1831 revelation: the righteous were to ‘flee unto Zion’ and Jerusalem, leaving the wicked nations behind. This 6 December revelation, which has the Lord telling the angels to ‘first gather out the wheat,’ goes in the same direction as that revision, changing the wording slightly regarding the disposition of the tares. Whether the revelation was dictated before or after the revision was made is unclear, as the revision could have been made anywhere within a roughly six-month window of time.

“It is also possible that the ‘translating’ JS mentioned in his 6 December journal entry referred not to his review of his earlier New Testament revisions but to his work of revising the Old Testament, which he was engaged in at the same time. Between July 1832, when Frederick G. Williams became the principal scribe for JS’s revision of the Old Testament, and July 1833, when JS and Williams completed that work, Rigdon filled in as scribe only once—for the revision of Jeremiah 18–24. Since an extant copy of the 6 December revelation attests that Rigdon wrote the revelation as JS dictated it, Rigdon may have helped JS with the Bible revision that day, in which case JS may have been revising those chapters in Jeremiah on 6 December. The chapters include passages on the scattering and gathering of Israel, including verses explaining that the Lord would ‘gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them’ and ‘set up shepherds over them which shall feed them.’

“The revelation on the wheat and the tares emphasizes the gathering of the righteous in the last days. It incorporates elements of the book of Revelation to recast the parable as a history of Christianity from the days of the apostles to the world’s end. The description of a second sowing in the last days clearly depicts Mormonism as a restoration of primitive Christianity. Likewise, the end of the revelation expounds on the idea of priesthood, addressing those in ‘whom the priesthood hath continued through the lineage of your fathers.’ The revelation seems to indicate that those ordained to the priesthood are essential to the gathering of Israel, as it counsels them to be a ‘light unto the Gentiles’ and a ‘savior’ to Israel. The priesthood component of the revelation was apparently perceived as its key aspect: upon its publication in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, the revelation bore the heading ‘On Priesthood.’

“The original manuscript of this revelation is no longer extant. Frederick G. Williams copied it into Revelation Book 2, probably between late January and late February 1833.”

HDDC

“December 1832 must have been one of the most awesome periods in the life of the Prophet as he viewed future events related to the wars and destruction prior to the second coming. In Section 86 he saw the eventual separation of the wheat and tares as prophesied by the Savior. Later, he had revealed to him the extent of the wars that would cover the earth prior to the second coming of Christ. He was also commanted to write and have published much of what he understood would happen. Accordingly, he wrote Mr. N.E. Seaton, the editor of a newspaper the name of which cannot now be ascertained, and warned...¹

“Joseph later recorded in his history that he had seen in visions the end of this nation and the breaking up of the government if it continued to disregard the rights of the citizens. Elder Grant also recorded the extent of the visions by Joseph Smith concerning these matters. He wrote:

The Prophet stood in his own house when he told several of us of the night the visions of heaven were opened to him, in which he saw the American continent drenched in blood, and he saw nation rising up against nation. He also saw the father shed the blood of the son, and the son the blood of the father; the mother put to death the daughter, and the daughter the mother; and natural affection forsook the hearts of the wicked; for he saw that the Spirit of God should be withdrawn from the inhabitants of the earth, in consequence of which there should be blood upon the face of the whole earth, except among the people of the Most High. The Prophet gazed upon the scene his vision presented, until his heart sickened, and he besought the Lord to close it up again (JD 2:147).

“Not all of these things were necessarily seen during December 1832, but enough was revealed for Joseph to respond with these two revelations² and the letter cited above, plus a portion of a later revelation (See Section 130).

“Then at the end of the month, as though the Lord sought to comfort Joseph’s heart, he revealed Section 88, which Joseph identified as ‘The Olive Leaf,’ plucked from the Tree of Paradise, or the Lord’s mesage of peace to His saints. Thus hope was given the members of the Church that they could escape much of the future turmoil if they would live righteously” (1093–1095).

Section 87 (25 December 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

“On Christmas Day, 25 December 1832, JS dictated this revelation warning of the outbreak of war across all nations, beginning in South Carolina. Remarking on the context of this revelation, a later JS history states: ‘Appearances of troubles among the nations, became more visible, this season, than they had previously done, since the church began her journey out of the wilderness.’ The Painesville Telegraph of 21 December 1832 highlighted some of these problems. It contained an article titled ‘Revenge and Magnanimity. A Tale of the Cholera’ about the worldwide cholera epidemic, as well as information about a plague in India that was killing 150 to 200 people a day. The newspaper also included extensive coverage of the passage of a resolution by a Nullification Convention held in November in South Carolina. This resolution declared the federal tariff acts of 1828 and 1832, which levied high duties against imports, ‘null and void’ in the state. Many South Carolina residents believed the acts were passed solely to protect northern manufacturing at the expense of the South. Not only did South Carolinians claim the right to nullify the law, they also stated their willingness to ‘organize a separate Government’ should the federal government try to enforce the tariffs in the state. The governor called for two thousand men to form a militia ‘for the defence of Charleston and its dependencies.’ President Andrew Jackson responded quickly to this resolution, stating, according to the Telegraph, ‘that the laws and the Union must be maintained, at all events.’ Because Painesville, Ohio, was only about ten miles from Kirtland, Ohio, it is probable that JS saw or heard about the articles in the 21 December Telegraph within a day or so. These developments troubled JS, who saw in them the threat of the ‘immediate dissolution’ of the United States. Indeed, the 25 December revelation predicted that rebellion on the part of South Carolina would lead not only to civil war and war among nations but also to slave rebellions and an uprising of remnants of the house of Israel. This violence, combined with plague and other natural disasters, would ultimately lead to the ‘full end of all Nations.’ Using millenarian language, the revelation cast such events as portents of the return of Jesus Christ to the earth.¹

“Frederick G. Williams wrote the revelation as JS dictated it, but the original manuscript is no longer extant. Probably between late January and late February 1833, Williams copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2, titling it ‘Prophecy given Dec 25— 1832 concerning concerning the wars’ in that book’s index.”

This revelation was widely circulated in manuscript form for many years before it was first published in 1851. Woodford lists eight manuscript copies made before 1841, and those were just the ones he knew about; there could have been more. It appears as though it was first published in 1851 in the PGP, and then Orson Pratt published it in The Seer in 1854. It later appeared a bunch of times in the MS—the one listed below is just the first one. See HDDC 1112–1117.

It first appeared in the DC in 1876.

¹HDDC 1104–1109 has a lot more information about the connection to the Civil War, including a bit about what happened after the war broke out, and how people saw this revelation. There’s an interesting article from the 5 May 1861 edition of the Philadelphia Sunday Mercury, where it quotes this section and comments a bit on it and then finishes with, “Have we not had a prophet among us?”

Section 87:1

VERILY, thus saith the Lord concerning the wars that will shortly come to pass, beginning at the rebellion of South Carolina, which will eventually terminate in the death and misery of many souls;

Section 87:2

And the time will come that war will be poured out upon all nations, beginning at this place.

Section 87:3

For behold, the Southern States shall be divided against the Northern States, and the Southern States will call on other nations, even the nation of Great Britain,¹ as it is called, and they shall also call upon other nations, in order to defend themselves against other nations; and then war shall be poured out upon all nations.

Section 87:4

And it shall come to pass, after many days, slaves shall rise up against their masters, who shall be marshaled and disciplined for war.

Section 87:5

And it shall come to pass also that the remnants who are left of the land will marshal themselves, and shall become exceedingly angry, and shall vex the Gentiles with a sore vexation.

Section 87:6

And thus, with the sword and by bloodshed the inhabitants of the earth shall mourn; and with famine, and plague, and earthquake, and the thunder of heaven, and the fierce and vivid lightning also, shall the inhabitants of the earth be made to feel the wrath, and indignation, and chastening hand of an Almighty God, until the consumption decreed hath made a full end of all nations;

Section 87:7

That the cry of the saints, and of the blood of the saints, shall cease to come up into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth, from the earth, to be avenged of their enemies.

Section 87:8

Wherefore, stand ye in holy places, and be not moved, until the day of the Lord come; for behold, it cometh quickly, saith the Lord. Amen.

¹According to Wikipedia, "The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland remained officially neutral throughout the American Civil War (1861–1865). It legally recognised the belligerent status of the Confederate States of America (CSA) but never recognised it as a nation and neither signed a treaty with it nor ever exchanged ambassadors."

Section 88 (27–28 December 1832; 3 January 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

Verses 1–126

“JS dictated a lengthy revelation at a conference of high priests in Kirtland, Ohio, on 27–28 December 1832. The revelation’s heading, which was probably provided by Frederick G. Williams, states that the revelation was addressed to the ‘first Elders’ of the church. The text of the revelation describes its audience as those who had congregated at the conference in Kirtland ‘to receive his [God’s] will concerning you.’ Although in later years the term ‘first Elders’ generally referred to the leading elders of the church, here it appears to have a less hierarchical meaning, equating the elders to whom the revelation was addressed with ‘the first Elders labourers, in this last kingdom’ who were referenced in a parable presented in this revelation. A later JS history emphasizes that the revelation came two days after a revelation describing an outbreak of wars and slave rebellions that would precede Christ’s second coming.

“JS called this revelation ‘the Olive leaf which we have plucked from the tree of Paradise’ and ‘the Lords message of peace to us.’ Perhaps JS described the revelation in this way because it offset the stark apocalyptic imagery of the 25 December revelation or perhaps because he saw its messages regarding the conduct of church members and the need for unity as a way to heal ongoing difficulties with Missouri church leaders. Like the 25 December prophecy of war, the 27–28 December revelation discusses eschatological events, but interspersed throughout the revelation are explanations of the requirements to enter the celestial, terrestrial, and telestial kingdoms in the life to come and an exposition on light and its relation to Jesus Christ.

“Much like the first chapter of the book of John (which JS revised in late 1831 or early 1832 as part of his Bible revision), the first part of this revelation connects Christ with light and the creative process. This explanation expanded on ideas expressed in earlier revelations. Revelations in 1829, for example, generally used the concept of light to represent Jesus Christ. By 1831, revelations were also using light as a metaphor for the gospel and as a more abstract representation of truth and knowledge. The 27–28 December revelation brings such ideas together by explaining that Christ’s light, which the revelation defines as truth and knowledge, is in all things, is the power by which they were created, and is the law governing them. Such concepts were not entirely novel; in the 1700s, Swedish theologian Emanuel Swedenborg, for example, argued that ‘the light which proceeds from the Lord as a sun is Divine Truth, from which the angels derive all their wisdom and intelligence,’ but this revelation goes further in its connection of light to the creative and governing processes.

“While it explored theological themes, the revelation also issued concrete directives, instructing the elders to sanctify themselves at a ‘solemn assembly,’ to construct a house of God, and to be taught there in both spiritual and temporal matters before embarking on their missions to the Gentiles ‘for the last time.’ These instructions came in response to specific prayers that God show ‘his will . . . concerning the upbuilding of Zion,’ which suggests that the revelation would apply only to church members in Missouri. Saints in Kirtland, Ohio, however, took the direction as a call to action. Just two weeks after JS dictated this revelation, he informed church leaders in Missouri that the revelation provided a commandment from God ‘to build an house of God, & establish a school for the Prophets’ in Kirtland. Regarding the direction as ‘the word of the Lord to us,’ JS and the Saints in Kirtland promptly began to organize the ‘school for the Prophets.’ A revelation dictated less than a week after the 27–28 December revelation, which would later become associated with it, provided more instructions on establishing the school. Over the next several months, church leaders in Kirtland took steps to construct a schoolhouse for ‘the Elders who should come in to receive ther education for the ministry’ and broke ground for the building they called the House of the Lord.

“Many Saints focused more on the revelation’s immediate directives than on its metaphysical aspects. Samuel Smith, for example, wrote in his journal that the revelation instructed ‘the first labourers in this last vinyard’ to ‘call a sollem assembly’ where they could ‘sanctify themselves & wash their hands & feet for a testimony’ against an unbelieving generation. He also highlighted the revelation’s requirement to ‘appoint a teacher among’ the elders so that they could obtain ‘knowledge of countries & languages.’ Nowhere in his journal did Samuel Smith refer to the eschatology of the revelation or its other doctrinal points. Likewise, when William W. Phelps printed part of the revelation in the February 1833 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star, he chose portions explaining the solemn assembly and the construction of the House of the Lord.

“As the note at the end of the inscription indicates, Frederick G. Williams wrote this revelation as JS dictated it. The original manuscript is not extant; Williams copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2, probably between late January and late February 1833. Soon after dictating the revelation, JS transmitted it to the Saints in Missouri by enclosing a copy of the text in a letter to Phelps, explaining that its contents showed ‘that the Lord approves of us & has accepted us, & established his name in kirtland for the salvation of the nations.’ This revelation was first published in its entirety on a broadside in late 1833 or early 1834. It was later combined and printed with the revelation of 3 January 1833.”

Verses 127–137

“According to the index in Revelation Book 2, the subject of this 3 January 1833 revelation is ‘instructions how to regulate the Elders school.’ On 27–28 December 1832, JS dictated a revelation directing the elders of the church to establish a school so that they could be taught in both ‘the doctrines, of the kingdom’ and in temporal matters before proclaiming the gospel to the world ‘for the last time.’ It also instructed the Saints in Kirtland, Ohio, to build a ‘house of God’ that, among other things, would serve as a ‘house of Learning.’ This 3 January revelation provided information on how the school was to be conducted in the House of the Lord, including how members of the school were to act when entering it. Little is known about the circumstances of the 3 January revelation, other than that it was dictated in Kirtland, probably in Newel K. Whitney’s white store, where JS and his family were staying.

“Frederick G. Williams wrote the revelation as JS dictated it, but the original manuscript is not extant. Williams later copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2, probably between late January and late February 1833. On 11 January 1833, JS sent a copy of the 27–28 December 1832 revelation to William W. Phelps and other leaders in Jackson County, Missouri. It is unclear whether JS also included this revelation in that transmission, but Phelps published the revelation in the March 1833 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star, titling it ‘Revelation Given Kirtland, Ohio, January 3, 1833.’ Though it was presented in early manuscript sources and in The Evening and the Morning Star as separate from the 27–28 December 1832 revelation, the 3 January 1833 revelation was combined with that earlier revelation into one text in the 1835 Doctrine and Covenants, probably because the 3 January revelation included instructions for implementing the school required by the 27–28 December revelation. The two became so closely associated that when the 3 January revelation was reprinted in Evening and Morning Star (an 1835–1836 reprint of The Evening and the Morning Star), it was dated 27 December 1832. Likewise, the heading for the combined revelations in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants listed the date as 27 December 1832.”

JSP which glory is that of the church of the first born; even of God. the holiest of all; through Jesus Christ, his son.

Section 88:6

⁶He⁷ that ⁸ascended up on high,⁹ as also he descended below¹⁰ all things, in that¹¹ he comprehended¹² all things, that he might be in all and through all things,¹³ the light¹⁴ of truth,¹⁵

¹See Book for this “book” and others.

²See John 14:16–18 and 26; John 15:26; and John 16:7.

³For “church of the Firstborn,” see here.

⁴We’re still talking about the “glory,” here, so the right way to read this passage is—“which glory is that of the church of the Firstborn, even [the glory] of God, the holiest of all, [and this glory comes] through Jesus Christ his Son.”

⁵Note that we receive the glory, or it’s transmitted to us, “through Jesus Christ.” We’re talking here about power in the priesthood. DC 107:3 teaches a similar principle—the priesthood is “the Holy Priesthood, after the Order of the Son of God.” Again, we receive it through the Son of God. Compare also DC 84:18.

⁶This verse seems like it begins an apposition to the name “Jesus Christ his Son” from the previous verse—the text is now describing Christ, giving some of his attributes. If this interpretation is correct, you could start this verse this way: “This Jesus Christ is the one that ascended up on high...”

⁷Compare Colossians 1:9–29, which seems like a source for some of the language in this passage.

⁸For “ascended” and “descended,” see Ephesians 4:6–10.

⁹Compare DC 132:19.

¹⁰Compare DC 122:8.

¹¹The “in that” marks that what we are about to get is an explanation of Christ’s descent below and possibly also his ascent above. He did those things in that he comprehended all things.

¹²I read this “comprehend” as drawing from John 1:5; see that verse, and also καταλαμβάνω.

¹³See DC 63:59.

¹⁴See Luke 2:30–32.

¹⁵For “light of truth,” see here.

Section 88:7

Which truth shineth. This is the light of Christ.¹ As also he is in the sun, and the light of the sun,² and the power thereof by which it was made.³

JSP therefore which <truth> shineth— this is the light of Christ as also he is in the son, and the light of the son, and the power thereof by which it was made,

Section 88:8

JSP as also the light of the stars, and the power thereof; by which they were made;

Section 88:10

And the earth also, and the power thereof, even the earth upon which you stand.

JSP and the earth also, and and the power thereof, even the earth upon which you stand,

Section 88:11

⁴And the light which shineth, which giveth you light, is through him who enlighteneth your eyes,⁵ which is the same light that quickeneth⁶ your understandings;

JSP and the light which now shineth; which giveth you light, is through him which enlightneth your eyes; which is the same light that quickneth your understandings, ¹For “light of Christ,” see here.

²I’m not sure which is the right way to read this passage—it could be, “As also he is in the sun, and [is in] the light of the sun, and [is in] the power thereof...”, but it also could be “As also he is in the sun, and [is] the light of the sun, and [is] the power thereof...” I think I prefer the latter because it’s easier to relate to the priesthood, but both could work and relate to the priesthood without a lot of trouble. Note that the next verse suggests that the latter interpretation is correct.

³See DC 45:1.

⁴For the next three verses, compare DC 84:45–46.

⁵See Ephesians 1:17–18, “the eyes of your understanding being enlightened.”

⁶See DC 33:16.

Section 88:15

And the spirit and the body are the soul of man.

JSP (and the spirit, and the body is the soul of man)

Section 88:16

And the resurrection from the dead is the redemption of the soul.

JSP and the resurection from the dead, is the redemption of the soul; and the redemption of the soul,

Section 88:17

And the redemption of the soul is through him that quickeneth all things,⁷ in whose bosom it is decreed that the poor and the meek of the earth shall inherit it.

¹Compare John 15:26, “even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father.”

²See Revelation 22:1; that verse uses the word “throne,” which also appears here in verse 13.

³I interpret this part of the verse in the sense that we receive “life” from Christ in the way that Christ receives life from the Father; see John 5:26, John 6:56–57, sort of John 10:18, DC 93:2, DC 93:9. There are probably other verses that are relevant to this as well.

⁴To me it seems clear that the “light” being spoken of here and in the previous verse, and possibly the others, is the priesthood. It is the “law by which all things are governed, even the power of God.” This gives you a much more direct connection to BY-style ideas of the priesthood than you can find elsewhere.

⁵This is the only occurrence of “bosom of eternity” in the scriptures; see here.

⁶We’re clearly beginning a new division in this section at this verse. The idea of a “redemption” is somewhat implicit in verse 4, so that might be the connection to this new division.

⁷See DC 33:16, “and the power of my Spirit quickeneth all things.”

JSP is through him, who quickeneth all things, in whose bosom, it is decreed, that the poor, and the meek of the earth, shall inherit it;

Section 88:18

Therefore, it must needs be sanctified from all unrighteousness, that it may be prepared for the celestial glory;

JSP therefore it must needs be sanctified, from all unrighteousness, that it may be prepared for the celestial glory;

Section 88:19

JSP for after it hath filled the measure of its creation, it shall be crowned with the glory, even with the presence of God the father;

Section 88:20

That bodies³ who are of the celestial kingdom may possess it forever and ever; for, for this intent was it made and created, and for this intent are they sanctified.⁴

JSP that bodies, who are of the celestial kingdom may posses it, for ever, & ever; for, for this intent was it made, and created, and for this intent, are they sanctified,

Section 88:21

And they who are not sanctified through the law which I have given unto you, even the law of Christ,⁵ must inherit another kingdom, even that of a terrestrial kingdom, or that of a telestial kingdom.

JSP and they who are not sanctified, through the law which I have given unto you; even the law of Christ, must inherit another kingdom even that of a Terrestrial kingdom, or that of a telestial kingdom,

Section 88:22

For he who is not able to abide⁶ the law of a celestial kingdom⁷ cannot abide a celestial glory.

¹Paul talks a lot about “measures” at 2 Corinthians 10:13–15, though I’m not sure how related it is to this stuff.

²See verse 25, and the fifth day of the endowment ceremony. There’s also a connection here to the idea of being “made perfect” as spoken of in DC 76:69—the source of some of the language there is Hebrews 12:23–24 and the τετελειωμένων there, a participle from τελειόω. Definition #2.b for τελειόω is “bring to full measure, fill the measure of,” so perhaps we can read this verse here in DC 88 (and the other uses of the construction elsewhere) as “being perfected” or “being made perfect” in the way that Christ can do that.

See also Matthew 23:32; DC 49:16–17; DC 103:3;

³This “bodies” language is unusual, and reminds me of DC 76:24—maybe it’s a way of speaking about any being who has passed through the requisite processes.

⁴Compare 1 Nephi 17:36.

⁵See more on the phrase “law of Christ” here. I think the phrase is a way of referring to the priesthood while calling attention to Christ’s central role it (as DC 107:3 suggests).

⁶The use of “abide” here could be “abide by,” just dropping the preposition; the 1828 has this to say about “abide by”: “In general, abide by signifies to adhere to, maintain defend, or stand to, as to abide by a promise, or by a friend; or to suffer the consequences, as to abide by the event, that is, to be fixed or permanent in a particular condition.” But this use could also be one of the other definitions of just “abide,” including #3, “To bear or endure; to bear patiently.” In that case this verse would relate to DC 132:16. See verse 26 below for a clear use of “abide” in this sense. See verse 35 for a use of “abide by,” along with “abide in”; “abide” is clearly a key concept in this section. See also DC 132:6; DC 132:16–17;

⁷We’re talking about the “celestial law” here.

See DC 78:7 and 13;

JSP for he that is not able to abide the law of a celestial kingdom cannot abide a celestial glory,

Section 88:23

And he who cannot abide the law of a terrestrial kingdom cannot abide a terrestrial glory.

Section 88:24

JSP he who cannot abide the law of a Telestial kingdom cannot abide a Telestial glory; therefore he is not meet, for a kingdom of Glory, therefore he must abide a kingdom, which is not a kingdom of glory.

Section 88:26

Wherefore, it shall be sanctified; yea, notwithstanding it shall die, it shall be quickened again, and shall abide the power by which it is quickened, and the righteous shall inherit it.

JSP wherefore it shall be sanctified, yea notwithstanding it shall die, it shall be quickened again, and shall abide the power, by which it was quickened, and the righteous shall inherit it,

Section 88:27

For notwithstanding they die, they also shall rise again, a spiritual body.²

JSP for notwithstanding they die, they also shall rise again, a spiritual body,

Section 88:28

They who are of a celestial spirit shall receive the same body which was a natural body; even ye shall receive your bodies, and your glory shall be that glory by which your bodies are quickened.³

¹For “filleth the measure of its creation,” see verse 19.

²This use of “spiritual” is very important, because it tells us something about the nature of our bodies after the resurrection. See Alma 11:45.

³Verses 29–32 are examples and explanations of this last comment here, about what it means to receive the glory by which one’s body is quickened.

JSP they who are of a celestial spirit, shall receive the same body which was a natural body, even ye shall, receive your bodies; and your glory, shall be that glory, by which your bodies, are quickened,

And they who are quickened by a portion of the terrestrial glory shall then receive of the same, even a fulness.

JSP and they, who are quickened, by a portion of the Terestriall glory, shall then, receive of the same even a fulness;

Section 88:31

And also they who are quickened by a portion of the telestial glory shall then receive of the same, even a fulness.

JSP and also they who are quickened by a portion, of the Telestial glory, shall then receive of the same, even a fulness,

Section 88:32

And they who remain shall also be quickened; nevertheless, they shall return again to their own place, to enjoy that which they are willing¹ to receive, because they were not willing to enjoy that which they might have received.²

JSP and they who remain, shall also be quickend, nevertheless they shall, return again, to there own place, to enjoy that which they are willing to receive; because they were not, willing, to enjoy that which they might have received;

Section 88:33

For what doth it profit a man if a gift³ is bestowed upon him, and he receive not the gift?⁴ Behold, he rejoices not in that which is given unto him, neither rejoices in him who is the giver of the gift.

JSP for what doth it poffet [profit] a man, if a gift, is bestowed, upon him and he receive not the gift, behold he rejoiceth not, in that which is given unto him, neither rejoice in him, who is the giver of the gift;

¹Compare “willing” here with John 5:35.

²This is a really crucial idea—that you receive as much as you are willing to enjoy, or are willing to pay the price to enjoy. There are many, many reasons why someone might choose to receive less than they otherwise could:

- They don’t want what they have done or the ways they have lived to become known (John 3:20–21).

See also Mosiah 26:25–26, Mormon 9:3–5, Mormon 9:14, ³With what is coming next in verse 34, it could be that the “gift” spoken of here is the “law of Christ,” as discussed in verse 21.

⁴Compare Moroni 7:6–10.

Section 88:34

And again, verily I say unto you, that which is governed by law¹ is also preserved by law and perfected and sanctified by the same.²

Section 88:38

And unto every kingdom is given a law; and unto every law there are certain bounds⁹ also and conditions.¹⁰

¹I read this “law” here as speaking about the whole structure of laws we call the priesthood.

²See event #61 of Christ’s life, where you get the words ἀνομία (Matthew) and ἀδικία (Luke); both are clearly connected to laws. Remember that δικαιοσύνη is just δίκαιος, “just, lawful,” with the -σύνη suffix to make it an abstract noun. To be δίκαιος is to engage in lawful conduct; to promote δικαιοσύνη in your life is to live that same way. The preserving, perfecting, and sanctifying power is δύναμις; compare DC 84:20–22.

See also DC 43:8–10, DC 44:4–6 (which includes the idea of being “preserved” in connection with laws),

³See also Romans 8:7; DC 98:8;

⁴For “law unto themselves,” see Romans 2:14, Romans 10:3,

⁵I connect this “become a law unto itself” with the priesthood, specifically, with trying to become the person through whom the priesthood is received and governed in an implementation of the gospel. For us that is Christ, but Lucifer apparently wanted to be that individual—see Moses 4:1, and connect to the idea of “honor” in Hebrews 5:4.

⁶Compare the list of things that cannot sanctify here to what Christ says in Matthew 23:23.

⁷Compare Helaman 5:2–3,

⁸In these and the next few verses, I want to give them a strong reading, like one that says that the laws of a kingdom constitute the kingdom—having a set of laws is what makes a kingdom a kingdom.

⁹Compare DC 121:30–31.

¹⁰For discussion of the idea of “conditions” for a law, see this study at Condition. Think also of the “conditions of repentance.”

JSP and unto evry kingdom, is given a law, and unto evry law there are certain bounds also, and conditions,

Section 88:39

All beings who abide not in those conditions are not justified.

JSP all beings who abide not, in those conditions, are not justified,

Section 88:40

¹For intelligence cleaveth² unto intelligence; wisdom receiveth wisdom; truth embraceth truth; virtue loveth virtue; light cleaveth unto light; mercy hath compassion on mercy and claimeth her own; justice continueth its course and claimeth its own; judgment goeth before the face of him who sitteth upon the throne and governeth and executeth all things.

JSP for intelligence, cleaveth unto intelgence, wisdom, receiveth wisdom, truth embraceth truth, virtue, Loveth virtue, light, Cleaveth unto light, mercy hath compassion on mercy, and claimeth her own; justice continueth its course and claimeth its own, judgment, goeth before the face of him, who sitteth up[on] the throne, and gove[r]neth, and executeth all things,

He comprehendeth all things, and all things are before him, and all things are round about him; and he is above all things, and in all things, and is through all things, and is round about all things; and all things are by him, and of him, even God, forever and ever.

JSP he comprehendeth all things, and all things, are before him, and all things, are round about him, and he is, above all things, and in all things, and is through all things, and is round about all thing[s] and all things are by him, and of him, even God for ever, and ever,

Section 88:42

And again, verily I say unto you, he hath given a law³ unto all things, by which they move in their times and their seasons;

JSP And again <verily> I say unto you, he hath given a law, unto all things, by which they moove in there times, and there seasons,

Section 88:43

And their courses are fixed, even the courses of the heavens and the earth, which comprehend the earth and all the planets.⁴

JSP and there cources are fixed, even the cources of the heavens, and the earth which, comprehend the earth, and all the planets, ¹For a very similar idea to the one in this verse, see Alma 41:12–13.

²Compare “cleave” in DC 98:11.

³The priesthood. See BY on the priesthood; probably the clearest one is from 19 November 1854: “Now let me tell you there is no world made without that world has motion, and it is governed and controled by the law of the eternal preisthood; and if you want to know what preisthood is, it is a perfect system of Government by which planets and all creations are governed.”

⁴Why leave out the stars and everything else?

Section 88:44

And they give light to each other in their times and in their seasons, in their minutes, in their hours, in their days, in their weeks, in their months, in their years—all these are one year with God, but not with man.

JSP and they give light to each other in there times, and in there seasons, in there minuits in there hours, in there days, in there week, in there months, in there years; all these are one year with God. but not with man;

Section 88:45

The earth rolls¹ upon her wings,² and the sun giveth his light by day, and the moon giveth her light by night, and the stars also give their light, as they roll upon their wings in their glory, in the midst of the power of God.

JSP the <Earth> rolls upon her wings, and the sun giveth her light by day, and the moon, giveth her light by night, and the stars also giveth there light as they roll upon, there wings, in there glory in the midst, of the power, of God,

Section 88:46

Unto what shall I liken these kingdoms, that ye may understand?

JSP unto what shall I liken these kingdoms, that ye may understand,

Section 88:47

Behold, all these are kingdoms, and any man who hath seen any or the least of these hath seen God moving in his majesty and power.

JSP behold all these <are> kingdoms, and any man, who hath seen, any, or the least of these, have seen God, moving in his magesty and power;

Section 88:48

I say unto you, he hath seen him; nevertheless, he who came unto his own was not comprehended.

JSP I say unto you, he hath seen him, nevertheless, he who came unto his own, was not comprehended,

Section 88:49

The light shineth in darkness, and the darkness comprehendeth it not; nevertheless, the day shall come when you shall comprehend even God, being quickened in him and by him.

JSP the light shineth in darkness, and the darkness compre[hen]deth it not, nevertheless, the day shall come, when you shall, comprehend even God, being quickened in him, and by him,

¹Compare DC 121:30–31.

²A very unusual reference to “wings” here; I’m not sure what it means. Check the 1828 definitions here; I’m thinking it’s definition #4, #5, or #6. #6 is “Motive or incitement of flight,” so it could be referring to the law from verse 42.

Section 88:50

Then shall ye know that ye have seen me, that I am, and that I am the true light that is in you, and that you are in me; otherwise ye could not abound.

JSP then shall ye know, that ye have seen me, that I am, and that I am the true light, that is in you, and that you are in me, otherwise ye could not abound,

Section 88:51

¹Behold, I will liken these kingdoms unto a man having a field, and he sent forth his servants into the field to dig in the field.

Section 88:52

And he said unto the first: Go ye and labor in the field, and in the first hour I will come unto you, and ye shall behold the joy of my countenance.

Section 88:53

And he said unto the second: Go ye also into the field, and in the second hour I will visit you with the joy of my countenance.

Section 88:54

And also unto the third, saying: I will visit you;

Section 88:55

And unto the fourth, and so on unto the twelfth.

Section 88:56

And the lord of the field went unto the first in the first hour, and tarried with him all that hour, and he was made glad with the light of the countenance of his lord.

Section 88:57

And then he withdrew from the first that he might visit the second also, and the third, and the fourth, and so on unto the twelfth.

Section 88:58

And thus they all received the light of the countenance of their lord, every man in his hour, and in his time, and in his season—

¹The parable that the Lord is about to give is a way of expressing how God gives light to different kingdoms, or different organizations; again, I think this light is the priesthood and the laws which constitute it. Verse 58, for example, is calling back to verses 38, 44, and especially 12–13. Notice the reference also to “order” in verse 60. I think you can take the different kingdoms as either all being on Earth, or being on Earth and on other planets. If you go the former way, then you can see each different “kingdom” as a different time period in which different people were alive and the Lord came to manifest his light in different ways, “every man in his own order.” Notice that the Lord calls those receiving the revelation “the first laborers in this last kingdom” (verse 70, referring back to this parable (see also 74). I think you could also take the “kingdoms” as being on different planets, and still run a similar interpretation.

Section 88:59

Beginning at the first, and so on unto the last, and from the last unto the first, and from the first unto the last;

Section 88:60

Every man in his own order, until his hour was finished, even according as his lord had commanded him, that his lord might be glorified in him, and he in his lord, that they all might be glorified.

Section 88:61

Therefore, unto this parable I will liken all these kingdoms, and the inhabitants thereof—every kingdom in its hour, and in its time, and in its season, even according to the decree which God hath made.

Section 88:62

And again, verily I say unto you, my friends, I leave these sayings with you to ponder in your hearts, with this commandment which I give unto you, that ye shall call upon me while I am near—

Section 88:63

Draw near unto me and I will draw near unto you;¹ seek me diligently and ye shall find me; ask, and ye shall receive; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

Section 88:64

Whatsoever ye ask the Father in my name it shall be given unto you, that is expedient for you;

Section 88:65

And if ye ask anything that is not expedient for you, it shall turn unto your condemnation.

Section 88:66

Behold, that which you hear is as the voice of one crying in the wilderness—in the wilderness, because you cannot see him—my voice, because my voice is Spirit; my Spirit is truth; truth abideth and hath no end; and if it be in you it shall abound.

Section 88:67

And if your eye be single to my glory, your whole bodies shall be filled with light, and there shall be no darkness in you; and that body which is filled with light comprehendeth all things.

Section 88:68

Therefore, sanctify yourselves that your minds become single to God, and the days will come that you shall see him; for he will unveil his face unto you, and it shall be in his own time, and in his own way, and according to his own will.

¹See my note at Mosiah 2:36. I think the right way to think about this verse is in terms of Christ always being there and willing to meet us, but I'm not sure it's right to think of him as withdrawing in our less obedient phases. I think the right image is the one I describe in that note.

Section 88:69

Remember the great and last promise which I have made unto you; cast away your idle thoughts and your excess of laughter far from you.

Section 88:70

Tarry ye, tarry ye in this place, and call a solemn assembly, even of those who are the first laborers in this last kingdom.

Section 88:71

And let those whom they have warned in their traveling call on the Lord, and ponder the warning in their hearts which they have received, for a little season.

Section 88:72

Behold, and lo, I will take care of your flocks, and will raise up elders and send unto them.

Section 88:73

Behold, I will hasten my work in its time.

Section 88:74

And I give unto you, who are the first laborers in this last kingdom, a commandment that you assemble yourselves together, and organize yourselves, and prepare yourselves, and sanctify yourselves; yea, purify your hearts, and cleanse your hands and your feet before me, that I may make you clean;

Section 88:75

That I may testify unto your Father, and your God, and my God, that you are clean from the blood of this wicked generation;¹ that I may fulfil this promise, this great and last promise, which I have made unto you, when I will.

Section 88:76

Also, I give unto you a commandment that ye shall continue in prayer and fasting from this time forth.

Section 88:77

And I give unto you a commandment that you shall teach one another the doctrine of the kingdom.

¹This verse and the previous are similar to the introduction to the endowment. In fact, I've noticed a lot of language similar to that found in the endowment ceremony; I think the endowment is drawing from a lot of what is said in this section. See also verse 85 and verses 138–140, which connect to the initiatory.

Section 88:78

Teach ye diligently and my grace shall attend you, that you may be instructed more perfectly in theory, in principle, in doctrine, in the law of the gospel,¹ in all things that pertain unto the kingdom of God, that are expedient for you to understand;

Section 88:79

Of things both in heaven and in the earth, and under the earth; things which have been, things which are, things which must shortly come to pass; things which are at home, things which are abroad; the wars and the perplexities of the nations, and the judgments which are on the land; and a knowledge also of countries and of kingdoms—

Section 88:80

That ye may be prepared in all things when I shall send you again to magnify the calling whereunto I have called you, and the mission with which I have commissioned you.

Section 88:81

Behold, I sent you out to testify and warn the people, and it becometh every man who hath been warned to warn his neighbor.

Section 88:82

Therefore, they are left without excuse, and their sins are upon their own heads.

Section 88:83

He that seeketh me early² shall find me, and shall not be forsaken.

Section 88:84

Therefore, tarry ye, and labor diligently, that you may be perfected in your ministry to go forth among the Gentiles for the last time, as many as the mouth of the Lord shall name, to bind up the law and seal up the testimony,³ and to prepare the saints for the hour of judgment which is to come;

Section 88:85

That their souls may escape the wrath of God, the desolation of abomination which awaits the wicked, both in this world and in the world to come. Verily, I say unto you, let those who are not the first elders continue in the vineyard until the mouth of the Lord shall call them, for their time is not yet come; their garments are not clean from the blood of this generation.

Section 88:86

Abide ye in the liberty⁴ wherewith ye are made free; entangle not yourselves in sin, but let your hands be clean, until the Lord comes.

¹This is one of the laws we receive in the endowment ceremony. Note that that portion of the endowment then gives instruction about behavior, some of which seems to draw from here in DC 88.

²Not sure what the meaning of this word is here. Could be referring to the parable from earlier?

³This is a weird set of phrases, since it's the exact reverse of what we read in Isaiah 8:16.

⁴Compare 2 Nephi 2:27.

Section 88:87

For not many days hence and the earth shall tremble and reel to and fro as a drunken man; and the sun shall hide his face, and shall refuse to give light; and the moon shall be bathed in blood; and the stars shall become exceedingly angry, and shall cast themselves down as a fig that falleth from off a fig-tree.

Section 88:88

And after your testimony cometh wrath and indignation upon the people.

Section 88:89

For after your testimony cometh the testimony of earthquakes, that shall cause groanings in the midst of her, and men shall fall upon the ground and shall not be able to stand.

Section 88:90

And also cometh the testimony of the voice of thunderings, and the voice of lightnings, and the voice of tempests, and the voice of the waves of the sea heaving themselves beyond their bounds.

Section 88:91

And all things shall be in commotion; and surely, men's hearts shall fail them; for fear shall come upon all people.

Section 88:92

And angels shall fly through the midst of heaven, crying with a loud voice, sounding the trump of God, saying: Prepare ye, prepare ye, O inhabitants of the earth; for the judgment of our God is come. Behold, and lo, the Bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him.

Section 88:93

And immediately there shall appear a great sign in heaven, and all people shall see it together.

Section 88:94

And another angel shall sound his trump, saying: That great church, the mother of abominations, that made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, that persecuteth the saints of God, that shed their blood—she who sitteth upon many waters, and upon the islands of the sea—behold, she is the tares of the earth; she is bound in bundles; her bands are made strong, no man can loose them; therefore, she is ready to be burned. And he shall sound his trump both long and loud, and all nations shall hear it.

Section 88:95

And there shall be silence in heaven for the space of half an hour; and immediately after shall the curtain of heaven be unfolded, as a scroll is unfolded after it is rolled up, and the face of the Lord shall be unveiled;

Section 88:96

And the saints that are upon the earth, who are alive, shall be quickened and be caught up to meet him.

Section 88:97

And they who have slept in their graves shall come forth, for their graves shall be opened; and they also shall be caught up to meet him in the midst of the pillar of heaven—

Section 88:98

They are Christ's, the first fruits, they who shall descend with him first, and they who are on the earth and in their graves, who are first caught up to meet him; and all this by the voice of the sounding of the trump of the angel of God.

Section 88:99

And after this another angel shall sound, which is the second trump; and then cometh the redemption of those who are Christ's at his coming; who have received their part in that prison which is prepared for them, that they might receive the gospel, and be judged according to men in the flesh.

Section 88:100

And again, another trump shall sound, which is the third trump; and then come the spirits of men who are to be judged, and are found under condemnation;

Section 88:101

And these are the rest of the dead; and they live not again until the thousand years are ended, neither again, until the end of the earth.

Section 88:102

And another trump shall sound, which is the fourth trump, saying: There are found among those who are to remain until that great and last day, even the end, who shall remain filthy still.

Section 88:103

And another trump shall sound, which is the fifth trump, which is the fifth angel who committeth the everlasting gospel—flying through the midst of heaven, unto all nations, kindreds, tongues, and people;

Section 88:104

And this shall be the sound of his trump, saying to all people, both in heaven and in earth, and that are under the earth—for every ear shall hear it, and every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall confess, while they hear the sound of the trump, saying: Fear God, and give glory to him who sitteth upon the throne, forever and ever; for the hour of his judgment is come.

Section 88:105

And again, another angel shall sound his trump, which is the sixth angel, saying: She is fallen who made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication; she is fallen, is fallen!

Section 88:106

And again, another angel shall sound his trump, which is the seventh angel, saying: It is finished; it is finished! The Lamb of God hath overcome and trodden the wine-press alone,¹ even the wine-press of the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God.

Section 88:107

And then shall the angels be crowned with the glory of his might, and the saints shall be filled with his glory, and receive their inheritance and be made equal with him.

Section 88:108

And then shall the first angel again sound his trump in the ears of all living, and reveal the secret acts of men, and the mighty works of God in the first thousand years.

Section 88:109

And then shall the second angel sound his trump, and reveal the secret acts of men, and the thoughts and intents of their hearts, and the mighty works of God in the second thousand years—

Section 88:110

And so on, until the seventh angel shall sound his trump; and he shall stand forth upon the land and upon the sea, and swear in the name of him who sitteth upon the throne, that there shall be time no longer;² and Satan shall be bound, that old serpent, who is called the devil, and shall not be loosed for the space of a thousand years.

Section 88:111

And then he shall be loosed for a little season, that he may gather together his armies.

Section 88:112

And Michael, the seventh angel, even the archangel, shall gather together his armies, even the hosts of heaven.

Section 88:113

And the devil shall gather together his armies; even the hosts of hell, and shall come up to battle against Michael and his armies.

¹See Isaiah 63:3 and DC 76:107.

²See DC 84:100.

Section 88:114

And then cometh the battle of the great God; and the devil and his armies shall be cast away into their own place, that they shall not have power over the saints any more at all.

Section 88:115

For Michael shall fight their battles, and shall overcome him who seeketh the throne of him who sitteth upon the throne, even the Lamb.

Section 88:116

This is the glory of God, and the sanctified; and they shall not any more see death.

Section 88:117

Therefore, verily I say unto you, my friends, call your solemn assembly, as I have commanded you.

Section 88:118

And as all have not faith, seek ye diligently and teach one another words of wisdom; yea, seek ye out of the best books words of wisdom; seek learning, even by study and also by faith.

Section 88:119

Organize yourselves; prepare every needful thing; and establish a house, even a house of prayer, a house of fasting, a house of faith, a house of learning, a house of glory, a house of order, a house of God;

Section 88:120

That your incomings may be in the name of the Lord; that your outgoings may be in the name of the Lord; that all your salutations may be in the name of the Lord, with uplifted hands unto the Most High.

Section 88:121

Therefore, cease from all your light speeches, from all laughter, from all your lustful desires, from all your pride and light-mindedness, and from all your wicked doings.

Section 88:122

Appoint among yourselves a teacher, and let not all be spokesmen at once; but let one speak at a time and let all listen unto his sayings, that when all have spoken that all may be edified of all, and that every man may have an equal privilege.

Section 88:123

See that ye love one another; cease to be covetous; learn to impart one to another as the gospel requires.

Section 88:124

Cease to be idle; cease to be unclean; cease to find fault one with another; cease to sleep longer than is needful; retire to thy bed early, that ye may not be weary; arise early, that your bodies and your minds may be invigorated.

Section 88:125

And above all things, clothe yourselves with the bond of charity,¹ as with a mantle, which is the bond of perfectness and peace.

Section 88:126

Pray always, that ye may not faint, until I come. Behold, and lo, I will come quickly, and receive you unto myself. Amen.

Section 88:127

And again, the order of the house prepared for the presidency of the school of the prophets, established for their instruction in all things that are expedient for them, even for all the officers of the church, or in other words, those who are called to the ministry in the church, beginning at the high priests, even down to the deacons—

Section 88:128

And this shall be the order of the house of the presidency of the school: He that is appointed to be president, or teacher, shall be found standing in his place, in the house which shall be prepared for him.

Section 88:129

Therefore, he shall be first in the house of God, in a place that the congregation in the house may hear his words carefully and distinctly, not with loud speech.

Section 88:130

And when he cometh into the house of God, for he should be first in the house—behold, this is beautiful, that he may be an example—

Section 88:131

Let him offer himself in prayer upon his knees before God, in token or remembrance of the everlasting covenant.

Section 88:132

And when any shall come in after him, let the teacher arise, and, with uplifted hands to heaven, yea, even directly, salute his brother or brethren with these words:

¹See Colossians 3:14.

Section 88:133

¹Art thou a brother or brethren? I salute you in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, in token or remembrance of the everlasting covenant, in which covenant I receive you to fellowship, in a determination that is fixed, immovable, and unchangeable, to be your friend and brother through the grace of God in the bonds of love, to walk in all the commandments of God blameless, in thanksgiving, forever and ever. Amen.

Section 88:134

And he that is found unworthy of this salutation shall not have place among you; for ye shall not suffer that mine house shall be polluted by him.

Section 88:135

And he that cometh in and is faithful before me, and is a brother, or if they be brethren, they shall salute the president or teacher with uplifted hands to heaven, with this same prayer and covenant, or by saying Amen, in token of the same.

Section 88:136

Behold, verily, I say unto you, this is an ensample unto you for a salutation to one another in the house of God, in the school of the prophets.

Section 88:137

And ye are called to do this by prayer and thanksgiving, as the Spirit shall give utterance in all your doings in the house of the Lord, in the school of the prophets, that it may become a sanctuary, a tabernacle of the Holy Spirit to your edification.

Section 88:138

And ye shall not receive any among you into this school save he is clean from the blood of this generation;

Section 88:139

And he shall be received by the ordinance of the washing of feet, for unto this end was the ordinance of the washing of feet instituted.²

Section 88:140

And again, the ordinance of washing feet is to be administered by the president, or presiding elder of the church.

Section 88:141

It is to be commenced with prayer; and after partaking of bread and wine, he is to gird himself according to the pattern given in the thirteenth chapter of John's testimony concerning me.³ Amen.

¹This is too early for Masonry in the LDS church, I think, but this reminds me of the "five points of fellowship" in previous versions of the endowment. See this part of the ceremony.

²This verse is saying, the ordinance of feet-washing was instituted in order to cleanse people from the "blood of this generation." Think about the initiatory here.

³See John 13.

Section 89 (27 February 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“While no contemporaneous sources describing the circumstances under which JS dictated this 27 February 1833 revelation have been located, later accounts indicate that it was recorded in connection with the activities of the School of the Prophets. According to Brigham Young, heavy tobacco use—in the form of both smoking and chewing—among members of the school, combined with Emma Smith’s and others’ complaints about cleaning tobacco juice from the floor, led JS ‘to inquire of the Lord with regard to use of tobacco’ and ‘to the conduct of the elders with this particular practice.’ This revelation—composed largely of warnings and counsel regarding not only the use of tobacco, but also the consumption of various foods, ‘hot drinks,’ wine, and ‘Strong drinks’—was the result of his inquiries. Known among church members as the ‘Word of Wisdom,’ referring to the opening phrase of the text, the revelation was evidently recorded in JS’s translating room in Newel K. Whitney’s store. Zebedee Coltrin, who was present, recalled JS coming out of his translation room and reading the revelation to over twenty members of the school then in attendance. Joel Johnson added that the revelation was given in the evening.

“At the time this revelation was dictated, the temperance movement, as well as other dietary reform movements, was beginning to factor more prominently in American culture. Initially fueled by concerns about the physiological effects of alcohol, calls for more moderate, or temperate, use of alcohol, and even for complete abstinence, had become increasingly identified with Christian reform movements by this time and had resulted in the formation of thousands of temperance societies throughout the United States. In Kirtland, Ohio, the Kirtland Temperance Society, whose founding constitution boasted 239 signatories, held its first annual meeting on 6 October 1830, shortly before Mormon missionaries arrived in the area from New York. The society continued for five years, during which time a distillery at Kirtland and two in Mentor, Ohio, evidently closed for want of patronage. According to one reminiscent account, the society disbanded after many of the temperance workers moved away as the Mormon population in the area grew, suggesting that Mormon involvement with the society was limited.

“Arguments against the use of alcohol and other items, including tea, coffee, and tobacco, could be found in the religious, medical, and popular publications of the time, while arguments promoting the health value of other foods and drinks were also prevalent in the period’s literature. In January and February 1833, JS himself was subscribing to the American Revivalist, and Rochester Observer, an evangelical weekly that regularly published articles on temperance.

“The contents of this revelation appear to have been available to many church members within months after its recording. Sidney Gilbert made a private copy probably sometime in the summer of 1833 in Missouri, while Wilford Woodruff copied the revelation in the back of his personal copy of the Book of Commandments, probably before September 1835—when the Doctrine and Covenants, which contained this revelation, became available. It was also printed as a broadsheet around January 1834 in Kirtland. Charges against church members in Ohio and Pennsylvania for disobeying some of the revelation’s instruction surfaced in February 1834, within a year of the revelation’s dictation, while local church conferences as far away as New York and Maine were referencing the revelation by summer 1834. Eber D. Howe published the revelation in his book Mormonism Unveiled in 1834.

“Among the members of the Church of Christ there was apparently some question as to what the revelation meant by ‘hot drinks,’ prompting JS and Hyrum Smith, according to one reminiscent account, to explicitly identify coffee and tea at a meeting in Kirtland in July 1833 as the ‘hot drinks’ prohibited by the revelation.¹ Similarly, opinions on how strictly the revelation’s instructions were to be followed appear to have differed among church members, probably as a result of the revelation’s opening statement that the Word of Wisdom was given ‘for the benefit’ of church members, ‘not by commandment or Constraint.’ Possibly complicating the situation were the different ways this statement was presented. With one possible exception, the earliest manuscript versions of this revelation present the opening statement as part of the revelation, as do the printed broadsheet and Howe’s Mormonism Unveiled. In the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, however, the opening paragraph appears as an italicized heading, allowing for the later interpretation that it was an introductory statement rather than part of the revelation proper and that, therefore, it was JS or one of his scribes, not God, who said the revelation was not a commandment.

“In any event, the degree to which church members felt obligated to follow the revelation’s instructions varied. Some, like Zebedee Coltrin, Joel Johnson, and John Tanner, chose to abstain from tea, coffee, tobacco, and alcohol almost immediately; others, like JS’s wife Emma, who offered weary travelers tea and coffee upon their arrival in Kirtland in May 1833, apparently ¹JSP note: “Johnson, Notebook, [1]. Hyrum Smith made the same point nine years later in Nauvoo; in 1870, Brigham Young also identified the ‘hot drinks’ mentioned in the revelation as tea and coffee. (‘The Word of Wisdom,’ Times and Seasons, 1 June 1842, 3:800; Brigham Young, in Journal of Discourses, 30 Oct. 1870, 13:277.)” The reference for the Johnson notebook is “Johnson, Joel H. felt that using at least some of the items listed in the revelation was acceptable under some circumstances. A May 1835 letter from William W. Phelps to his wife, Sally Waterman Phelps—in which he spoke about the ‘sameness’ of the Kirtland church members as they ‘drink cold water; and don’t even mention tea and Coffee’—suggests the revelation was more universally understood among church members by that time, although many exceptions continue to appear in the historical record.

“Many church members, for instance, apparently felt that it was acceptable for tea or alcohol to be taken medicinally. Emma may have offered tea and coffee to new arrivals with this idea in mind; JS’s administering whiskey in June 1834 to George A. Smith, who was suffering from cholera, almost certainly reflected such an interpretation. In spite of JS’s acquiescence with this practice, not everyone agreed with it. On 4 December 1836, for example, at the instigation of Sidney Rigdon, a meeting of church members in Kirtland voted unanimously to ‘discountenance the use intirely of all liquors from the Church in Sickness & in health.’ Over the ensuing years, nevertheless, various church members, including JS, continued to allow for the use of these drinks in cases of sickness.

“JS and many others also allowed for a relaxed standard in adhering to the revelation’s instructions during times of unusual difficulty and hardship. While overseeing a mass exodus of church members from Kirtland in spring 1838, for example, the seventies drew up a ‘constitution’ charging leaders to see that ‘the word of wisdom [was] heeded’—that is, that ‘no tobacco, tea, coffee, snuff nor ardent spirits of any kind, [were] taken internally.’ Hyrum Smith, however, speaking a few days later, advised those leaving Kirtland ‘not to be too particular in regard to the word of wisdom,’ though subsequent events suggest his counsel was largely ignored. Following the collective trauma of the forced exodus from Missouri in winter 1838–1839, the prohibitions of the Word of Wisdom generally received less emphasis than they had earlier. Helen Mar Kimball Whitney, in a reminiscent account, reported that JS told church members suffering from malaria in early Nauvoo to ‘make tea and drink it’ when the river water was unsuitable for drinking and that he ‘often made tea and administered it with his own hands.’ Perhaps the best illustration of a more relaxed position regarding the Word of Wisdom in times of stress is John Taylor’s account of events leading to JS’s death at Carthage, Illinois, in June 1844, in which he noted that JS and his companions, who were feeling ‘unusually dull and languid’ after several days of incarceration, drank some wine to raise their spirits.

“In accordance with the revelation’s provision that homemade wine could be taken when church members met ‘to offer up [their] sacrament’ before God, church members continued to use wine, generally fermented, in the sacrament of the Lord’s Supper. This same provision, coupled with the understanding that a sacrament was something ‘having a sacred character or function,’ probably accounts for the times JS and others drank wine on several other occasions as well, including at the School of the Prophets, in various meetings held in the Kirtland temple, and at weddings. By the Nauvoo era, JS was more frequently making exceptions to the general observance of the Word of Wisdom that were not linked with health issues, hardship, or sacred functions, possibly indicating a more relaxed attitude on his part toward things like tea and wine. JS’s journal for 11 March 1843, for example, indicates that he ‘had tea with his breakfast.’ Two months later, on 3 May 1843, JS ‘drank a glass of wine with Sister Richards. of her Mothe[r]’s make, in England.’ A year after that, JS ‘drank a glass of beer at Moissers [Frederick Moeser’s].’

“Only a few weeks prior to his death, JS seemed to reference the Word of Wisdom while counseling those who would be leaving to serve electioneering missions for his U.S. presidential campaign. At least in regard to alcohol, JS inveighed against drunkenness rather than just occasional consumption, which reflected his own actions in relation to alcohol. He informed the men that ‘we should never indulge our appetites to injure our influence, or wound the feelings of friends, or cause the spirit of the Lord to leave us. There is no excuse for any man to drink and get drunk in the church of Christ, or gratify any appetite, or lust, contrary to the principles of righteousness.’ JS further instructed the men ‘on the principles of sobriety, and every thing pertaining to godliness at considerable length & concluded by remarking that it is best to run on a long race and be careful to keep good wind &c.’

“Though the revelation instructed that meat was ‘to be used sparingly,’ church members appear to have placed very little emphasis on that counsel, perhaps because this portion was rarely referenced by church leaders. Journals, reminiscences, and other personal records of the time that discuss specific provisions of the Word of Wisdom generally focus on the use of hot drinks, strong drinks, and tobacco rather than on the misuse or overuse of meat. The same is true of more official records and statements. In a noteworthy exception, Hyrum Smith, in an 1842 discourse on the Word of Wisdom, urged the Saints in Nauvoo to ‘attend to’ the revelation’s instructions regarding the use of meat and to be ‘sparing of the life of animals.’

“Portions of this revelation reflect material in earlier JS revelations. Sometime around August 1830, a revelation on the emblems used in the sacrament of the Lord’s Supper prohibited the members of the Church of Christ from purchasing wine and ‘strong drink’ from their enemies and enjoined them not to partake of any such drink ‘except it is made new among you.’ Another revelation, as well as the Book of Mormon, endorsed the use of herbs and other plants for treating the sick, and a 7 August 1831 revelation noted that animals, plants, and ‘all things which cometh of the earth in the season thereof is made for the benefit & the use of man . . . to be used with judgement not to excess neither by extortion.’ Still another revelation similarly observed that ‘the beasts of the field & the fowls of the air & that which cometh of the Earth is ordained for the use of man for food & for raiment & that he might have in abundance’ and at the same time condemned anyone ‘that shedeth blood or that wasteth flesh & hath no need.’ This warning against wasting resources and food, especially meat, echoed JS’s revision of Genesis 9:5 in which God tells Noah that ‘blood shall not be shed only for meat to save your lives and the blood of every beast will I require at your hands.’

“The revelation makes no mention of an official penalty for disobeying its counsel, an issue that first presented itself to Kirtland leaders on 12 February 1834, when a ‘Bro Rich’—probably Leonard Rich—was ‘called in question for transgressing the word of wisdom.’ A conference of church leaders and other men ordained to the priesthood forgave Rich ‘upon his promising to do better and reform his life.’ The issue arose again eight days later—this time before the newly organized Kirtland high council—following a meeting that had been held in Pennsylvania in which ‘some of the members of that Church refused to partak[e] of the sacrament because the Elder administering it did not observe the words of wisdom to obey them.’ Rather than addressing the Pennsylvanians’ refusal, the Kirtland high council deliberated on the more fundamental issue of ‘whether disobedience to the word of wisdom was a transgression sufficient to deprive an official member from holding an office in the church, after haveing it sufficiently taught him.’ The official decision, presented by JS and sanctioned by the council, was that ‘no official member in this church is worthy to hold an office after haveing the word of wisdom properly taught to him, and he, the official member, neglecting to comply with, or obey them.’

“The council’s decision was eventually published in the Messenger and Advocate and appears to have been the basis for several policies and judgments made in Kirtland and Missouri. Records indicate that more severe actions, including excommunication, could be taken during this time when the violation of the principles taught in the revelation seemed particularly egregious or was part of a larger pattern of disobedience. Similarly, resolutions calling for the excommunication of church members who used ‘ardent spirits as a beverage’ or who were ‘in the habit of drinking ardent spirits’ were passed in various places in the early 1840s. At the same time, however, records from the Nauvoo period also indicate willingness on the part of church leaders and others to deal gently with those who were not obeying the revelation in the strictest sense and to give them time and reasons for reformation. Fearful that many church members were ‘following their old traditions,’ for example, Hyrum Smith promised health, vigor, strength, and wisdom to those who kept the Word of Wisdom. An editorial in the Times and Seasons counseled those who frequented ‘public places, where poison is dealt to the unwary’ to be more actively engaged in the ministry to which they had been called, while those who used ‘tobacco and other intoxicating nauseates’ were reminded that such substances ‘destroy the influence of the Holy Spirit.’ Though disobedience to the Word of Wisdom was occasionally grounds for losing one’s office during the Kirtland years, twenty-two men who apparently struggled to keep all of its provisions were ordained elders on 10 April 1843. Missionaries, similarly, were promised blessings if they kept the Word of Wisdom rather than being threatened with losing their licenses if they did not.

“The copy of the revelation featured here is the private copy made by Sidney Gilbert. Several pieces of textual evidence, including the lack of clarifying and elaborating phrases that occur in other early copies, suggest that it may best represent the earliest version of the revelation. In the following transcript, significant textual differences are noted between this copy and the copy made by Frederick G. Williams in Revelation Book 2 in Kirtland, which was probably the earliest copy made in an official church record. All other early versions of this revelation closely follow the wording of Revelation Book 2.”

Section 89:1

A WORD OF WISDOM, for the benefit of the council of high priests, assembled in Kirtland, and the church, and also the saints in Zion—

Section 89:2

To be sent greeting; not by commandment or constraint,¹ but by revelation and the word of wisdom, showing forth the order and will of God in the temporal salvation² of all saints in the last days—

Section 89:3

Given for a principle with promise, adapted to the capacity of the weak and the weakest of all saints, who are or can be called saints.

Section 89:4

Behold, verily, thus saith the Lord unto you: In consequence of evils and designs which do and will exist in the hearts of conspiring men in the last days, I have warned you, and forewarn you, by giving unto you this word of wisdom by revelation—

Section 89:5

³That inasmuch as any man drinketh wine or strong drink among you, behold it is not good, neither meet in the sight of your Father, only in assembling yourselves together to offer up your sacraments before him.

Section 89:6

And, behold, this should be wine, yea, pure wine of the grape of the vine, of your own make.

Section 89:7

And, again, strong drinks are not for the belly, but for the washing of your bodies.

Section 89:8

⁴And again, tobacco is not for the body, neither for the belly, and is not good for man, but is an herb for bruises and all sick cattle, to be used with judgment and skill.

Section 89:9

And again, hot drinks are not for the body or belly.

Section 89:10

And again, verily I say unto you, all wholesome herbs God hath ordained for the constitution, nature, and use of man—

¹The Lord is sometimes explicit about whether what he's giving is a "commandment"—see DC 70:1-2, for example.

²I think this phrase is the key to the whole section. The Word of Wisdom is about our temporal salvation (for the phrase, see here). JS says that "salvation" is to be saved from all our enemies, so a temporal salvation would be to be saved from all our temporal enemies. If you think about ill health and addictive behavior as enemies, then you can see why this revelation would be relevant to your temporal salvation.

³I find this guidance remarkable, in light of how it's supposed to be for our "temporal salvation."

⁴This is maybe the most amazing part of the whole revelation, to prohibit tobacco.

Section 89:11

Every herb in the season thereof, and every fruit in the season thereof; all these to be used with prudence and thanksgiving.

Section 89:12

Yea, flesh also of beasts and of the fowls of the air, I, the Lord, have ordained for the use of man with thanksgiving; nevertheless they are to be used sparingly;¹

Section 89:13

And it is pleasing unto me that they should not be used, only in times of winter, or of cold, or famine.

Section 89:14

All grain is ordained for the use of man and of beasts, to be the staff of life, not only for man but for the beasts of the field, and the fowls of heaven, and all wild animals that run or creep on the earth;

Section 89:15

And these hath God made for the use of man only in times of famine and excess of hunger.

Section 89:16

All grain is good for the food of man; as also the fruit of the vine; that which yieldeth fruit, whether in the ground or above the ground—

Section 89:17

Nevertheless, wheat for man, and corn for the ox, and oats for the horse, and rye for the fowls and for swine, and for all beasts of the field, and barley for all useful animals, and for mild drinks, as also other grain.

Section 89:18

And all saints who remember to keep and do these sayings, walking in obedience to the commandments, shall receive health in their navel and marrow to their bones;²

Section 89:19

And shall find wisdom and great treasures of knowledge, even hidden treasures;

Section 89:20

And shall run and not be weary, and shall walk and not faint.

¹Note the next few verses and compare DC 49:18–19.

²This last part of the verse reminds of some of the things said at the veil in the endowment ceremony.

Section 89:21

And I, the Lord, give unto them a promise, that the destroying angel shall pass by them,¹ as the children of Israel, and not slay them. Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“Marking a significant development in the church’s chief governing body, this revelation announced that the counselors in the presidency of the high priesthood were equal with JS ‘in holding the keys of this Last Kingdom.’ The presidency of the high priesthood had its beginnings sixteen months earlier, on 11 November 1831, when a revelation established the office of the president of the high priesthood. That revelation called the office of the high priesthood ‘the greatest of all’ and said that ‘it must needs be that one be appointed of the high Priest hood to preside over the Priest hood & he shall be called President of the high Priest hood of the Church’ and have the duty to ‘preside over the whole church.’ At a church conference in Amherst, Ohio, held on 25 January 1832, JS was ordained as president of the high priesthood by Sidney Rigdon.

“The 11 November 1831 revelation also gave the president authority to appoint twelve counselors to form a disciplinary court, introducing the idea that a body of counselors was to support the president. Precedent for forming a leadership body of three people came earlier in 1831 when Edward Partridge was designated as the church’s first bishop with ‘two of the Elders’ appointed to assist him in attending to the temporal and spiritual concerns of the church. On 8 March 1832, JS chose and ordained Jesse Gause and Sidney Rigdon to assist him as ‘councillers of the ministry of the presidency of th[e] high Pristhood.’ A revelation dictated around the same time affirmed that the president of the high priesthood had ‘authority to preside with the assistance of his counsellors over all the Concerns of the church.’ On 15 March 1832, JS dictated another revelation that elevated the counselors to positions of authority, second only to JS, in managing the affairs of the church. It formally called Gause ‘to be a high Priest in my church and counsellor unto my servant Joseph,’ explained the duties of the counselors, and affirmed that ‘the keys of the Kingdom’ belong ‘always to the prisidency of the high Priesthood.’ Gause was excommunicated from the Church of Christ on 3 December 1832, and a month later, on 5 January 1833, Frederick G. Williams was called to replace Gause in serving as ‘Councillor & scribe unto my servant Joseph.’ Williams probably assumed his new role immediately; he was identified as a counselor in the presidency of the high priesthood in the minutes of a conference held on 22 January 1833, though he was not ordained to this position until 18 March 1833. The structure of the presidency remained unchanged until December 1834.

“Before the revelation featured here was dictated, JS was assisted by his counselors as he had been previously by Oliver Cowdery, who had been called in 1830 to support JS as ‘second elder.’ The minutes of a conference of high priests that assembled on 22 January 1833 likewise indicated a hierarchy in the presidency, with JS as ‘President,’ Sidney Rigdon as ‘cheif scribe and high counselor,’ and Williams as ‘assistant scribe and counselor.’ The following revelation, however, directed that JS’s counselors, Rigdon and Williams, be made ‘equal’ with the president in holding the keys of the kingdom. It likewise authorized the three men to labor together to ‘set in order all the affairs of this Church and kingdom.’ Though JS retained presiding authority, the governing body of the church now had three presidents. Following this revelation, the members of the presidency of the high priesthood signed some letters and official documents with their names in the order of JS, Sidney Rigdon, and Frederick G. Williams and with the associated title of ‘Presidents of the High Priesthood.’ By 1835 this presidency was also known as the ‘first presidency’ of the church.

“In addition to giving instructions regarding the presidency of the high priesthood, this revelation expressed displeasure with some church members in Missouri. JS’s interactions with Missouri leaders in spring 1832, his series of letters with William W. Phelps and Sidney Gilbert from June 1832 to January 1833, and a revelation dated 22 and 23 September 1832 emphasized that Missouri church leaders needed to repent of ongoing disputes and perceived backbiting against JS. These interactions and documents likewise reveal a continuing discord between the leaders of the church in Kirtland, Ohio, and those in Independence, Missouri. Some Missouri leaders believed that if JS would move to Independence, his presence would help alleviate many of the misunderstandings and hard feelings that had existed for months between church officials in the two locations. On 14 January 1833, Orson Hyde and Hyrum Smith penned a letter on behalf of a conference of high priests and elders held in Kirtland to inform the Missouri Saints in a united voice ‘that Br J. will not settle in Zion until she repent and purify herself & abide by the new covenant, and remember the commandments which have been given her, to do them as well as say them.’ The revelation featured here reiterated displeasure with specific Missouri leaders for unrepentant behavior. It also clarified that JS would be called to preside over the church in Independence in the Lord’s ‘own due time.’

“This revelation also directed members of the presidency of the high priesthood to set their houses in order, gave instructions concerning the residences of Joseph Smith Sr. and Sidney Rigdon, and emphasized the need to continue the ongoing translation of the Old Testament. It also directed the relocation of Vienna Jaques—a church member who had recently consecrated a significant amount of money to the church—from Kirtland to Jackson County, Missouri. How or when church members in Kirtland or Missouri learned of this revelation is unknown, as no extant contemporary sources mention it.”

Historical Background

JSP

“At the time this revelation was dictated, JS was actively engaged in revising the Bible. A month earlier, on 2 February, scribe Frederick G. Williams noted, ‘This day completed the translation and the reviewing of the New testament and sealed [it] up no more to be broken till it goes to Zion.’ A revelation dated 8 March, one day earlier than the date of the revelation featured here, referenced JS’s continued work on several books in the latter part of the Old Testament and made JS’s other duties contingent upon his completion of the Bible revision: ‘Now verely I say unto you I give unto you a commandment that you continue in this ministry and presidency and when you have finished the translation of the prophets you shall from thence forth preside over the affairs of the Church and the School.’ Emphasizing the importance of completing his scriptural revisions, this declaration may have led JS to also ponder at what point the work would be finished and whether the ‘translation of the prophets’ included work on the books of the Apocrypha.

“The word apocrypha transliterates a Greek term meaning ‘hidden’ or ‘concealed.’ Protestants used the term to denote the dozen or so books not found in the Hebrew canon but that were included in the Greek version of the Old Testament known as the Septuagint. Because the Septuagint was the basis for early Latin translations of the Old Testament, the Apocrypha was integrated into early Christian Bibles. Although the Catholic scholar Jerome hesitated to include the books along with his translation of the Hebrew canon in the fourth century, they eventually came to be widely regarded as scriptural in medieval Christianity. Martin Luther, in his 1534 translation of the Bible, however, placed the books of the Apocrypha at the end of the Old Testament and explained that they were ‘not held equal to the Holy Scriptures, and yet are profitable and good to read.’ Throughout the Reformation, subsequent editions of the Bible also placed these books in a separate section labeled ‘Apocrypha.’ The Roman Catholic Church responded by affirming the canonical status of all but three of the books at the Council of Trent in 1546. Thus, acceptance or rejection of the authority of the Apocrypha was at times part of the larger religious dispute surrounding the Reformation.

“Shortly before JS began his translation of the Book of Mormon, a widely publicized and acrimonious debate took place within the British and Foreign Bible Society over the inclusion of the Apocryphal books within the Bibles it distributed. Some members of the society accused their leaders of ‘adulterating the Scriptures, by circulating the lies and fables of the Apocrypha along with the words of eternal life.’ After multiple schisms, the society finally relented in 1826–1827 and adopted a resolution banning the distribution of Bibles containing the Apocrypha. By April 1828, the American Bible Society, witnessing the fallout caused by arguments within its British counterpart, made the same decision. Public disputes about the Apocrypha nevertheless continued in the United States. In 1832, an Ohio newspaper railed against the Apocrypha in an article designed to prove the veracity of the accepted canonical books of the Old and New Testaments; the article argued that ‘the claims of the Apocrypha must be despatched in few words’ and that the authors of it could not ‘comport with a claim to a divine origin.’ In his widely published 1833 letters against Catholicism, Calvinist theologian William Craig Brownlee specifically denounced his rivals who ‘decorate the apocrypha with the honors of inspiration.’

“Despite the general movement of American Protestants away from the Apocrypha, early Mormons did not seem to view the Apocrypha with the same disdain, perhaps owing to their foundational belief in the existence of scriptural books outside of the Old and New Testaments, such as the Book of Mormon. An April 1829 revelation explained that there were ‘records which contain much of my gospel, which have been kept back because of the wickedness of the people’ and that ‘parts of my scriptures . . . have been hidden because of iniquity.’ The Book of Mormon also points to the existence of sacred texts outside the traditional biblical canon, asserting that ‘many parts which are plain and most precious’ were lost from the writings that eventually constituted the Bible. Early members of the church apparently discussed regularly the notion that teachings were missing from the traditional canon. JS’s history, for instance, indicates that concern for missing biblical books served as the background for his lengthy dictation in December 1830 termed the ‘Prophecy of Enoch,’ which provided additional information about early biblical prophets:

Much conjecture and conversation frequently occurred among the saints, concerning the books mentioned and referred to, in various places in the old and new testaments, which were now no where to be found. The common remark was, they are ‘lost books’; but it seems the apostolic churches had some of these writings, as Jude mentions or quotes the prophecy of Enoch the seventh from Adam. To the joy of the little flock, which in all, from Colesville to Canandaigua, numbered about seventy members, did the Lord reveal the following doings of olden time from the prophecy of Enoch.

“The concern over lost books of scripture apparently continued after 1830; JS, for instance, wrote to church members in Missouri in June 1833, saying, ‘We have not found the book of Jasher nor any of the othe[r] lost books mentioned in the bible as yet nor wille we obtain them at present.’ This acceptance of the notion of additional scripture apparently extended to the Apocrypha in the minds of some early Mormons. In July 1832, the first church-owned newspaper quoted from 2 Maccabees and seemed to deride the treatment of the Apocrypha as noncanonical, explaining that it was ‘the wisdom of man’ that ‘has seen fit to call [it] Apocrypha.’ In January 1833, the same newspaper again derided negative attitudes toward Apocryphal works when it published an excerpt from the Apocryphal addition to the book of Esther, ‘which the ancient men of the world, put down as doubtful.’

“The revelation featured here affirmed ‘there are many things contained’ in the Apocrypha ‘that are true.’ Nevertheless, this revelation instructed JS that he need not translate the Apocrypha along with the other, canonical books of the Bible, and he apparently never did. He repeated the teachings of the revelation in a letter to the Missouri members a few months later, telling them that ‘respecting the Apochraphy the Lord Said to us that there were many things in it which were true and ther were many things in it which were not true and to those who desired, it should be given by the spirit to know true from the false.’”

Section 92 (15 March 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 8 March 1833, a revelation declared Frederick G. Williams equal ‘in holding the keys of this Last Kingdom’ with JS and Sidney Rigdon in the presidency of the high priesthood. A week later, the following revelation, dated 15 March, elevated Williams within the United Firm from assistant scribe to a member in full partnership with JS, Rigdon, and other founding members of the firm. In addition to becoming equal with JS and Rigdon in holding the keys, Williams now became similarly responsible for overseeing the financial and temporal matters of the church under JS’s direction.

“In accordance with a revelation dated 1 March 1832, JS organized a group of men called the United Firm on 26 April 1832 to manage the ‘Literary and Merchantile establishments’ of the church. As a governing financial council, the firm was responsible for printing church publications, holding church properties in trust, assisting the poor, and operating general stores in Independence, Missouri, and Kirtland, Ohio, to generate funds for the church. Among other duties, members of the United Firm oversaw city planning for Independence and Kirtland, including the construction of a house of the Lord and other buildings. The firm was also directed to manage land, including allotting portions of Williams’s farmland to members of the church.

“On 26 April 1832, JS dictated a revelation that named the initial members of the United Firm as himself, Oliver Cowdery, Sidney Gilbert, Martin Harris, Edward Partridge, William W. Phelps, Sidney Rigdon, John Whitmer, and Newel K. Whitney. Cowdery, Gilbert, Partridge, Phelps, and Whitmer oversaw the business and financial affairs in Missouri, while JS, Harris, Rigdon, and Whitney represented the firm in Ohio. The 26 April revelation also emphasized that members of the organization were equal with one another: they were to ‘have equal claims on the properties’ managed by the United Firm, ‘every man according to his wants & his needs,’ in order to ‘improve upon his talent,’ which was ‘to be cast into the Lords Storehouse to become the common property of the whole Church[h].’

“Williams was the first member added to the firm since its organization. JS wrote to the Missouri members of the United Firm on 21 April 1833 and inserted the featured revelation in the letter to inform them of Williams’s new status. Members of the United Firm in Missouri apparently raised questions in a follow-up letter about Williams’s intended role in the firm. On 25 June 1833, JS, Rigdon, Williams, and Harris responded to their letter and affirmed Williams’s status to the Missouri members when they wrote, ‘As to Bro Frederick, all members of the United Firm are considered one’ for the support of ‘the mercantile establishment God commanded.’

“Williams inscribed the revelation featured here into Revelation Book 2. He also made note of this revelation in Minute Book 1. Williams later copied the revelation into JS’s letterbook as part of the 21 April 1833 letter to the Missouri church leaders.”

Section 93 (6 May 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“Few contemporary sources shed light on the background of this 6 May 1833 revelation. JS’s history simply states, ‘On the 6th [of May 1833] I received the following.’ Newel K. Whitney, one of the individuals mentioned in the text, made the only other known early comment on the back of perhaps the earliest extant manuscript version of the revelation. Whitney summarized the revelation by writing, ‘Revelation to Joseph, Sidney Frederick & Newell by chastisement & also relative to the Father & Son 6 May 1833.’ While Whitney’s summary focused first on the reprimand the men received from the Lord in relation to their families, the majority of the revelation was ‘relative to the Father & Son.’

“The text of the revelation appears to be closely related to the first chapter of the Gospel according to John but was likely not the direct result of JS’s work revising the New Testament, since the revision had been completed three months earlier, on 2 February 1833. Further, the revisions to John’s record made in this revelation generally vary from the changes JS made to the same text in his larger project of revising the Bible. The revelation was not the first JS document to involve passages from John’s gospel. One of the earliest recorded JS revelations, dictated April 1829, was a result of a disagreement between JS and Oliver Cowdery over the final chapter of John and whether Jesus Christ’s statement about John tarrying meant that he would not die. Through the means of a seer stone or stones in his possession, JS dictated the 1829 revelation, which he explained had been ‘translated from parchment’ and included a fuller account from John, which John had ‘written and hid up.’ The Book of Mormon also references John by name several times, while no other apostle of Jesus is specifically mentioned in the book. In addition, in March 1832 JS created a document that explained the content of many verses in the book of Revelation, which the Book of Mormon explicitly asserts was authored by John the Apostle.

“The revelation featured here directly challenged several prevailing Christian beliefs of the time, including doctrines regarding the nature of Jesus Christ, especially his humanity and divinity, that most Christians believed had been settled by the Council of Chalcedon in AD 451. That council held that Jesus Christ was both fully human and fully divine, ‘that in Christ two distinct natures were united in one person, without any change, mixture, or confusion.’ This revelation instead describes Jesus as having ‘received not of the fulness at the first but received grace for grace and he received not of the fulness but continued from grace to grace until he received a fulness.’

“Aside from addressing the nature of Jesus, the revelation also addressed humankind’s relationship with God, asserting that ‘man was also in the beginning with God.’ The premortal existence of humankind was also discussed in an earlier document dictated by JS; in his early translation of the Bible, he recorded a conversation between God and Moses in which Moses was told, ‘For I the Lord God created all things of which I have spoken spiritually before they were naturally upon the face of the Earth . . . & I the Lord God had created all the children of men & not yet a man to till the ground for in Heaven created I them & there was not yet flesh upon the Earth.’ The 6 May revelation also challenged the general Christian concept of creation ex nihilo by stating that ‘intelligence or the Light of truth was not created or made.’ In an even greater contrast to the prevailing belief in the omnipotence of God, this revelation expressly stated not only that intelligence was ‘not created or made’ by God, but also that it could not, in fact, be created by him.

“It is not known whether any discussions about early Christian creeds and doctrines preceded this revelation or how familiar JS was with them prior to dictating it. Sidney Rigdon, one of the revelation’s recipients, had been a follower of Alexander Campbell’s religious movement that denied that belief in any of the traditional Christian creeds was essential. Campbell had also published a discourse in 1827, centered on the first chapter of John, rejecting the traditional Calvinist interpretation. In addition, the Mormon settlement in Kirtland, Ohio, was not far from a large Shaker community in North Union, Ohio. The Shakers’ belief in the nature of Christ, widely viewed as heretical by orthodox Christians of the time, had in part been the subject of an 1831 revelation that commanded missionaries to preach to the Shakers. These influences, as well as many others, may have led church members to discuss topics such as the nature of God and Jesus before this revelation was dictated.

“This revelation was first published in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants. By 1839, JS appears to have expanded upon some of the teachings it contained. In a sermon that year, he reportedly said, ‘The spirit of man is not a created being: it existed from Eternity and will exist to Eternity. Any thing created cannot be eternal and Earth, water, &c all these had their existence in an elementary state from Eternity. Our Savior speaks of children and says their Angels always stand before my Father. The Father called all spirits before him at the creation of man and organized them.¹ A few years later he further explained, ‘God was a self existing being, man exist upon the same principle. God made a tabernacle & por spirit in it and it became a Human soul, man existed in spirit & mind coequal with God himself. . . . God has power to institute laws to instruct the weaker intelligences that they may be exalted with himself.’²

“Although three early manuscript versions of this revelation are extant, the one featured here, from the Newel K. Whitney collection, is most likely the earliest version. As the revelation was directed in part to Whitney, he likely received this copy immediately after it was dictated by JS. It is even possible that Whitney’s version is the original copy, recorded while JS dictated the revelation. In any case, the Whitney version is very closely related to the copy in Revelation Book 2, even including similar scribal errors and omissions. Orson Hyde recorded the copy in Revelation Book 2 as early as 1 June, though he most likely recorded the revelation after his appointment as scribe on 6 June 1833. Hyde apparently used Whitney’s copy of the revelation to create the Revelation Book 2 version. The copy found in Revelation Book 1 was almost certainly copied later than these two versions because that revelation book was still in Missouri with John Whitmer at this time. In a few places the version in Revelation Book 1 includes words and phrases not found in the other two versions, possibly reflecting some editorial changes made by Whitmer when he copied it into the book. In the following transcript [in the JSP], significant differences between versions in the revelation books and the version featured here are noted.”

3. Call on Christ’s name
4. Obey his voice
5. Keep (all [see JSP]) Christ’s commandments

That’s a lot of stuff to do over a long period of time, but I see this is as the goal of righteousness—you are working toward ever greater manifestations because of your righteousness.

²Does this last part mean that the fulness of John's record is going to be revealed at some point later on? Or does it mean that what follows, starting in verse 7, is the fulness of John's record? Definitely could be the latter. The word "hereafter" makes it seem like it's farther in the future though.

³The punctuation, which is absent in the JSP version, has a really strong influence on how we read this verse. For example, consider how we'd read it if it were punctuated like this: "I saw his glory that he was, in the beginning, before the world was."

⁴The title "messenger of salvation" doesn't appear anywhere else in the scriptures.

²Compare this verse with DC 76:24.

³For “grace for grace,” see John 1:16 and notes there.

⁴See the note above about “grace for grace.” There are a couple other verses which mention it in this section, but the place you want to compare here is John 1:16. The simplest interpretation of this verse, and I think the correct one, is that Christ did not always possess a fulness of power and glory and grace—he received it a little at a time. This is very important for thinking about eternal progression, the priesthood, the nature of God, and many other topics. See also Luke 2:40 and Luke 2:52, which notes that a person can “increase” χάριτι παρὰ θεῶ καὶ ἀνθρώποις. That’s what we need to do if we’re going to get this “grace” or favor from God to change our nature over time—we have to increase in χάρις with both God and people, and the way to do this is through living a life full of δικαιοσύνη.

⁵For “grace to grace,” see John 1:16 and notes there.

⁶What does this verse add to our understanding that isn’t already there from the previous verse?

⁷This is probably the clearest explanation in the scriptures of why Christ is known as “the Son.” Note that the explanation does not involve some kind of parent-child relationship.

JSP and thus he was called the son of God because he received not of the fulness at the first ³This verse deserves a whole series of studies on its own, but maybe the most important aspect of it is that it subordinates truth to knowledge, where normally you think of the priority relationship as going in reverse; that’s extremely important, including for the epistemology of revelation. It makes me think of Kant’s first Critique and its importance in thinking about the gospel.

⁴See 1 Nephi 1:3,

⁵See Revelation 1:4 and notes there. That verse speaks of God as “him which is, and which was, and which is to come,” but this verse speaks of “things” that way, giving them an existence as eternal as God’s, which is typical of the restoration.

Section 93:43

And now a commandment I give unto you—if you will be delivered you shall set in order your own house, for there are many things that are not right in your house.

¹Notice the similar language of “coming” and “taking away” in Mark 4:15, Luke 8:12, ²Compare Matthew 13:19, and notice the ways that this happens—there is an interaction between the seed, or what is planted, and the “tradition” of someone’s fathers, or (broadly understood) what they already think. We have to try our best to integrate new stuff into the old and we have to be willing to give up things we thought were true when it looks like they aren’t anymore. As Christ clarifies in that Matthew verse, whether people understand the word (which is the λόγος, by the way) makes a huge difference to the effect that it has on them—we have to keep this in mind when doing any kind of teaching. Compare DC 68:25.

³See DC 121:17,

⁴One thing that sticks out to me about certain passages involving these traditions—one is Alma 21:16–17, but see the list below—is how much we need the Holy Ghost to be poured out upon a group of people in order to convince them that the traditions are false.

⁵There are many places in the scriptures where someone observes how damaging these “traditions” can be. Section 94 (2 August 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“By summer 1833, agents for the Church of Christ had purchased several large parcels of land in Kirtland, Ohio. In the months before this 2 August revelation was dictated, church leaders planned for and began construction on a House of the Lord, or temple, on this newly acquired land, which was to serve as both a chapel and a schoolhouse. The presidency of the high priesthood was assigned to ‘obtain a draft or construction’ for the interior of the building. Three weeks after the presidency received their assignment to create a design for the Kirtland temple, they sent to Missouri church leaders the architectural plans for another House of the Lord, similar in style and purpose, to be built in Independence, Jackson County, Missouri. They also sent a plat for an expansive ‘City of Zion’ to be built in Independence. Frederick G. Williams wrote, ‘The plot for the City and the size form and dime[n]sions of the house were given us of the Lord.’ On 2 August, the revelation featured here called for a similar ‘laying out’ of Kirtland as the ‘city of the stake of Zion’ and specified the construction of two additional buildings—a ‘house’ for the presidency and one for a printing operation—to be built in the city’s center.

“Four days after JS dictated this revelation, the presidency copied it, along with two other recent revelations, into a letter they sent to Missouri. The revelation, the presidency stated, ‘is also binding on you that is you at Zion have to build two houses as well as the one of which we have sent the pattern.’ In other words, they instructed that, following the construction of the House of the Lord in Independence, the Missouri church members should build an administrative house for church business and one for their printing establishment ‘as soon . . . as means can be obtained so to do.’ These plans, however, were disrupted by events that had already begun to unfold in Jackson County. In late July 1833, unbeknownst to the presidency in Kirtland, opponents to the church had razed the church’s Independence printing office, threatened local leaders, and forced them to sign an agreement that they and their fellow religionists would leave Jackson County. Amid escalating tension, violent encounters drove the Mormons from the county in November 1833.

“Meanwhile, in the fall of 1833, members of the church in Kirtland were having their own difficulties fulfilling the commandment to build a House of the Lord. Construction in Kirtland temporarily halted because of a lack of building materials and the new priority to provide relief to church members in Jackson County. Completing the Kirtland House of the Lord consumed most of the church’s available resources for the next few years. After printing operations moved to Kirtland, they were first housed at the John Johnson inn and later at the schoolhouse. The two structures meant for the presidency and for printing were never built in either Kirtland or Jackson County.

“In early published compilations of JS’s revelations, this 2 August revelation has been incorrectly dated to 6 May 1833. In the 6 August 1833 letter from the presidency of the high priesthood to Missouri church leaders, this revelation, though not specifically dated 2 August 1833, immediately follows, without any commentary or introduction, another revelation dated 2 August 1833. The letter indicated that the revelations were two separate texts by referring to them as ‘revelations,’ in the plural. Several days later, when Oliver Cowdery wrote his own letter to church leaders in Zion, he was explicit: ‘Our brethren here have sent you three revelations concerning Zion two of them dated the second of Aug.’ When this revelation was recorded in Revelation Book 2, it was given its own heading and again placed immediately after the other revelation that bears the date 2 August 1833. When it was later copied into Revelation Book 1, it was recorded as in the 6 August letter, without a separate introduction or date. Revelation Book 1 was used when creating the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, the first canonized volume in which this revelation appeared. The printers included an introduction to the revelation, which read, ‘Revelation given same date,’ which probably referred to the same date as the revelation that preceded it in the manuscript revelation book—that is, 2 August 1833. However, when preparing the 1835 volume for printing, the compositor apparently mistakenly inserted the 6 May 1833 revelation between the first 2 August revelation and the one featured here. Thus, in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, the phrase ‘given the same date’ in the revelation’s heading seems to refer to 6 May rather than 2 August 1833. The 1844 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants maintained the same heading as the 1835 edition. For the 1876 edition, a new heading was written and explicitly dates this revelation to 6 May 1833. This error was perpetuated in all subsequent editions of the Doctrine and Covenants until the 2013 edition published by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

“Several early copies of this revelation were made, one of which was included in the body of the aforementioned letter sent to Missouri on 6 August 1833 and one of which appears in Revelation Book 2. Insufficient evidence exists to determine which is the earliest extant copy. Because the 6 August letter, including the three revelations inscribed in it, is published in its entirety later in this volume, the version here is from the manuscript revelation book. Significant differences between the two versions are noted.”

Historical Background

JSP

“In late December 1832 and early January 1833, as part of a call to educate men for the ministry, a revelation instructed church members to organize a ‘school of the prophets’ and to build a House of the Lord wherein individuals would learn the law and receive power that had been previously promised. The revelation further told them that they should ‘prepare evry needful [thing]’ for the school and that the house should be ‘an house of prayer, an house of fasting, an house of faith, an house of Learning, an house of glory, an house of order an house of God.’ During the early months of 1833, before construction on the house began, the first School of the Prophets, which involved just over a dozen church elders, met in Kirtland, Ohio. On 11 January 1833, JS emphasized the urgency of building the house and holding the school in a letter to William W. Phelps in Jackson County, Missouri. JS stated, ‘You will see that the Lord commanded us in Kirtland to build an house of God, & establish a school for the Prophets, this is the word of the Lord to us, & we must— yea the Lord helping us we will obey, as on conditions of our obedience, he has promised us great things, yea even a visit from the heavens to honor us with his own presence.’

“On 4 May, nearly four months after JS wrote about the urgent need to build the house, a committee was formed to raise funds for the building’s construction. A conference unanimously voted that a committee, consisting of Hyrum Smith, Jared Carter, and Reynolds Cahoon, be formed to raise the money. Nearly a month later, neither this committee nor other church leaders had taken any steps toward constructing the building.

“The revelation featured here, dictated on 1 June, stated that church leaders’ unresponsiveness to the call to build this religious structure would halt the growth and spiritual work of the church. The revelation also specified the building’s dimensions and directed the manner in which church members should construct it. Immediately following this revelation, a conference of high priests discussed the revelation and began drafting construction plans. The conference appointed JS, Sidney Rigdon, and Frederick G. Williams—the presidency of the high priesthood—to serve as the planning committee, which was responsible for obtaining ‘a draft or construction of the inner court of the house.’

“Likely in response to this revelation, the building committee, which still comprised Hyrum Smith, Jared Carter, and Reynolds Cahoon, prepared a circular for the members of the Church of Christ that same day, writing that they had been officially charged with soliciting subscriptions to establish a fund to build the house. ‘Unless we fulfil this command vis establish an house,’ they warned, ‘and prepare all things necessary whereby the Elders may gather into a school called the school of the prophets and receive that instruction that the Lord designs they should receive we may all dispare of obtaining the great blessing that God has promised to the faithful of the Church of Christ.’ The circular reiterated the promise found in the 2 January 1831 revelation that God would endow individuals with ‘power from on high,’ which they would gain from ‘that instruction that the Lord designs’ in the School of the Prophets. The committee encouraged church members to ‘make evry possible exertion to aid temporally as well as spiritually in this great work that the Lord is bringing about and is about to accomplish.’ The circular also called for church members to pay their subscriptions and to send the funds to Kirtland by 1 September 1833. Hyrum Smith, Reynolds Cahoon, and others began construction on the multipurpose House of the Lord by 7 June 1833. The House of the Lord, completed in 1836, eventually served as both a school and a place of worship; it was the church’s first temple.”

“On 4 June 1833, a meeting of high priests assembled in the translating room at Newel K. Whitney’s store in Kirtland, Ohio, to discuss the use and management of the recently acquired Peter French farm. Unable to arrive at a consensus as to who should manage the French property, the high priests agreed to ‘enquire of the lord’ about the issue. JS subsequently dictated the following revelation during the meeting. The minutes of the 4 June conference indicate that church leaders took immediate action on the instructions given in the revelation; that same day they formally assigned Newel K. Whitney to manage the French farm and admitted John Johnson to the United Firm.”

³This string of titles is very bizarre—how have Latin noun endings been attached to these Greek letter names? Makes very little sense, but the JSP version helps answer the question, I think (note that the JSP is RB2). The JSP/RB2 and RB1 accounts have “Alphas/Omegas” and “Alpha/Omegas,” respectively; the “Alphus/Omegus” stuff somehow gets introduced in the 1835 version of the DC. I don’t know why this would have happened—“Alphas” and “Omegas” just could have been plural, and that seems to be the correct way to understand what is really happening in this verse with these titles for Christ.

Section 97 (2 August 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“In accordance with counsel given in a revelation sent to Missouri earlier in 1833, members of the Church of Christ in Jackson County, Missouri, organized a ‘school of the prophets’ in summer 1833 to further their ministerial education. By early July 1833, they desired to know God’s will concerning the school and sent two letters—one from Oliver Cowdery, written 9 July 1833, and one from ‘the breatheren composing the school,’ written likely in early July—to JS. In these letters, Cowdery and others requested JS to inquire ‘of the Lord . . . concerning the school in Zion,’ though their exact questions about the school are unknown. Before receiving these letters, JS dictated a revelation that gave further instructions on constructing a House of the Lord in Kirtland, Ohio, which was to be the meeting place for the Ohio School of the Prophets. On 25 June, the presidency of the high priesthood along with Martin Harris sent a letter to Missouri that included plans drawn by Frederick G. Williams for a religious and educational house, or temple, to be ‘built immediately’ in Zion, with accompanying explanations. Those items, however, had not yet arrived in Jackson County by early July, when the leaders in Missouri sent their queries to JS in Kirtland.

“In response to the two letters from Jackson County, the presidency of the high priesthood wrote a letter to Missouri leaders on 6 August that included three revelations. The presidency referred to the first revelation—the text featured here—as ‘the communication which we received from the Lord concerning the school in Zion.’ Following up on the plans for the Missouri House of the Lord sent on 25 June, the revelation directed church members to build ‘speedely’ the House of the Lord, an edifice in which to hold the school as well as their public worship. The revelation also called for Parley P. Pratt, who had been engaged in missionary work in and around Jackson County while conducting the Missouri school of the prophets, to ‘continue to preside over the school.’ Finally, the revelation provided a brief glimpse of Zion’s promised future glory ‘if she observe to do all things whatsoever I have commanded her,’ a sentiment similar to the one found in a March 1833 revelation that promised that Jesus Christ would chasten Zion ‘untill she overcome and are clean before me for she shall not be moved out of her place.’ The 2 August revelation featured here further warned that if the members of the church did not observe divine commandments, they would suffer ‘sore afflictions with pestilence with plague with sword with vengeance with devouring fire,’ but if Zion sinned ‘no more none of these things shall come upon her.’

“Unbeknownst to JS, at the time he dictated this revelation, church members in Jackson County were already suffering ‘sore afflictions.’ Other county residents demanded that Mormons leave their homes, destroyed the church’s printing establishment, and tarred and feathered Bishop Edward Partridge and Charles Allen. The 2 August revelation instructed church members to chastise the wicked among them and to repent completely to avoid further violence and suffering. According to Parley P. Pratt’s later autobiography, ‘This revelation was not complied with by the leaders and church in Missouri, as a whole; notwithstanding many were humble and faithful. Therefore, the threatened judgment was poured out to the uttermost, as the history of the five following years will show.’

“Several copies of this revelation were made: one was included in the body of the aforementioned letter sent to Missouri on 6 August 1833, which also included copies of two other revelations. Another was inscribed in Revelation Book 2, which is the version transcribed here. Insufficient evidence exists to determine which is the earliest extant copy. Because the 6 August letter is published in its entirety later in this volume, the version featured here is from the manuscript revelation book. Significant differences between these two early texts are noted.”

Section 97:10

Verily I say unto you, that it is my will that a house should be built unto me in the land of Zion, like unto the pattern which I have given you.

Section 97:11

Yea, let it be built speedily, by the tithing of my people.

Section 97:12

Behold, this is the tithing and the sacrifice which I, the Lord, require at their hands, that there may be a house built unto me for the salvation of Zion—

Section 97:13

For a place of thanksgiving for all saints, and for a place of instruction for all those who are called to the work of the ministry in all their several callings and offices;

Section 97:14

That they may be perfected in the understanding of their ministry, in theory, in principle, and in doctrine, in all things pertaining to the kingdom of God on the earth, the keys of which kingdom have been conferred upon you.

Section 97:15

And inasmuch as my people build a house unto me in the name of the Lord, and do not suffer any unclean thing to come into it, that it be not defiled, my glory shall rest upon it;

Section 97:16

Yea, and my presence shall be there, for I will come into it, and all the pure in heart that shall come into it shall see God.

Section 97:17

But if it be defiled I will not come into it, and my glory shall not be there; for I will not come into unholy temples.¹

Section 97:18

And, now, behold, if Zion do these things she shall prosper, and spread herself and become very glorious, very great, and very terrible.

Section 97:19

And the nations of the earth shall honor her, and shall say: Surely Zion is the city of our God, and surely Zion cannot fall, neither be moved out of her place, for God is there, and the hand of the Lord is there;

¹See the phrase “unholy temple” here.

Section 97:20

And he hath sworn by the power of his might to be her salvation and her high tower.

Section 97:21

Therefore, verily, thus saith the Lord, let Zion rejoice, for this is Zion—THE PURE IN HEART; therefore, let Zion rejoice, while all the wicked shall mourn.

Section 97:22

For behold, and lo, vengeance cometh speedily upon the ungodly as the whirlwind; and who shall escape it?

Section 97:23

The Lord's scourge shall pass over by night and by day, and the report thereof shall vex all people; yea, it shall not be stayed until the Lord come;

Section 97:24

For the indignation of the Lord is kindled against their abominations and all their wicked works.

Section 97:25

Nevertheless, Zion shall escape if she observe to do all things whatsoever I have commanded her.

Section 97:26

But if she observe not to do whatsoever I have commanded her, I will visit her according to all her works, with sore affliction, with pestilence, with plague, with sword, with vengeance, with devouring fire.

Section 97:27

Nevertheless, let it be read this once to her ears, that I, the Lord, have accepted of her offering; and if she sin no more none of these things shall come upon her;

Section 97:28

And I will bless her with blessings, and multiply a multiplicity of blessings upon her, and upon her generations forever and ever, saith the Lord your God. Amen.

Section 98 (6 August 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

"JS dictated this 6 August 1833 revelation, which encouraged peace amid escalating violence, approximately two weeks after a church leader and another member were tarred and feathered and the church printing office was destroyed in Jackson County, Missouri. Though he may have known about increasing tensions in Missouri, at this time JS had no knowledge of these specific events. In surviving documents, JS neither explained the immediate background of this revelation nor offered any interpretation of its text. On the same day JS dictated the revelation, the presidency copied it into a letter that they sent to church leaders in Jackson County, noting simply, 'Here follows another revelation received to day.' In the letter, following the transcription of this and two other revelations, the presidency commented briefly about the revelations' contents, but nothing pertained to the 6 August revelation in particular.

"Though contemporary sources provide little information as to what prompted the revelation, it may have come in response to the growing opposition against the church. On 9 July 1833, Oliver Cowdery wrote a letter, no longer extant, to Kirtland, Ohio. That letter and another, also not extant, from participants in the Missouri school of the prophets prompted JS and the presidency of the high priesthood to respond to Missouri leaders in the aforementioned 6 August letter. When Cowdery wrote to Kirtland, he may have expressed concern about the sporadic violence against church members in Jackson County and sought guidance from JS and the presidency of the high priesthood on how to respond to the problem. On 15 July, only days after Cowdery wrote his letter, an influential faction in Jackson County issued a manifesto declaring their intent 'to rid our society' of Mormons 'peacably if we can, forcibly if we must.' A later article printed in Kirtland in an extra to The Evening and the Morning Star noted that some Jackson County residents had long made 'every effort to fan the flames' of opposition 'till this demoniac spirit became general.' Cowdery left Jackson County sometime in late July, just after violence had erupted, and arrived in Kirtland on 9 August 1833, three days after JS dictated the 6 August revelation. In a letter to church leaders in Missouri that he wrote on 10 August, Cowdery mentioned the presidency's 6 August letter and described its contents as 'three revelations concerning Zion.' Yet the revelation featured here never specifically mentions Jackson County or the circumstances there.

"Since this revelation is addressed to the presidency of the high priesthood, who were in Kirtland, it may also reflect concerns about circumstances in Ohio. Although a 2 July letter written from Kirtland indicated that 'the spirit of bitterness among the people is fast subsiding and a spirit of enquiry is taking its place,' and an area newspaper suggested that the church in Kirtland was 'far removed from danger,' some evidence indicates that opposition against the church in Kirtland had been intensifying. In late June 1833, a bishop's court excommunicated Doctor Philastus Hurlbut, and following a brief reinstatement by JS, a general council excommunicated Hurlbut again. JS recorded that after being cut off from the church, Hurlbut 'then saught the distruction of the saint [Saints] in this place and more particularly myself and family.' Less than two weeks after this revelation was dictated, JS wrote to Edward Partridge and other church leaders that church members in Kirtland suffered 'great persicution on account of' Hurlbut, who lied 'in a wonderful manner and the peapl [people] are running after him and giveing him mony to b[r]ake down mormanism which much endangers our lives.' In the same letter, JS declared, 'We are no safer here in Kirtland then you are in Zion the cloud is gethering arou[nd] us with great fury and all pharo[ph]s host or in other words all hell and the com[bined] powrs of Earth are Marsheling their forces to overthrow us.' Thus, this revelation may be related to aggression and escalating tension in one or both of the church centers.

"This revelation counseled church members to remain temperate in their reactions to violent confrontation. It advocated following constitutional law and supporting civil authority, though it says nothing explicit about using the laws of the land to respond to the violence perpetrated by enemies of the church. Rather, it advised church members to patiently bear their afflictions, to 'renounce war and proclaim peace,' and to offer forgiveness to wrongdoers. At the same time, this revelation explained in detail the conditions under which self-defense was permissible.

"Though this revelation proved to have great relevance for church members in their coming trials, it was rarely mentioned in contemporary sources. One possible contemporary allusion to this revelation appears in a letter written by an unidentified church member on 30 October 1833 in Independence, Missouri. The letter echoed the instructions of the revelation, reporting that when 'the mob, or at least some of the leaders began to move; strict orders were given with us not to be the aggressors—but to warn them not to come upon us.'

"Several versions of this revelation exist. Two versions are contemporaneous: one was written in a letter sent to Missouri on 6 August 1833 and the second appears in Revelation Book 2. Insufficient evidence exists to determine which is the earliest extant copy. Since the 6 August letter is published in its entirety elsewhere in this volume, the version featured here is from the manuscript revelation book. Significant differences between the two versions are noted."

Section 98:21

And again I say unto you, if ye observe to do whatsoever I command you, I, the Lord, will turn away all wrath and indignation from you, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against you.

Section 98:23

¹Now, I speak unto you concerning your families—if men will smite you, or your families, once, and ye bear it patiently and revile not against them, neither seek revenge, ye shall be rewarded;

Section 98:24

But if ye bear it not patiently, it shall be accounted unto you as being meted out as a just measure unto you.

Section 98:25

And again, if your enemy shall smite you the second time, and you revile not against your enemy, and bear it patiently, your reward shall be an hundred fold.

Section 98:26

And again, if he shall smite you the third time, and ye bear it patiently, your reward shall be doubled unto you four-fold;

Section 98:27

And these three testimonies shall stand against your enemy if he repent not, and shall not be blotted out.

¹Here begins a difficult passage on patience and forgiveness, or if not forgiveness, then at least non-retaliation. I remember reading it on my mission and not being completely comfortable with it. I feel that my first responsibility is to my family, but here you're allowing them to be "smitten," whatever that means. I don't really like it so I'm not sure what to do with it. But the Lord says that it's the "law" that he gave to ancient prophets and apostles (verse 32), so there you go. It may just be that JS and others needed to hear this specific guidance at this time because of what was happening to them—see the historical background above. There's more explanation in verses 34–37.

Section 98:28

And now, verily I say unto you, if that enemy shall escape my vengeance, that he be not brought into judgment before me, then ye shall see to it that ye warn him in my name, that he come no more upon you, neither upon your family, even your children's children unto the third and fourth generation.

Section 98:29

And then, if he shall come upon you or your children, or your children's children unto the third and fourth generation, I have delivered thine enemy into thine hands;

Section 98:30

And then if thou wilt spare him, thou shalt be rewarded for thy righteousness; and also thy children and thy children's children unto the third and fourth generation.

Section 98:31

Nevertheless, thine enemy is in thine hands; and if thou rewardest him according to his works thou art justified; if he has sought thy life, and thy life is endangered by him, thine enemy is in thine hands and thou art justified.

Section 98:32

Behold, this is the law I gave unto my servant Nephi, and thy fathers, Joseph, and Jacob, and Isaac, and Abraham, and all mine ancient prophets and apostles.

Section 98:33

And again, this is the law that I gave unto mine ancients, that they should not go out unto battle against any nation, kindred, tongue, or people, save I, the Lord, commanded them.

Section 98:34

And if any nation, tongue, or people should proclaim war against them, they should first lift a standard of peace unto that people, nation, or tongue;

Section 98:35

And if that people did not accept the offering of peace, neither the second nor the third time, they should bring these testimonies before the Lord;

Section 98:36

Then I, the Lord, would give unto them a commandment, and justify them in going out to battle against that nation, tongue, or people.

Section 98:37

And I, the Lord, would fight their battles, and their children's battles, and their children's children's, until they had avenged themselves on all their enemies, to the third and fourth generation.

Section 98:38

Behold, this is an ensample unto all people, saith the Lord your God, for justification before me.

Section 98:39

And again, verily I say unto you, if after thine enemy has come upon thee the first time, he repent and come unto thee praying thy forgiveness, thou shalt forgive him, and shalt hold it no more as a testimony against thine enemy—

Section 98:40

And so on unto the second and third time; and as oft as thine enemy repenteth of the trespass wherewith he has trespassed against thee, thou shalt forgive him, until seventy times seven.

Section 98:41

And if he trespass against thee and repent not the first time, nevertheless thou shalt forgive him.

Section 98:42

And if he trespass against thee the second time, and repent not, nevertheless thou shalt forgive him.

Section 98:43

And if he trespass against thee the third time, and repent not, thou shalt also forgive him.

Section 98:44

But if he trespass against thee the fourth time thou shalt not forgive him, but shalt bring these testimonies before the Lord; and they shall not be blotted out until he repent and reward thee four-fold in all things wherewith he has trespassed against thee.

Section 98:45

And if he do this, thou shalt forgive him with all thine heart; and if he do not this, I, the Lord, will avenge thee of thine enemy an hundred-fold;

Section 98:46

And upon his children, and upon his children's children of all them that hate me, unto the third and fourth generation.

Section 98:47

But if the children shall repent, or the children's children, and turn to the Lord their God, with all their hearts and with all their might, mind, and strength, and restore four-fold for all their trespasses wherewith they have trespassed, or wherewith their fathers have trespassed, or their fathers' fathers, then thine indignation shall be turned away;

Section 98:48

And vengeance shall no more come upon them, saith the Lord thy God, and their trespasses shall never be brought any more as a testimony before the Lord against them. Amen.

Section 99 (29 August 1832)

Historical Background

JSP

"In 29 August 1832, JS dictated this revelation calling John Murdock on a preaching mission to the 'eastern countries.' Following his conversion and baptism in Kirtland, Ohio, on 30 November 1830, Murdock spent much time as a traveling missionary, baptizing around seventy people in four months in Orange, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, and Warrensville, Ohio. In early 1831, Murdock decided to devote himself 'full time to the ministry' and moved his family in with another family so that he could do so. In June 1831, a revelation instructed him to go to Missouri, 'preaching the word by the way.' Murdock followed this instruction and departed for Missouri, despite the recent death of his wife, Julia Clapp Murdock, during childbirth, which left him with five children under the age of seven, including newborn twins. Before leaving, he arranged for several individuals to watch over his older children; JS and Emma Smith adopted the twins. For the rest of 1831 and the first half of 1832, Murdock preached in Michigan Territory, Indiana, Missouri, and Ohio, among other places. When he returned to Hiram, Ohio, in June 1832, suffering from the effects of a months-long bout with ague, he found that one of the twins had died in March. In addition, those with whom he had left his three older children demanded payment for their help.

"Despite these challenging circumstances, Murdock recorded in his journal that he 'continued with the church in Cuyahoga & Geauga Co's confirming & strengthening the church & regaining my health.' This 29 August 1832 revelation instructed him to resume his preaching, this time in the eastern United States. The revelation also told him to continue preaching until his death, unless he desired to go to Zion 'after a few years.' Perhaps because of the problems Murdock experienced with his children's caretakers, the revelation told him not to leave until he made arrangements to send his children to Bishop Edward Partridge in Zion. This revelation's call for Murdock to continue as a missionary until his death, notwithstanding his family responsibilities, was an unusual sacrifice apparently not expected of other early church members and may have resulted from his earlier determination to devote himself 'full time to the ministry.'

"Upon receiving these instructions, Murdock 'provided for' his children and 'sent them up to the Bishop in Zion.' Murdock paid Caleb Baldwin to take his three oldest children—Orrice, John, and Phebe—to Missouri. Once there, Orrice lived with George and Amanda Egglestone Pitkin, John with Morris and Laura Clark Phelps, and Phebe with Sidney and Elizabeth Van Benthussen Gilbert. Julia, the surviving twin, remained in the care of JS and Emma Smith in Hiram. Murdock then left on his mission on 24 September 1832.

"The original manuscript of the revelation, which is not extant, was apparently inscribed by Frederick G. Williams. The copy he made in Revelation Book 2 bears the notation 'by Joseph the seer and written by— F.G. Williams Scribe.'"

Section 100 (12 October 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“Among the most fruitful areas for proselytizing in the early years of the Church of Christ were the regions around eastern Lake Erie and southwestern Lake Ontario. In the words of the 12 October 1833 revelation featured here and the minutes from a church conference, that region was primed for the ‘salvation of souls.’ In March 1833, several men left Kirtland, Ohio, to go eastward to this region and ‘preach by the way.’ That summer, The Evening and the Morning Star published letters from various missionaries that described their successful conversion efforts. Gideon Carter wrote that ‘in all the regions round about, especially east, much addition is made to several churches, and new ones are springing up.’ Sylvester Smith reported on fifteen churches established between Kirtland and Chenango, New York, some of which were composed of almost one hundred members, and ‘in nearly all of them, the work is still going on.’ Missionaries were also successfully proselytizing in western New York. In an early September 1833 letter, JS mentioned the proselytizing work of David W. Patten in New York, near the Upper Canadian border along the southern shore of Lake Ontario, that brought about eighty members into the church. In 1833, Amasa Lyman also traveled to nearby Cattaraugus County, New York, and other areas where he ‘held one hundred and fifty-two meetings, and saw one hundred souls added to the church.’ JS and Sidney Rigdon also experienced a successful missionary journey in this region. In October 1833, they traveled to Upper Canada at the request of new converts Freeman and Huldah Nickerson.

“In April 1833, Zerubbabel Snow had baptized Freeman Nickerson, who lived in Perrysburg, Cattaraugus County, New York. Moses Nickerson, who lived in Upper Canada, visited his parents, Freeman and Huldah, in Perrysburg in June 1833 and, according to his later autobiography, ‘heard for the first time what was then known as Mormonism.’ He recalled being ‘favorably inclined towards the doctrine preached’ and requested his parents to ‘have some of the elders visit us in Canada if they could make it convenient.’ In September, Freeman and Huldah visited Kirtland and requested that JS and Sidney Rigdon preach to others in the Nickerson family in New York and Upper Canada. On 5 October 1833, JS and Rigdon left Kirtland to go east with Freeman and Huldah Nickerson. Before JS left, David Elliott also requested that JS and Rigdon ‘call on his Brother in Law’ in Upper Canada, and JS’s uncle John Smith asked him to call on Richard Lyman, John’s brother-in-law, in the same region. In a letter written five days after JS, Rigdon, and the Nickersons left Kirtland, Frederick G. Williams explained that they had gone on a proselytizing mission through northwestern Pennsylvania, southwestern New York, and a portion of Upper Canada near the northeastern shore of Lake Erie and the southwestern shore of Lake Ontario.

“On 12 October 1833, a week after their departure, the party reached the Nickerson home in Perrysburg. Upon arriving, JS wrote in his diary, ‘I feel very well in my mind the Lord is with us but have much anxiety about my family.’ The revelation featured here, recorded the same day, assured both JS and Rigdon that their families were well and would remain so. The main thrust of the revelation, however, was to encourage both men to preach according to the thoughts that would be given to them, assuring them that the Holy Spirit would confirm their message to many individuals in the region who were prepared to receive it. In addition, this revelation called Rigdon to act as a ‘spokesman’ for JS and offered comfort concerning the hardships of church members in Jackson County, Missouri, who were currently facing expulsion.

“No doubt encouraged by this revelation, JS and Rigdon proceeded north from Perrysburg and Lodi, New York, and then west across the Niagara River into Upper Canada. On 18 October 1833 they reached the village of Mount Pleasant, near Brantford, and were ‘kindly received’ by Freeman Nickerson’s sons Eleazer Freeman Nickerson and Moses Nickerson. On Sunday, 20 October, they held a morning meeting at Brantford and an evening meeting at Mount Pleasant, at which ‘a very large’ congregation ‘gave good heed to the things which were spoken.’ After preaching in the area the next week, the two missionaries baptized twelve people on Sunday, 27 October, and two more on Monday, 28 October; those baptized included Moses and Eleazer Freeman Nickerson, as well as Lydia Goldthwaite Bailey. JS and Rigdon also conferred the gift of the Holy Ghost on those recently baptized and ordained Eleazer Freeman Nickerson an elder. The two missionaries departed for their homes in Kirtland on 29 October and arrived on 4 November. JS wrote in his journal that he found his family ‘all well according to the promise of the Lord. for which blessings I feel to thank his holy name; Amen.’

“After JS and Rigdon’s preaching efforts, the church began to grow in the Mount Pleasant area; by late December 1833 another twenty people had joined the Mount Pleasant branch of the Church of Christ. Moses Nickerson wrote to Sidney Rigdon on 29 December, informing him that ‘your labors while in Canada have been the beginning of a good work: there are 34 members attached to the church at Mount Pleasant.’”

Section 101 (16–17 December 1833)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 16–17 December 1833, JS dictated a revelation that addressed the November 1833 expulsion of church members from Jackson County, Missouri, and explained the steps they should take to regain their lands. After members of the Church of Christ settled in Jackson County, conflicts between them and their non-Mormon neighbors quickly developed. After incidents of violence occurred in July 1833, including the destruction of the church’s printing office and the tarring and feathering of Edward Partridge, church leaders, hoping to quell the attacks on their people, promised to move church members from Jackson County in two phases: half would leave by January 1834, and the other half would leave by April 1834. However, in August 1833, JS counseled Missouri church members to not sell ‘one foot of land’ in Jackson County, stating that God would ‘spedily deliver Zion.’ Thereafter, church leaders in Missouri petitioned Governor Daniel Dunklin for protection while they pursued litigation against their assailants. After hearing of the Mormons’ efforts to seek protection and prosecute their attackers, other residents believed that the church members were not planning to leave as expected. Non-Mormon settlers organized themselves and attacked the homes of members of the Church of Christ in late October and early November 1833.

A group of Mormons confronted their assailants on 4 November, killing two of them, but a militia (consisting of many who were antagonistic to the members of the Church of Christ) confiscated the Mormons' weapons, and within a few days, most church members were driven from Jackson County.

"On 25 November 1833, JS heard a verbal account about the 'riot in Zion' from Orson Hyde and John Gould, who witnessed the violence. On 10 December, JS received letters from Edward Partridge, John Correll, and William W. Phelps, all giving more details about the events in Missouri and asking for counsel about what church members in Missouri should do. 'We are in hopes that we shall be able to return to our houses & lands before a grea[t] while,' Partridge wrote, 'but how this is to be accomplished is all in the dark to us as yet.' Partridge had little faith in receiving help from the executive or the judicial system, as they had proved ineffective in preventing the expulsion. He therefore believed that church members would probably return to Jackson County only through 'the interposition of God.' He feared, too, that the expulsion was the beginning of church members being 'driven from city to city & from sinagouge to sinagouge.' Understanding that JS had counseled church leaders to retain their lands in Jackson County, Partridge declared that he did not want to sell, but 'if we are to be driven about for years I can see no use in keeping our possessions here.' Facing these circumstances, Partridge requested 'wisdom & light' from JS 'on many subjects.'

"As details of the violent events in Missouri reached Kirtland, Ohio, in late fall, JS pleaded to God for answers as to why church members were expelled from Jackson County, what it meant for the gathering to Zion, and what church members should do to regain their lands. On 5 December 1833, he wrote to Partridge, telling him that if initial reports that church members had surrendered and were evacuating Jackson County were incorrect, they were to 'maintain the ground as Long as there is a man Left,' since it was 'the place appointed of the Lord for your inheritance.' Partridge could purchase land in Clay County for a temporary place of refuge but was not to sell land in Jackson County. JS also urged Partridge 'to use every lawful means in your power to seek redress for your grievances of your enemies and prosecute them to the extent of the Law.' Such means included petitioning judges, the governor, and the president of the United States for aid. Five days later, JS informed Missouri church leaders that the Lord was keeping 'hid' from him the larger issues of how Zion would be redeemed, when such redemption would occur, and 'why God hath suffered so great calamity to come upon Zion.' The voice of the Lord would only say to him, 'Be still, and know that I am God!'

"The 16–17 December 1833 revelation featured here provided the direction that JS and other church leaders sought. The revelation gave clear reasons for the ejection of Missouri church members from Jackson County, stating that they were expelled because of their transgressions. Yet the revelation also provided hope that the Lord would be merciful to the Missouri church members and that Zion would not be moved out of her place. It reiterated that church members were not to sell their lands in Jackson County and that they were to seek redress through the judicial system, the governor of Missouri, and the president of the United States. Through a parable of a nobleman and his vineyard, the revelation indicated how members of the church were to reclaim their lands: by gathering up the 'strength of mine house which are my warriors my young men and they that are of middle age' and sending them to Zion to redeem it. In addition, branches of the church outside of Missouri were to continue to raise money for land purchases and to gather to the area, thereby strengthening the church's membership in Zion.

"Details behind the immediate circumstances of the revelation are scant. According to a later account from Ira Ames, a church member living in Kirtland at the time, the revelation came to JS and Oliver Cowdery over the course of one night. Ames explained that he and Martin Harris went to JS's house in Kirtland early one December morning and 'found Joseph and Oliver Cowdery at breakfast.' Cowdery greeted the two by saying, 'Good morning Brethren, we have just received news from heaven.' That news was the revelation featured here, the manuscript copy of which was lying on the table. Ames did not give the specific date of this encounter, and the earliest known copy of the revelation—made by Frederick G. Williams in Revelation Book 2 soon after the revelation's dictation—also provided no date. Sometime before 24 January 1834, the church's printing office in Kirtland published a broadsheet of the revelation, again without a date. A copy that John Whitmer made sometime in 1834 in Revelation Book 1, however, dated the revelation to 16–17 December 1833; a copy of the revelation in the journal of George Burket, probably made in 1835, bears that same date.

"Although it is possible that David W. Patten and William Pratt took a copy of the revelation with them to Missouri when they left Kirtland on 19 December 1833, carrying 'dispatches' for the Missouri church leaders, it appears that JS first sent the revelation to Missouri in a letter dated 22 January 1834. According to a 24 January 1834 article in the Painesville Telegraph, the printed broadsheet of the revelation had also been 'privately circulated' among church members. According to Eber D. Howe, editor of the Telegraph and one of JS's detractors, 'The publication of this proclamation . . . was taken up by all their priests and carried to all their congregations, some of which were actually sold for one dollar per copy.' Church leaders also included the revelation in a petition they sent to Missouri governor Daniel Dunklin, and they planned to send it with a petition to President Andrew Jackson, although it is unclear whether the revelation was ever sent to the president. In February 1834, JS began implementing the revelation's instructions to gather up the strength of the Lord's house, declaring that he 'was going to Zion to assist in redeeming it' and requesting 'volunteers to go with him.' For the next several weeks, JS and others recruited participants for what was called the Camp of Israel, and in May 1834 the expedition started for Missouri."

MS 14:41 (4 December 1852), 646–649

Section 101:1

VERILY I say unto you, concerning your brethren who have been afflicted, and persecuted, and cast out from the land of their inheritance—

Section 101:2

I, the Lord, have suffered the affliction to come upon them, wherewith they have been afflicted, in consequence of their transgressions;

Section 101:3

Yet I will own them,¹ and they shall be mine in that day when I shall come to make up my jewels.²

Section 101:4

Therefore, they must needs be chastened and tried, even as Abraham, who was commanded to offer up his only son.

Section 101:5

For all those who will not endure chastening, but deny me, cannot be sanctified.

Section 101:6

Behold, I say unto you, there were jarrings, and contentions, and envyings, and strifes, and lustful and covetous desires among them; therefore by these things they polluted their inheritances.

Section 101:7

They were slow to hearken unto the voice of the Lord their God; therefore, the Lord their God is slow to hearken unto their prayers, to answer them in the day of their trouble.

Section 101:8

In the day of their peace they esteemed lightly my counsel; but, in the day of their trouble, of necessity they feel after me.

¹Compare DC 76:59.

²See Malachi 3:17.

Section 101:9

Verily I say unto you, notwithstanding their sins, my bowels are filled with compassion towards them. I will not utterly cast them off; and in the day of wrath I will remember mercy.

Section 101:10

I have sworn, and the decree hath gone forth by a former commandment which I have given unto you, that I would let fall the sword of mine indignation in behalf of my people; and even as I have said, it shall come to pass.

Section 101:11

Mine indignation is soon to be poured out without measure upon all nations; and this will I do when the cup of their iniquity is full.

Section 101:12

And in that day all who are found upon the watch-tower,¹ or in other words, all mine Israel, shall be saved.

Section 101:13

And they that have been scattered shall be gathered.

Section 101:14

And all they who have mourned shall be comforted.

Section 101:15

And all they who have given their lives for my name shall be crowned.

Section 101:16

Therefore, let your hearts be comforted concerning Zion; for all flesh is in mine hands; be still and know that I am God.

Section 101:17

Zion shall not be moved out of her place, notwithstanding her children are scattered.

Section 101:18

They that remain, and are pure in heart, shall return, and come to their inheritances, they and their children, with songs of everlasting joy, to build up the waste places of Zion—

Section 101:19

And all these things that the prophets might be fulfilled.

¹So we're supposed to climb up on the watch-tower, apparently.

Section 101:20

And, behold, there is none other place appointed than that which I have appointed; neither shall there be any other place appointed than that which I have appointed, for the work of the gathering of my saints—

Section 101:21

Until the day cometh when there is found no more room for them; and then I have other places which I will appoint unto them, and they shall be called stakes, for the curtains or the strength of Zion.

Section 101:22

Behold, it is my will, that all they who call on my name, and worship me according to mine everlasting gospel, should gather together, and stand in holy places;

Section 101:23

And prepare for the revelation which is to come, when the veil of the covering of my temple, in my tabernacle, which hideth the earth, shall be taken off, and all flesh shall see me together.

Section 101:24

And every corruptible thing, both of man, or of the beasts of the field, or of the fowls of the heavens, or of the fish of the sea, that dwells upon all the face of the earth, shall be consumed;

Section 101:25

And also that of element¹ shall melt with fervent heat; and all things shall become new, that my knowledge and glory may dwell upon all the earth.

Section 101:26

And in that day the enmity² of man, and the enmity of beasts, yea, the enmity of all flesh, shall cease from before my face.

Section 101:27

And in that day whatsoever any man shall ask, it shall be given unto him.

Section 101:28

And in that day Satan shall not have power to tempt any man.

¹Like, that which is made of element? Probably using the term in the way that DC 93:33–35 does; note that there is language there about “tabernacles” too.

²Reminds me of the endowment ceremony: “I will place enmity between thee and the seed of the woman. Thou mayest have power to bruise his heel, but he shall have power to crush thy head.” Lucifer then responds, “Then with that enmity I will take the treasures of the earth, and with gold and silver I will buy up armies and navies, popes and priests, and reign with blood and horror on the earth!”

Section 101:29

And there shall be no sorrow because there is no death.

Section 101:30

In that day an infant shall not die until he is old; and his life shall be as the age of a tree;

Section 101:31

And when he dies he shall not sleep, that is to say in the earth, but shall be changed in the twinkling of an eye, and shall be caught up, and his rest shall be glorious.

Section 101:32

Yea, verily I say unto you, in that day when the Lord shall come, he shall reveal all things—

Section 101:33

Things which have passed, and hidden things which no man knew, things of the earth, by which it was made, and the purpose and the end thereof—

Section 101:34

Things most precious, things that are above, and things that are beneath, things that are in the earth, and upon the earth, and in heaven.

Section 101:35

And all they who suffer persecution for my name, and endure in faith, though they are called to lay down their lives for my sake yet shall they partake of all this glory.

Section 101:36

Wherefore, fear not even unto death; for in this world your joy is not full, but in me your joy is full.

Section 101:37

¹Therefore, care not for the body, neither the life of the body; but care for the soul,² and for the life of the soul.

Section 101:38

And seek the face of the Lord always, that in patience ye may possess your souls,³ and ye shall have eternal life.

¹This might be the most Socratic verse in all the scriptures.

²Here is a case where, because of the previous mention of the “body,” it looks like “soul” refers to your spirit and not the body + spirit combination described in DC 88:15.

³Compare the description of the “spirit” in Alma 34:34.

Section 101:39

When men are called unto mine everlasting gospel, and covenant with an everlasting covenant, they are accounted as the salt of the earth and the savor of men;

Section 101:40

They are called to be the savor of men; therefore, if that salt of the earth lose its savor, behold, it is thenceforth good for nothing only to be cast out and trodden under the feet of men.

Section 101:41

Behold, here is wisdom concerning the children of Zion, even many, but not all; they were found transgressors, therefore they must needs be chastened—

Section 101:42

He that exalteth himself shall be abased,¹ and he that abaseth himself² shall be exalted.

JSP he that exalteth himself shall be abased and he that abaseth himself shall be exalted

Section 101:43

And now, I will show unto you a parable, that you may know my will concerning the redemption of Zion.

Section 101:44

A certain nobleman had a spot of land, very choice; and he said unto his servants: Go ye unto my vineyard, even upon this very choice piece of land, and plant twelve olive-trees;

Section 101:45

And set watchmen round about them, and build a tower, that one may overlook the land round about, to be a watchman upon the tower, that mine olive-trees may not be broken down when the enemy shall come to spoil and take upon themselves the fruit of my vineyard.

Section 101:46

Now, the servants of the nobleman went and did as their lord commanded them, and planted the olive-trees, and built a hedge round about, and set watchmen, and began to build a tower.

¹You get similar language at Matthew 23:12, Luke 14:11, Luke 18:14, and 2 Corinthians 11:7. Of those, the ones in the gospels are slightly different from this one in the DC: they say “exalt/abased” first, but then say “humble/exalted” next. These are misleading translations, though, because in reality all three of them use a form of ὑψόω and then a form of ταπεινός in each pair; the KJV makes it look like the words are different. The verse here in the DC is closer to what the Greek has, since it uses the same abase/exalt language for each pair.

²See Alma 32:16.

Section 101:47

And while they were yet laying the foundation thereof, they began to say among themselves: And what need hath my lord of this tower?

Section 101:48

And consulted for a long time, saying among themselves: What need hath my lord of this tower, seeing this is a time of peace?

Section 101:49

Might not this money be given to the exchangers? For there is no need of these things.

Section 101:50

And while they were at variance one with another they became very slothful, and they hearkened not unto the commandments of their lord.

Section 101:51

And the enemy came by night, and broke down the hedge; and the servants of the nobleman arose and were affrighted, and fled; and the enemy destroyed their works, and broke down the olive-trees.

Section 101:52

Now, behold, the nobleman, the lord of the vineyard, called upon his servants, and said unto them, Why! what is the cause of this great evil?

Section 101:53

Ought ye not to have done even as I commanded you, and—after ye had planted the vineyard, and built the hedge round about, and set watchmen upon the walls thereof—built the tower also, and set a watchman upon the tower, and watched for my vineyard, and not have fallen asleep, lest the enemy should come upon you?

Section 101:54

And behold, the watchman upon the tower would have seen the enemy while he was yet afar off; and then ye could have made ready and kept the enemy from breaking down the hedge thereof, and saved my vineyard from the hands of the destroyer.

Section 101:55

And the lord of the vineyard said unto one of his servants: Go and gather together the residue of my servants, and take all the strength of mine house, which are my warriors, my young men, and they that are of middle age also among all my servants, who are the strength of mine house, save those only whom I have appointed to tarry;

Section 101:56

And go ye straightway unto the land of my vineyard, and redeem my vineyard; for it is mine; I have bought it with money.

Section 101:57

Therefore, get ye straightway unto my land; break down the walls of mine enemies; throw down their tower, and scatter their watchmen.

Section 101:58

And inasmuch as they gather together against you, avenge me of mine enemies, that by and by I may come with the residue of mine house and possess the land.

Section 101:59

And the servant said unto his lord: When shall these things be?

Section 101:60

And he said unto his servant: When I will; go ye straightway, and do all things whatsoever I have commanded you;

Section 101:61

And this shall be my seal and blessing upon you—a faithful and wise steward in the midst of mine house, a ruler in my kingdom.

Section 101:62

And his servant went straightway, and did all things whatsoever his lord commanded him; and after many days all things were fulfilled.

Section 101:63

Again, verily I say unto you, I will show unto you wisdom in me concerning all the churches, inasmuch as they are willing to be guided in a right and proper way for their salvation—

Section 101:64

That the work of the gathering together of my saints may continue, that I may build them up unto my name upon holy places; for the time of harvest is come, and my word must needs be fulfilled.

Section 101:65

Therefore, I must gather together my people, according to the parable of the wheat and the tares, that the wheat may be secured in the garners to possess eternal life, and be crowned with celestial glory, when I shall come in the kingdom of my Father to reward every man according as his work shall be;

Section 101:66

While the tares shall be bound in bundles, and their bands made strong, that they may be burned with unquenchable fire.

Section 101:67

Therefore, a commandment I give unto all the churches, that they shall continue to gather together unto the places which I have appointed.

Section 101:68

Nevertheless, as I have said unto you in a former commandment, let not your gathering be in haste, nor by flight; but let all things be prepared before you.

Section 101:69

And in order that all things be prepared before you, observe the commandment which I have given concerning these things—

Section 101:70

Which saith, or teacheth, to purchase all the lands with money, which can be purchased for money, in the region round about the land which I have appointed to be the land of Zion, for the beginning of the gathering of my saints;

Section 101:71

All the land which can be purchased in Jackson county, and the counties round about, and leave the residue in mine hand.

Section 101:72

Now, verily I say unto you, let all the churches gather together all their moneys; let these things be done in their time, but not in haste; and observe to have all things prepared before you.

Section 101:73

And let honorable men be appointed, even wise men, and send them to purchase these lands.

Section 101:74

And the churches in the eastern countries, when they are built up, if they will hearken unto this counsel they may buy lands and gather together upon them; and in this way they may establish Zion.

Section 101:75

There is even now already in store sufficient, yea, even an abundance, to redeem Zion, and establish her waste places, no more to be thrown down, were the churches, who call themselves after my name, willing to hearken to my voice.

Section 101:76

And again I say unto you, those who have been scattered by their enemies, it is my will that they should continue to importune for redress, and redemption, by the hands of those who are placed as rulers and are in authority over you—

Section 101:77

According to the laws and constitution of the people, which I have suffered to be established, and should be maintained for the rights and protection of all flesh, according to just and holy principles;

Section 101:78

That every man may act in doctrine and principle pertaining to futurity,¹ according to the moral agency which I have given unto him, that every man may be accountable for his own sins in the day of judgment.

JSP that evry man may act in doctrine and principle pertaining to futurity according to the moral agency which I have given unto them that evry man may be accountable for his own ~~sin~~ in sins [in] the day of judgment

Section 101:79

Therefore, it is not right that any man should be in bondage one to another.

Section 101:80

And for this purpose have I established the Constitution of this land, by the hands of wise men whom I raised up unto this very purpose, and redeemed the land by the shedding of blood.

Section 101:81

Now, unto what shall I liken the children of Zion? I will liken them unto the parable of the woman and the unjust judge, for men ought always to pray and not to faint, which saith—

Section 101:82

There was in a city a judge which feared not God, neither regarded man.

Section 101:83

And there was a widow in that city, and she came unto him, saying: Avenge me of mine adversary.

Section 101:84

And he would not for a while, but afterward he said within himself: Though I fear not God, nor regard man, yet because this widow troubleth me I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.

¹This word appears twice in the scriptures—here, and at DC 123:15.

Section 101:85

Thus will I liken the children of Zion.

Section 101:86

Let them importune at the feet of the judge;

Section 101:87

And if he heed them not, let them importune at the feet of the governor;

Section 101:88

And if the governor heed them not, let them importune at the feet of the president;

Section 101:89

And if the president heed them not, then will the Lord arise and come forth out of his hiding place, and in his fury vex the nation;

Section 101:90

And in his hot displeasure, and in his fierce anger, in his time, will cut off those wicked, unfaithful, and unjust stewards, and appoint them their portion among hypocrites, and unbelievers;

Section 101:91

Even in outer darkness,¹ where there is weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth.

Section 101:92

Pray ye, therefore, that their ears may be opened unto your cries, that I may be merciful unto them, that these things may not come upon them.

Section 101:93

What I have said unto you must needs be, that all men may be left without excuse;

Section 101:94

That wise men and rulers may hear and know that which they have never considered;

Section 101:95

That I may proceed to bring to pass my act, my strange act, and perform my work, my strange work, that men may discern between the righteous and the wicked, saith your God.

¹For the phrase "outer darkness," see here.

Section 101:96

And again, I say unto you, it is contrary to my commandment and my will that my servant Sidney Gilbert should sell my storehouse, which I have appointed unto my people, into the hands of mine enemies.

Section 101:97

Let not that which I have appointed be polluted by mine enemies, by the consent of those who call themselves after my name;

Section 101:98

For this is a very sore and grievous sin against me, and against my people, in consequence of those things which I have decreed and which are soon to befall the nations.

Section 101:99

Therefore, it is my will that my people should claim, and hold claim upon that which I have appointed unto them, though they should not be permitted to dwell thereon.

Section 101:100

Nevertheless, I do not say they shall not dwell thereon; for inasmuch as they bring forth fruit and works meet for my kingdom they shall dwell thereon.

Section 101:101

They shall build, and another shall not inherit it; they shall plant vineyards, and they shall eat the fruit thereof. Even so. Amen.

Section 102 (18–19 February 1834)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 17 February 1834, at a meeting that included priesthood holders and other members of the church, JS oversaw the initial organization of a standing ‘Presidents Church Council’ in Kirtland, Ohio. Orson Hyde, the clerk of the meeting, noted in the minutes of that meeting that ‘many questions have been asked during the time of the organization of this Council and doubtless some errors have been committed, it was, therefore, voted by all present that Bro Joseph should make all necessary corrections by the spirit of inspiration hereafter.’ JS worked on amending the minutes the following day ‘with all the strength and wisdom that he had’ and presented the revised minutes—featured here—to a council of sixty-two priesthood holders and church members on 19 February. JS’s revisions were significant and both added and deleted material from the original minutes. After hearing the revised minutes read three times and making at least one correction, the council unanimously voted to accept the revised minutes as ‘a form, and constitution of the high Council of the Church of Christ hereafter,’ with the proviso that ‘if the president should hereafter discover any lack in the same he should be privileged to fill it up.’ At the 19 February meeting, after giving several blessings and items of instruction to members of the new council, JS reported that ‘the Council was organized according to the ancient order, and also according to the mind of the Lord.’ Conducting itself according to procedures outlined in the minutes featured here, the council, later known as the Kirtland high council, then heard its first case.

“These minutes also authorized high priests at remote locations to, when necessary, organize similar, temporary disciplinary councils, the decisions of which could be appealed to the standing ‘high Council at the seat of the general government of the Church,’ then in Kirtland. In addition, though these minutes contained no provision for doing so, JS organized another standing high council following the same pattern outlined in the minutes featured here in Clay County, Missouri, the following July. After the main body of church members in Missouri moved from Clay County to Caldwell County in 1836–1837, this second standing high council conducted its meetings at Far West, Caldwell County. Following JS’s move to Far West in March 1838, this Missouri council replaced the Kirtland high council as the ‘high Council at the seat of the general government of the Church’ and, therefore, became the council to which appeals resulting from other church councils were made. Similar standing high councils were later organized in Illinois and Iowa Territory, with the Nauvoo high council assuming appellate authority after its organization in October 1839. In the meantime, the revised minutes of the 17 February 1834 meeting were included as section 5 in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants.”

DC 1844 Section 5, 123–128

TS 6:15 (15 August 1845), 993–994

MS 15:1 (1 January 1853), 13–14

Section 102:1

THIS day a general council of twenty-four high priests assembled at the house of Joseph Smith, Jun., by revelation, and proceeded to organize the high council of the church of Christ, which was to consist of twelve high priests, and one or three presidents as the case might require.

Section 102:2

The high council was appointed by revelation for the purpose of settling important difficulties which might arise in the church, which could not be settled by the church or the bishop’s council to the satisfaction of the parties.

Section 102:3

Joseph Smith, Jun., Sidney Rigdon and Frederick G. Williams were acknowledged presidents by the voice of the council; and Joseph Smith, Sen., John Smith, Joseph Coe, John Johnson, Martin Harris, John S. Carter, Jared Carter, Oliver Cowdery, Samuel H. Smith, Orson Hyde, Sylvester Smith, and Luke Johnson, high priests, were chosen to be a standing council for the church, by the unanimous voice of the council.

Section 102:4

The above-named councilors were then asked whether they accepted their appointments, and whether they would act in that office according to the law of heaven,¹ to which they all answered that they accepted their appointments, and would fill their offices according to the grace of God bestowed upon them.

Section 102:5

The number composing the council, who voted in the name and for the church in appointing the above-named councilors were forty-three, as follows: nine high priests, seventeen elders, four priests, and thirteen members.

¹See the phrase “law of heaven” here, though this is the only real occurrence of the phrase.

Section 102:6

Voted: that the high council cannot have power to act without seven of the above-named councilors, or their regularly appointed successors are present.

Section 102:7

These seven shall have power to appoint other high priests, whom they may consider worthy and capable to act in the place of absent councilors.

Section 102:8

Voted: that whenever any vacancy shall occur by the death, removal from office for transgression, or removal from the bounds of this church government, of any one of the above-named councilors, it shall be filled by the nomination of the president or presidents, and sanctioned by the voice of a general council of high priests, convened for that purpose, to act in the name of the church.

Section 102:9

The president of the church, who is also the president of the council, is appointed by revelation, and acknowledged in his administration by the voice of the church.

Section 102:10

And it is according to the dignity of his office that he should preside over the council of the church; and it is his privilege to be assisted by two other presidents, appointed after the same manner that he himself was appointed.

Section 102:11

And in case of the absence of one or both of those who are appointed to assist him, he has power to preside over the council without an assistant; and in case he himself is absent, the other presidents have power to preside in his stead, both or either of them.

Section 102:12

Whenever a high council of the church of Christ is regularly organized, according to the foregoing pattern, it shall be the duty of the twelve councilors to cast lots by numbers, and thereby ascertain who of the twelve shall speak first, commencing with number one and so in succession to number twelve.

Section 102:13

Whenever this council convenes to act upon any case, the twelve councilors shall consider whether it is a difficult one or not; if it is not, two only of the councilors shall speak upon it, according to the form above written.

Section 102:14

But if it is thought to be difficult, four shall be appointed; and if more difficult, six; but in no case shall more than six be appointed to speak.

Section 102:15

The accused, in all cases, has a right to one-half of the council, to prevent insult or injustice.

Section 102:16

And the councilors appointed to speak before the council are to present the case, after the evidence is examined, in its true light before the council; and every man is to speak according to equity and justice.

Section 102:17

Those councilors who draw even numbers, that is, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, and 12, are the individuals who are to stand up in behalf of the accused, and prevent insult and injustice.

Section 102:18

In all cases the accuser and the accused shall have a privilege of speaking for themselves before the council, after the evidences are heard and the councilors who are appointed to speak on the case have finished their remarks.

Section 102:19

After the evidences are heard, the councilors, accuser and accused have spoken, the president shall give a decision according to the understanding which he shall have of the case, and call upon the twelve councilors to sanction the same by their vote.

Section 102:20

But should the remaining councilors, who have not spoken, or any one of them, after hearing the evidences and pleadings impartially, discover an error in the decision of the president, they can manifest it, and the case shall have a re-hearing.

Section 102:21

And if, after a careful re-hearing, any additional light is shown upon the case, the decision shall be altered accordingly.

Section 102:22

But in case no additional light is given, the first decision shall stand, the majority of the council having power to determine the same.

Section 102:23

In case of difficulty respecting doctrine or principle, if there is not a sufficiency written to make the case clear to the minds of the council, the president may inquire and obtain the mind of the Lord by revelation.

Section 102:24

The high priests, when abroad, have power to call and organize a council after the manner of the foregoing, to settle difficulties, when the parties or either of them shall request it.

Section 102:25

And the said council of high priests shall have power to appoint one of their own number to preside over such council for the time being.

Section 102:26

It shall be the duty of said council to transmit, immediately, a copy of their proceedings, with a full statement of the testimony accompanying their decision, to the high council of the seat of the First Presidency of the Church.

Section 102:27

Should the parties or either of them be dissatisfied with the decision of said council, they may appeal to the high council of the seat of the First Presidency of the Church, and have a re-hearing, which case shall there be conducted, according to the former pattern written, as though no such decision had been made.

Section 102:28

This council of high priests abroad is only to be called on the most difficult cases of church matters; and no common or ordinary case is to be sufficient to call such council.

Section 102:29

The traveling or located high priests abroad have power to say whether it is necessary to call such a council or not.

Section 102:30

There is a distinction between the high council or traveling high priests abroad, and the traveling high council composed of the twelve apostles, in their decisions.

Section 102:31

From the decision of the former there can be an appeal; but from the decision of the latter there cannot.

Section 102:32

The latter can only be called in question by the general authorities of the church in case of transgression.

Section 102:33

Resolved: that the president or presidents of the seat of the First Presidency of the Church shall have power to determine whether any such case, as may be appealed, is justly entitled to a re-hearing, after examining the appeal and the evidences and statements accompanying it.

Section 102:34

The twelve councilors then proceeded to cast lots or ballot, to ascertain who should speak first, and the following was the result, namely: 1, Oliver Cowdery; 2, Joseph Coe; 3, Samuel H. Smith; 4, Luke Johnson; 5, John S. Carter; 6, Sylvester Smith;

7, John Johnson; 8, Orson Hyde; 9, Jared Carter; 10, Joseph Smith, Sen.; 11, John Smith; 12, Martin Harris. After prayer the conference adjourned.

Historical Background

JSP

"JS dictated a revelation on 24 February 1834 that instructed the church how to restore Missouri members to their Jackson County lands, from which they had been driven in the fall of 1833. The same day that this revelation was dictated, Parley P. Pratt and Lyman Wight, who had traveled from Missouri to Kirtland, Ohio, reported to the Kirtland high council on the condition of the Missouri members, most of whom had taken refuge in Clay County. Pratt and Wight also asked the high council 'how and by what means Zion was to be redeemed from our enemies.' JS then volunteered to lead an expedition to Missouri to assist in Zion's redemption, and thirty or forty others stated they would go with him. Before adjourning, the council appointed JS as 'Commander in Chief of the Armies of Israel and the leader of those who volunteered to go.'

"Extant records do not state whether this revelation was dictated before, during, or after the high council meeting. The revelation is addressed to the Lord's 'Friends,' a term other revelations used to refer to high priests, suggesting that it may have been dictated in a gathering such as the high council. A September 1832 revelation, for example, explained that 'Gods High priests' were the 'friends' of Jesus Christ. Yet it is difficult to determine whether the revelation motivated the decisions of JS and others in the high council or whether those decisions were affirmed by the revelation's dictation. Regardless, the revelation addressed many of the issues discussed in the high council meeting.

"The revelation also reiterated promises made in a 16–17 December 1833 revelation that the Lord would allow church members to return to Zion and the lands of their inheritance if they hearkened to his counsel. It also reemphasized the December revelation's message that Zion would be redeemed when the Lord's servant—designated in this February 1834 revelation as JS—led 'the strength of mine house,' which was the Lord's 'warriors my young men and they that are of middle age,' to Missouri, where they would 'break down the walls of mine enemies th[r]ow down their tower and scatte[r] their watchmen.' In addition, the revelation gave instructions on how to recruit men for such an expedition and stated that between one and five hundred men would be necessary to redeem Zion.

"JS and others quickly acted on the revelation's directions. Just two days later, he and Parley P. Pratt 'started from home to obtain volunteers for Zion,' and Orson Pratt and Orson Hyde did the same. Lyman Wight and Sidney Rigdon, also appointed in the revelation as recruiters, apparently left Kirtland on 28 February. It is not clear when Hyrum Smith and Frederick G. Williams, the other pair assigned in the revelation to recruit members for the expedition, departed, but John Murdock reported that Hyrum Smith was at Edmund Bosley's home in Livonia, New York, on 15 March 1834. For the next several weeks, these eight men held meetings in which they preached, recruited volunteers, and raised funds to help restore the refugees to their homes in Jackson County. These activities ultimately resulted in the formation of the Camp of Israel, an expedition of more than two hundred individuals that marched to Clay County, Missouri, in the summer of 1834.

"By May 1834, the 24 February revelation was apparently known among those outside of the Church of Christ as well. For example, a Norwalk, Ohio, newspaper article stated that 'in obedience to a revelation communicated to their great Prophet, Joseph Smith, three hundred young men are to "go well armed and equipped to defend the promised land in Missouri.'"

"Three early manuscript copies of the revelation exist. One—the text featured here—was inscribed by Orson Pratt, probably not long after the revelation was dictated and possibly before Pratt left on 26 February 1834 for New York. Orson Hyde made the second version when he copied the text into Revelation Book 2 in August 1834. John Whitmer also made a copy of the revelation in Revelation Book 1, possibly sometime in the summer of 1834 after JS and the Camp of Israel had reached Clay County. The three copies are identical except for minor differences in punctuation and capitalization."

Section 103:1

VERILY I say unto you, my friends, behold, I will give unto you a revelation and commandment, that you may know how to act in the discharge of your duties concerning the salvation and redemption of your brethren, who have been scattered on the land of Zion;

Section 103:2

Being driven and smitten by the hands of mine enemies, on whom I will pour out my wrath without measure in mine own time.

Section 103:3

For I have suffered them thus far, that they might fill up the measure of their iniquities, that their cup might be full;

Section 103:4

And that those who call themselves after my name might be chastened for a little season with a sore and grievous chastisement, because they did not hearken altogether unto the precepts and commandments which I gave unto them.

Section 103:5

But verily I say unto you, that I have decreed a decree which my people shall realize, inasmuch as they hearken from this very hour unto the counsel which I, the Lord their God, shall give unto them.

Section 103:6

Behold they shall, for I have decreed it, begin to prevail against mine enemies from this very hour.

Section 103:7

And by hearkening to observe all the words which I, the Lord their God, shall speak unto them, they shall never cease to prevail until the kingdoms of the world are subdued under my feet, and the earth is given unto the saints, to possess it forever and ever.

Section 103:8

But inasmuch as they keep not my commandments, and hearken not to observe all my words, the kingdoms of the world shall prevail against them.

Section 103:9

For they were set to be a light unto the world, and to be the saviors¹ of men;

¹In this and the next verse this seems to be a pun with the words “savior” / “savor.”

Section 103:10

And inasmuch as they are not the saviors of men, they are as salt that has lost its savor, and is thenceforth good for nothing but to be cast out and trodden under foot of men.

Section 103:11

But verily I say unto you, I have decreed that your brethren which have been scattered shall return to the lands of their inheritances, and shall build up the waste places of Zion.

Section 103:12

For after much tribulation, as I have said unto you in a former commandment, cometh the blessing.

Section 103:13

Behold, this is the blessing which I have promised after your tribulations, and the tribulations of your brethren—your redemption, and the redemption of your brethren, even their restoration to the land of Zion, to be established, no more to be thrown down.

Section 103:14

Nevertheless, if they pollute their inheritances they shall be thrown down; for I will not spare them if they pollute their inheritances.

Section 103:15

Behold, I say unto you, the redemption of Zion must needs come by power;

Section 103:16

Therefore, I will raise up unto my people a man, who shall lead them like as Moses led the children of Israel.

Section 103:17

For ye are the children of Israel, and of the seed of Abraham, and ye must needs be led out of bondage by power, and with a stretched-out arm.

Section 103:18

And as your fathers were led at the first, even so shall the redemption of Zion be.

Section 103:19

Therefore, let not your hearts faint, for I say not unto you as I said unto your fathers: Mine angel shall go up before you, but not my presence.

Section 103:20

But I say unto you: Mine angels shall go up before you, and also my presence, and in time ye shall possess the goodly land.

Section 103:21

Verily, verily I say unto you, that my servant Joseph Smith, Jun. is the man to whom I likened the servant to whom the Lord of the vineyard spake in the parable which I have given unto you.

Section 103:22

Therefore let my servant Joseph Smith, Jun. say unto the strength of my house, my young men and the middle aged—Gather yourselves together unto the land of Zion, upon the land which I have bought with money that has been consecrated unto me.

Section 103:23

And let all the churches send up wise men with their moneys, and purchase lands even as I have commanded them.

Section 103:24

And inasmuch as mine enemies come against you to drive you from my goodly land, which I have consecrated to be the land of Zion, even from your own lands after these testimonies, which ye have brought before me against them, ye shall curse them;

Section 103:25

And whomsoever ye curse, I will curse, and ye shall avenge me of mine enemies.

Section 103:26

And my presence shall be with you even in avenging me of mine enemies, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me.

Section 103:27

Let no man be afraid to lay down his life for my sake; for whoso layeth down his life for my sake shall find it again.

Section 103:28

And whoso is not willing to lay down his life for my sake is not my disciple.

Section 103:29

It is my will that my servant Sidney Rigdon shall lift up his voice in the congregations in the eastern countries, in preparing the churches to keep the commandments which I have given unto them concerning the restoration and redemption of Zion.

Section 103:30

It is my will that my servant Parley P. Pratt and my servant Lyman Wight should not return to the land of their brethren, until they have obtained companies to go up unto the land of Zion, by tens, or by twenties, or by fifties, or by an hundred, until they have obtained to the number of five hundred of the strength of my house.

Section 103:31

Behold this is my will; ask and ye shall receive; but men do not always do my will.

Section 103:32

Therefore, if you cannot obtain five hundred, seek diligently that peradventure you may obtain three hundred.

Section 103:33

And if ye cannot obtain three hundred, seek diligently that peradventure ye may obtain one hundred.

Section 103:34

But verily I say unto you, a commandment I give unto you, that ye shall not go up unto the land of Zion until you have obtained a hundred of the strength of my house, to go up with you unto the land of Zion.

Section 103:35

Therefore, as I said unto you, ask and ye shall receive; pray earnestly that peradventure my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., may go with you, and preside in the midst of my people, and organize my kingdom upon the consecrated land, and establish the children of Zion upon the laws and commandments which have been and which shall be given unto you.

Section 103:36

All victory and glory is brought to pass unto you through your diligence, faithfulness, and prayers of faith.

Section 103:37

Let my servant Parley P. Pratt journey with my servant Joseph Smith, Jun.

Section 103:38

Let my servant Lyman Wight journey with my servant Sidney Rigdon.

Section 103:39

Let my servant Hyrum Smith journey with my servant Frederick G. Williams.

Section 103:40

Let my servant Orson Hyde journey with my servant Orson Pratt, whithersoever my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., shall counsel them, in obtaining the fulfilment of these commandments which I have given unto you, and leave the residue in my hands. Even so. Amen.

Section 104 (23 April 1834)

Historical Background

JSP

“This 23 April 1834 revelation contains instructions for the reorganization of the United Firm, which was formed in April 1832 to manage the church’s mercantile and publishing endeavors and had served as an important administrative structure since that time. The firm consisted of three components. The first was N. K. Whitney & Co., a company originally formed in 1826 by Newel K. Whitney and Sidney Gilbert in Kirtland, Ohio; it functioned as the firm’s mercantile branch in Kirtland. The second was Gilbert, Whitney & Co., a company formed by Gilbert and Whitney after Gilbert moved to Missouri in early 1832; it served as the firm’s mercantile branch in Missouri and operated Gilbert’s store in Independence, Jackson County, Missouri. The third component was the Literary Firm, an organization of six men who managed church publications. The Literary Firm supervised W. W. Phelps & Co., the organization responsible for the church’s printing operations in Missouri, and F. G. Williams & Co., the company in charge of the church’s printing efforts in Kirtland. Members of the United Firm—JS, Sidney Rigdon, Oliver Cowdery, John Whitmer, William W. Phelps, Martin Harris, Edward Partridge, Newel K. Whitney, Sidney Gilbert, Frederick G. Williams, and John Johnson—consecrated property to the church, but these properties were still held in the names of the individual members. Profits from the different enterprises were to fund their individual endeavors and provide income to the firm’s members.

“By 1834, the firm faced several significant issues. Because of the violence that drove church members from Jackson County in summer and fall 1833, William W. Phelps’s printing office and Gilbert’s store were no longer in operation. Yet the firm was still responsible for debts incurred to supply these establishments. In Ohio, firm members became increasingly indebted to N. K. Whitney & Co., which was in turn indebted to New York companies for store goods. Besides these financial difficulties, some of the firm’s members, especially Phelps and Gilbert in Missouri, were accused of manifesting a covetous spirit toward the firm’s property for which they were responsible. Church leaders in Kirtland chastised Gilbert for refusing to provide goods to some of the ‘poor brethren that are pure in heart’ in Jackson County, warning that this ‘uneasy covetous disposition’ would result in ‘poverty shame, and disgrace’ if it were not corrected. JS also reprimanded Phelps for referring to ‘my press’ and ‘my types’ when talking about the Missouri printing operation. ‘Where, our brethren ask, did you get them, & how came they to be “yours?”’ JS inquired, adding, ‘You know, that it is, We, not I, and all things are the Lord’s, and he opened the hearts of his church to furnish these things, or we should not have been privileged with using them.’ According to the 23 April 1834 revelation featured here, such covetous attitudes effectively broke the covenant and bond that members were required to take upon joining the firm.

“In the midst of these concerns, JS was making plans in April 1834 to lead an expedition to Missouri to help the Saints who had been driven from Jackson County reclaim their lands. However, JS believed that without financial help, he would be unable to travel to Missouri. This concern may have been connected to the indebtedness of the United Firm since it appears that all firm members shared its debts equally. These financial issues troubled JS as early as January 1834, when he and other firm members petitioned the Lord to provide the ‘means sufficient to discharge every debt that the Firm owes.’ In March, he instructed several church members in New York to try to raise $2,000 ‘for the relief of the brethren in Kirtland,’ but by 7 April, the necessary funds were still lacking. JS may have been concerned that the firm’s indebtedness needed to be settled before he could leave Ohio.

“Facing such problems, members of the Kirtland branch of the United Firm met on 10 April 1834 and decided ‘that the firm should be desolv’d and each one’ receive a stewardship, or property, to manage. This 23 April revelation provided firm members in Kirtland with these stewardships and declared that all things were God’s and that the members of the firm needed to manage their stewardships wisely. The property granted in the stewardships came from the holdings of Newel K. Whitney, Frederick G. Williams, and John Johnson; much of it had been their own personal property or had been purchased with funds from the sale of their personal property. Despite the earlier decision to dissolve the firm, the revelation directed that it instead be reorganized and that the Missouri and Ohio branches be separated. The revelation called for the establishment of two treasuries in Ohio. One treasury was to house ‘sacred things’ that were to be published and the ‘avails,’ or profits, from the sale of those publications. Members of the firm were to deposit money gained from the management of their individual stewardships into a second treasury and then draw on these funds to carry out their stewardships. In addition, the revelation authorized members of the firm ‘this once’ to use their stewardships as collateral for obtaining loans to pay their existing creditors.

“Five days after this revelation, another revelation provided more instructions for ‘the division and settlement of the United Firm’ and declared the Kirtland branch of the firm ‘free from the Firm of Zion.’ However, there is no evidence that firm members followed the instructions to establish treasuries and mortgage their stewardships. Instead, it appears that after an initial period in which members of the firm executed deeds for the stewardships, no other action was taken. It may be that the expedition to Missouri—which resulted in JS’s absence from Kirtland from early May to late July 1834—distracted church leaders from implementing the instructions immediately. Alternatively, leaders may have decided to transfer much of the responsibility for the church’s temporal endeavors to other administrative bodies, such as the Kirtland high council. Whatever the case, the United Firm effectively ceased to exist soon after this revelation was dictated.

“The revelation may have been dictated at a council held on 23 April, which was attended by JS, Sidney Rigdon, Frederick G. Williams, Newel K. Whitney, John Johnson, and Oliver Cowdery, all members of the United Firm in Kirtland. The original inscription of the revelation has not been located. Orson Pratt copied the featured version of the revelation from the original into a notebook of revelations that Orson Hyde was keeping in Kirtland. Probably after Pratt had made his copy, Hyde copied the revelation into Revelation Book 2 on 18 August 1834 and included the subtitle ‘appointing to each member of the united firm their Stewardship.’ The revelation was later published in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, replacing the names of the members of the United Firm with pseudonyms and calling the firm the ‘United Order.’”

Section 104:1

VERILY I say unto you, my friends, I give unto you counsel, and a commandment, concerning all the properties which belong to the order which I commanded to be organized and established, to be a united order, and an everlasting order for the benefit of my church, and for the salvation of men until I come—

Section 104:2

With promise immutable and unchangeable, that inasmuch as those whom I commanded were faithful they should be blessed with a multiplicity of blessings;

Section 104:3

But inasmuch as they were not faithful they were nigh unto cursing.

Section 104:4

Therefore, inasmuch as some of my servants have not kept the commandment, but have broken the covenant through covetousness, and with feigned words, I have cursed them with a very sore and grievous curse.

Section 104:5

For I, the Lord, have decreed in my heart, that inasmuch as any man belonging to the order shall be found a transgressor, or, in other words, shall break the covenant with which ye are bound, he shall be cursed in his life, and shall be trodden down by whom I will;

Section 104:6

For I, the Lord, am not to be mocked in these things—

Section 104:7

And all this that the innocent among you may not be condemned with the unjust; and that the guilty among you may not escape; because I, the Lord, have promised unto you a crown of glory at my right hand.

Section 104:8

Therefore, inasmuch as you are found transgressors, you cannot escape my wrath in your lives.

Section 104:9

Inasmuch as ye are cut off for transgression, ye cannot escape the buffetings of Satan until the day of redemption.

Section 104:10

And I now give unto you power from this very hour, that if any man among you, of the order, is found a transgressor and repenteth not of the evil, that ye shall deliver him over unto the buffetings of Satan; and he shall not have power to bring evil upon you.

Section 104:11

It is wisdom in me; therefore, a commandment I give unto you, that ye shall organize yourselves and appoint every man his stewardship;

Section 104:12

That every man may give an account unto me of the stewardship which is appointed unto him.

Section 104:13

For it is expedient that I, the Lord, should make every man accountable, as a steward over earthly blessings, which I have made and prepared for my creatures.

Section 104:14

I, the Lord, stretched out the heavens, and built the earth, my very handiwork; and all things therein are mine.

Section 104:15

And it is my purpose to provide for my saints, for all things are mine.

Section 104:16

But it must needs be done in mine own way; and behold this is the way that I, the Lord, have decreed to provide for my saints, that the poor shall be exalted, in that the rich are made low.

Section 104:17

For the earth is full, and there is enough and to spare; yea, I prepared all things, and have given unto the children of men to be agents unto themselves.

Section 104:18

Therefore, if any man shall take of the abundance which I have made, and impart not his portion, according to the law of my gospel, unto the poor and the needy, he shall, with the wicked, lift up his eyes in hell, being in torment.

Section 104:19

And now, verily I say unto you, concerning the properties of the order—

Section 104:20

Let my servant Sidney Rigdon have appointed unto him the place where he now resides, and the lot of the tannery for his stewardship, for his support while he is laboring in my vineyard, even as I will, when I shall command him.

Section 104:21

And let all things be done according to the counsel of the order, and united consent or voice of the order, which dwell in the land of Kirtland.

Section 104:22

And this stewardship and blessing, I, the Lord, confer upon my servant Sidney Rigdon for a blessing upon him, and his seed after him;

Section 104:23

And I will multiply blessings upon him, inasmuch as he will be humble before me.

Section 104:24

And again, let my servant Martin Harris have appointed unto him, for his stewardship, the lot of land which my servant John Johnson obtained in exchange for his former inheritance, for him and his seed after him;

Section 104:25

And inasmuch as he is faithful, I will multiply blessings upon him and his seed after him.

Section 104:26

And let my servant Martin Harris devote his moneys for the proclaiming of my words, according as my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., shall direct.

Section 104:27

And again, let my servant Frederick G. Williams have the place upon which he now dwells.

Section 104:28

And let my servant Oliver Cowdery have the lot which is set off joining the house, which is to be for the printing office, which is lot number one, and also the lot upon which his father resides.

Section 104:29

And let my servants Frederick G. Williams and Oliver Cowdery have the printing office and all things that pertain unto it.

Section 104:30

And this shall be their stewardship which shall be appointed unto them.

Section 104:31

And inasmuch as they are faithful, behold I will bless, and multiply blessings upon them.

Section 104:32

And this is the beginning of the stewardship which I have appointed them, for them and their seed after them.

Section 104:33

And, inasmuch as they are faithful, I will multiply blessings upon them and their seed after them, even a multiplicity of blessings.

Section 104:34

And again, let my servant John Johnson have the house in which he lives, and the inheritance, all save the ground which has been reserved for the building of my houses, which pertains to that inheritance, and those lots which have been named for my servant Oliver Cowdery.

Section 104:35

And inasmuch as he is faithful, I will multiply blessings upon him.

Section 104:36

And it is my will that he should sell the lots that are laid off for the building up of the city of my saints, inasmuch as it shall be made known to him by the voice of the Spirit, and according to the counsel of the order, and by the voice of the order.

Section 104:37

And this is the beginning of the stewardship which I have appointed unto him, for a blessing unto him and his seed after him.

Section 104:38

And inasmuch as he is faithful, I will multiply a multiplicity of blessings upon him.

Section 104:39

And again, let my servant Newel K. Whitney have appointed unto him the houses and lot where he now resides, and the lot and building on which the mercantile establishment stands, and also the lot which is on the corner south of the mercantile establishment, and also the lot on which the ashery is situated.

Section 104:40

And all this I have appointed unto my servant Newel K. Whitney for his stewardship, for a blessing upon him and his seed after him, for the benefit of the mercantile establishment of my order which I have established for my stake in the land of Kirtland.

Section 104:41

Yea, verily, this is the stewardship which I have appointed unto my servant N. K. Whitney, even this whole mercantile establishment, him and his agent, and his seed after him.

Section 104:42

And inasmuch as he is faithful in keeping my commandments, which I have given unto him, I will multiply blessings upon him and his seed after him, even a multiplicity of blessings.

Section 104:43

And again, let my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., have appointed unto him the lot which is laid off for the building of my house, which is forty rods long and twelve wide, and also the inheritance upon which his father now resides;

Section 104:44

And this is the beginning of the stewardship which I have appointed unto him, for a blessing upon him, and upon his father.

Section 104:45

For behold, I have reserved an inheritance for his father, for his support; therefore he shall be reckoned in the house of my servant Joseph Smith, Jun.

Section 104:46

And I will multiply blessings upon the house of my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., inasmuch as he is faithful, even a multiplicity of blessings.

Section 104:47

And now, a commandment I give unto you concerning Zion, that you shall no longer be bound as a united order to your brethren of Zion, only on this wise—

Section 104:48

After you are organized, you shall be called the United Order of the Stake of Zion, the City of Kirtland. And your brethren, after they are organized, shall be called the United Order of the City of Zion.

Section 104:49

And they shall be organized in their own names, and in their own name; and they shall do their business in their own name, and in their own names;

Section 104:50

And you shall do your business in your own name, and in your own names.

Section 104:51

And this I have commanded to be done for your salvation, and also for their salvation, in consequence of their being driven out and that which is to come.

Section 104:52

The covenants being broken through transgression, by covetousness and feigned words—

Section 104:53

Therefore, you are dissolved as a united order with your brethren, that you are not bound only up to this hour unto them, only on this wise, as I said, by loan as shall be agreed by this order in council, as your circumstances will admit and the voice of the council direct.

Section 104:54

And again, a commandment I give unto you concerning your stewardship which I have appointed unto you.

Section 104:55

Behold, all these properties are mine, or else your faith is vain, and ye are found hypocrites, and the covenants which ye have made unto me are broken;

Section 104:56

And if the properties are mine, then ye are stewards; otherwise ye are no stewards.

Section 104:57

But, verily I say unto you, I have appointed unto you to be stewards over mine house, even stewards indeed.

Section 104:58

And for this purpose I have commanded you to organize yourselves, even to print my words, the fulness of my scriptures, the revelations which I have given unto you, and which I shall, hereafter, from time to time give unto you—

Section 104:59

For the purpose of building up my church and kingdom on the earth, and to prepare my people for the time when I shall dwell with them, which is nigh at hand.

Section 104:60

And ye shall prepare for yourselves a place for a treasury, and consecrate it unto my name.

Section 104:61

And ye shall appoint one among you to keep the treasury, and he shall be ordained unto this blessing.

Section 104:62

And there shall be a seal upon the treasury, and all the sacred things shall be delivered into the treasury; and no man among you shall call it his own, or any part of it, for it shall belong to you all with one accord.

Section 104:63

And I give it unto you from this very hour; and now see to it, that ye go to and make use of the stewardship which I have appointed unto you, exclusive of the sacred things, for the purpose of printing these sacred things as I have said.

Section 104:64

And the avails of the sacred things shall be had in the treasury, and a seal shall be upon it; and it shall not be used or taken out of the treasury by any one, neither shall the seal be loosed which shall be placed upon it, only by the voice of the order, or by commandment.

Section 104:65

And thus shall ye preserve the avails of the sacred things in the treasury, for sacred and holy purposes.

Section 104:66

And this shall be called the sacred treasury of the Lord; and a seal shall be kept upon it that it may be holy and consecrated unto the Lord.

Section 104:67

And again, there shall be another treasury prepared, and a treasurer appointed to keep the treasury, and a seal shall be placed upon it;

Section 104:68

And all moneys that you receive in your stewardships, by improving upon the properties which I have appointed unto you, in houses, or in lands, or in cattle, or in all things save it be the holy and sacred writings, which I have reserved unto myself for holy and sacred purposes, shall be cast into the treasury as fast as you receive moneys, by hundreds, or by fifties, or by twenties, or by tens, or by fives.

Section 104:69

Or in other words, if any man among you obtain five dollars let him cast them into the treasury; or if he obtain ten, or twenty, or fifty, or an hundred, let him do likewise;

Section 104:70

And let not any among you say that it is his own; for it shall not be called his, nor any part of it.

Section 104:71

And there shall not any part of it be used, or taken out of the treasury, only by the voice and common consent of the order.

Section 104:72

And this shall be the voice and common consent of the order—that any man among you say to the treasurer: I have need of this to help me in my stewardship—

Section 104:73

If it be five dollars, or if it be ten dollars, or twenty, or fifty, or a hundred, the treasurer shall give unto him the sum which he requires to help him in his stewardship—

Section 104:74

Until he be found a transgressor, and it is manifest before the council of the order plainly that he is an unfaithful and an unwise steward.

Section 104:75

But so long as he is in full fellowship, and is faithful and wise in his stewardship, this shall be his token unto the treasurer that the treasurer shall not withhold.

Section 104:76

But in case of transgression, the treasurer shall be subject unto the council and voice of the order.

Section 104:77

And in case the treasurer is found an unfaithful and an unwise steward, he shall be subject to the council and voice of the order, and shall be removed out of his place, and another shall be appointed in his stead.

Section 104:78

And again, verily I say unto you, concerning your debts—behold it is my will that you shall pay all your debts.

Section 104:79

And it is my will that you shall humble yourselves before me, and obtain this blessing by your diligence and humility and the prayer of faith.

Section 104:80

And inasmuch as you are diligent and humble, and exercise the prayer of faith, behold, I will soften the hearts of those to whom you are in debt, until I shall send means unto you for your deliverance.

Section 104:81

Therefore write speedily to New York and write according to that which shall be dictated by my Spirit; and I will soften the hearts of those to whom you are in debt, that it shall be taken away out of their minds to bring affliction upon you.

JSP Therefore, write speedily unto New York, & write according to that which shall be dictated by my Spirit, & I will soften the hearts of those to whom you are in debt, that it shall be taken away out of their minds to bring affliction upon you.

Section 104:82

And inasmuch as ye are humble and faithful and call upon my name, behold, I will give you the victory.

Section 104:83

I give unto you a promise, that you shall be delivered this once out of your bondage.

Section 104:84

Inasmuch as you obtain a chance to loan money by hundreds, or thousands, even until you shall loan enough to deliver yourself from bondage, it is your privilege.

Section 104:85

And pledge the properties which I have put into your hands, this once, by giving your names by common consent or otherwise, as it shall seem good unto you.

Section 104:86

I give unto you this privilege, this once; and behold, if you proceed to do the things which I have laid before you, according to my commandments, all these things are mine, and ye are my stewards, and the master will not suffer his house to be broken up. Even so. Amen.

Section 105 (22 June 1834)

Historical Background

JSP

"JS dictated this 22 June 1834 revelation at the campsite of the Camp of Israel on the property of John Cooper, a church member who lived about four miles north of Fishing River in Clay County, Missouri. The revelation told members of the Camp of Israel that for the present they were no longer required to redeem Zion by restoring church members to their Jackson County, Missouri, lands. By 22 June, it had become apparent that church members would not be able to enter Jackson County without bloodshed, particularly since Governor Daniel Dunklin seemed reluctant to call out the militia to escort them into the county. One resident of Lexington County, Missouri, reported on 20 June, 'Should they cross the river' into Jackson County, 'there will be a battle, and probably much blood shed.'

"Even with Dunklin unwilling to call out the militia, JS still seemed determined to have the camp press on. Charles C. Rich recorded in his journal that a council was held once news of Dunklin's reluctance was received, and it was 'decided that we should go on armed and equipped.' However, on 21 June, Cornelius Gilliam, sheriff of Clay County, along with a delegation of men from Clay and Ray counties, conversed with JS and members of the camp, informing them of the great alarm the expedition had caused among many western Missouri residents. To help alleviate the tense situation, JS and others signed a statement on 21 June, indicating that the camp did not intend 'to commence hostilities against any man or body of men' and that they were willing to work toward a peaceful solution to the issues, even offering a proposal that church members purchase the land of those not willing to live in Jackson County if the Saints returned.

"The following day, JS held a council 'to determine what steps' the camp should take. During the council, he dictated this revelation, which, according to camp participant Joseph Holbrook, 'show[ed] the mind of God concerning the redemption of Zion.' According to the revelation, the Lord did not require the camp to redeem Zion through military force at that time. The revelation stated that before Zion could be redeemed, the church's elders needed to obtain an 'endowment of power' in the House of the Lord that was being constructed in Kirtland, Ohio. The revelation also declared that Zion could have been redeemed had church members living outside of Missouri been willing to provide financial support to the Camp of Israel expedition.

"The revelation went on to reiterate directions given in previous revelations that Saints outside of Missouri were to purchase lands in Jackson County and the surrounding areas and gather to those locations. At some point, the revelation intimated, the armies of Israel might be great enough for the Saints to reclaim their lost Jackson County lands, but until then, they should live humbly and peacefully with their neighbors. The revelation also stated that the Lord accepted the offering of those who had participated in the camp. Some camp participants later remembered the revelation indicating that their offering was like the biblical patriarch Abraham's willingness to sacrifice his son Isaac, but that comparison is not in the revelation, suggesting that perhaps JS made that declaration to the camp independently.¹

"After camp members heard the revelation, some accepted it as 'the word of the lord' and 'rejoiced.' Nathan Baldwin, for example, recalled that the revelation 'was the most acceptable to me of anything I had ever heard before, the gospel being the exception.' Others were not so enthusiastic. According to William Cahoon, 'Many in the camp murmured because we were not permitted at this time to restore our Brethren & Sisters to their Homes and defend them there at all hazards.' George A. Smith remembered that 'several of the brethren apostatized because they were not going to have the privilege of fighting.' Nathan Tanner also recalled that some declared 'they had rather die than to return with out a fite' and then 'gave vent to their Rath on a patch of Pawpaw brush' some distance from the camp, mowing it 'down like grass.' Regardless of these attitudes, the revelation, coupled with the visit from Gilliam's delegation, apparently convinced JS to disband the camp, a process that began shortly thereafter. The dispersal was hastened by an outbreak of cholera, which some camp members interpreted as punishment from God for their rebellious attitudes. Expedition leaders gave official discharges to camp members in early July.

“The original inscription of this revelation is not extant. Frederick G. Williams, who had already served during the expedition as JS’s scribe for a letter to Emma Smith, may have been the original scribe of the revelation. John Whitmer, who arrived at the campsite on 22 June, apparently received a copy of the revelation at that time and may have recorded it in Revelation Book 1 as early as 23 June. Other Missouri church leaders, including William W. Phelps and John Corrill, made copies as well, though likely after Whitmer. Oliver Cowdery also made a copy of the revelation in Revelation Book 2 sometime after JS and others had returned to Kirtland.

“The revelation’s contents were apparently not broadcast widely, probably because of its declaration that once the Saints had assembled a large army, they would be justified in reclaiming their Jackson County lands and ‘throw[i]ng down the tower’ of their enemies. The revelation was not included in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, and when it was first published in the 1844 edition, pseudonyms were used to refer to JS and the elders. However, the Saints who knew of the revelation acted quickly on some of its directions, including holding a meeting on 23 June to select those elders who would receive an endowment of power. In early July 1834, they also prepared an appeal for peace that was then published in the August 1834 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star.”

Section 105:1

VERILY I say unto you who have assembled yourselves together that you may learn my will concerning the redemption of mine afflicted people—

Section 105:2

Behold, I say unto you, were it not for the transgressions of my people, speaking concerning the church and not individuals, they might have been redeemed even now.

Section 105:3

But behold, they have not learned to be obedient to the things which I required at their hands, but are full of all manner of evil, and do not impart of their substance, as becometh saints, to the poor and afflicted among them;

Section 105:4

And are not united according to the union required by the law of the celestial kingdom;

Section 105:5

And Zion cannot be built up unless it is by the principles of the law of the celestial kingdom; otherwise I cannot receive her unto myself.

Section 105:6

And my people must needs be chastened until they learn obedience, if it must needs be, by the things which they suffer.

Section 105:7

I speak not concerning those who are appointed to lead my people, who are the first elders of my church, for they are not all under this condemnation;

Section 105:8

But I speak concerning my churches abroad—there are many who will say: Where is their God? Behold, he will deliver them in time of trouble, otherwise we will not go up unto Zion, and will keep our moneys.

Section 105:9

Therefore, in consequence of the transgressions of my people, it is expedient in me that mine elders should wait for a little season for the redemption of Zion—

Section 105:10

That they themselves may be prepared, and that my people may be taught more perfectly, and have experience, and know more perfectly concerning their duty, and the things which I require at their hands.

Section 105:11

And this cannot be brought to pass until mine elders are endowed with power from on high.

Section 105:12

For behold, I have prepared a great endowment and blessing to be poured out upon them, inasmuch as they are faithful and continue in humility before me.

Section 105:13

Therefore it is expedient in me that mine elders should wait for a little season, for the redemption of Zion.

Section 105:14

For behold, I do not require at their hands to fight the battles of Zion; for, as I said in a former commandment, even so will I fulfil—I will fight your battles.

Section 105:15

Behold, the destroyer I have sent forth to destroy and lay waste mine enemies; and not many years hence they shall not be left to pollute mine heritage, and to blaspheme my name upon the lands which I have consecrated for the gathering together of my saints.

Section 105:16

Behold, I have commanded my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., to say unto the strength of my house, even my warriors, my young men, and middle-aged, to gather together for the redemption of my people, and throw down the towers of mine enemies, and scatter their watchmen;

Section 105:17

But the strength of mine house have not hearkened unto my words.

Section 105:18

But inasmuch as there are those who have hearkened unto my words, I have prepared a blessing and an endowment for them, if they continue faithful.

Section 105:19

I have heard their prayers, and will accept their offering; and it is expedient in me that they should be brought thus far for a trial of their faith.

Section 105:20

And now, verily I say unto you, a commandment I give unto you, that as many as have come up hither, that can stay in the region round about, let them stay;

Section 105:21

And those that cannot stay, who have families in the east, let them tarry for a little season, inasmuch as my servant Joseph shall appoint unto them;

Section 105:22

For I will counsel him concerning this matter, and all things whatsoever he shall appoint unto them shall be fulfilled.

Section 105:23

And let all my people who dwell in the regions round about be very faithful, and prayerful, and humble before me, and reveal not the things which I have revealed unto them, until it is wisdom in me that they should be revealed.

Section 105:24

Talk not of judgments, neither boast of faith nor of mighty works, but carefully gather together, as much in one region as can be, consistently with the feelings of the people;

Section 105:25

And behold, I will give unto you favor and grace in their eyes, that you may rest in peace and safety, while you are saying unto the people: Execute judgment and justice for us according to law, and redress us of our wrongs.

Section 105:26

Now, behold, I say unto you, my friends, in this way you may find favor in the eyes of the people, until the army of Israel becomes very great.

Section 105:27

And I will soften the hearts of the people, as I did the heart of Pharaoh, from time to time, until my servant Joseph Smith, Jun., and mine elders, whom I have appointed, shall have time to gather up the strength of my house,

Section 105:28

And to have sent wise men, to fulfil that which I have commanded concerning the purchasing of all the lands in Jackson county that can be purchased, and in the adjoining counties round about.

Section 105:29

For it is my will that these lands should be purchased; and after they are purchased that my saints should possess them according to the laws of consecration which I have given.

Section 105:30

And after these lands are purchased, I will hold the armies of Israel guiltless in taking possession of their own lands, which they have previously purchased with their moneys, and of throwing down the towers of mine enemies that may be upon them, and scattering their watchmen, and avenging me of mine enemies unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me.

Section 105:31

But first let my army become very great, and let it be sanctified before me, that it may become fair as the sun, and clear as the moon, and that her banners may be terrible unto all nations;

Section 105:32

That the kingdoms of this world may be constrained to acknowledge that the kingdom of Zion is in very deed the kingdom of our God and his Christ; therefore, let us become subject unto her laws.

Section 105:33

Verily I say unto you, it is expedient in me that the first elders of my church should receive their endowment from on high in my house, which I have commanded to be built unto my name in the land of Kirtland.

Section 105:34

And let those commandments which I have given concerning Zion and her law be executed and fulfilled, after her redemption.

Section 105:35

There has been a day of calling, but the time has come for a day of choosing; and let those be chosen that are worthy.

Section 105:36

And it shall be manifest unto my servant, by the voice of the Spirit, those that are chosen; and they shall be sanctified;

Section 105:37

And inasmuch as they follow the counsel which they receive, they shall have power after many days to accomplish all things pertaining to Zion.

Section 105:38

And again I say unto you, sue for peace, not only to the people that have smitten you, but also to all people;

Section 105:39

And lift up an ensign of peace, and make a proclamation of peace unto the ends of the earth;

Section 105:40

And make proposals for peace unto those who have smitten you, according to the voice of the Spirit which is in you, and all things shall work together for your good.

Section 105:41

Therefore, be faithful; and behold, and lo, I am with you even unto the end. Even so. Amen.

Section 106 (25 November 1834)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 25 November 1834, JS dictated this revelation explaining God’s will for Warren Cowdery, the older brother of Oliver Cowdery. Warren Cowdery, who lived in Freedom, New York, had been baptized into the church sometime between May and September 1834. Before his baptism, he had sympathized with the Saints’ plight in Missouri. He had also opened his home to JS when JS and others came to Freedom in March 1834 to recruit members for the Camp of Israel. Shortly after JS’s visit, a branch of the church was established in Freedom; when Parley P. Pratt visited the area in April 1834, he noted that ‘a large Church’ was there, ‘consisting of some forty members or more,’ many of whom had been baptized by Orson Pratt. Sometime after his own baptism, Warren Cowdery noted that the members of the church in Freedom were in need of ‘a preacher of our order’ who could ‘do us good, by strengthening and building us up in the most holy faith.’ Although he seemed to be calling for an elder to be sent to the branch, he may have meant that the branch needed a presiding authority, the position to which he was called in this revelation. In an October 1834 letter, he told Oliver that he ‘had thoughts of requesting you to enquire what is the will of the Lord concerning me,’ stating that he sometimes thought he could be ‘useful in the vineyard of the Lord.’ This revelation was apparently dictated after Oliver received Warren’s letter. In addition to designating Warren as a presiding high priest in Freedom, the revelation gave admonitions and promises to him and provided instruction concerning the second advent of Jesus Christ.

“Warren Cowdery was likely not present when the revelation was dictated, because he wrote letters to Oliver Cowdery from Freedom on 22 and 28 November. However, he may have come to Kirtland, Ohio, shortly thereafter, because the Kirtland high council had determined in September 1834 that high priests were to be ordained by that council, and there is no indication Warren Cowdery was a high priest before this revelation was dictated. Whatever the case, commentary in the December 1834 issue of the Latter Day Saints' Messenger and Advocate called him 'the presiding elder of the church at Freedom, N. Y.,' indicating that by the time that issue was published, some action had been taken on this revelation's instructions.

"The original of this revelation is not extant. Sometime after its dictation, Oliver Cowdery recorded it in Revelation Book 2."

Historical Background

JSP

“In early 1835, twelve men were called to serve as apostles in the Church of the Latter Day Saints, and numerous elders were appointed as members of the Seventy. In March 1835, JS and the Twelve Apostles decided that because of ‘the many pressing requests from the eastern churches,’ the apostles would conduct a series of conferences in the eastern United States. These conferences were held ‘for the purpose of regulat[ing] all things necessary’ for the welfare of the branches of the church in those areas. It appears that sometime before the Twelve departed on 4 May 1835 to begin holding these conferences, JS presented them with this instruction, which outlined information about priesthood and church governance. The document indicated that there were two major divisions of priesthood in the church—the Melchizedek priesthood and the Aaronic priesthood—and explained the responsibilities of the Twelve Apostles, the Seventy, bishops, and other officers in the church. This instruction was apparently meant to aid the Twelve in their regulation of the eastern branches, while also providing detailed information about the responsibilities of priesthood officers. Like the earlier ‘Articles and Covenants’ of the church, the instruction became an important document establishing significant doctrines on the governing bodies of the church and on the priesthood itself.

“The Instruction on Priesthood compiled information from previous JS revelations. Much of the instruction came from a revelation JS had dictated in November 1831.¹ According to some observers, JS dictated other parts of the instruction as an 1835 revelation. Some of the instruction also elaborated on ideas first presented in a September 1832 revelation, indicating that JS was gaining new understanding into concepts of priesthood and leadership.² Oliver Cowdery, who assisted in calling the Twelve and giving them their ‘charge’ as apostles, was probably involved in the instruction’s preparation; Brigham Young later remembered JS spending ‘two hours laboring with Elder Cowdery to get him to write’ what Young called a ‘Revelation on Priesthood’—probably this instruction.³ Indeed, when the instruction was published in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, it was designated as an instruction ‘On Priesthood.’ Church members saw the instruction as coming from God. Heber C. Kimball, for example, referred to the instruction as something ‘the Lord’ had ‘bestow[ed] upon’ the Saints through ‘Brother Joseph’ and explained that the Twelve Apostles ‘praised the Lord’ for its contents.

“Exactly when in 1835 the instruction appeared in its complete form is unclear. Although it may have been prepared directly after the Twelve’s calling on 14 February 1835, it was probably presented in written form no earlier than 1 March. At a meeting of the Twelve on 27 February 1835, JS asked the apostles to discuss the question, ‘What importance is attached to the callings of these twelve apostles differrent from the other callings and offices of the chu[r]ch,’ suggesting that he had not at that point instructed them on this matter. JS explained during this meeting that it was ‘all important that the twelve should understand the power and authority of the priesthoods, for without this knowledge they can do nothing to profit.’ JS also proclaimed that the Twelve were ‘called to a travelling high council to preside over all the churches of the saints among the gentiles when there is no presidency established.’ The Twelve were ‘to travel and preach among the Gentiles until the Lord shall command them to go to the Jews.’ They were also to hold ‘the keys of this ministry— to unlock the door of the kingdom of heaven unto all nations and preach the Gospel unto every creation.’ Similar explanations appear in the featured instruction. In addition, the instruction contains detailed information about the office of Seventy, which was first instituted in the church at meetings held on 28 February and 1 March 1835. It is unlikely that the instruction was completed before this office was formally introduced into the church.

¹This is referring to a revelation given on 11 November 1831.

²This is a reference to DC 84.

³The JSP note here says, “School of the Prophets Provo Records, 15 Apr. 1868, 5–6.”

“It is possible that JS formally presented the instruction to the Twelve on 26 April 1835. The minutes of a meeting held on that date state, ‘This day, pursuant to previous appointment, the Twelve Apostles and the Seventy (a part of whom had already been chosen,) assembled in the temple (altho’ unfinished.) with a numerous concourse of people in order to receive our charge and instructions from President Joseph Smith Jun relative to our mission and duties.’ The minutes, however, do not provide more detail on the instruction JS gave. Another possibility is that the featured instruction was presented in a 28 April 1835 meeting of the Twelve. At that meeting, a motion was carried that each apostle ‘forgive one another every wrong that has existed among us,’ which may have been the ‘general confession’ mentioned in the later JS history. In any case, this instruction was likely given to the Twelve before they left Kirtland on 4 May 1835, and it was certainly prepared by 26 May 1835, when William W. Phelps sent his wife, Sally Waterman Phelps, printed copies of ‘the Six first forms of the Doctrine and Covenants,’ which included the instruction.

“Although not covering all operations of church administration, the instruction captures information about the coordination of church governance between bishops, the presidency of the high priesthood, and newer offices such as the high council, the Twelve Apostles, and the Seventy. It also gives specific names for the two priesthoods in the church—Melchizedek for the higher priesthood and Aaronic for the lower—and explains why those two names were applied to these priesthoods.¹ The instruction explains that the presidency of the high priesthood has the right to officiate in all offices of the church and further illuminates the role of the bishop in the church, explaining that the bishopric is the presidency of the Aaronic priesthood. Essentially, this document updated the Articles and Covenants and other revelations on church administration and codified the roles of the new offices.

“No manuscript copies of the complete instruction are extant. The featured version was published in the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, which was issued in September of that year. The volume includes two sections: one containing lectures on the doctrine of the church; and the other containing the church’s ‘Covenants and Commandments,’ or JS’s revelations. This instruction is the third document in the ‘Covenants and Commandments’ portion, directly following a revelatory preface and the foundational Articles and Covenants of the church. It is likely that at least some members of the Twelve took copies of the instruction with them to the eastern United States to use in their conferences. Minutes of a conference held in Westfield, New York, in May, for example, mention the Twelve providing ‘much explanation’ about ‘the nature and principles of church government,’ items that the instruction addresses. An August 1835 letter from Kirtland church leaders to the Twelve also contains a reference that suggests the Twelve had an advanced copy of the published version of the instruction at that time.”

¹JSP note: “Earlier revelations had associated Melchizedek with the higher priesthood and Aaron with the lesser priesthood. The Book of Mormon noted that Melchizedek was a high priest, and JS’s Bible revision explained that ‘Melchisedec was ordained a priest after the order of the Son of God.’ JS and Sidney Rigdon’s account of a February 1832 vision of the afterlife explained that those in the highest kingdom of glory were ‘priests of the most high after the order of Melchesadeck which was after the order of Enoch which was after the order of the only begotten son.’ A September 1832 revelation stated that Abraham received the higher priesthood from Melchizedek, whereas the lesser priesthood was given to Aaron and his seed. While at an April 1834 meeting, JS referred to the ‘priesthood of Aaron’ as something distinct from the higher priesthood. When JS ordained Oliver Cowdery an assistant president in the presidency of the high priesthood, JS referred to the priesthood as being ‘after the order of Melchizedek.’ (Book of Mormon, 1830 ed., 260 [Alma 13:14]; New Testament Revision 2, p. 139 [second numbering] [Joseph Smith Translation, Hebrews 7:3]; Vision, 16 Feb. 1832 [D&C 76:56–57]; Revelation, 22–23 Sept. 1832 [D&C 84:14, 18]; Minutes and Discourse, 21 Apr. 1834; Account of Meetings, Revelation, and Blessing, 5–6 Dec. 1834; see also Old Testament Revision 1, pp. 33–34 [Joseph Smith Translation, Genesis 14:26–33].)”

Section 107:6

But there are two divisions or grand heads⁵—one is the Melchizedek Priesthood, and the other is the Aaronic or Levitical Priesthood.⁶

¹Note that in the 1835 and 1844 DC versions of this revelation, there is a huge heading at the beginning which reads, “ON PRIESTHOOD.”

²President Openshaw was the first to call my attention to the importance of this qualifier, “in the church.” It appears to mean, “in the church as it is organized on this earth.” See verses 8–9, among other places. As far as I can tell, there are no manuscript sources of these verses in the first part of the revelation, so there’s nothing to check against.

³The JST of Genesis 14 has a lot more information about Melchizedek; see section c but particularly sections d and e.

⁴Compare DC 84:18 and DC 93:20. For more on this “order,” see also DC 107:40–57; JST OTR1 Genesis 14 section d; Alma 13:1–16. For other related ideas and commentary, see John 5:26 and notes there, ⁵Definition #20 of the 1828 dictionary for “head” is “Topic of discourse; chief point or subject; a summary; as the heads of a discourse or treatise.” As an adjective, the word means “chief, principal,” so it could be a substantive adjective here. One way to understand this remark here is to think of the “heads” of the Melchizedek and Aaronic priesthoods as subsets of the whole system of laws that compose the priesthood generally; for human beings, these two subsets happen to be very important. See the JS 5 January 1841 remark at Priesthood.

⁶Here the Aaronic priesthood seems to be equated with the Levitical priesthood; it may be that they can officiate in the same ordinances, but I think the difference has to do with the line of descent.

Section 107:7

The office of an elder comes under the priesthood of Melchizedek.

Section 107:8

The Melchizedek Priesthood holds the right of presidency, and has power and authority over all the offices in the church in all ages of the world, to administer in spiritual things.

Section 107:9

The Presidency of the High Priesthood, after the order of Melchizedek, have a right to officiate in all the offices in the church.

Section 107:10

High priests after the order of the Melchizedek Priesthood have a right to officiate in their own standing, under the direction of the presidency, in administering spiritual things, and also in the office of an elder, priest (of the Levitical order), teacher, deacon, and member.

Section 107:11

An elder has a right to officiate in his stead when the high priest is not present.

Section 107:12

The high priest and elder are to administer in spiritual things, agreeable to the covenants and commandments of the church; and they have a right to officiate in all these offices of the church when there are no higher authorities present.

Section 107:13

The second priesthood is called the Priesthood of Aaron, because it was conferred upon Aaron and his seed, throughout all their generations.

Section 107:14

Why it is called the lesser priesthood is because it is an appendage to the greater, or the Melchizedek Priesthood, and has power in administering outward¹ ordinances.

Section 107:15

The bishopric is the presidency of this priesthood, and holds the keys or authority of the same.

¹See discussion of the phrase “outward ordinances” and definitions of “outward” here. The contrast with “outward” appears to be “spiritual,” as in “spiritual blessings” in verse 18.

Section 107:16

No man has a legal right to this office, to hold the keys of this priesthood, except he be a literal descendant of Aaron.¹

Section 107:17

But as a high priest of the Melchizedek Priesthood has authority to officiate in all the lesser offices, he may officiate in the office of bishop when no literal descendant of Aaron can be found, provided he is called and set apart and ordained unto this power by the hands of the Presidency of the Melchizedek Priesthood.

Section 107:21

Of necessity there are presidents, or presiding officers growing out of, or appointed of or from among those who are ordained to the several offices in these two priesthood.

Section 107:22

Of the Melchizedek Priesthood, three Presiding High Priests, chosen by the body, appointed and ordained to that office, and upheld by the confidence, faith, and prayer of the church, form a quorum of the Presidency of the Church.

¹The way this discussion goes, it also seems like it's referring to the Levitical priesthood, and maybe it would just restrict the line of descent to those of Levite descent.

Section 107:29

Unless this is the case, their decisions are not entitled to the same blessings which the decisions of a quorum of three presidents were anciently, who were ordained after the order of Melchizedek, and were righteous and holy men.

Section 107:30

The decisions of these quorums, or either of them, are to be made in all righteousness, in holiness, and lowliness of heart, meekness and long suffering, and in faith, and virtue, and knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness and charity;

Section 107:31

Because the promise is, ¹if these things abound in them they shall not be unfruitful in the knowledge of the Lord.

Section 107:32

And in case that any decision of these quorums is made in unrighteousness, it may be brought before a general assembly of the several quorums, which constitute the spiritual authorities of the church; otherwise there can be no appeal from their decision.

Section 107:33

The Twelve are a Traveling Presiding High Council, to officiate in the name of the Lord, under the direction of the Presidency of the Church, agreeable to the institution of heaven; to build up the church, and regulate all the affairs of the same in all nations, first unto the Gentiles and secondly unto the Jews.

Section 107:34

Section 107:38

It is the duty of the traveling high council to call upon the Seventy, when they need assistance, to fill the several calls for preaching and administering the gospel, instead of any others.

JSP 17 It is the duty of the twelve in all large branches of the church, to ordain evangelical ministers, as they shall be designated unto them by revelation.

Section 107:40

¹The order of this priesthood² was confirmed to be handed down from father to son, and rightly belongs to the literal descendants of the chosen seed,³ to whom the promises were made.

¹Notice how, in the JSP (1835 DC), the previous verse is a numbered section by itself and ends with a period. The way it is written now is very confusing, with the m-dash, because it makes it seem like verse 39 is somehow related to this one or is an introduction to it or something. That isn't right. Verse 40 here begins a new major division of this revelation (which goes until the end of verse 57).

²I think we must be talking about the Melchizedek priesthood here, given that the text has just been naming offices and duties belonging to that priesthood.

³Referring to Abraham here, maybe? This is why I think it's significant that Melchizedek was not a descendant of Abraham. But from verse 42 it could be Seth, and from the rest of the verses following that it looks like it should be Adam.

Section 107:41

This order was instituted in the days of Adam, and came down by lineage in the following manner:

Section 107:42

From Adam to Seth, who was ordained by Adam at the age of sixty-nine years, and was blessed by him three years previous to his (Adam's) death, and received the promise of God by his father, that his posterity should be the chosen of the Lord, and that they should be preserved unto the end of the earth;

Section 107:43

Because he (Seth) was a perfect man, and his likeness was the express likeness of his father, insomuch that he seemed to be like unto his father in all things, and could be distinguished from him only by his age.¹

Section 107:44

Enos was ordained at the age of one hundred and thirty-four years and four months, by the hand of Adam.

Section 107:45

God called upon Cainan in the wilderness in the fortieth year of his age; and he met Adam in journeying to the place Shedolamak. He was eighty-seven years old when he received his ordination.

Section 107:46

Mahalaleel was four hundred and ninety-six years and seven days old when he was ordained by the hand of Adam, who also blessed him.

Section 107:47

Jared was two hundred years old when he was ordained under the hand of Adam, who also blessed him.

Section 107:48

Enoch was twenty-five years old when he was ordained under the hand of Adam; and he was sixty-five and Adam blessed him.

Section 107:49

And he saw the Lord, and he walked with him, and was before his face continually; and he walked with God three hundred and sixty-five years, making him four hundred and thirty years old when he was translated.

Section 107:50

Methuselah was one hundred years old when he was ordained under the hand of Adam.

¹I wonder if this verse could also be taken as a description of the relationship between Christ and the Father.

Section 107:51

Lamech was thirty-two years old when he was ordained under the hand of Seth.

Section 107:52

Noah was ten years old when he was ordained under the hand of Methuselah.

Section 107:53

Three years previous to the death of Adam, he called Seth, Enos, Cainan, Mahalaleel, Jared, Enoch, and Methuselah, who were all high priests, with the residue of his posterity who were righteous, into the valley of Adam-ondi-Ahman, and there bestowed upon them his last blessing.

Section 107:54

And the Lord appeared unto them, and they rose up and blessed Adam, and called him Michael, the prince, the archangel.

Section 107:55

And the Lord administered comfort unto Adam, and said unto him: I have set thee to be at the head; a multitude of nations shall come of thee,¹ and thou art a prince over them forever.

Section 107:56

And Adam stood up in the midst of the congregation; and, notwithstanding he was bowed down with age, being full of the Holy Ghost, predicted² whatsoever should befall his posterity unto the latest generation.

Section 107:57

These things were all written in the book of Enoch,³ and are to be testified of in due time.

Section 107:58

It is the duty of the Twelve, also, to ordain and set in order all the other officers of the church, agreeable to the revelation which says:

Section 107:59

To the church of Christ in the land of Zion, in addition to the church laws respecting church business—

Section 107:60

Verily, I say unto you, saith the Lord of Hosts, there must needs be presiding elders to preside over those who are of the office of an elder;

¹Notice how these promises are very similar to the ones given to Abraham. There is something important about the promise of posterity, especially when you think of JS and BY's later remarks about the constituents of a kingdom.

²This is the only use of "predict" anywhere in the scriptures.

³This appears to be the only reference in the scriptures to the "book of Enoch."

Section 107:61

And also priests to preside over those who are of the office of a priest;

Section 107:62

And also teachers to preside over those who are of the office of a teacher, in like manner, and also the deacons—

Section 107:63

Wherefore, from deacon to teacher, and from teacher to priest, and from priest to elder, severally as they are appointed, according to the covenants and commandments of the church.

Section 107:64

Then comes the High Priesthood, which is the greatest of all.

Section 107:65

Wherefore, it must needs be that one be appointed of the High Priesthood to preside over the priesthood, and he shall be called President of the High Priesthood of the Church;

Section 107:66

Or, in other words, the Presiding High Priest over the High Priesthood of the Church.

Section 107:67

From the same comes the administering of ordinances and blessings upon the church, by the laying on of the hands.

Section 107:68

Wherefore, the office of a bishop is not equal unto it; for the office of a bishop is in administering all temporal things;

Section 107:69

Nevertheless a bishop must be chosen from the High Priesthood, unless he is a literal descendant of Aaron;

Section 107:70

For unless he is a literal descendant of Aaron he cannot hold the keys of that priesthood.

Section 107:71

Nevertheless, a high priest, that is, after the order of Melchizedek, may be set apart unto the ministering of temporal things, having a knowledge of them by the Spirit of truth;

Section 107:72

And also to be a judge in Israel, to do the business of the church, to sit in judgment upon transgressors upon testimony as it shall be laid before him according to the laws, by the assistance of his counselors, whom he has chosen or will choose among the elders of the church.

Section 107:73

This is the duty of a bishop who is not a literal descendant of Aaron, but has been ordained to the High Priesthood after the order of Melchizedek.

Section 107:74

Thus shall he be a judge, even a common judge among the inhabitants of Zion, or in a stake of Zion, or in any branch of the church where he shall be set apart unto this ministry, until the borders of Zion are enlarged and it becomes necessary to have other bishops or judges in Zion or elsewhere.

Section 107:75

And inasmuch as there are other bishops appointed they shall act in the same office.

Section 107:76

But a literal descendant of Aaron has a legal right to the presidency of this priesthood, to the keys of this ministry, to act in the office of bishop independently, without counselors, except in a case where a President of the High Priesthood, after the order of Melchizedek, is tried, to sit as a judge in Israel.

Section 107:77

And the decision of either of these councils, agreeable to the commandment which says:

Section 107:78

Again, verily, I say unto you, the most important business of the church, and the most difficult cases of the church, inasmuch as there is not satisfaction upon the decision of the bishop or judges, it shall be handed over and carried up unto the council of the church, before the Presidency of the High Priesthood.

Section 107:79

And the Presidency of the council of the High Priesthood shall have power to call other high priests, even twelve, to assist as counselors; and thus the Presidency of the High Priesthood and its counselors shall have power to decide upon testimony according to the laws of the church.

Section 107:80

And after this decision it shall be had in remembrance no more before the Lord; for this is the highest council of the church of God, and a final decision upon controversies in spiritual matters.

Section 107:81

There is not any person belonging to the church who is exempt from this council of the church.

Section 107:82

And inasmuch as a President of the High Priesthood shall transgress, he shall be had in remembrance before the common council of the church, who shall be assisted by twelve counselors of the High Priesthood;

Section 107:83

And their decision upon his head shall be an end of controversy concerning him.

Section 107:84

Thus, none shall be exempted from the justice and the laws of God, that all things may be done in order and in solemnity before him, according to truth and righteousness.

Section 107:85

And again, verily I say unto you, the duty of a president over the office of a deacon is to preside over twelve deacons, to sit in council with them, and to teach them their duty, edifying one another, as it is given according to the covenants.

Section 107:86

And also the duty of the president over the office of the teachers is to preside over twenty-four of the teachers, and to sit in council with them, teaching them the duties of their office, as given in the covenants.

Section 107:87

Also the duty of the president over the Priesthood of Aaron is to preside over forty-eight priests, and sit in council with them, to teach them the duties of their office, as is given in the covenants—

Section 107:88

This president is to be a bishop; for this is one of the duties of this priesthood.

Section 107:89

Again, the duty of the president over the office of elders is to preside over ninety-six elders, and to sit in council with them, and to teach them according to the covenants.

Section 107:90

This presidency is a distinct one from that of the seventy, and is designed for those who do not travel into all the world.

Section 107:91

And again, the duty of the President of the office of the High Priesthood is to preside over the whole church, and to be like unto Moses—

Section 107:92

Behold, here is wisdom; yea, to be a seer, a revelator, a translator, and a prophet, having all the gifts of God which he bestows upon the head of the church.

Section 107:93

And it is according to the vision showing the order of the Seventy, that they should have seven presidents to preside over them, chosen out of the number of the seventy;

Section 107:94

And the seventh president of these presidents is to preside over the six;

Section 107:95

And these seven presidents are to choose other seventy besides the first seventy to whom they belong, and are to preside over them;

Section 107:96

And also other seventy, until seven times seventy, if the labor in the vineyard of necessity requires it.

Section 107:97

And these seventy are to be traveling ministers, unto the Gentiles first and also unto the Jews.

Section 107:98

Whereas other officers of the church, who belong not unto the Twelve, neither to the Seventy, are not under the responsibility to travel among all nations, but are to travel as their circumstances shall allow, notwithstanding they may hold as high and responsible offices in the church.

Section 107:99

Wherefore, now let every man learn his duty, and to act in the office in which he is appointed, in all diligence.

Section 107:100

He that is slothful shall not be counted worthy to stand, and he that learns not his duty and shows himself not approved shall not be counted worthy to stand. Even so. Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“On the morning after Christmas Day in 1835, Lyman Sherman, one of the presidents of the Seventy, asked JS to petition God for a revelation that ‘should make known [his] duty.’ In response, JS dictated this revelation.

“Sherman, then thirty-one years old, had distinguished himself as a faithful Latter-day Saint prior to his request. He joined the church in western New York in January 1832 and relocated his family 120 miles west to Kirtland, Ohio, sometime around June 1833. Sherman marched to Missouri in May 1834 with about two hundred others as part of the Camp of Israel expedition. In February 1835, he was called as one of seven presidents over the Seventy, a newly established priesthood office. In his ordination blessing, Sherman was told, ‘Your ministry shall be great and you shall proclaim to various nations. Your faith shall be unshaken and you shall be delivered from great afflictions.’ At a May 1835 conference, church leaders voted that Sherman, along with the other presidents of the Seventy, should ‘hold himself in readiness to go at the call of the Twelve, when the Lord opens the way.’ Sherman likely left Kirtland during summer 1835 to preach in local communities, though he may have remained in Kirtland and prepared himself to preach as he had been instructed.

“On 26 December, Sherman called on JS as he was studying Hebrew with Frederick G. Williams and Warren Parrish. According to JS’s journal, Sherman entered the room in which they were studying and asked ‘to have the word of the lord’ through JS. ‘I have been wrought upon to make known to you my feelings and desires,’ he told JS, adding that he had been promised by the Lord that ‘I should have a revelation which should make known my duty.’ Sometime before the end of the day, JS dictated a revelation—presumably to Williams, who was acting temporarily as JS’s scribe—that addressed Sherman’s concerns. Williams later copied the revelation into JS’s journal. That copy, which is the earliest extant version, is featured here.”

Section 109 (27 March 1836)

Historical Background

JSP

“The dedication of the House of the Lord in Kirtland, Ohio, on 27 March 1836 was the result of years of devoted effort. In summer and fall 1835, men and women worked side by side to complete the temple. Men generally did masonry work, drove cattle, and hauled rock, while women generally spun, knit, and wove clothes for workers, ‘us[ing] every exertion in their power to forward the work.’ Women also worked on the veils, or curtains, that hung in the House of the Lord, and JS ‘pronounced a blessing upon the Sisters for the liberality in giving their servises so cheerfully.’² Men likewise found great satisfaction in their work building the religious edifice. Newel Knight, for instance, rejoiced in his labors because it had been ‘a long time since the Lord had a house on the Earth’ and he believed that in the House of the Lord, the Saints would receive the promised endowment of divine power.

“By late March 1836, the building and the church members were prepared for a dedicatory meeting. On 26 March, the day before the dedication, JS, Oliver Cowdery, Sidney Rigdon, and JS’s two scribes, Warren A. Cowdery and Warren Parrish, met in the president’s room on the attic floor of the temple to prepare for the dedication. Oliver Cowdery noted in his diary that at this meeting he ‘assisted in writing a prayer for the dedication of the house.’¹ The text of the prayer, likely set in type on the printing press of the Messenger and Advocate that night, was printed as a broadside for JS to read at the dedication the following day.

“On Sunday morning, 27 March, a crowd of approximately one thousand people filled the building to capacity. Some of those unable to enter held a meeting in the adjacent schoolhouse while others returned home to await a second dedicatory event. At nine o’clock, Rigdon commenced the meeting with an opening prayer and preliminary remarks. Following a hymn, Rigdon addressed the congregation for two and a half hours on a variety of topics. Rigdon then presented JS’s name to the congregation as ‘Prophet and Seer,’ followed by a systematic vote by each quorum of the church and others in attendance. All voted unanimously in the affirmative. In the afternoon session, JS addressed the congregation first. He presented the names of the church’s First Presidency ‘as Prophets and Seers’ and the Twelve Apostles ‘as Prophets and Seers and special witnesses to all the nations of the earth,’ and he invited the congregation to signify their support for these officers by rising. He then similarly presented the other quorums and officers. Each group was upheld separately by a systematic vote similar to the vote Rigdon presented in the morning session. After another hymn, JS stood at the pulpit and read the prayer of dedication—the first dedication of a temple in Latter-day Saint history.

¹HDHC 1440 has just a bit more of this journal entry. It’s available on the CHL website, and in the copy I have downloaded it’s PDF 27 for the following (transcribed by me). Speaking of Saturday 26 March 1836 Cowdery writes: “This day our school did not keep, we prepared for the dedication of the Lord’s house. I met in the presidents room pres. J. Smith, p S. Rigdon, my brother W. A. Cowdery & Elder W Parrish, and assisted to in writing a prayer for the dedication of the house.”

“The dedicatory prayer alluded to earlier revelations and events and petitioned both God and Jesus Christ for blessings, mercy, and deliverance for the Saints. In particular, the prayer referenced JS’s late December 1832 revelation commanding the Saints to build the ‘house of God,’ and it also recounted the 1833 violence against the Latter-day Saints in Jackson County, Missouri. In the prayer, JS asked that the House of the Lord be accepted and that it be a place where the glory of God could rest down upon his children. JS also requested that God remember the oppression the Saints had faced in their efforts to follow his commandments. He pleaded for priesthood holders to be protected and empowered with spiritual gifts and power so that they might be better equipped to go out preaching. The prayer also expressed desire that the Saints might be blessed to grow up in the ways of God. All those in attendance unanimously accepted the prayer by vote.

“Both the minutes of this meeting and accounts by Latter-day Saints who attended the dedication report miracles, heavenly visitations, and a spiritual outpouring. Frederick G. Williams reported that a ‘Holy Angel of God’ entered the temple during the prayer of dedication. Following the prayer, Brigham Young ‘gave a short address in tongues.’ At the conclusion of the day’s events, JS ‘blessed the congregation in the name of the Lord’ and ended the meeting ‘a little past four P. M.’

“The importance the Saints placed on attending the dedication of the House of the Lord is manifest in participant accounts. For example, according to Benjamin Brown and Eliza R. Snow, one woman could not find anyone with whom to leave her two-month-old child so that she could attend the dedication. She implored Joseph Smith Sr. to allow her to enter the House of the Lord with her child even though young children were not allowed at the meeting. Upon this request, Joseph Smith Sr. reportedly said to the doorkeepers on duty, ‘Brethren we do not Exercise faith[;] my faith is this child will not cry a word in the House to day.’ Brown observed, ‘On this the woman & child entered and the child did not cry a word from 8 till 4 in the after noon. But when the saints all shouted Hosana the child was nursing But let go & shouted also when the saints paused it paused when they shouted it shouted for three times when they shouted amen it shouted also for three times then it resumed its nursing without any alarm.’

“According to participants, the events following the dedicatory meeting included an outpouring of spiritual gifts similar to that experienced by the apostles in the New Testament on the day of Pentecost. JS requested that ‘all official members,’ meaning men who had been ordained to the priesthood, meet again in the House of the Lord that evening for instruction ‘respecting the ordinance of washing of feet.’ That evening meeting ‘was designed as a continuation of our pentecost,’ wrote participant Stephen Post, and according to his journal, ‘Angels of God came into the room, cloven tongues rested upon some of the servants of the Lord like unto fire, & they spake with tongues and prophesied.’ In another description of the evening meeting, Oliver Cowdery wrote, ‘The spirit was poured out—I saw the glory of God, like a great cloud, come down and rest upon the house, and fill the same like a mighty rushing wind. I also saw cloven tongues, like as of fire rest upon many, (for there were 316 present,) while they spake with other tongues and prophesied.’ Levi Jackman similarly declared, ‘I believe that as great things were heard and felt and seen as there was on the day of Pentecost with the apostles.’ Writing to his wife, Sarah Brown, Benjamin Brown recorded that on the evening of the dedication, ‘one saw a pillar or cloud rest down upon the house bright as when the sun shines on a cloud like as gold, two others saw three personages hovering in the room with bright keys in their hands.’

“On Thursday, 31 March, JS and the First Presidency again performed the dedicatory ceremonies ‘for the benefit of those who could not get into the house on the preceeding Sabbath.’ According to JS’s journal, the services that day were ‘prosecuted and terminated in the same manner as at the former dedication and the spirit of God rested upon the congregation and great solemnity prevailed.’

“There are two extant versions of the minutes of the 27 March dedication, one in manuscript and the other in print. JS’s scribe Warren Parrish made a record of the meeting that he copied into JS’s journal. Though not credited, Oliver Cowdery created the official minutes, featured here, which were then published in the Messenger and Advocate. The original minutes are no longer extant, and, unlike other minutes Oliver Cowdery kept in this period, these minutes were never copied into Minute Book 1. The lack of an original copy and minute book entry may be accounted for by the timely publication of the minutes. Substantive differences between the two extant versions are noted below.”

And now thou beholdest, O Lord, that thy servants have done according to thy commandment.

Section 109:4

And now we ask thee, Holy Father, in the name of Jesus Christ, the Son of thy bosom, in whose name alone salvation can be administered to the children of men, we ask thee, O Lord, to accept of this house, the workmanship of the hands of us, thy servants, which thou didst command us to build.

For thou knowest that we have done this work through great tribulation; and out of our poverty we have given of our substance to build a house to thy name, that the Son of Man might have a place to manifest himself to his people.

Section 109:6

And as thou hast said in a revelation, given to us, calling us thy friends, saying—Call your solemn assembly, as I have commanded you;

Section 109:7

And as all have not faith, seek ye diligently and teach one another words of wisdom; yea, seek ye out of the best books words of wisdom, seek learning even by study and also by faith;

Section 109:8

Organize yourselves; prepare every needful thing, and establish a house, even a house of prayer, a house of fasting, a house of faith, a house of learning, a house of glory, a house of order, a house of God;

Section 109:9

That your incomings may be in the name of the Lord, that your outgoings may be in the name of the Lord, that all your salutations may be in the name of the Lord, with uplifted hands unto the Most High—

Section 109:10

And now, Holy Father, we ask thee to assist us, thy people, with thy grace, in calling our solemn assembly, that it may be done to thine honor and to thy divine acceptance;

Section 109:11

And in a manner that we may be found worthy, in thy sight, to secure a fulfilment of the promises which thou hast made unto us, thy people, in the revelations given unto us;

Section 109:12

That thy glory may rest down upon thy people, and upon this thy house, which we now dedicate to thee, that it may be sanctified and consecrated to be holy, and that thy holy presence may be continually in this house;

Section 109:13

And that all people who shall enter upon the threshold of the Lord's house may feel thy power, and feel constrained to acknowledge that thou hast sanctified it, and that it is thy house, a place of thy holiness.

Section 109:14

And do thou grant, Holy Father, that all those who shall worship in this house may be taught words of wisdom out of the best books, and that they may seek learning even by study, and also by faith, as thou hast said;

Section 109:15

And that they may grow up¹ in thee, and receive a fulness of the Holy Ghost, and be organized according to thy laws, and be prepared to obtain every needful thing;

Section 109:16

And that this house may be a house of prayer, a house of fasting, a house of faith, a house of glory and of God, even thy house;

Section 109:17

That all the incomings of thy people, into this house, may be in the name of the Lord;

Section 109:18

That all their outgoings from this house may be in the name of the Lord;

¹See 1 Corinthians 3:2 and notes there on this process of spiritual development. I see it as a stage of growth that primarily takes place after the new birth, I think.

Section 109:19

And that all their salutations may be in the name of the Lord, with holy hands, uplifted to the Most High;

Section 109:20

And that no unclean thing shall be permitted to come into thy house to pollute it;

Section 109:21

And when thy people transgress, any of them, they may speedily repent and return unto thee, and find favor in thy sight, and be restored to the blessings which thou hast ordained to be poured out upon those who shall reverence thee in thy house.

Section 109:22

And we ask thee, Holy Father, that thy servants may go forth from this house armed with thy power, and that thy name may be upon them, and thy glory be round about them, and thine angels have charge over them;

Section 109:23

And from this place they may bear exceedingly great and glorious tidings, in truth, unto the ends of the earth, that they may know that this is thy work, and that thou hast put forth thy hand, to fulfil that which thou hast spoken by the mouths of the prophets, concerning the last days.

Section 109:24

We ask thee, Holy Father, to establish the people that shall worship, and honorably hold a name and standing in this thy house, to all generations and for eternity;

Section 109:25

That no weapon formed against them shall prosper; that he who diggeth a pit for them shall fall into the same himself;

Section 109:26

That no combination of wickedness shall have power to rise up and prevail over thy people upon whom thy name shall be put in this house;

Section 109:27

And if any people shall rise against this people, that thine anger be kindled against them;

Section 109:28

And if they shall smite this people thou wilt smite them; thou wilt fight for thy people as thou didst in the day of battle, that they may be delivered from the hands of all their enemies.

Section 109:29

We ask thee, Holy Father, to confound, and astonish, and to bring to shame and confusion, all those who have spread lying reports abroad, over the world, against thy servant or servants, if they will not repent, when the everlasting gospel shall be proclaimed in their ears;

Section 109:30

And that all their works may be brought to naught, and be swept away by the hail, and by the judgments which thou wilt send upon them in thine anger, that there may be an end to lyings and slanders against thy people.

Section 109:31

For thou knowest, O Lord, that thy servants have been innocent before thee in bearing record of thy name, for which they have suffered these things.

Section 109:32

Therefore we plead before thee for a full and complete deliverance from under this yoke;

Section 109:33

Break it off, O Lord; break it off from the necks of thy servants, by thy power, that we may rise up in the midst of this generation and do thy work.

Section 109:34

O Jehovah,¹ have mercy upon this people, and as all men sin forgive the transgressions of thy people, and let them be blotted out forever.

Section 109:35

Let the anointing of thy ministers be sealed upon them with power from on high.

Section 109:36

Let it be fulfilled upon them, as upon those on the day of Pentecost; let the gift of tongues be poured out upon thy people, even cloven tongues as of fire, and the interpretation thereof.

Section 109:37

And let thy house be filled, as with a rushing mighty wind, with thy glory.

¹This is the first use of the name "Jehovah" in this section; it appears four times. The other three are in verses 42, 56, and 68. There are six total uses of the name in the DC all together; four here, plus two elsewhere. See them all here.

Section 109:38

Put upon thy servants the testimony of the covenant, that when they go out and proclaim thy word they may seal up the law, and prepare the hearts of thy saints for all those judgments thou art about to send, in thy wrath, upon the inhabitants of the earth, because of their transgressions, that thy people may not faint in the day of trouble.

Section 109:39

And whatsoever city thy servants shall enter, and the people of that city receive their testimony, let thy peace and thy salvation be upon that city; that they may gather out of that city the righteous, that they may come forth to Zion, or to her stakes, the places of thine appointment, with songs of everlasting joy;

Section 109:40

And until this be accomplished, let not thy judgments fall upon that city.

Section 109:41

And whatsoever city thy servants shall enter, and the people of that city receive not the testimony of thy servants, and thy servants warn them to save themselves from this untoward generation, let it be upon that city according to that which thou hast spoken by the mouths of thy prophets.

Section 109:42

But deliver thou, O Jehovah, we beseech thee, thy servants from their hands, and cleanse them from their blood.

Section 109:43

O Lord, we delight not in the destruction of our fellow men; their souls are precious before thee;

Section 109:44

But thy word must be fulfilled. Help thy servants to say, with thy grace assisting them: Thy will be done, O Lord, and not ours.

Section 109:45

We know that thou hast spoken by the mouth of thy prophets terrible things concerning the wicked, in the last days—that thou wilt pour out thy judgments, without measure;

Section 109:46

Therefore, O Lord, deliver thy people from the calamity of the wicked; enable thy servants to seal up the law, and bind up the testimony, that they may be prepared against the day of burning.

Section 109:47

We ask thee, Holy Father, to remember those who have been driven by the inhabitants of Jackson county, Missouri, from the lands of their inheritance, and break off, O Lord, this yoke of affliction that has been put upon them.

Section 109:48

Thou knowest, O Lord, that they have been greatly oppressed and afflicted by wicked men; and our hearts flow out with sorrow because of their grievous burdens.

Section 109:49

O Lord, how long wilt thou suffer this people to bear this affliction, and the cries of their innocent ones to ascend up in thine ears, and their blood come up in testimony before thee, and not make a display of thy testimony in their behalf?

Section 109:50

Have mercy, O Lord, upon the wicked mob, who have driven thy people, that they may cease to spoil, that they may repent of their sins if repentance is to be found;

Section 109:51

But if they will not, make bare thine arm, O Lord, and redeem that which thou didst appoint a Zion unto thy people.

Section 109:52

And if it cannot be otherwise, that the cause of thy people may not fail before thee may thine anger be kindled, and thine indignation fall upon them, that they may be wasted away, both root and branch, from under heaven;

Section 109:53

But inasmuch as they will repent, thou art gracious and merciful, and wilt turn away thy wrath when thou lookest upon the face of thine Anointed.¹

Section 109:54

Have mercy, O Lord, upon all the nations of the earth; have mercy upon the rulers of our land; may those principles, which were so honorably and nobly defended, namely, the Constitution of our land, by our fathers, be established forever.

Section 109:55

Remember the kings, the princes, the nobles, and the great ones of the earth, and all people, and the churches, all the poor, the needy, and afflicted ones of the earth;

Section 109:56

That their hearts may be softened when thy servants shall go out from thy house, O Jehovah, to bear testimony of thy name; that their prejudices may give way before the truth, and thy people may obtain favor in the sight of all;

Section 109:57

That all the ends of the earth may know that we, thy servants, have heard thy voice, and that thou hast sent us;

¹Compare DC 45:3–5.

Section 109:58

That from among all these, thy servants, the sons of Jacob, may gather out the righteous to build a holy city to thy name, as thou hast commanded them.

Section 109:59

We ask thee to appoint unto Zion other stakes besides this one which thou hast appointed, that the gathering of thy people may roll on in great power and majesty, that thy work may be cut short in righteousness.

Section 109:60

Now these words, O Lord, we have spoken before thee, concerning the revelations and commandments which thou hast given unto us, who are identified with the Gentiles.

Section 109:61

But thou knowest that thou hast a great love for the children of Jacob, who have been scattered upon the mountains for a long time, in a cloudy and dark day.

Section 109:62

We therefore ask thee to have mercy upon the children of Jacob, that Jerusalem, from this hour, may begin to be redeemed;

Section 109:63

And the yoke of bondage may begin to be broken off from the house of David;

Section 109:64

And the children of Judah may begin to return to the lands which thou didst give to Abraham, their father.

Section 109:65

And cause that the remnants of Jacob, who have been cursed and smitten because of their transgression, be converted from their wild and savage condition to the fulness of the everlasting gospel;

Section 109:66

That they may lay down their weapons of bloodshed, and cease their rebellions.

Section 109:67

And may all the scattered remnants of Israel, who have been driven to the ends of the earth, come to a knowledge of the truth, believe in the Messiah, and be redeemed from oppression, and rejoice before thee.

Section 109:68

O Lord, remember thy servant, Joseph Smith, Jun., and all his afflictions and persecutions—how he has covenanted with Jehovah, and vowed to thee, O Mighty God of Jacob—and the commandments which thou hast given unto him, and that he hath sincerely striven to do thy will.

Section 109:69

Have mercy, O Lord, upon his wife and children, that they may be exalted in thy presence, and preserved by thy fostering hand.

Section 109:70

Have mercy upon all their immediate connections, that their prejudices may be broken up and swept away as with a flood; that they may be converted and redeemed with Israel, and know that thou art God.

Section 109:71

Remember, O Lord, the presidents, even all the presidents of thy church, that thy right hand may exalt them, with all their families, and their immediate connections, that their names may be perpetuated and had in everlasting remembrance from generation to generation.

Section 109:72

Remember all thy church, O Lord, with all their families, and all their immediate connections, with all their sick and afflicted ones, with all the poor and meek of the earth; that the kingdom, which thou hast set up without hands, may become a great mountain and fill the whole earth;

Section 109:73

That thy church may come forth out of the wilderness of darkness, and shine forth fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners;

Section 109:74

And be adorned as a bride for that day when thou shalt unveil the heavens, and cause the mountains to flow down at thy presence, and the valleys to be exalted, the rough places made smooth; that thy glory may fill the earth;

Section 109:75

That when the trump shall sound for the dead, we shall be caught up in the cloud to meet thee, that we may ever be with the Lord;

Section 109:76

That our garments may be pure, that we may be clothed upon with robes of righteousness,¹ with palms in our hands, and crowns of glory upon our heads, and reap eternal joy for all our sufferings.

¹See Isaiah 61:10.

Section 109:77

O Lord God Almighty, hear us in these our petitions, and answer us from heaven, thy holy habitation, where thou sittest enthroned, with glory, honor, power, majesty, might, dominion, truth, justice, judgment, mercy, and an infinity of fulness, from everlasting to everlasting.

Section 109:78

O hear, O hear, O hear us, O Lord! And answer these petitions, and accept the dedication of this house unto thee, the work of our hands, which we have built unto thy name;

Section 109:79

And also this church, to put upon it thy name. And help us by the power of thy Spirit, that we may mingle our voices with those bright, shining seraphs around thy throne, with acclamations of praise, singing Hosanna to God and the Lamb!

Section 109:80

And let these, thine anointed ones, be clothed with salvation, and thy saints shout aloud for joy. Amen, and Amen.

Section 110 (3 April 1836)

Historical Background

JSP

“According to the journal, after JS and Cowdery prayed, secluded in the curtains and pulpits of the temple, they had a miraculous vision of Jesus Christ, who accepted the House of the Lord as JS had prayed for at the dedication. The appearance was a fulfillment of a promise made in earlier JS revelations, that the Lord would show himself in the temple. Following the appearance of Christ, the journal records, JS and Cowdery also received visitations from the biblical prophets Moses, Elias, and Elijah, who bestowed upon the two church leaders ‘the Keys of this dispensation.’ These keys authorized JS and Cowdery to exercise in new ways the priesthood they had received from the apostles Peter, James, and John in 1829. The bestowal of ‘the Keys of this dispensation,’ particularly those concerning the gathering of Israel and turning ‘the hearts of the Fathers to the children,’ marked a vital moment for Latter-day Saint missionary work and temple ordinances. Just over a year after receiving these keys, JS sent preachers to England to begin the gathering of Israel from abroad. Later, in Nauvoo, Illinois, he would teach and administer new temple ordinances that offered salvation to the deceased and bound them to the living, including baptisms for the dead, endowments, and sealings. The Latter-day Saints had shown their willingness to build the Lord a house, and these visitations on 3 April 1836 were not only a continuation of great spiritual outpouring; they were also a beginning for Latter-day Saint understanding of the purpose and power of temples.

“JS and Cowdery recounted their visions to some associates shortly after they occurred. In a letter to his wife, Sally Waterman Phelps, written on the same day, William W. Phelps stated that JS and Cowdery experienced ‘a manifestation of the Lord’ in which they learned that ‘the great & terrible day of the Lord as mentioned by Malichi, was near, even at the doors.’

“Sometime shortly after, Warren A. Cowdery, JS’s scribe and Oliver’s brother, recorded the experience in JS’s journal, which is the source for the text below. Warren wrote the entry referring to JS in the third person, in contrast to the first-person language found throughout the journal. He may have relied on another original text, no longer extant, or on oral reports from either or both of the participants. If he was working from a prior text, it would directly parallel the method that produced the third-person 1834–1836 history, which he was composing in early April using JS’s journal. By 7 November 1843, Willard Richards, church historian and personal secretary to JS, changed the account into first person for JS’s multivolume history. JS and Oliver Cowdery’s vision was added to the Doctrine and Covenants in 1876. That version, and published versions to follow, contained first-person language.

“This account of visitations closes JS’s 1835–1836 journal. After more than six months of almost daily recording of developments in Kirtland, entries ceased, and for nearly two years there were no entries written in this or in any other extant JS journal.”

Section 111 (6 August 1836)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 25 July 1836, after writing two letters concerning church members in Missouri, JS, Hyrum Smith, Oliver Cowdery, and Sidney Rigdon left Kirtland, Ohio, to travel to the eastern United States, briefly visiting New York City and Boston and staying in Salem, Massachusetts, before returning to Kirtland in mid-September. Salem, which was officially incorporated as a city in May 1836, was described by Oliver Cowdery as a ‘pleasantly situated town with fifteen thousand inhabitants.’ Located on Massachusetts Bay about fifteen miles north of the larger city of Boston, Salem’s busy port held a prominent place in the domestic and international commercial shipping trade of the United States. JS and his three companions arrived in Salem on 5 August and rented a house on Union Street for three weeks. The house may have been where JS dictated this revelation a day later.¹

“No known contemporary documents specify church leaders’ reasons for visiting the eastern United States, and few records discuss the trip. The main contemporary sources of information are two letters written by Oliver Cowdery to his brother Warren A. Cowdery, which were published in the church’s newspaper, and a letter JS wrote to his wife Emma while in Salem. Oliver Cowdery’s letters indicate that their time in New England was spent preaching and occasionally visiting historic places. The four church leaders were likely motivated by a concern about Zion and the financial situation of the church, particularly a need to reduce debts of church leaders. The financial burden placed on them by finishing the House of the Lord in Kirtland and purchasing land in Ohio and Missouri had added significantly to the church’s existing debts. Following a 2 April 1836 meeting at which JS and Cowdery were assigned to raise money to purchase land in Missouri, the men appear to have encountered difficulties in finding members willing to give their money or land for the cause of Zion. With the citizens of Clay County, Missouri, requesting that church members living there relocate, the need for temporal means to aid church members in Missouri grew even more pressing. JS and his colleagues may have raised money as they preached during their trip east in 1836, as it was not uncommon for missionaries to have the dual objectives of proselytizing and collecting funds for the church. This 6 August revelation addresses the church leaders’ financial concerns. It informed the men that they would have the power to pay their debts and instructed them to ‘concern not yourselves about Zion’ for there were people and money in Salem ‘for the benefit of Zion.’

“Related to the revelation’s statement that there was ‘much treasure’ in Salem, two later accounts from individuals not directly involved in the journey state that JS traveled to the eastern United States to search for treasure or hidden money. In an 1843 pamphlet, sixteen-year-old dissident James C. Brewster briefly mentioned treasure hunting in relation to JS’s 1836 trip. Ebenezer Robinson wrote an account in 1889, fifty-three years after JS’s trip, that also linked the 1836 trip and searching for treasure—in fact, he claimed that the single objective of the trip was to look for hidden money in Salem. Robinson printed his account as the editor of the Return, a publication for David Whitmer’s Church of Christ. Robinson, who joined the Church of the Latter Day Saints in 1836 while working in the Kirtland printing office, stated in his reminiscences that Don Carlos Smith, who worked with him, told him that JS had learned about possible treasure from ‘a brother in the church, by the name of Burgess’ who had come to Kirtland and ‘stated that a large amount of money had been secreted in the cellar of a certain house in Salem, Massachusetts, which had belonged to a widow, and he thought he was the only person now living, who had knowledge of it, or the location of the house.’ Robinson claimed he was also told that Burgess met JS in Salem but that Burgess was unable to identify the house after so many years and left. Continuing their search, according to Robinson, JS and the three other men found and rented a house they thought contained the hidden money, but they were unsuccessful in finding it.

“It is possible that JS had been told about hidden money in Salem and decided to pursue it to aid the church and relieve the financial and temporal pressure weighing down the branches in Kirtland and Missouri, and two contemporary documents may provide support for the statements of Brewster and Robinson. First, a promissory note was made out to a Jonathan Burgess in Salem, a tentative connection to the Burgess of Robinson’s account. Second, JS mentioned looking for a specific house in Salem in his 19 August letter to Emma Smith. Robinson's account stated that JS rented the house and failed to find any treasure, but JS's letter to Emma reveals that he had not been able to rent or gain access to the house. While JS seemed hopeful the situation would change, the men left Salem only a few days later and offered no indication that they had rented or even visited the sought-after house, nor is there any evidence that they later returned.

"Aside from alluding to 'more treasures than one,' the revelation makes other references to the people of Salem and their significance to the growing church. In the three weeks following the revelation, JS and the others in the church presidency spent much of their time in Salem and in Boston preaching to the people. By the early 1840s, church leaders in Nauvoo focused on the proselytizing aspects of the 6 August 1836 revelation.¹ In 1841, Hyrum Smith and William Law of the First Presidency visited the eastern United States and left instructions at a church conference in Philadelphia for Erastus Snow and Benjamin Winchester to extend their missions and begin preaching in Salem. Snow recorded in his journal that Smith and Law 'left with us a copy of a Revelation given about that people in 1836 which said the Lord had much people there whom he would gather into his kingdom in his Own due time and they thought the due time of the Lord had come.' Snow and Winchester arrived in Salem on 3 September 1841. After a week, Winchester returned to Philadelphia while Snow preached in Salem and the surrounding area. Snow organized the Salem branch on 5 March 1842, and by the end of his mission more than one hundred people had joined the church. When Snow and his family left in the fall of 1843, seventy-five members from 'Boston and the eastern churches' traveled with them to Nauvoo.

"The original text of the revelation has not been found, but four copies are extant. The version presented here comes from a diary kept by William W. Phelps. Phelps's diary also contains earlier JS revelations, Phelps's September 1835 patriarchal blessing, and later material from the Illinois and Utah eras of the church. Although Phelps was in Kirtland for the March 1836 dedication of the House of the Lord, he had returned to Missouri before the date of this revelation. He likely copied the revelation into his diary in the late 1830s or early 1840s. Based on textual comparison, Phelps's copy appears to be the earliest version, and it matches the text of later printed versions. Another version, made by Erastus Snow, was likely copied in 1841 from a copy that was left for him in Philadelphia by Hyrum Smith and William Law. Snow's copy matches the wording used in Phelps's inscription, with only minor exceptions. A third copy is in the Book of the Law of the Lord, inscribed by Robert B. Thompson in Nauvoo between 1840 and 1841. A fourth inscription of the revelation is found in volume B-1 of JS's history and was written by Willard Richards between 1842 and 1844. The version in JS's history is textually similar to both the Phelps and Book of the Law of the Lord inscriptions, with punctuation and spelling in the first six lines of the revelation that match the Book of the Law of the Lord inscription.

"This revelation was not published in JS's lifetime. It first appeared in print in the 1850s with the printing of the 'History of Joseph Smith' in the Deseret News and the Millennial Star. It was first included in the Doctrine and Covenants in the 1876 edition, and the canonized version follows the text of the Phelps inscription featured here. Significant differences between Phelps's copy and other early copies of this revelation are described in footnotes below."

Historical Background

“On 23 July 1837, JS dictated the revelation featured here to Thomas B. Marsh, the president of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. It contained directions for Marsh personally as well as for the Twelve generally.

"Apostles Marsh, David W. Patten, and William Smith traveled from Far West, Missouri, to Kirtland, Ohio, in the summer of 1837 to address quorum members' dissent against JS and seek to unify the Twelve.¹ To these ends, Marsh and Patten called for a council meeting of the entire Quorum of the Twelve on 24 July 1837. Marsh, Patten, and Smith arrived in Kirtland by 8 July, but they found that JS and the church presidency had sent two of the Twelve, Heber C. Kimball and Orson Hyde, to proselytize in England in mid-June. Marsh saw it as his responsibility to direct members of the Twelve to preach in foreign lands—he had corrected Parley P. Pratt for planning to undertake a mission to England in May—and he may have harbored some frustration that he was not consulted regarding the mission. The 23 July revelation assured Marsh that he was chosen to lead the Twelve and to spread the gospel 'abroad among all nations' but made it clear that he should do so under the direction of the First Presidency.

"The revelation also addressed dissent, which had intensified among some church members in mid-1837. It troubled Marsh that several of the Twelve had been involved in the discord. By early May, he and Patten had heard rumors in Far West that apostles John F. Boynton and Luke and Lyman Johnson were speaking out in opposition to JS and other leaders. Lyman Johnson, Orson Pratt, and Luke Johnson had preferred charges against JS and his father in late May. In June, Parley P. Pratt had preached against JS before leaving for Missouri. Reflecting in January 1838 on growing unrest, Vilate Murray Kimball wrote in a letter to her husband, Heber, that she felt the dissenters had valid reasons for their frustrations but that they had nonetheless pursued an improper course of action: 'Now after all that I have said about this decenting party, there is some of them, that I love, and have great feeling, and pity for them; I know they have ben tryed to the very quick; and what greaves me the most of all is, that many things which they tell, I have no doubt but what are too true. Still I do not think they are justifiable in the course they have taken.'

"As they traveled to Kirtland, Marsh, Patten, and William Smith met Parley P. Pratt near Columbus, Ohio. Marsh convinced Pratt to return with them to Kirtland, and soon after they arrived, Marsh began working to reconcile the dissenting apostles. In an 8 July letter, Mary Fielding wrote that Marsh had told her he believed 'the difficultys between the Presidency & the twelve will very shortly be settled.' Although several members of the Twelve were probably still disaffected from JS at the time of the 23 July revelation, other members of the quorum had begun to resolve their differences with him. In early June, when preparations were made for Heber C. Kimball to travel to England, Orson Hyde's perspective changed; he acknowledged his faults and was set apart to accompany Kimball. In July, both Parley P. and Orson Pratt made public confessions before leaving Kirtland to preach in the eastern United States. After his return to Kirtland from Missouri, William Smith 'made a confession for past sins and expressed a determination to pursue a different course.' Marsh appears to have been influential in bringing about at least Parley P. Pratt's confession, and the 23 July revelation directed Marsh to continue his efforts to admonish the Twelve and instruct them to 'rebel not against my servant Joseph.'

"The original manuscript of the revelation, as written by Marsh, has not been found, but several copies are extant. The earliest extant version was copied by Vilate Kimball into a 6 September letter she sent to her husband, Heber. Vilate wrote that she had copied the revelation from 'Elder Marshs book as he wrote it from Josephs mouth.' She also provided additional details regarding the revelation, which Marsh had discussed with her. According to Vilate, JS had told Marsh at the time of the revelation that 'the do[o]r of proclamation could not be effectually opened' until Marsh went to England or sent someone he had ordained for that purpose, but JS had instructed him not to include this in his transcript of the 23 July revelation. Heber, who was now in England proselytizing, responded to Marsh's claims by telling Vilate that JS had told him it was 'all right to prepare the way for brother Marsh, as john was the fore Runner of Christ to prepare before him and to baptise,' and that despite what Marsh thought—that the missionaries would have little success without his direction—those preaching in England had already baptized many people in their short time there. Unfortunately, a page has been lost from Vilate's 6 September letter and her copy of the revelation is incomplete.

"The copy of the revelation featured here is another of the earliest complete copies. It was recorded in JS's journal by James Mulholland between August and September 1838 in Missouri and is preceded by a notation that reads, 'The above revelation was given in Kirtland, and was not here in time to insert in its proper sequence.' Another early copy is held by the Community of Christ Library-Archives and was written by an unidentified scribe between 1837 and 1838. Although it may be an earlier text than the copy in JS's 1838 journal, this version has no verifiable provenance. A third copy, written by Frederick G. Williams, has textual indicators that suggest it too was one of the earlier versions and was copied by 1838. Significant differences between the early versions are noted below.

"Later, in connection with their mission to Britain, several church apostles also made personal copies of this revelation. Wilford Woodruff inscribed the revelation into his 'Book of Revelations' before leaving Illinois in August 1839, Willard Richards copied it into his 'Pocket Companion' between 13 January 1840 and 20 April 1841, Brigham Young wrote a copy in his journal between April and September 1839, and Heber C. Kimball copied it from Vilate Kimball's 6 September 1837 letter into his journal between March 1841 and March 1842. Other extant copies include one by William W. Phelps, who wrote a copy on loose-leaf pages, likely after November 1842. Willard Richards copied the revelation into JS's history between January and March 1844, and the revelation was included in the 1844 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants as section 104."

¹HDHC 1475–1476 has a long letter from Marsh and Patten about related issues.

Historical Background

JSP

Verses 1–6

“Sometime in mid- or late March 1838, after JS arrived in Far West, Missouri, he apparently answered a series of questions regarding the prophecies in Isaiah chapters 11 and 52. The questions and answers were inscribed in JS’s ‘Scriptory Book’ by George Robinson. No authorship was attributed to the questions and answers, although some of the answers begin with ‘thus saith the Lord.’ JS’s authorship is implied, in that some of the answers are couched in the language of revelation, similar to other revelations transcribed in the Scriptorium Book. Further, most of the documents transcribed in the book are explicitly JS documents.

“When the questions and answers regarding the prophecies of Isaiah were copied into the multivolume manuscript history JS began in 1838, they were grouped under the heading ‘Questions on Scripture.’ Following this format, the questions and answers were presented as a unified set when the history was later printed in the church’s newspaper. However, the five question-and-answer pairs were inscribed in the Scriptorium Book under two headings: the first three pairs appear under the heading 'Quest. on Scripture,' while the remaining two appear under the heading 'Questions by Elias Higby.' These headings are comparable to the other headings in the Scriptorium Book that were used to demarcate different document transcripts. The first three questions, posed by an unidentified interlocutor, regard Isaiah chapter 11, while the other two questions, posed by Elias Higbee, concern Isaiah chapter 52. Additionally, whereas the first three questions were answered with 'thus saith the Lord' responses, the other questions were not. These differences further suggest what seems to be indicated by the distinct headings: that the two sets of question-and-answer pairs were considered separate, albeit obviously related, texts.

"The dating of these two texts is uncertain, but their location in the Scriptorium Book suggests an approximate period of between 16 and 29 March 1838. The questions and answers follow a motto for the church, which JS composed at the earliest on 16 March, and are followed by several document transcripts that are arranged in roughly chronological order. These documents begin with two that JS produced in September 1837 in Kirtland, before he migrated to Far West. This pair of Kirtland documents raises the possibility that some or all of the questions and answers also date back to the Kirtland period. However, the similarities in the format and the subject of the two sets of questions suggest that all of the questions were posed and answered in the same setting. Further, the fact that some of the questions were posed by Elias Higbee—who had been living in Caldwell County, Missouri, since 1836 and had been serving on the Zion high council in Far West—indicates that the questions and answers date to the period after JS arrived in Far West on 14 March. Following the pair of Kirtland documents is JS's letter to the Kirtland presidency on 29 March 1838, strongly suggesting that the questions and answers were composed between 16 March and 29 March 1838. As with the other documents inscribed in the Scriptorium Book, Robinson probably transcribed the questions and answers from an earlier manuscript. If the questions and answers were composed following Robinson's arrival in Far West on 28 March, he could have dated the documents, which suggests they were composed earlier. While JS could have met with Higbee anytime between 16 and 29 March, the only known time they were together was during a meeting of the high council and bishopric on 24 March 1838, suggesting the possibility that the discussion took place after the meeting adjourned that evening.

"Isaiah chapter 11, the subject of the first set of questions, figures prominently in JS's revelations and writings. Within a few months of answering these questions, JS recounted in his manuscript history that when visited by the angel Moroni in 1823, Moroni 'quoted the Eleventh Chapter of Isaiah saying that it was about to be fulfilled.' The Book of Mormon draws heavily on Isaiah's prophetic worldview and encourages readers to 'search the prophecies of Isaiah.' Several times, the volume singles out the 'great' writings of Isaiah from the writings of other Israelite prophets, and the volume quotes extensively from the book of Isaiah, including entire chapters. For example, the Book of Mormon quotes Isaiah chapter 11 in its entirety and then quotes verses 4–9 again later on in the volume. Furthermore, JS's subsequent revelations and writings repeat or allude to several verses in this chapter, applying them to the gathering of Israel in the last days. Shortly before JS left Kirtland, a member of the First Quorum of the Seventy delivered a sermon there 'on the gathering of the house of Israel,' using Isaiah 11 as his text.

"Isaiah 11:1 contains the prophecy that a 'rod' or a 'branch' (a new shoot) would grow out of the 'stem' (stump) or 'roots' of Jesse, the father of the Israelite king David. The next four verses have traditionally been interpreted as further prophecy regarding what this David-like messianic figure would do for the children of Israel. However, the first two questions apparently assume that these verses describe the stem, or old stump, of Jesse rather than the rod or new branch growing out of the stem. The first question regards the identity of the stem of Jesse. Whereas the Christian exegetical tradition generally interprets the stem of Jesse as the Davidic dynasty, JS interpreted it as Jesus Christ. In addition, whereas most Christians interpret the root of Jesse to be Christ, JS interpreted the root as a latter-day figure. As evidenced in JS's earlier revelations regarding the Bible, including his revision, or 'new translation,' of the Bible, he considered himself a prophet similar to those in the Old Testament, with full authority to receive new revelation to interpret and clarify the writings of his predecessors. The answers to the second and third questions, regarding the rod coming out of the stem of Jesse and the root of Jesse, suggest that JS or a similar latter-day figure would fulfill these prophecies. These answers came within the context of JS experiencing the fallout of apostasy in Kirtland and then engaging in a reassertion of his prophetic authority in the land of Zion.

"Whereas the second set of questions was posed by Higbee, it is uncertain who posed the first set of questions. Although presumably not Higbee, it could have been another person present at the 24 March meeting, or it could have been JS, petitioning the Lord for revealed answers to his questions. It is also unknown who originally wrote down the questions and answers, though JS's revelations were usually written by someone else acting in the role of scribe. Robinson probably had not yet arrived in Far West. Higbee, who served as a judge in Caldwell County and was soon called as a church historian, may have had some clerical duties. Although Robinson began the Scriptorium Book in late March, with an account of JS's arrival in Far West and a copy of the motto, he apparently did not add anything further to the book until mid-April. Therefore, Robinson likely copied the questions and answers from a loose manuscript into the Scriptorium Book, probably sometime in mid- or late April."

Verses 7–10

“Sometime after JS arrived in Far West, Missouri, he apparently answered two sets of questions, one regarding Isaiah chapter 11 and the other, labeled ‘Questions by Elias Higby [Higbee],’ relating to Isaiah chapter 52. The dating of these two sets of questions and answers is uncertain, but they were probably produced sometime between 16 and 29 March 1838. While JS could have met with Higbee, who was a member of the Zion high council, anytime during this period, the one time they were known to be together was during a meeting of the high council and bishopric on 24 March 1838, suggesting that Higbee may have posed his questions to JS after the meeting adjourned that evening. The answers to the first set of questions, regarding Isaiah 11, begin with ‘thus saith the Lord.’ The revealed answers may have provoked Higbee to ask the questions about Isaiah 52:1–2, though the answers given to Higbee’s questions do not include the same revelatory language. These verses regard the redemption of Zion and introduce Isaiah’s suffering servant oracles, including the material in chapter 53, which is one of traditional Christianity’s most important texts for Christianizing the Old Testament. Isaiah 52:1–2 is quoted twice in the Book of Mormon, and other passages in chapter 52 also appear in the book. JS revelations also repeat or allude to verses in this chapter, using them to explain the gathering and reestablishment of the house of Israel in the latter days.

“Higbee posed two questions. The answers, presumably from JS, stated that those called of God in the last days would be given priesthood authority to gather scattered Israel home to Zion. These answers may have been considered as having special significance at this time because of JS’s move to Missouri, the Saints’ ‘Land of Zion.’ Probably sometime in mid- or late April, George W. Robinson inscribed the questions and answers in the ‘Scriptory Book,’ probably from an earlier manuscript.”

We are to understand that the scattered remnants are exhorted to return to the Lord from whence they have fallen; which if they do, the promise of the Lord is that he will speak to them, or give them revelation. Historical Background

JSP

“On 11 April 1838, JS dictated a revelation for David W. Patten, directing him to settle his business affairs and prepare for a mission. At the time, Patten and fellow apostle Brigham Young were serving as assistants to Thomas B. Marsh in the pro tempore presidency over the church in Missouri. This appointment was apparently temporary because, as members of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, Marsh, Patten, and Young were eventually expected to travel, proselytize, and supervise the church conferences and branches outside of Zion and its stakes—that is, outside of the main church congregation in Missouri and any other places designated for gathering. The previous summer, Patten had asked the Zion high council in Far West, Missouri, to relieve him of his debts and allow him to travel and preach. Though the high council resolved to grant Patten’s request, instead of embarking on a mission Patten soon departed for Kirtland with Marsh in an effort to reunite the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. Shortly after they arrived in Kirtland, JS dictated a revelation for Marsh, the president of the quorum, directing him and the other apostles to purify themselves ‘and then go ye into all the world and preach my gospel unto every creature who have not received it.’ At the same time, apostles Heber C. Kimball and Orson Hyde were beginning a mission in England. The missionaries wrote to their fellow Latter-day Saints in the United States with news of the hundreds of people in England who had joined the church.

“The 11 April 1838 revelation to Patten, probably dictated in Far West, stated that Patten would be sent on a mission the following spring and implied that he would go with the other apostles. Another revelation, received about three months later, specified that in 1839 the twelve apostles would ‘depart to go over the great waters and there promulge my gospel,’ suggesting they would serve a mission in Europe to follow up on the success of Kimball and Hyde’s mission in England. Patten, however, was killed in October 1838 in the conflict between the Latter-day Saints and other Missourians.

“As JS dictated the 11 April revelation, it may have been inscribed by Patten, who was presumably present, or by George W. Robinson, the First Presidency’s scribe. Robinson transcribed the original into JS’s ‘Scriptory Book,’ probably in mid- or late April.”

Section 115 (26 April 1838)

Historical Background

JSP

“JS dictated a revelation on 26 April 1838 stating that the city of Far West, Missouri, ‘should be built up’ by the gathering of the Saints and that they should build a temple there. Since the creation of Caldwell County in 1836, Latter-day Saints in Missouri and elsewhere had been gathering in Far West, the county’s principal Mormon community, and in surrounding settlements. In early 1837, about a year before JS’s arrival, Zion presidency members William W. Phelps and John Whitmer drew a plan for a temple and appointed a committee to superintend construction of the temple in Far West’s central lot. In April 1837, the high council questioned the Zion presidency’s authority to appoint such a committee and even to select the site for the city. This problem was somewhat resolved, and several hundred Saints assembled to begin excavating for the temple foundation in July. When JS and Sidney Rigdon visited Far West in November, they participated in a council meeting wherein the members resolved to expand the size of the existing city plat. This resolution suggests that JS and the other council members approved the location of the city and its central lot. Moreover, the council members apparently authorized the plan to build a temple and approved the location, but it was decided to suspend any construction work ‘till the Lord shall reveal it to be his will to be commenced.’

“After JS moved to Caldwell County in March 1838 and helped root dissension out of the church, he and the high council turned their attention to developing Far West as the church’s gathering center. On 21 April, they passed several resolutions to build the community, including improving the schoolhouse used for community meetings, building one or more storehouses, and reestablishing the church press. By this time, thousands of Saints were living in Far West and its vicinity and hundreds more were expected from Kirtland within the next few months. The gathering of the Saints, especially with heavy migration from Ohio, would eventually require settlement beyond the bounds of Far West, and church leaders had already begun efforts to locate other sites for settlement.

“JS’s revelation of 26 April 1838 spoke to these recent developments. The revelation was addressed to JS, other church leaders, and all other members of the ‘Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints’—which the revelation specified was the new official name of the church. The revelation enjoined the church’s leaders and members to continue gathering to Far West, to sanctify the city through consecrated living, and to build the temple. The Saints were instructed to begin work on the temple on 4 July and to build it according to a pattern that would be revealed to the First Presidency. When church members resided in Clay County earlier in the 1830s, no revelations had instructed the Saints to establish a city of gathering or to construct a temple there. The plan for the Saints in Missouri up until this time had been one of temporary settlement while waiting for a return to the ‘centre place’ of Zion in Jackson County. The 26 April 1838 revelation marked a change in Mormon plans in Missouri. Though the Latter-day Saints were not in Zion’s ‘centre place’ at Independence and were not building ‘the City of Zion,’ they were commanded to build up a city of Zion with a temple. The revelation concluded with a commandment to the Saints to build up Far West and to establish other communities ‘in the regions round about’ as directed by their prophet.

“The revelation was probably dictated orally and written down by a scribe, as was typical with JS’s revelations. George W. Robinson copied the revelation into JS’s ‘Scriptory Book,’ apparently around the time JS dictated the revelation. The Latter-day Saints followed the direction of the revelation by laying the cornerstones of the temple on 4 July 1838, whereupon Rigdon gave a speech in which he vigorously asserted the rights of the Latter-day Saints to settle wherever they pleased.”

“Section 115 was first published in The Elders’ Journal [sic] of August 1838. In that newspaper, it is listed as an extract of a revelation.¹ Also, in a letter by Thomas B. Marsh (quoted below) to Wilford Woodruff, Elder Marsh describes this revelation as a very lengthy one. It would seem from these two sources that Section 115 is only a portion of a much longer revelation, the remainder of which is still unidentified...

“It is also interesting that the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints claim that the name placed on the Kirtland Temple in 1834 or 1835 was: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.² This would, of course, mean that the name approved in this revelation had already been in use for at least three years.

“Thomas B. Marsh wrote a letter to Wilford Woodruff concerning this revelation, the contents of which follow in part:

P. S. Since B^e Joseph Came to this place, we have been favored with a lengthy revelation, in which many important items are shown forth! First. that the Church, shall hereafter be Called “The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints” Seceond it saith ^says^ “Let the City Farwest be a holy and a consecrated land unto me, and it shall be called most holy, for the ground upon which thou standest is holy: Tharefore, I com[mand] you to build an house unto me, for the geathering togeather of my Saints, that they may worship me”. [&^c] It also teaches, that the foundation or corner stone must be laid on the 4th of July nex[t], and that a commencement must be made in this following season, and in one year from the 26th of April last, the foundation must be again commenced, and from that time, to continue the worke untile it is finished. Thus we see that the Lord is more wise than men, for Phelps & Whitmer thought to commence it long before this, but it was not the Lords time, tharefore, he overthrew it. and has appointed his own time. The plan is yet to be shown to the first presidency, and all the saints, in all the world, are commanded to assist in building the house

Section 117 (8 July 1838)

Historical Background

JSP

“On Sunday, 8 July 1838, JS dictated five revelations, each of which concerned church leadership or finances; one of these revelations was directed mainly to William Marks and Newel K. Whitney, with some information concerning Oliver Granger. Following JS’s departure from Kirtland, Ohio, in January 1838, Marks was designated to preside over the church there and to act as a financial agent for JS and Sidney Rigdon in arranging payment of their debts. Whitney was the bishop in Kirtland, overseeing the temporal operations of the church there. It was apparently expected that Marks and Whitney would quickly settle the church’s affairs and then move to Missouri in accordance with the 12 January 1838 revelation directing faithful Saints to relocate there, and it seems that Whitney had been planning to move since at least June 1838. Yet, neither Whitney nor Marks departed Kirtland with the ‘Kirtland Camp,’ a large group of emigrating Saints that left Kirtland on 6 July. This revelation was the last of the 8 July revelations that George W. Robinson copied into JS’s journal. The content of this revelation suggests it may have come in response to information conveyed by Granger, a church financial agent and a member of the Kirtland high council, who arrived in Far West, Missouri, by 8 July 1838, probably on church business.

“JS apparently dictated this and the other 8 July revelations in the leadership meeting held prior to the Sunday worship services for the day. In a letter to Marks and Whitney written the same day, the First Presidency specified that this revelation was received in the morning. The revelation directed Marks and Whitney to relocate to Missouri before winter. Once in Missouri, they were to preside over the Saints in their respective callings, Marks as president of the church in Missouri and Whitney as a bishop in Adam-ondi-Ahman. Granger was to return to Kirtland and continue to act as an agent for the First Presidency in settling remaining business affairs, thereby allowing Marks and Whitney to move to Missouri sooner.

“The revelation, which is somewhat personal in nature, may not have been read during the worship services on 8 July, as were at least some of the other revelations dictated that day. JS and his counselors in the First Presidency included a transcript of the revelation in the letter they wrote to Marks and Whitney and encouraged the two men to follow the revelation’s direction.

“George W. Robinson apparently copied the revelation into JS’s journal sometime in mid- or late July. Copies were also made by Edward Partridge, Newel K. Whitney, Lydia Granger, and James Mulholland, among others. A comparison of the early copies suggests that Partridge’s version most closely represents the wording of the original revelation. Partridge was present when the revelation was dictated and probably made the copy shortly thereafter; the latest possible copying date is 27 May 1840, the day he died.”

²I wonder the same thing here—JS is talking about the “plains of Olaha Shinehah,” but if you look at the JSP version of this revelation, it says “Olea Shinihah.” Why the change? I don’t get it. Section 118 (8 July 1838)

Historical Background

JSP

“On Sunday, 8 July 1838, JS dictated five revelations in Far West, Missouri, each of which concerned church leadership or finances; one of these revelations regarded the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. The quorum had not been immune to the dissent and disaffiliation that plagued the church in 1837 and 1838. Apostles Luke Johnson and John F. Boynton renounced the church in December 1837 and were consequently excommunicated by the high council. In the quarterly conference held 7–8 April 1838, David W. Patten gave a report on the quorum and stated that he could not recommend Lyman Johnson or William E. McLellin. Lyman Johnson, who may have sympathized with his brother Luke, was excommunicated for various transgressions on 13 April 1838. McLellin, who had been troubled with the church and JS for some time, was ‘found in transgression’ in a church trial held 11 May. JS apparently began selecting replacements for disaffected members of the ¹This is the only use of “littleness” in all the scriptures. It reminds me of a remark from Porphyry reported in the Laks and Most Early Greek Philosophy collection, 4:39, regarding Pythagoras: “He himself heard the harmony of the whole, because he had understood the universal harmony of the spheres of the heavenly bodies that move because of them—something that we other people do not hear because of the smallness of our nature. This is what Empedocles testifies to when he says about him.”

²Calls to mind the idea in 1 Samuel 15:22 about obedience being better than sacrifice; see notes there.

quorum before he departed Kirtland, Ohio, for Far West on 12 January 1838. For example, John E. Page and John Taylor had been designated as replacements for Luke Johnson and Boynton by early January 1838.

"Despite the turmoil in the church, most of the apostles remained loyal to JS or repaired their relationships with him, and many were serving missions or were expecting to serve in the near future. Under JS's direction, apostles Heber C. Kimball and Orson Hyde undertook a dramatically successful mission to England from June 1837 to May 1838. During the year prior to the dictation of this 8 July 1838 revelation, JS dictated revelations for senior apostles Thomas B. Marsh, David W. Patten, and Brigham Young, with each revelation mentioning or implying forthcoming proselytizing assignments. The revelation for Patten directed him to prepare to embark on a mission the following spring and implied that the other apostles would go with him. On 6 July 1838, JS received a letter from Kimball and Hyde reporting on their return from England and the hundreds of new converts they had brought into the church.

"Two days later, in a leadership meeting held before the Sunday worship services for 'the congregation of the saints,' JS dictated this revelation regarding the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. The Sunday leadership meeting was probably associated with the quarterly conference held the previous two days. When Thomas B. Marsh wrote about the leadership meeting to Wilford Woodruff, he recounted that 'Prest. Joseph Smith Jr. and somome others were assembled togetaether to attend to some church business.' In JS's journal, George W. Robinson wrote that the revelation was 'given to the Twelve Apostles'; however, Marsh was the only apostle present at the meeting. According to JS's journal, the meeting included 'J smith Jr. S[idney] Rigdon, H[yrum] smith, E[dward] Partridge I, Morly [Isaac Morley] J[ared] Carter, S[ampson] Avar[d] T[homas] B, Marsh & G[eorge] W, Robinson,' all of whom held positions of leadership. JS, Rigdon and Hyrum Smith composed the First Presidency. Partridge was the bishop of Zion, and Morley was the first counselor in the bishopric. Carter was the captain general of the Society of the Daughter of Zion (Danites), and Avar[d] was the society's brigadier general. Marsh was the pro tempore president of Zion and the president of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. Robinson, the church recorder and clerk as well as the scribe for the First Presidency, was probably present in a clerical capacity.

"In JS's journal, this revelation appears as the first of five revelations dictated on 8 July. JS's journal entry for 8 July introduces the first three revelations by stating they were read to the congregation that met later that day but does not specify whether the fourth and fifth revelations were read at the same time. The fifth revelation—addressed to William Marks, Newel K. Whitney, and Oliver Granger—was copied into a letter the First Presidency wrote later in the day to Marks and Whitney. The letter states that the revelation had been 'rec^d. this morning.' The order in which the revelations were copied into JS's journal suggests that all five revelations were dictated on the morning of 8 July, apparently in the leadership meeting mentioned in the introduction to the first revelation.

"In the letter that Marsh wrote to Woodruff, he explained that JS dictated this revelation 'when it was thought proper to select those who ware designed of the Lord to fill the places of those of the twelve who had fallen.' As presented in JS's journal, the revelation was a direct response to the plea to 'show unto us thy will O, Lord concerning the Twelve.' The revelation named new apostles—Taylor, Page, Woodruff, and Willard Richards—to replace those who had been removed, and it also directed all the members of the quorum to prepare for a mission 'over the great waters' the following spring. This and the other 8 July revelations were probably transcribed by Robinson as JS dictated them.

"The text of this 8 July revelation was read aloud in the worship meeting for all church members later in the day. Marsh responded to the revelation by calling for a meeting the next day with Sidney Rigdon and the four other members of the quorum who were available in the area. They agreed to contact absent and newly appointed members of the quorum to inform them of their expected mission abroad.

"In addition to the copy of the revelation Robinson transcribed in JS's journal, copies were also made by Brigham Young, Wilford Woodruff, and Willard Richards. A comparison of the copies suggests that Young's version most closely represents the wording of the original revelation; therefore, this version is featured here.¹ Young inscribed the revelation in a book that he intermittently used as a notebook and a journal. Contextual evidence suggests that Young copied the revelation between April 1839 and 12 October 1840. He apparently copied two other documents at the time that he copied the revelation. One of these documents, a 30 March 1839 letter Orson Hyde wrote from Missouri to Young in Illinois indicates Young did not copy the revelation until at least April 1839, after receiving the letter from Hyde. Immediately following the three copied documents, Richards inscribed a page and a half of his own genealogical information. Just below this information, Young recorded a journal entry for 12 October 1840. Because the genealogical information written by Richards included dates from 1839, Richards apparently inscribed it sometime after Young joined him in England in April 1840 but no later than 12 October 1840, when Young added the new journal entry. Based on the reception of Hyde's letter and the inscription of Richards's genealogical information, it can be determined that Young copied the three documents sometime between April 1839 and 12 October 1840.

"Other clues further narrow the likely time of copying to mid-1839. Young's journal entries between 14 September 1839 and September 1840 are inscribed in blue ink or in darker ink than that used for the 8 July revelation, suggesting he copied the revelation prior to 14 September. Additionally, Young used the volume on 14 July 1839 to record at least one person to contact when he arrived in England to proselytize, suggesting that during summer 1839, Young was already planning to take his journal with him on his mission. At the time, other apostles, such as Wilford Woodruff, were copying JS revelations and discourses into personal volumes that they intended to bring on their mission. It seems plausible that Young also copied relevant texts while preparing for the overseas mission and that he copied the featured revelation between April and mid-September 1839.”

¹JSP note: "Comparisons of the versions of the five 8 July 1838 revelations show that Robinson added introductory phrases and made other slight revisions to polish the texts when he copied them into JS's journal. "

Historical Background

JSP

“On Sunday, 8 July 1838, JS dictated five revelations, each of which concerned church leadership or finances; one of these revelations outlined a plan for raising church revenue. The subject of church finances was not new to the Saints. From the time the church was established, JS dictated revelations and instituted programs related to economic and social concerns. An 1831 revelation on ‘the Laws of the Church of Christ’ directed the Latter-day Saints to consecrate their property to the church bishop and then manage stewardships of property or other responsibilities assigned to them. Church members attempted to follow this program of consecration and stewardship in Jackson County, Missouri, but their attempts ended when they were driven out of the county in 1833. In the early and mid-1830s, JS and other church leaders in Ohio engaged in a number of business and banking ventures, most of which ultimately failed. The troubled situation of church finances was compounded by the nationwide panic of 1837 and the ensuing economic recession. During this period, JS and Sidney Rigdon incurred several thousand dollars of debt.

“In the latter half of 1837, the bishops in Missouri and Kirtland, Ohio, took new steps to address the church’s financial problems. In September, the church published an appeal from Bishop Newel K. Whitney and his counselors in Kirtland, calling on church members everywhere to ‘bring their tithes into the store house’ to relieve church debts and to help establish the community of Saints in Missouri. While this general request did not include recommended donation amounts, in December 1837 a committee composed of Edward Partridge, the bishop of Zion; Isaac Morley, the first counselor in the bishopric; and John Corrill, the appointed ‘keeper of the Lord’s Storehouse,’ proposed that every head of household be asked to annually donate a certain percentage of net worth, with the percentage based on church needs for the year. To cover anticipated church expenses for 1838, the committee proposed a ‘tithing’ of 2 percent. The committee believed that such a program would ‘be in some degree fulfilling the law of consecration.’ In February 1838, when Thomas B. Marsh, the pro tempore president of Zion, wrote to JS about coming to Missouri, Marsh reported that the Saints there ‘seem to wish to have the whole law of God lived up to; and we think that the church will rejoice to come up to the law of consecration, as soon as their leaders shall say the word, or show them how to do it.’ In April a revelation called for Far West, Missouri, to be built up as a city of Zion with a temple but directed the presidency not to go into debt to build the Far West temple as they had when building the Kirtland temple. The issue of JS’s and Rigdon’s debts was raised again in May when the two petitioned the high council to obtain compensation for their services in the church. Debts continued to loom over JS and Rigdon, and on 8 July 1838 the first payment on a debt totaling over $4,000 was due to JS’s attorneys.

“That day, JS dictated this revelation on tithing—apparently in a church leadership meeting held in Far West. This revelation was the third dictated that day that George W. Robinson copied into JS’s journal. A copy of the revelation states that JS dictated it in direct response to the petition, ‘Lord, show unto thy servants how much thou requirest of the properties of thy people for a Tithing?’ The resulting revelation called for the Latter-day Saints to consecrate all of their surplus property and thereafter to pay ‘one tenth of all their interest annually.’ Robinson, who was present at the leadership meeting, may have transcribed the revelation as JS dictated it.

“The revelation was read later that day to a congregation of Latter-day Saints. Over the next few weeks, church members responded to the revelation by consecrating surplus property. According to the 27 July entry in JS’s journal, ‘Some time past the bretheren or saints have come up day after day to consecrate, and to bring their offerings into the store house of the lord, . . . They have come up hither Thus far, according to the ord[e]r of the Dan-Ites.’ Officers in the Danite society had attended the leadership meeting in which JS apparently dictated this revelation, and members of the society were now helping gather the consecrated goods. The success in collecting surplus property apparently did not last long. John Corrill, the keeper of the storehouse, recounted in 1839 that the Danites ‘set out to enforce the law of consecration; but this did not amount to much.’ Brigham Young, who was serving in the pro tempore church presidency in Zion, recollected several years later that church members were sparing in what they considered surplus property.

“Robinson made a copy of the revelation in JS’s journal, apparently sometime in mid- or late July 1838. The revelation was also copied by other church leaders: Newel K. Whitney made one copy, and Edward Partridge made at least two copies. A comparison of the copies by Robinson, Whitney, and Partridge suggests that one of Partridge's copies most closely represents the wording of the original revelation. This version is featured here. Partridge was present when the revelation was dictated and probably made the featured copy shortly thereafter; the latest possible copying date is 27 May 1840, the day he died."

HDDC 1551–1553 has some extra background here, including somewhat conflicting views (between Joseph Fielding Smith and Hyrum Andrus) about the origin of this revelation.

The more important background is given above in the JSP materials.

Section 119:5

Verily I say unto you, it shall come to pass that all those who gather unto the land of Zion shall be tithed of their surplus properties, and shall observe this law, or they shall not be found worthy to abide among you.

¹When you look at the multiple mentions of "surplus" in this section, and when you look at the definitions of "interest" (here), where the most relevant meaning seems to be #5, "any surplus advantage," it seems like the original tithing commandment did not in fact refer to 10% of whatever you would call your "salary" per year. The emphasis seems rather to be on surplus property, whatever that means. This isn't to say that the commandment couldn't be re-interpreted in some other way later, but the salary meaning doesn't seem to be the original one.

Section 119:6

And I say unto you, if my people observe not this law, to keep it holy, and by this law sanctify the land of Zion unto me, that my statutes and my judgments may be kept thereon, that it may be most holy, behold, verily I say unto you, it shall not be a land of Zion unto you.¹

Historical Background

JSP

“On Sunday, 8 July 1838, JS dictated five revelations, each of which concerned church leadership or finance; one of these revelations regarded the disposition of property donated to the church. The management of such property had evolved over the years. Initially, the disposition of property was within the purview of the church’s bishops. Then, from 1832 to 1834 the United Firm managed church assets. In the mid-1830s, after presidencies and high councils were established in Ohio and Missouri, they also became involved in overseeing the use of church assets. In 1837 William W. Phelps and John Whitmer, counselors in the Zion presidency, began making significant financial decisions without the input of the high council or the bishopric. High council members in particular resented the exclusion, and council members compelled Phelps and Whitmer to include the council and bishopric in future financial decisions.

“The 8 July 1838 revelation regarding the management of donated property was the fourth of the five revelations from that day that George W. Robinson copied into JS’s journal. JS apparently dictated these revelations in a leadership meeting held in the morning before the day’s worship services, and at some point in July, Robinson copied the revelations into JS’s journal as part of the entry for 8 July. This entry, which consists almost entirely of revelation transcripts, appears in a gap in regular journal keeping. Robinson apparently did not resume making regular journal entries until late July, suggesting that he may not have copied the revelations into the journal before then.

“The third revelation directed the Latter-day Saints to consecrate surplus property to the church as ‘the beginning of the tithing of my people’ and then to donate one-tenth of their interest annually. Robinson’s headnote for the fourth revelation, featured here, states that it was given in reference to ‘the disposition of the properties tithed, as named in the preceeding revelation.’ This short revelation directed that the donated property be managed by a council consisting of the First Presidency, Bishop Edward Partridge and his counselors in the Zion bishopric, and the Zion high council—all acting together under the inspiration of God. Whereas the first three 8 July revelations included in the journal entry for that day were read to the congregation of Saints at the worship service later in the day, it is unclear whether this fourth revelation was also read at that time. On 26 July 1838, the council that was called for in this revelation met as directed.”

The original sources, and table of verse locations in the original sources

This section of the DC is a composite of passages drawn from two different letters written in late March 1839, from a jail in Missouri. The second letter is a continuation of the first. Orson Pratt selected the passages from the letters to be added to the DC in 1876, but he didn't choose everything. The following table shows the verses and then the passages in the original letters, based on my divisions in the margin.

Historical Background

JSP

“In the Clay County, Missouri, jail on 20 March 1839, JS dictated a letter addressed to Bishop Edward Partridge; church members in Quincy, Illinois; and the Saints ‘scattered abroad.’ The letter was the second general epistle JS directed to the church while in the jail, with the first missive composed on 16 December 1838. As the main body of Latter-day Saints was relocating from Missouri to Illinois and Iowa Territory, JS apparently envisioned writing a series of general epistles in March 1839 to offer guidance and instruction in the wake of the catastrophic changes of the previous year. The immediate catalyst for the 20 March letter was the arrival of Latter-day Saint David W. Rogers the previous evening. Rogers brought the prisoners a packet that contained letters from their families and friends, a letter from Illinois land speculator Isaac Galland, and ‘the documents and papers sent by the authorities at Quincy.’

“Stylistically, the 20 March letter is reminiscent of the apostle Paul’s epistles in the New Testament. Paul frequently named his companions in opening greetings and utilized the first-person plural voice even though he was the primary author of the letters. In a similar fashion, the 20 March 1839 letter opens with greetings from JS ‘in company with his fellow prisoners’; the body of the letter consistently employs the first-person plural—‘we,’ ‘our,’ and ‘us’—with the exception of one portion presented in the voice of Deity; and all the prisoners signed the letter. JS was the principal author,¹ although conversations with the other prisoners may have contributed to the letter’s ideas and themes. It is unknown who acted as scribe for the dictation draft, which is apparently not extant. The version featured here, which contains errors usually associated with copying, was inscribed by Alexander McRae and Caleb Baldwin. After McRae finished copying the last portion of the letter, JS and the other men signed the copy. At some point, JS made minor corrections and additions.

“Following the opening greeting, the epistle contains an extended meditation on the Latter-day Saints’ recent sufferings and the prisoners’ frustrations in jail. This part of the missive includes a prayer in which JS pleads with God to deliver the Saints from their oppressors. The subject of the letter appears to shift with the acknowledgment of receiving letters from Edward Partridge, Don Carlos Smith, and Emma Smith, but this narrative actually continues the meditation on the meaning of persecution, revealing that reading the letters dissolved feelings of bitterness and opened JS's heart to receive inspiration. Then, the voice of the letter transitions from that of the prisoners to that of the Lord providing an answer to the letter's earlier prayer, explaining the deeper significance of the Saints' persecutions and pronouncing judgments against the church's enemies.

¹According to the JSP, we know this because of what JS says in his letter to Emma the next day.

"The second part of the letter addresses challenges the church faced in moving forward, such as deciding where the Saints should settle. JS declined to either approve or reject Isaac Galland's offer to sell land to the church; instead, JS said that church leaders in Quincy should make that decision in future conferences and should forward minutes of the proceedings to JS for approval. The letter also advises the Quincy church leaders to eschew 'an aspiring spirit' that had previously prevailed over 'milder councils,' causing much suffering and death among the Saints. Additionally, the epistle contains counsel on how to seek revelation and guidance; this counsel is followed by strong affirmation that persecution would not hinder the work of God. Like other missives JS composed in the Clay County jail, this letter incorporates multiple biblical allusions. Near the close, the letter signals that another general epistle was forthcoming.

"Although the letter's greeting is directed to the church in general and to Partridge in particular, JS sent the missive to his wife Emma because he wanted her 'to have the first reading of it.' In a letter he wrote to her the following day, he informed her, 'I have sent an Epistle to the church,' suggesting the epistle had already left the jail. The letter was probably carried from the jail by a church member, perhaps Alanson Ripley, who Hyrum Smith noted was visiting the jail on 20 March and was 'going to start back this after noon' to Far West, Missouri. Ripley told the prisoners that he could send their letters to Illinois 'a mediately by some of the brethren.' It remains unclear who transported the missive from Missouri to Illinois or when it arrived in Quincy. On 10 April 1839, Sidney Rigdon and Ripley wrote separate letters to JS and the other prisoners; both messages contain possible allusions to the general epistle, suggesting church members had received and read the epistle by that date. On 11 April, Mary Fielding Smith wrote to her husband, Hyrum Smith, stating she had read the epistle and that it was 'food to the hungry.' The 20 March epistle circulated widely among the Latter-day Saints in the months after its arrival in Illinois, as indicated by the extant copies in the handwriting of Partridge and Albert Perry Rockwood. In addition, the Times and Seasons published an edited version in 1840,¹ extending the letter's circulation to the Saints 'scattered abroad.'"

HDHC 1566–1574 has some more background, including extracts of newspaper editorials from different sources that discuss the publication history of certain passages of this letter in various places. It's a lot of useless jawing now.

Section 121:17

Section 121:18

And those who swear falsely against my servants, that they might bring them into bondage and death—

Section 121:19

Wo unto them; because they have offended my little ones they shall be severed from the ordinances of mine house.

Section 121:20

Their basket shall not be full, their houses and their barns shall perish, and they themselves shall be despised by those that flattered them.

¹See Exodus 16:14; there is a theme here in this section that relates back to Exodus 16, since it speaks there of the children of Israel gathering the manna from the ground after the frost disappears. As it says in verse 20, the people who are not righteous will not be able to gather anything after the frost disappears. This parallel deserves to be explored further, both in this section and throughout this letter.

Section 121:21

¹This verse starts the third chunk taken from the original letter. This third chunk comprises verses 26–32. In the original that's bb-dd.

²Note that starting this chunk of material in this way is very misleading—it cuts off a part of the statement which helps understand the verse as it stands now. ¹Notice that the “bowels” are spoken of here as the seat of charity, in a similar way to how the construction “bowels of mercy” is used to talk about the seat of mercy. See meaning #3 in the 1828, and also note the other occurrences of “bowels” earlier in this section.

²See Galatians 6:10,

³Here, perhaps meaning #3 from the 1828, “Moral goodness; the practice of moral duties and the abstaining from vice, or a conformity of life and conversation to the moral law.” But it could be others as well.

⁴Compare Matthew 12:44 and Luke 11:25, which are forms of χοσμέω; I think this is actually a pretty helpful comparison.

⁵Possibly παρρησία in Greek; see also πεποιθήσις, but probably not ὑπόστασις. Compare ἀναιδεία in Luke 11:8, along with the related verb ἀναιδεύομαι (“to be unconcerned about convention, be unabashed, bold”) and adjective ἀναιδής (“shameless, bold”), but note that neither the verb nor adjective appears in the NT; they’re only found elsewhere.

⁶Compare Philippians 1:14.

⁹In some blessings given in August 1842, JS uses a similar manner of speaking: “As the dews upon Mount Hermon may the distillations of thy divine grace, glory and honor in the plenitude of thy mercy, and power and goodness be poured down upon the head of thy servant.” He’s referencing Psalms 133:3. See also Daniel 4:15 and notes there; DC 128:19 (“dews of Carmel”);

¹⁰In this verse the dews are spoken of as “distilling” upon ours souls “from heaven.” Dew doesn’t actually come from heaven; it comes from condensation of water vapor in the air when the temperature drops. We can extend the metaphor in that direction of the condensation of what is already around us or what we are already breathing in or experiencing—it changes form so that we understand and experience it in a new way, even a more useful way, if you need the water for certain purposes. The “from heaven” bit also reminds me of manna, as spoken of in Exodus 16:4. I

See also DC 85:7,

¹²See DC 111:8, which is the only place in the scriptures outside of OT-related verses that you get the phrase “flow unto” (“flow to” does not appear at all). 111:8 is pretty significant in understanding this verse, I think, since it’s speaking of the “peace and power of my Spirit” that will flow. The other places are Isaiah 2:2, Micah 4:1, and 2 Nephi 12:2, which comes from the Isaiah verse. “Flow together” appears three times: Isaiah 60:5, Jeremiah 31:12, and Jeremiah 51:44. Historical Background “Around 22 March 1839, JS composed this epistle in the Clay County jail in Liberty, Missouri. Addressed to Bishop Edward Partridge and the church, the letter offered counsel on a range of issues. The epistle was the second letter JS wrote to the church in March 1839, and he evidently planned to write additional general epistles that month, offering guidance and comfort to the church after the devastating setbacks of 1838 and amid church members’ forced removal from Missouri in early 1839. The first epistle, addressed to the church in general and Partridge in particular, was drafted on 20 March 1839 and included meditations on persecution and the church’s divine destiny. At the conclusion of the missive, JS stated that the prisoners’ intent was to ‘continue to offer further reflections in our next epistle.’ This undated letter appears to be the promised sequel. JS was the primary author of the epistle, although the other prisoners may have assisted in its composition. Like the 20 March 1839 epistle, the undated letter shifts between three rhetorical perspectives: the first-person plural of all the prisoners, the first-person singular of JS, and the voice of Deity directed to JS. Each prisoner signed the letter.

JSP

“Dating the letter presents significant challenges. On 21 March 1839, JS informed Emma Smith, ‘I have sent an Epistle to the church,’ presumably referring to the 20 March letter. He then told her that he intended to ‘send an other as soon as possible,’ likely referring to this undated epistle. The undated letter could have been written anytime between 21 March and 6 April, the day the prisoners left Liberty for Gallatin, Missouri, to appear before the Daviess County Circuit Court. However, JS likely wrote it around 22 March, the day he composed a letter to land speculator Isaac Galland, who had offered to sell the church land in Illinois and Iowa Territory. In the 20 March 1839 epistle, JS deferred to the judgment of church leaders in Quincy, Illinois, regarding whether to accept Galland’s offer. JS’s thinking evidently changed by the time he wrote the letter to Galland on 22 March. In that letter, JS remarked that ‘the church would be wise in making the contract’ and requested that Galland reserve the land for the Saints. JS used similar language in the undated epistle, stating that ‘the church would do well to secure to themselves’ Galland’s land offer.

“In the epistle, JS revisited other major themes of the 20 March 1839 letter and also included new insights. In the earlier epistle, JS reflected on lessons learned from past mistakes; in the undated missive, JS further contemplated previous errors and suggested ways to avert similar problems in the future. The second epistle also contained an extended meditation on the righteous use of priesthood power; during the meditation, the perspective transitioned from the combined voice of JS and his companions addressing a general church audience to the voice of Deity addressing JS with regard to his future influence. After reviewing JS’s recent arrest, forced separation from his family, and incarceration, the divine voice assured JS that his suffering would provide necessary experience. The letter then returned to the voice of JS and his companions, alternating between first-person singular and first-person plural. The epistle also instructed the Saints to prepare affidavits describing their losses in Missouri, to be submitted to government officials. The letter then concluded with an extended affirmation of the inspired nature of the United States Constitution and the principle of religious liberty.

“JS presumably dictated the rough draft of the epistle, which is in the handwriting of Alexander McRae, who acted as scribe for other lengthy documents produced in the jail. This draft contains corrections by JS. When it was completed, each of the prisoners signed the epistle before it was folded in letter style and addressed to JS’s wife Emma Smith in Quincy. For reasons that remain unclear, McRae then produced a fair copy that incorporated JS’s revisions to the rough draft. After McRae and JS made additional minor corrections to the fair copy, the prisoners signed it, and then it was folded and addressed to Emma Smith. The fair copy is featured here because it appears to be the most complete version of the letter sent to Illinois.

“The undated general epistle may have been among the ‘package of letters’ that church member Alanson Ripley obtained from the jail on 22 March 1839. Alternatively, if the letter was not yet completed at the time of Ripley’s visit, other visitors to the jail in late March and early April, including Heber C. Kimball and Theodore Turley, may have been entrusted with the letter. The letter was presumably delivered to Emma Smith, as it was addressed to her. On 11 April 1839, Hyrum Smith’s wife, Mary Fielding Smith, indicated that both the 20 March 1839 epistle and the undated letter had arrived in Quincy. ‘We have seen the Epistols to the Church and read them several times,’ she wrote to her husband. ‘They seem like food for the hungrey we have taken great pleasure on perusing them.’ The undated epistle evidently was circulated widely among church members in Illinois, as indicated by the early copies that Edward Partridge and Albert Perry Rockwood made. An edited version of the letter was published twice in 1840—in church newspapers in Nauvoo, Illinois, and in Liverpool, England—further increasing the letter’s circulation.”

Section 123:1

AND again, we would suggest for your consideration the propriety of all the saints gathering up a knowledge of all the facts, and sufferings and abuses put upon them by the people of this State;

Section 123:2

And also of all the property and amount of damages which they have sustained, both of character and personal injuries, as well as real property;

Section 123:3

And also the names of all persons that have had a hand in their oppressions, as far as they can get hold of them and find them out.

Section 123:4

And perhaps a committee can be appointed to find out these things, and to take statements and affidavits; and also to gather up the libelous publications that are afloat;

Section 123:5

And all that are in the magazines, and in the encyclopedias, and all the libelous histories that are published, and are writing, and by whom, and present the whole concatenation of diabolical rascality and nefarious and murderous impositions that have been practised upon this people—

Section 123:6

That we may not only publish to all the world, but present them to the heads of government in all their dark and hellish hue, as the last effort which is enjoined on us by our Heavenly Father, before we can fully and completely claim that promise which shall call him forth from his hiding place; and also that the whole nation may be left without excuse before he can send forth the power of his mighty arm.

Section 123:7

It is an imperative duty that we owe to God, to angels, with whom we shall be brought to stand, and also to ourselves, to our wives and children, who have been made to bow down with grief, sorrow, and care, under the most damning hand of murder, tyranny, and oppression, supported and urged on and upheld by the influence of that spirit which hath so strongly riveted the creeds of the fathers, who have inherited lies, upon the hearts of the children, and filled the world with confusion, and has been growing stronger and stronger, and is now the very mainspring of all corruption, and the whole earth groans under the weight of its iniquity.

Section 123:8

It is an iron yoke, it is a strong band; they are the very handcuffs, and chains, and shackles, and fetters of hell.

Section 123:9

Therefore it is an imperative duty that we owe, not only to our own wives and children, but to the widows and fatherless, whose husbands and fathers have been murdered under its iron hand;

Section 123:10

Which dark and blackening deeds are enough to make hell itself shudder, and to stand aghast and pale, and the hands of the very devil to tremble and palsy.

Section 123:11

And also it is an imperative duty that we owe to all the rising generation, and to all the pure in heart—

Section 123:12

For there are many yet on the earth among all sects, parties, and denominations, who are blinded by the subtle craftiness of men, whereby they lie in wait to deceive, and who are only kept from the truth because they know not where to find it—

Section 123:13

Therefore, that we should waste and wear out our lives in bringing to light all the hidden things of darkness, wherein we know them; and they are truly manifest from heaven—

Section 123:14

These should then be attended to with great earnestness.

Section 123:15

Let no man count them as small things; for there is much which lieth in futurity, pertaining to the saints, which depends upon these things.

Section 123:16

You know, brethren, that a very large ship is benefited very much by a very small helm in the time of a storm, by being kept workways with the wind and the waves.

Section 123:17

Therefore, dearly beloved brethren, let us cheerfully do all things that lie in our power; and then may we stand still, with the utmost assurance, to see the salvation of God, and for his arm to be revealed.

Section 124 (19 January 1841)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 19 January 1841, JS dictated a revelation in Nauvoo, Illinois, designating the city as the new gathering place for the Latter-day Saints. The revelation initially addressed JS personally before instructing other individuals and the Saints generally. Over the coming years, the lengthy revelation would function as a sort of sacred charter for the Saints in Nauvoo in much the same way as the recently passed act to incorporate the city served as a secular charter.

“Since their expulsion from northern Missouri in winter 1838–1839, the Saints had devoted much of their time to resettling in the area of Commerce, Illinois, where they cleared the heavily forested peninsula, drained the swampy flats along the Mississippi River, planted crops, and built homes for the rapid influx of church members. Consequently, winter 1840–1841 provided church leaders the first real opportunity after the disruptive expulsion from Missouri to formally organize the new community and to restructure the church. The timing and content of the January revelation came after a series of efforts over the preceding months to seek incorporation of both the city and church from the Illinois legislature.

“While the city charter signaled the church’s lasting presence in Nauvoo, this revelation assured church members that relocating to Illinois did not entail abandoning their efforts to establish Zion in Missouri. The revelation stated that Nauvoo was to be ‘a corner stone of Zion’ (or a ‘stake’ of Zion) but not Zion itself. The city was not intended to be merely a temporary refuge either, as indicated by the revelation’s commandment to build a temple there. The revelation directed that a proclamation be written to the ‘kings of the world’ inviting them to come to Nauvoo ‘with your gold and your silver, to the help of my people.’ The proclamation’s prescribed contents (references to the ‘glory’ of Zion and the invitation to leaders of the earth to come bearing gold, silver, and other precious materials), along with other elements of the revelation regarding the welcoming of visitors to the city, directly echoes the prophetic language in Isaiah chapters 60 and 62.

“In order to have somewhere to host the anticipated distinguished visitors, the ‘weary traveler,’ or anyone coming to Nauvoo to ‘contemplate the word of the Lord,’ the revelation directed that a boardinghouse be built. The revelation devoted more space to the subject of building this ‘Nauvoo House’ than to any other topic. Because JS and Emma Smith were to donate the land on which the hotel would be built, the Smith family was to live there and serve as the hosts, a role in which JS and Emma had been serving since their arrival in the area. The revelation gave specific instructions to a number of individuals in Nauvoo, frequently recommending that they donate to the construction of the Nauvoo House by buying shares of stock. It concluded by officially reorganizing the church’s government, naming appointments to various ecclesiastical offices and quorums.

“In some cases, rather than giving new instruction, the revelation provided formal approval and authority to earlier decisions and actions. The commandment to build a temple in Nauvoo, for instance, gave divine mandate to an instruction that JS had been voicing publicly for over half a year. The revelation underscored the importance of building a temple in Nauvoo by declaring that certain ordinances—like baptisms for the dead—were appropriately performed only in the temple. The revelation described Nauvoo as the cornerstone of Zion; an October 1839 conference of the church had already designated the city as a new gathering place for the Saints. Similarly, most of the church leadership assignments identified in the revelation reflected prior appointments.

“One of the few revelations from the Illinois period to be later canonized by the church, the 19 January revelation served as divine direction for the Saints for the duration of their time in Nauvoo. Mayor John C. Bennett read it at the general conference of the church in Nauvoo on 7 April 1841. The text was published in the 1 June issue of the church’s Nauvoo newspaper, Times and Seasons, as well as in the September 1841 issue of the Latter-day Saints’ Millennial Star, printed in Manchester, England. The Saints in Illinois referred to the revelation frequently in print and in public settings.

“The version featured here is the earliest extant copy of the revelation, inscribed by Robert B. Thompson in the Book of the Law of the Lord sometime between 19 January and 7 April 1841, when Bennett read the revelation publicly from this source. The absence of editorial revisions and the presence of some inadvertently duplicated passages indicate that Thompson was copying the version in the Book of the Law of the Lord from an earlier draft that is no longer extant.”

Section 124:1

VERILY, thus saith the Lord unto you, my servant Joseph Smith, I am well pleased with your offering and acknowledgments, which you have made; for unto this end have I raised you up, that I might show forth my wisdom through the weak things of the earth.

Section 124:2

Your prayers are acceptable before me; and in answer to them I say unto you, that you are now called immediately to make a solemn proclamation of my gospel, and of this stake which I have planted to be a cornerstone of Zion, which shall be polished with the refinement which is after the similitude of a palace.

Section 124:3

This proclamation shall be made to all the kings of the world, to the four corners thereof, to the honorable president-elect, and the high-minded governors of the nation in which you live, and to all the nations of the earth scattered abroad.

Section 124:4

Let it be written in the spirit of meekness and by the power of the Holy Ghost, which shall be in you at the time of the writing of the same;

Section 124:5

For it shall be given you by the Holy Ghost to know my will concerning those kings and authorities, even what shall befall them in a time to come.

Section 124:6

For, behold, I am about to call upon them to give heed to the light and glory of Zion, for the set time has come to favor her.

Section 124:7

Call ye, therefore, upon them with loud proclamation, and with your testimony, fearing them not, for they are as grass, and all their glory as the flower thereof which soon falleth, that they may be left also without excuse—

Section 124:8

And that I may visit them in the day of visitation, when I shall unveil the face of my covering, to appoint the portion of the oppressor among hypocrites, where there is gnashing of teeth, if they reject my servants and my testimony which I have revealed unto them.

Section 124:9

And again, I will visit and soften their hearts, many of them for your good, that ye may find grace in their eyes, that they may come to the light of truth, and the Gentiles to the exaltation or lifting up of Zion.

Section 124:10

For the day of my visitation cometh speedily, in an hour when ye think not of; and where shall be the safety of my people, and refuge for those who shall be left of them?

Section 124:11

Awake, O kings of the earth! Come ye, O, come ye, with your gold and your silver, to the help of my people, to the house of the daughters of Zion.

Section 124:12

And again, verily I say unto you, let my servant Robert B. Thompson help you to write this proclamation, for I am well pleased with him, and that he should be with you;

Section 124:13

Let him, therefore, hearken to your counsel, and I will bless him with a multiplicity of blessings; let him be faithful and true in all things from henceforth, and he shall be great in mine eyes;

Section 124:14

But let him remember that his stewardship will I require at his hands.

Section 124:15

And again, verily I say unto you, blessed is my servant Hyrum Smith; for I, the Lord, love him because of the integrity of his heart, and because he loveth that which is right before me, saith the Lord.

Section 124:16

Again, let my servant John C. Bennett help you in your labor in sending my word to the kings and people of the earth, and stand by you, even you my servant Joseph Smith, in the hour of affliction; and his reward shall not fail if he receive counsel.

Section 124:17

And for his love he shall be great, for he shall be mine if he do this, saith the Lord. I have seen the work which he hath done, which I accept if he continue, and will crown him with blessings and great glory.

Section 124:18

And again, I say unto you that it is my will that my servant Lyman Wight should continue in preaching for Zion, in the spirit of meekness, confessing me before the world; and I will bear him up as on eagles' wings;¹ and he shall beget glory and honor to himself and unto my name.

Section 124:19

That when he shall finish his work I may receive him unto myself, even as I did my servant David Patten, who is with me at this time, and also my servant Edward Partridge, and also my aged servant Joseph Smith, Sen., who sitteth with Abraham at his right hand, and blessed and holy is he, for he is mine.

¹See Exodus 19:4 and Deuteronomy 32:11, and also verse 99 of this section.

Section 124:20

And again, verily I say unto you, my servant George Miller is without guile; he may be trusted because of the integrity of his heart; and for the love which he has to my testimony I, the Lord, love him.

Section 124:21

I therefore say unto you, I seal upon his head the office of a bishopric, like unto my servant Edward Partridge, that he may receive the consecrations of mine house, that he may administer blessings upon the heads of the poor of my people, saith the Lord. Let no man despise my servant George, for he shall honor me.

Section 124:22

Let my servant George, and my servant Lyman, and my servant John Snider, and others, build a house unto my name, such a one as my servant Joseph shall show unto them, upon the place which he shall show unto them also.

Section 124:23

And it shall be for a house for boarding, a house that strangers may come from afar to lodge therein; therefore let it be a good house, worthy of all acceptation, that the weary traveler may find health and safety while he shall contemplate the word of the Lord; and the corner-stone I have appointed for Zion.

Section 124:24

¹This house shall be a healthful habitation if it be built unto my name, and if the governor which shall be appointed unto it shall not suffer any pollution to come upon it. It shall be holy, or the Lord your God will not dwell therein.

Section 124:25

And again, verily I say unto you, let all my saints come from afar.

Section 124:26

And send ye swift messengers, yea, chosen messengers, and say unto them: Come ye, with all your gold, and your silver, and your precious² stones, and with all your antiquities; and with all who have knowledge of antiquities,³ that will come, may come, and bring the box-tree,⁴ and the fir-tree, and the pine-tree, together with all the precious trees of the earth;

Section 124:27

And with iron, with copper, and with brass,⁵ and with zinc,⁶ and with all your precious things of the earth; and build a house to my name, for the Most High to dwell therein.

¹I think this is a great description of a temple-like place, and this is what we should be working for in the places we dwell in, whatever they are, and in our own lives. See 1 Corinthians 3:16.

²The string of "gold-silver-precious" occurs various times in the scriptures, including in the OT, NT, and BOM.

³The word "antiquity" appears three times in the scriptures: twice here, and then at Isaiah 23:7.

⁴For these trees, compare Isaiah 41:19 and 60:13.

⁵The strings of "iron-copper" and even "iron-copper-brass" appear various times in the BOM.

⁶This is the only use of "zinc" in all the scriptures.

Section 124:28

For there is not a place found on earth that he may come to and restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood.

Section 124:29

For a baptismal font there is not upon the earth, that they, my saints, may be baptized for those who are dead—

Section 124:30

For this ordinance belongeth to my house, and cannot be acceptable to me, only in the days of your poverty, wherein ye are not able to build a house unto me.

Section 124:31

But I command you, all ye my saints, to build a house unto me; and I grant unto you a sufficient time to build a house unto me; and during this time your baptisms shall be acceptable unto me.

Section 124:32

But behold, at the end of this appointment your baptisms for your dead shall not be acceptable unto me; and if you do not these things at the end of the appointment ye shall be rejected as a church, with your dead, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:33

For verily I say unto you, that after you have had sufficient time to build a house to me, wherein the ordinance of baptizing for the dead belongeth, and for which the same was instituted from before the foundation of the world, your baptisms for your dead cannot be acceptable unto me;

Section 124:34

For therein are the keys of the holy priesthood ordained, that you may receive honor and glory.

Section 124:35

And after this time, your baptisms for the dead, by those who are scattered abroad, are not acceptable unto me, saith the Lord.

Section 124:36

For it is ordained that in Zion, and in her stakes, and in Jerusalem, those places which I have appointed for refuge, shall be the places for your baptisms for your dead.

Section 124:37

And again, verily I say unto you, how shall your washings be acceptable unto me, except ye perform them in a house which you have built to my name?

Section 124:38

For, for this cause I commanded Moses that he should build a tabernacle, that they should bear it with them in the wilderness, and to build a house in the land of promise, that those ordinances might be revealed which had been hid from before the world was.

Section 124:39

Therefore, verily I say unto you, that your anointings, and your washings, and your baptisms for the dead, and your solemn assemblies, and your memorials for your sacrifices by the sons of Levi,¹ and for your oracles in your most holy places wherein you receive conversations, and your statutes and judgments, for the beginning of the revelations and foundation of Zion, and for the glory, honor, and endowment of all her municipalities, are ordained by the ordinance of my holy house, which my people are always commanded to build unto my holy name.

Section 124:40

And verily I say unto you, let this house be built unto my name, that I may reveal mine ordinances therein unto my people;

Section 124:41

For I deign to reveal unto my church things which have been kept hid from before the foundation of the world, things that pertain to the dispensation of the fulness of times.

Section 124:42

And I will show unto my servant Joseph all things pertaining to this house, and the priesthood thereof, and the place whereon it shall be built.

Section 124:43

And ye shall build it on the place where you have contemplated building it, for that is the spot which I have chosen for you to build it.

Section 124:44

If ye labor with all your might, I will consecrate that spot that it shall be made holy.

Section 124:45

And if my people will hearken unto my voice, and unto the voice of my servants whom I have appointed to lead my people, behold, verily I say unto you, they shall not be moved out of their place.

Section 124:46

But if they will not hearken to my voice, nor unto the voice of these men whom I have appointed, they shall not be blest, because they pollute mine holy grounds, and mine holy ordinances, and charters, and my holy words which I give unto them.

¹For "sons of Levi," see Malachi 3:3 and notes there.

Section 124:47

And it shall come to pass that if you build a house unto my name, and do not do the things that I say, I will not perform the oath¹ which I make unto you, neither fulfil the promises which ye expect at my hands, saith the Lord.

Section 124:48

For instead of blessings, ye, by your own works, bring cursings, wrath, indignation, and judgments upon your own heads, by your follies, and by all your abominations, which you practise before me, saith the Lord.

Section 124:49

Verily, verily, I say unto you, that when I give a commandment to any of the sons of men to do a work unto my name, and those sons of men go with all their might and with all they have to perform that work, and cease not their diligence, and their enemies come upon them and hinder them from performing that work, behold, it behooveth me to require that work no more at the hands of those sons of men, but to accept of their offerings.

Section 124:50

And the iniquity and transgression of my holy laws and commandments I will visit upon the heads of those who hindered my work, unto the third and fourth generation, so long as they repent not, and hate me, saith the Lord God.

Section 124:51

Therefore, for this cause have I accepted the offerings of those whom I commanded to build up a city and a house unto my name, in Jackson county, Missouri, and were hindered by their enemies, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:52

And I will answer judgment, wrath, and indignation, wailing, and anguish, and gnashing of teeth upon their heads, unto the third and fourth generation, so long as they repent not, and hate me, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:53

And this I make an example unto you, for your consolation concerning all those who have been commanded to do a work and have been hindered by the hands of their enemies, and by oppression, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:54

For I am the Lord your God, and will save all those of your brethren who have been pure in heart, and have been slain in the land of Missouri, saith the Lord.

Section 124:55

And again, verily I say unto you, I command you again to build a house to my name, even in this place, that you may prove yourselves unto me that ye are faithful in all things whatsoever I command you, that I may bless you, and crown you with honor, immortality, and eternal life.

¹This word is used here in the context of the priesthood, which of course connects you to DC 84:39 and what is taught around there.

Section 124:56

And now I say unto you, as pertaining to my boarding house which I have commanded you to build for the boarding of strangers, let it be built unto my name, and let my name be named upon it, and let my servant Joseph and his house have place therein, from generation to generation.

Section 124:57

For this anointing have I put upon his head, that his blessing shall also be put upon the head of his posterity after him.

Section 124:58

And as I said unto Abraham concerning the kindreds of the earth, even so I say unto my servant Joseph: In thee and in thy seed shall the kindred of the earth be blessed.

Section 124:59

Therefore, let my servant Joseph and his seed after him have place in that house, from generation to generation, forever and ever, saith the Lord.

Section 124:60

And let the name of that house be called Nauvoo House; and let it be a delightful habitation for man, and a resting-place for the weary traveler, that he may contemplate the glory of Zion, and the glory of this, the corner-stone thereof;

Section 124:61

That he may receive also the counsel from those whom I have set to be as plants of renown, and as watchmen upon her walls.

Section 124:62

Behold, verily I say unto you, let my servant George Miller, and my servant Lyman Wight, and my servant John Snider, and my servant Peter Haws, organize themselves, and appoint one of them to be a president over their quorum for the purpose of building that house.

Section 124:63

And they shall form a constitution, whereby they may receive stock for the building of that house.

Section 124:64

And they shall not receive less than fifty dollars for a share of stock in that house, and they shall be permitted to receive fifteen thousand dollars from any one man for stock in that house.

Section 124:65

But they shall not be permitted to receive over fifteen thousand dollars stock from any one man.

Section 124:66

And they shall not be permitted to receive under fifty dollars for a share of stock from any one man in that house.

Section 124:67

And they shall not be permitted to receive any man, as a stockholder in this house, except the same shall pay his stock into their hands at the time he receives stock;

Section 124:68

And in proportion to the amount of stock he pays into their hands he shall receive stock in that house; but if he pays nothing into their hands he shall not receive any stock in that house.

Section 124:69

And if any pay stock into their hands it shall be for stock in that house, for himself, and for his generation after him, from generation to generation, so long as he and his heirs shall hold that stock, and do not sell or convey the stock away out of their hands by their own free will and act, if you will do my will, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:70

And again, verily I say unto you, if my servant George Miller, and my servant Lyman Wight, and my servant John Snider, and my servant Peter Haws, receive any stock into their hands, in moneys, or in properties wherein they receive the real value of moneys, they shall not appropriate any portion of that stock to any other purpose, only in that house.

Section 124:71

And if they do appropriate any portion of that stock anywhere else, only in that house, without the consent of the stockholder, and do not repay fourfold for the stock which they appropriate anywhere else, only in that house, they shall be accursed, and shall be moved out of their place, saith the Lord God; for I, the Lord, am God, and cannot be mocked in any of these things.

Section 124:72

Verily I say unto you, let my servant Joseph pay stock into their hands for the building of that house, as seemeth him good; but my servant Joseph cannot pay over fifteen thousand dollars stock in that house, nor under fifty dollars; neither can any other man, saith the Lord.

Section 124:73

And there are others also who wish to know my will concerning them, for they have asked it at my hands.

Section 124:74

Therefore, I say unto you concerning my servant Vinson Knight, if he will do my will let him put stock into that house for himself, and for his generation after him, from generation to generation.

Section 124:75

And let him lift up his voice long and loud, in the midst of the people, to plead the cause of the poor and the needy; and let him not fail, neither let his heart faint; and I will accept of his offerings, for they shall not be unto me as the offerings of Cain, for he shall be mine, saith the Lord.

Section 124:76

Let his family rejoice and turn away their hearts from affliction; for I have chosen him and anointed him, and he shall be honored in the midst of his house, for I will forgive all his sins, saith the Lord. Amen.

Section 124:77

Verily I say unto you, let my servant Hyrum put stock into that house as seemeth him good, for himself and his generation after him, from generation to generation.

Section 124:78

Let my servant Isaac Galland put stock into that house; for I, the Lord, love him for the work he hath done, and will forgive all his sins; therefore, let him be remembered for an interest in that house from generation to generation.

Section 124:79

Let my servant Isaac Galland be appointed among you, and be ordained by my servant William Marks, and be blessed of him, to go with my servant Hyrum to accomplish the work that my servant Joseph shall point out to them, and they shall be greatly blessed.

Section 124:80

Let my servant William Marks pay stock into that house, as seemeth him good, for himself and his generation, from generation to generation.

Section 124:81

Let my servant Henry G. Sherwood pay stock into that house, as seemeth him good, for himself and his seed after him, from generation to generation.

Section 124:82

Let my servant William Law pay stock into that house, for himself and his seed after him, from generation to generation.

Section 124:83

If he will do my will let him not take his family unto the eastern lands, even unto Kirtland; nevertheless, I, the Lord, will build up Kirtland, but I, the Lord, have a scourge prepared for the inhabitants thereof.

Section 124:84

And with my servant Almon Babbitt, there are many things with which I am not pleased; behold, he aspireth to establish his counsel instead of the counsel which I have ordained, even that of the Presidency of my Church; and he setteth up a golden calf¹ for the worship of my people.

Section 124:85

Let no man go from this place who has come here essaying² to keep my commandments.

Section 124:86

If they live here let them live unto me; and if they die let them die unto me; for they shall rest³ from all their labors here, and shall continue their works.

Section 124:87

Therefore, let my servant William put his trust in me, and cease to fear concerning his family, because of the sickness of the land. If ye love me, keep my commandments; and the sickness of the land shall redound to your glory.

Section 124:88

Let my servant William go and proclaim my everlasting gospel with a loud voice, and with great joy, as he shall be moved upon by my Spirit, unto the inhabitants of Warsaw, and also unto the inhabitants of Carthage, and also unto the inhabitants of Burlington, and also unto the inhabitants of Madison, and await patiently and diligently for further instructions at my general conference, saith the Lord.

Section 124:89

If he will do my will let him from henceforth hearken to the counsel of my servant Joseph, and with his interest support the cause of the poor, and publish the new translation of my holy word unto the inhabitants of the earth.

Section 124:90

And if he will do this I will bless him with a multiplicity of blessings, that he shall not be forsaken, nor his seed be found begging bread.

Section 124:91

And again, verily I say unto you, let my servant William be appointed, ordained, and anointed, as counselor unto my servant Joseph, in the room of my servant Hyrum, that my servant Hyrum may take the office of Priesthood and Patriarch, which was appointed unto him by his father, by blessing and also by right;

Section 124:92

That from henceforth he shall hold the keys of the patriarchal blessings upon the heads of all my people, ¹See Exodus 32.

²The verb “essay” appears twice in the scriptures—here, and also at DC 125:2. Both uses are gerunds.

³In this context, “rest” reminds me of DC 84:24.

Section 124:93

That whoever he blesses shall be blessed, and whoever he curses shall be cursed; that whatsoever he shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever he shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

Section 124:94

And from this time forth I appoint unto him that he may be a prophet, and a seer, and a revelator unto my church, as well as my servant Joseph;

Section 124:95

That he may act in concert also with my servant Joseph; and that he shall receive counsel from my servant Joseph, who shall show unto him the keys whereby he may ask and receive, and be crowned with the same blessing, and glory, and honor, and priesthood, and gifts of the priesthood, that once were put upon him that was my servant Oliver Cowdery;

Section 124:96

That my servant Hyrum may bear record of the things which I shall show unto him, that his name may be had in honorable remembrance from generation to generation, forever and ever.

Section 124:97

Let my servant William Law also receive the keys by which he may ask and receive blessings; let him be humble before me, and be without guile, and he shall receive of my Spirit, even the Comforter, which shall manifest unto him the truth of all things, and shall give him, in the very hour, what he shall say.

Section 124:98

And these signs shall follow him—he shall heal the sick, he shall cast out devils, and shall be delivered from those who would administer unto him deadly poison;

Section 124:99

And he shall be led in paths where the poisonous serpent cannot lay hold upon his heel, and he shall mount up in the imagination of his thoughts as upon eagles'¹ wings.

Section 124:100

And what if I will that he should raise the dead, let him not withhold his voice.

Section 124:101

Therefore, let my servant William cry aloud and spare not, with joy and rejoicing, and with hosannas to him that sitteth upon the throne forever and ever, saith the Lord your God.

¹For “eagles’ wings,” see verse 18 of this section and notes there.

Section 124:102

Behold, I say unto you, I have a mission in store for my servant William, and my servant Hyrum, and for them alone; and let my servant Joseph tarry at home, for he is needed. The remainder I will show unto you hereafter. Even so. Amen.

Section 124:103

And again, verily I say unto you, if my servant Sidney will serve me and be counselor unto my servant Joseph, let him arise and come up and stand in the office of his calling, and humble himself before me.

Section 124:104

And if he will offer unto me an acceptable offering, and acknowledgments, and remain with my people, behold, I, the Lord your God, will heal him that he shall be healed; and he shall lift up his voice again on the mountains, and be a spokesman before my face.

Section 124:105

Let him come and locate his family in the neighborhood in which my servant Joseph resides.

Section 124:106

And in all his journeyings let him lift up his voice as with the sound of a trump, and warn the inhabitants of the earth to flee the wrath to come.

Section 124:107

Let him assist my servant Joseph, and also let my servant William Law assist my servant Joseph, in making a solemn proclamation unto the kings of the earth, even as I have before said unto you.

Section 124:108

If my servant Sidney will do my will, let him not remove his family unto the eastern lands, but let him change their habitation, even as I have said.

Section 124:109

Behold, it is not my will that he shall seek to find safety and refuge out of the city which I have appointed unto you, even the city of Nauvoo.

Section 124:110

Verily I say unto you, even now, if he will hearken unto my voice, it shall be well with him. Even so. Amen.

Section 124:111

And again, verily I say unto you, let my servant Amos Davies pay stock into the hands of those whom I have appointed to build a house for boarding, even the Nauvoo House.

Section 124:112

This let him do if he will have an interest; and let him hearken unto the counsel of my servant Joseph, and labor with his own hands that he may obtain the confidence of men.

Section 124:113

And when he shall prove himself faithful in all things that shall be entrusted unto his care, yea, even a few things, he shall be made ruler over many;

Section 124:114

Let him therefore abase himself that he may be exalted. Even so. Amen.

Section 124:115

And again, verily I say unto you, if my servant Robert D. Foster will obey my voice, let him build a house for my servant Joseph, according to the contract which he has made with him, as the door shall be open to him from time to time.

Section 124:116

And let him repent of all his folly, and clothe himself with charity; and cease to do evil, and lay aside all his hard speeches;

Section 124:117

And pay stock also into the hands of the quorum of the Nauvoo House, for himself and for his generation after him, from generation to generation;

Section 124:118

And hearken unto the counsel of my servants Joseph, and Hyrum, and William Law, and unto the authorities which I have called to lay the foundation of Zion; and it shall be well with him forever and ever. Even so. Amen.

Section 124:119

And again, verily I say unto you, let no man pay stock to the quorum of the Nauvoo House unless he shall be a believer in the Book of Mormon, and the revelations I have given unto you, saith the Lord your God;

Section 124:120

For that which is more or less than this cometh of evil, and shall be attended with cursings and not blessings, saith the Lord your God. Even so. Amen.

Section 124:121

And again, verily I say unto you, let the quorum of the Nauvoo House have a just recompense of wages for all their labors which they do in building the Nauvoo House; and let their wages be as shall be agreed among themselves, as pertaining to the price thereof.

Section 124:122

And let every man who pays stock bear his proportion of their wages, if it must needs be, for their support, saith the Lord; otherwise, their labors shall be accounted unto them for stock in that house. Even so. Amen.

Section 124:123

Verily I say unto you, I now give unto you the officers belonging to my Priesthood, that ye may hold the keys thereof, even the Priesthood which is after the order of Melchizedek, which is after the order of mine Only Begotten Son.

JSP Verily I say unto you, I now give unto you the offices belonging to my priesthood that ye may hold the keys thereof even the Priesthood which is after the order of Melchisadeck, which is after the order of my only begotten son.

Section 124:124

First, I give unto you Hyrum Smith to be a patriarch unto you, to hold the sealing blessings of my church, even the Holy Spirit of promise, whereby ye are sealed up unto the day of redemption, that ye may not fall notwithstanding the hour of temptation that may come upon you.

JSP First, I give unto you Hyrum Smith to be a patriarch unto you to hold the sealing blessings of my church, even the holy spirit of promise, whereby ye are sealed up unto the day of redemption, that ye may not fall, notwithstanding the hour of temptation that may come upon you.

Section 124:125

I give unto you my servant Joseph to be a presiding elder over all my church, to be a translator, a revelator, a seer, and prophet.

Section 124:126

I give unto him for counselors my servant Sidney Rigdon and my servant William Law, that these may constitute a quorum and First Presidency, to receive the oracles for the whole church.

Section 124:127

I give unto you my servant Brigham Young to be a president over the Twelve traveling council;

Section 124:128

Which Twelve hold the keys to open up the authority of my kingdom upon the four corners of the earth, and after that to send my word to every creature.

Section 124:129

They are Heber C. Kimball, Parley P. Pratt, Orson Pratt, Orson Hyde, William Smith, John Taylor, John E. Page, Wilford Woodruff, Willard Richards, George A. Smith;

Section 124:130

David Patten I have taken unto myself; behold, his priesthood no man taketh from him; but, verily I say unto you, another may be appointed unto the same calling.

Section 124:131

And again, I say unto you, I give unto you a high council, for the corner-stone of Zion—

Section 124:132

Namely, Samuel Bent, Henry G. Sherwood, George W. Harris, Charles C. Rich, Thomas Grover, Newel Knight, David Dort, Dunbar Wilson—Seymour Brunson I have taken unto myself; no man taketh his priesthood, but another may be appointed unto the same priesthood in his stead; and verily I say unto you, let my servant Aaron Johnson be ordained unto this calling in his stead—David Fullmer, Alpheus Cutler, William Huntington.

Section 124:133

And again, I give unto you Don C. Smith to be a president over a quorum of high priests;

Section 124:134

Which ordinance is instituted for the purpose of qualifying those who shall be appointed standing presidents or servants over different stakes scattered abroad;

Section 124:135

And they may travel also if they choose, but rather be ordained for standing presidents; this is the office of their calling, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:136

I give unto him Amasa Lyman and Noah Packard for counselors, that they may preside over the quorum of high priests of my church, saith the Lord.

Section 124:137

And again, I say unto you, I give unto you John A. Hicks, Samuel Williams, and Jesse Baker, which priesthood is to preside over the quorum of elders, which quorum is instituted for standing ministers; nevertheless they may travel, yet they are ordained to be standing ministers to my church, saith the Lord.

Section 124:138

And again, I give unto you Joseph Young, Josiah Butterfield, Daniel Miles, Henry Herriman, Zera Pulsipher, Levi Hancock, James Foster, to preside over the quorum of seventies;

Section 124:139

Which quorum is instituted for traveling elders to bear record of my name in all the world, wherever the traveling high council, mine apostles, shall send them to prepare a way before my face.

Section 124:140

The difference between this quorum and the quorum of elders is that one is to travel continually, and the other is to preside over the churches from time to time; the one has the responsibility of presiding from time to time, and the other has no responsibility of presiding, saith the Lord your God.

Section 124:141

And again, I say unto you, I give unto you Vinson Knight, Samuel H. Smith, and Shadrach Roundy, if he will receive it, to preside over the bishopric; a knowledge of said bishopric is given unto you in the book of Doctrine and Covenants.

Section 124:142

And again, I say unto you, Samuel Rolfe and his counselors for priests, and the president of the teachers and his counselors, and also the president of the deacons and his counselors, and also the president of the stake and his counselors.

The above offices I have given unto you, and the keys thereof, for helps and for governments, for the work of the ministry and the perfecting of my saints.

Section 124:144

And a commandment I give unto you, that you should fill all these offices and approve of those names which I have mentioned, or else disapprove of them at my general conference;

Section 124:145

And that ye should prepare rooms for all these offices in my house when you build it unto my name, saith the Lord your God. Even so. Amen.

Section 125 (Circa Early March 1841)

Historical Background

JSP

“In early March 1841, JS dictated a revelation directing the Latter-day Saints in Iowa Territory to settle in Zarahemla, Lee County, Iowa Territory, or in other appointed gathering sites. Beginning in 1839, many members of the church settled on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River, in and around Hancock County, while a smaller number settled in scattered communities across the river in Iowa Territory.

“The precise date that JS dictated this revelation is unclear. In early March 1841 the settlement of church members in Iowa was apparently a pressing concern. John Smith, the president of the Iowa stake, recorded in his journal that on 6 March 1841, Bishop Alanson Ripley ‘came over to inform me that Joseph Said it was the will of the Lord the Brethren in generally in Ambrosia Should move in and about the City Zerahemla with all convenient Speed which the Saints are willing to Do Because it is the word of the Lord.’ A few days later, on 11 March, John Smith and two other elders went to Nauvoo, Illinois, to see JS and ‘to learn the will of the Lord’ concerning the Saints in Iowa. According to Smith, JS stated that the Saints were ‘to move into the city Speedily but make large fields without [and] rais[e] grain.’ It is possible that this 11 March conversation between John Smith and JS led to both the ‘interrogatory’ and the subsequent revelation featured here. It is also possible, however, that JS had dictated the revelation earlier and that the Saints in Iowa were already acting on the commands of the revelation prior to John Smith’s meeting with JS.

“Robert B. Thompson recorded this revelation in the Book of the Law of the Lord sometime around or after 20 March 1841, but he did not inscribe the date of its dictation. He placed the revelation after a 20 March 1841 revelation, and it was therefore included under that date in Willard Richards’s rough draft notes for JS’s multivolume manuscript history. This early March revelation was read, along with a 19 January 1841 revelation, at the April 1841 general conference of the church in Nauvoo.

“According to William Clayton’s diary, JS believed the intent of the revelation was to consolidate the scattered Latter-day Saint settlements in Iowa for the sake of safety. JS even invoked the grim specter of the 1838 massacre at Hawn’s Mill, Missouri, which occurred in part because Hawn’s Mill was isolated from other settlements. On 24 May 1841, JS wrote a letter in which he informed the Saints that all stakes except for those approved in Hancock County and Lee County were ‘discontinued’ and that Saints living outside of those stakes should relocate to one of the approved areas as soon as they were able. In an August 1841 church conference held in Zarahemla, apostle John Taylor reemphasized the revelation’s call to gather there. A ‘large number present agreed to move in and assist in building up Zarahemla,’ as the revelation directed. By August 1841, there were 326 members living in the Zarahemla branch.”

“In the journal of John Smith, the Prophet’s uncle, is the following reference which shows that Section 125 must have been given as early as March 6th, and perhaps earlier:

Saturday, March 6. Had an interview with Brother Ripley come over to inform me that Joseph said it was the will of the Lord the brethren in general in Ambrosia should move in and about the city Zerehemla with all convenient speech which the Saints are willing to do because it is the word of the Lord. O Lord help thy people to gather out of Babylon ¹” (HDDC 1658).

Historical Background

JSP

“On 9 July 1841, JS dictated a revelation for Brigham Young, releasing him from extended travel and admonishing him to remain with and care for his family. From the time Young joined the church in 1832, missionary travels marked his life. Young had departed Nauvoo, Illinois, almost two years earlier for a mission to Europe with other apostles and church members, leaving his family behind. He and the others proselytized primarily in England, where thousands converted to the church. While there, Young’s fellow apostles sustained him as the president of their quorum. Young and the other apostles serving missions were deeply concerned about the well-being of their families. During Young’s sojourn in England, his wife, Mary Ann Angell Young, and their children struggled with poverty, lacked essential goods, and suffered from illness. Despite her downtrodden circumstances, Mary Ann expressed gratitude for her husband’s efforts. ‘I am glad to hear the work of the Lord is prospering in England,’ she wrote to Young in April 1841. ‘It gives me much joy.’

“Young and his fellow apostles Heber C. Kimball and John Taylor returned to Nauvoo, arriving on 1 July 1841. There they ‘were met by President Smith, and many . . . old tried friends, whose countenances expressed the most heartfelt satisfaction at [their] return.’ Eight days later, JS dictated the revelation featured here at Young’s residence in Nauvoo. The revelation acknowledged Young’s missionary labors away from home and commanded him thereafter to ‘send’ the gospel message abroad—implying that he should reside at home—and to provide ‘special care’ for his family.

“The revelation’s direction that Young no longer leave his family for extended periods was likely also connected to Young’s increasing responsibilities in Nauvoo. A month after dictating this revelation, JS declared in a public discourse that ‘the time had come when the twelve should be called upon to stand in their place next to the first presidency, and attend to the settling of emigrants and the business of the church at the stakes.’ JS further stated that the Twelve Apostles had earned the right to stay with their families, where they would have better opportunity to provide for them.

“The original copy of this revelation has not been located. It is likely that a loose dictation copy was created, after which a copy was given to Young and the original was kept in JS’s office. Willard Richards copied the text of this revelation into the Book of the Law of the Lord on 17 December 1841, four days after he was appointed recorder for the temple and JS’s personal scribe.”

Historical Background

JSP

“On 1 September 1842, JS dictated to William Clayton a letter addressed to church members in Nauvoo, Illinois, informing them that he was planning to leave the city in order to evade arrest and extradition to Missouri. JS had been eluding officers seeking his arrest for most of August, primarily by concealing himself in private residences of friends in and near Nauvoo and just across the Mississippi River in Iowa Territory. On 24 August, Illinois governor Thomas Carlin wrote to Emma Smith indicating that he would not relent in his efforts to have JS arrested in order to resolve the extradition matter. Emma received that letter by 27 August, which may have been one reason for JS’s departure from Nauvoo.

“In this 1 September letter, JS urged church members in Nauvoo to remain faithful during periods of tribulation, assured them that his business affairs would be attended to by authorized representatives, and advised them that he would return when the attempts to arrest him had ended. JS also included in the letter the text of a revelation on baptisms for the dead. He had first taught the doctrine of baptizing individuals on behalf of their deceased relatives in August 1840. Latter-day Saints performed the first of such baptisms in the Mississippi River until the font in the basement of the unfinished Nauvoo temple was dedicated on 8 November 1841, after which the ordinance was performed almost exclusively in the font. The Saints recorded many, but not all, of these early baptisms for deceased individuals. In this letter, JS emphasized the importance of having a recorder witness each baptism. JS also informed the Saints that a number of additional revelations concerning the ordinance and other topics were forthcoming and promised that he would send additional instruction in future correspondence.

“Although JS discussed his plans to leave Nauvoo in the letter, he did not depart immediately. On 2 September, he heard that the sheriff of Adams County, Illinois, was coming to Nauvoo to arrest him. The next day, a deputy sheriff and two other men arrived at JS’s home, forcing JS to flee through the back door to the home of Newel K. Whitney. Later that night, JS moved to the home of Edward Hunter, accompanied by Erastus Derby. On 4 September, Derby apparently gave the letter to William Clayton, and it was subsequently read at a church meeting held in the grove of trees west of the temple construction site.

“The circumstances of this letter’s creation and the letter’s whereabouts in the days immediately after are not entirely clear. JS may have retained the original letter after Clayton helped him draft it on 1 September, bringing it with him into hiding until sending it to Clayton on 4 September. Alternately, just prior to the meeting at which the letter was read, JS may have sent Derby to retrieve it from a different location and deliver it to Clayton. In either scenario, it is unclear why the addressing to Clayton is in Clayton’s own handwriting. JS likely thought that the public reading of this letter would lead officers of the law still in the city to discontinue their search for JS in Nauvoo.

“Clayton noted in JS’s journal that when the letter ‘was read before the brethren it cheered their hearts and evidently had the effect of stimulating them and inspiring them with courage, and faithfulness.’ Eliza R. Snow and Clayton copied the letter into JS’s journal. The letter was printed in the 15 September 1842 issue of the Times and Seasons and was later included with minor alterations in the 1844 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants, which was prepared under JS’s direction.”

Section 127:1

FORASMUCH as the Lord has revealed unto me that my enemies, both in Missouri and this State, were again in the pursuit of me; and inasmuch as they pursue me without a cause, and have not the least shadow or coloring of justice or right on their side in the getting up of their prosecutions against me; and inasmuch as their pretensions are all founded in falsehood of the blackest dye, I have thought it expedient and wisdom in me to leave the place for a short season, for my own safety and the safety of this people. I would say to all those with whom I have business, that I have left my affairs with agents and clerks who will transact all business in a prompt and proper manner, and will see that all my debts are canceled in due time, by turning out property, or otherwise, as the case may require, or as the circumstances may admit of. When I learn that the storm is fully blown over, then I will return to you again.

Section 127:2

And as for the perils which I am called to pass through, they seem but a small thing to me, as the envy and wrath of man have been my common lot all the days of my life; and for what cause it seems mysterious, unless I was ordained from before the foundation of the world for some good end, or bad, as you may choose to call it. Judge ye for yourselves. God knoweth all these things, whether it be good or bad. But nevertheless, deep water is what I am wont to swim in. It all has become a second nature to me; and I feel, like Paul, to glory in tribulation; for to this day has the God of my fathers delivered me out of them all, and will deliver me from henceforth; for behold, and lo, I shall triumph over all my enemies, for the Lord God hath spoken it.

Section 127:3

Let all the saints rejoice, therefore, and be exceedingly glad; for Israel's God is their God, and he will mete out a just recompense of reward upon the heads of all their oppressors.

Section 127:4

And again, verily thus saith the Lord: Let the work of my temple, and all the works which I have appointed unto you, be continued on and not cease; and let your diligence, and your perseverance, and patience, and your works be redoubled, and you shall in nowise lose your reward, saith the Lord of Hosts. And if they persecute you, so persecuted they the prophets and righteous men that were before you. For all this there is a reward in heaven.

Section 127:5

And again, I give unto you a word in relation to the baptism for your dead.

Section 127:6

Verily, thus saith the Lord unto you concerning your dead: When any of you are baptized for your dead, let there be a recorder, and let him be eye-witness of your baptisms; let him hear with his ears, that he may testify of a truth, saith the Lord;

Section 127:7

That in all your recordings it may be recorded in heaven; whatsoever you bind on earth, may be bound in heaven; whatsoever you loose on earth, may be loosed in heaven;

Section 127:8

For I am about to restore many things to the earth, pertaining to the priesthood, saith the Lord of Hosts.

Section 127:9

And again, let all the records be had in order, that they may be put in the archives of my holy temple, to be held in remembrance from generation to generation, saith the Lord of Hosts.

Section 127:10

I will say to all the saints, that I desired, with exceedingly great desire, to have addressed them from the stand on the subject of baptism for the dead, on the following Sabbath. But inasmuch as it is out of my power to do so, I will write the word of the Lord from time to time, on that subject, and send it to you by mail,¹ as well as many other things.

Section 127:11

I now close my letter for the present, for the want of more time; for the enemy is on the alert, and as the Savior said, the prince of this world cometh, but he hath nothing in me.

Section 127:12

Behold, my prayer to God is that you all may be saved. And I subscribe myself your servant in the Lord, prophet and seer of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Section 128 (7 September 1842)

Historical Background

JSP

“On 7 September 1842, JS dictated a letter addressed to the church giving further instructions on performing and recording baptisms for the dead. He wrote from the home of Edward Hunter, where he was hiding from men sent to arrest him on charges of complicity in the attempted murder of former Missouri governor Lilburn W. Boggs. This letter expanded on JS’s 1 September 1842 letter to the church, which included some instructions on recording baptisms for the dead and promised to give additional instructions in the future.

“Since the founding of the church, record keeping had served as an important theme in both the revelations and teachings of JS and had influenced the day-to-day operations of the church. With the instructions in both this and the 1 September letter, however, JS outlined a more detail-oriented approach to record keeping than had previously been practiced among the Latter-day Saints. JS’s discussion of record keeping in this 7 September letter was a vital step toward the procedural systematization of baptisms for the dead and the attendant records of those ordinances, as record keeping had been limited prior to September 1842 and often varied from branch to branch. The enhanced record-keeping efforts that JS suggested resembled those that contemporaneous state and county recorders were making to maintain official copies of deeds and other records. JS explained, however, that the Saints needed to maintain an accurate record of these ordinances because the record would subsequently be written in heaven and become a book that the Saints would offer to God.

“In the letter, JS also tied baptisms for the dead to his Nauvoo-era teachings regarding priesthood and dispensations of the gospel. He explained that through the ordinance, the Saints could forge a generational chain between parents and children, just as there would be a ‘welding together’ of the various keys and dispensations from Adam down to JS in the ‘dispensation of the fulness of times.’ Building on this teaching, JS used the letter to recount briefly that he had been visited by ancient prophets who provided him with the necessary keys.

“At JS’s request, this letter was ‘read to the saints at the Grove near the Temple’ on 11 September 1842. William Clayton reported in JS’s journal that the letter ‘made a deep and solemn impression on the minds of the saints,’ who ‘manifested their intentions to obey the instructions to the letter.’ Soon thereafter, general church recorder James Sloan began keeping a new record for baptisms for the dead. The first entry in the book was for proxy baptisms performed on the evening of 11 September 1842, with the entries for that date reflecting the new instructions contained in this letter.

The featured version of the letter is a loose copy in Clayton’s handwriting. It is the earliest known extant manuscript copy and may be the original dictated letter. The letter was copied into JS’s journal by Eliza R. Snow on or around 11 September. Differences between the Clayton version and the version copied in JS’s journal are noted. Although both versions date the letter 6 September, JS’s journal entry for 7 September notes that he ‘wrote—or rather dictated a long Epistle to the Saints which he ordered to be read next Sabbath.’ The letter may have been misdated in the loose copy, with the error copied into the journal, or Clayton may have mistakenly attributed the letter to 6 September while making entries in JS’s journal. The letter was subsequently published in the 1 October 1842 issue of the Times and Seasons. At some point between September 1842 and July 1843, James Sloan inscribed onto a single leaf excerpts from the letter pertaining to how the records were to be kept. Water damage and other markings on the page suggest he may have kept this document with the baptisms for the dead records that he made pursuant to the instructions in the letter. The letter was later included in the 1844 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants.”

Section 128:1

AS I stated to you in my letter before I left my place, that I would write to you from time to time and give you information in relation to many subjects, I now resume the subject of the baptism for the dead, as that subject seems to occupy my mind, and press itself upon my feelings the strongest, since I have been pursued by my enemies.

Section 128:2

I wrote a few words of revelation to you concerning a recorder. I have had a few additional views in relation to this matter, which I now certify. That is, it was declared in my former letter that there should be a recorder, who should be eye-witness, and also to hear with his ears, that he might make a record of a truth before the Lord.

Section 128:3

Now, in relation to this matter, it would be very difficult for one recorder to be present at all times, and to do all the business. To obviate this difficulty, there can be a recorder appointed in each ward of the city, who is well qualified for taking accurate minutes; and let him be very particular and precise in taking the whole proceedings, ¹certifying in his record that he saw with his eyes, and heard with his ears, giving the date, and names, and so forth, and the history of the whole transaction; naming also some three individuals that are present, if there be any present, who can at any time when called upon certify to the same, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.

Section 128:4

Then, let there be a general recorder, to whom these other records can be handed, being attended with certificates over their own signatures, certifying that the record they have made is true. Then the general church recorder can enter the record on the general church book, with the certificates and all the attending witnesses, with his own statement that he verily believes the above statement and records to be true, from his knowledge of the general character and appointment of those men by the church. And when this is done on the general church book, the record shall be just as holy, and shall answer the ordinance just the same as if he had seen with his eyes and heard with his ears, and made a record of the same on the general church book.

Section 128:5

You may think this order of things to be very particular; but let me tell you that it is only to answer the will of God, by conforming to the ordinance and preparation that the Lord ordained and prepared before the foundation of the world, for the salvation of the dead who should die without a knowledge of the gospel.

Section 128:6

And further, I want you to remember that John the Revelator was contemplating this very subject in relation to the dead, when he declared, as you will find recorded in Revelation 20:12—And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened; and another book was opened, which is the book of life; and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works.

¹Note the nature of a “witness” here for JS: someone who sees and hears something.

Section 128:7

You will discover in this quotation that the books were opened; and another book was opened, which was the book of life; but the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works; consequently, the books spoken of must be the books which contained the record of their works, and refer to the records which are kept on the earth. And the book which was the book of life is the record which is kept in heaven; the principle agreeing precisely with the doctrine which is commanded you in the revelation contained in the letter which I wrote to you previous to my leaving my place—that in all your recordings it may be recorded in heaven.

Section 128:8

Now, the nature of this ordinance consists in the power of the priesthood, by the revelation of Jesus Christ, wherein it is granted that whatsoever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever you loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven. Or, in other words, taking a different view of the translation, whatsoever you record on earth shall be recorded in heaven, and whatsoever you do not record on earth shall not be recorded in heaven; for out of the books shall your dead be judged, according to their own works, whether they themselves have attended to the ordinances in their own propria persona, or by the means of their own agents, according to the ordinance which God has prepared for their salvation from before the foundation of the world, according to the records which they have kept concerning their dead.

Section 128:9

It may seem to some to be a very bold doctrine that we talk of—a power which records or binds on earth and binds in heaven. Nevertheless, in all ages of the world, whenever the Lord has given a dispensation of the priesthood to any man by actual revelation, or any set of men, this power has always been given. Hence, whatsoever those men did in authority, in the name of the Lord, and did it truly and faithfully, and kept a proper and faithful record of the same, it became a law on earth and in heaven, and could not be annulled, according to the decrees of the great Jehovah. This is a faithful saying. Who can hear it?

Section 128:10

And again, for the precedent, Matthew 16:18, 19: And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

Section 128:11

Now the great and grand secret of the whole matter, and the summum bonum of the whole subject that is lying before us, consists in obtaining the powers of the Holy Priesthood. For him to whom these keys are given there is no difficulty in obtaining a knowledge of facts in relation to the salvation of the children of men, both as well for the dead as for the living.

Section 128:12

Herein is glory and honor, and immortality and eternal life—The ordinance of baptism by water, to be immersed therein in order to answer to the likeness of the dead, that one principle might accord with the other; to be immersed in the water and come forth out of the water is in the likeness of the resurrection of the dead in coming forth out of their graves; hence, this ordinance was instituted to form a relationship with the ordinance of baptism for the dead, being in likeness of the dead.

Section 128:13

Consequently, the baptismal font was instituted as a similitude of the grave, and was commanded to be in a place underneath where the living are wont to assemble, to show forth the living and the dead, and that all things may have their likeness, and that they may accord one with another—that which is earthly conforming to that which is heavenly, as Paul hath declared, 1 Corinthians 15:46, 47, and 48:

Section 128:14

Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual. The first man is of the earth, earthy; the second man is the Lord from heaven. As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly. And as are the records on the earth in relation to your dead, which are truly made out, so also are the records in heaven. This, therefore, is the sealing and binding power, and, in one sense of the word, the keys of the kingdom, which consist in the key of knowledge.

Section 128:15

And now, my dearly beloved brethren and sisters, let me assure you that these are principles in relation to the dead and the living that cannot be lightly passed over, as pertaining to our salvation. For their salvation is necessary and essential to our salvation, as Paul says concerning the fathers—that they without us cannot be made perfect—neither can we without our dead be made perfect.

Section 128:16

And now, in relation to the baptism for the dead, I will give you another quotation of Paul, 1 Corinthians 15:29: Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? Why are they then baptized for the dead?

Section 128:17

And again, in connection with this quotation I will give you a quotation from one of the prophets, who had his eye fixed on the restoration of the priesthood, the glories to be revealed in the last days, and in an especial manner this most glorious of all subjects belonging to the everlasting gospel, namely, the baptism for the dead; for Malachi says, last chapter, verses 5th and 6th: Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord: And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

Section 128:18

I might have rendered a plainer translation to this, but it is sufficiently plain to suit my purpose as it stands. It is sufficient to know, in this case, that the earth will be smitten with a curse unless there is a welding link of some kind or other between the fathers and the children, upon some subject or other—and behold what is that subject? It is the baptism for the dead. For we without them cannot be made perfect; neither can they without us be made perfect. Neither can they nor we be made perfect without those who have died in the gospel also; for it is necessary in the ushering in of the dispensation of the fulness of times, which dispensation is now beginning to usher in, that a whole and complete and perfect union, and welding together of dispensations, and keys, and powers, and glories should take place, and be revealed from the days of Adam even to the present time. And not only this, but those things which never have been revealed from the foundation of the world, but have been kept hid from the wise and prudent, shall be revealed unto babes and sucklings in this, the dispensation of the fulness of times.

Section 128:19

Now, what do we hear in the gospel which we have received? A voice of gladness! A voice of mercy from heaven; and a voice of truth out of the earth; glad tidings for the dead; a voice of gladness for the living and the dead; glad tidings of great joy. How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of those that bring glad tidings of good things, and that say unto Zion: Behold, thy God reigneth! As the dews¹ of Carmel, so shall the knowledge of God descend upon them!

¹See DC 121:45.

Section 128:20

And again, what do we hear? Glad tidings from Cumorah! Moroni, an angel from heaven, declaring the fulfilment of the prophets—the book to be revealed. A voice of the Lord in the wilderness of Fayette, Seneca county, declaring the three witnesses to bear record of the book! The voice of Michael on the banks of the Susquehanna, detecting the devil when he appeared as an angel of light!¹ The voice of Peter, James, and John in the wilderness between Harmony, Susquehanna county, and Colesville, Broome county, on the Susquehanna river, declaring themselves as possessing the keys of the kingdom, and of the dispensation of the fulness of times!

Section 128:21

And again, the voice of God in the chamber of old Father Whitmer, in Fayette, Seneca county, and at sundry times, and in divers places through all the travels and tribulations of this Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints! And the voice of Michael, the archangel; the voice of Gabriel, and of Raphael, and of divers angels, from Michael or Adam down to the present time, all declaring their dispensation, their rights, their keys, their honors, their majesty and glory, and the power of their priesthood; giving line upon line, precept upon precept; here a little, and there a little; giving us consolation by holding forth that which is to come, confirming our hope!

Section 128:22

Brethren, shall we not go on in so great a cause? Go forward and not backward. Courage, brethren; and on, on to the victory! Let your hearts rejoice, and be exceedingly glad. Let the earth break forth into singing. Let the dead speak forth anthems of eternal praise to the King Immanuel, who hath ordained, before the world was, that which would enable us to redeem them out of their prison; for the prisoners shall go free.

Section 128:23

Let the mountains shout for joy, and all ye valleys cry aloud; and all ye seas and dry lands tell the wonders of your Eternal King! And ye rivers, and brooks, and rills, flow down with gladness. Let the woods and all the trees of the field praise the Lord; and ye solid rocks weep for joy! And let the sun, moon, and the morning stars sing together, and let all the sons of God shout for joy! And let the eternal creations declare his name forever and ever! And again I say, how glorious is the voice we hear from heaven, proclaiming in our ears, glory, and salvation, and honor, and immortality, and eternal life; kingdoms, principalities, and powers!

Section 128:24

Behold, the great day of the Lord is at hand; and who can abide the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appeareth? For he is like a refiner's fire, and like fuller's soap; and he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness. Let us, therefore, as a church and a people, and as Latter-day Saints, offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness; and let us present in his holy temple, when it is finished, a book containing the records of our dead, which shall be worthy of all acceptation.

Section 128:25

Brethren, I have many things to say to you on the subject; but shall now close for the present, and continue the subject another time. I am, as ever, your humble servant and never deviating friend,

JOSEPH SMITH.

Note that the JSP has two original sources for the remarks that make up section 129. The first, which seems to be the source the section actually comes from, is William Clayton's account. The other source is Willard Richards' account.

Historical Background

JSP

"On 9 February 1843, JS delivered an instruction to guests he was entertaining at his home in Nauvoo, Illinois. JS apparently gave the remarks during a casual conversation with apostles Orson Pratt and Parley P. Pratt and others who had called on him in the afternoon. Though they were not delivered as a formal discourse, his teachings were significant enough that William Clayton and Willard Richards, who were both present on this occasion, wrote them down. Prefacing his remarks, JS 'related some of his history' and then instructed those in attendance how they 'might know whether any administration was from God.'

"JS's remarks touched on a variety of doctrinal teachings that he had shared with other groups at various times since June 1839. Some of his comments were similar to teachings regarding the discerning of spirits that he originally shared with some members of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles on 27 June 1839. On that occasion, JS spoke of a key to 'detect Satan when he transforms himself nigh unto an angel of light.' He explained that a person might distinguish between an angel of God and Satan by trying to shake hands. Still imprisoned in Missouri in June 1839, Parley P. Pratt missed the meeting and JS's instruction. Orson Pratt was also likely absent when JS gave the instruction, having arrived in Columbia, Missouri, by 1 July 1839 to assist with Parley's escape from prison. Shortly after Parley escaped from custody, he and Orson arrived in Nauvoo in July 1839. The two brothers left for a mission to England shortly thereafter. Although Orson had returned to Nauvoo by early August 1841, he became disaffected from JS and the church in early summer 1842 and remained so until January 1843. Parley remained in England longer than the rest of the apostles and did not return to Nauvoo until 7 February 1843. This February 1843 meeting, therefore, may have been the first time JS shared these 1839 teachings with either of the Pratts.

"JS's remarks in February 1843 centered on an explanation of the ways to distinguish between various types of heavenly messengers and the devil. Among eighteenth and nineteenth-century Protestants, there were several competing ideas about the identification of angels, most of them based on a passage in the epistle to the Hebrews that mentions 'an innumerable company of angels' and the 'spirits of just men made perfect.' Some religionists held that these verses refer to 'those translated to heaven in their bodies, and those raised from the dead after Christ's resurrection.' Others believed they refer more generally to 'all in every age and nation who have feared God and wrought righteousness.' Theologians also debated the substance and materiality of angels. Eighteenth-century Swedish mystic Emmanuel Swedenborg suggested that angels were corporeal beings who had lived on the earth and could converse with men face-to-face. While those who believed angels were translated or risen beings seemingly believed that all angels were corporeal beings, some concluded that 'angels have no corporeal forms.'³¹⁴ Theologian Charles Buck explained that 'as to the nature of these beings we are told that they are spirits,' with the 'more general opinion' being that 'they are substances entirely spiritual.' At the same time, Buck allowed that 'they can at any time assume bodies and appear in human shape.'

"JS suggested a new idea, which classified heavenly messengers as either resurrected corporeal beings or disembodied spirits awaiting resurrection. These distinctions may have appeared in Latter-day Saint theology as early as 1829, when the Book of Mormon suggested a difference between 'angels and ministering spirits.' In JS's 'new translation' of the Bible, however, Hebrews 1:7 explained that 'angels are ministering spirits.' In his 27 June 1839 discourse, JS emphasized that 'an angel of God (which is an angel of light) is a Saint with his resurrected body' but also noted that it was possible to be visited by deceased believers who were not yet resurrected. JS used this occasion in February 1843 to refine that explanation by distinguishing between 'resurrected personages' and 'the spirits of just men made perfect' who were still awaiting resurrection.

"In addition to teaching periodically about the ways to distinguish between types of angels, JS had demonstrated a long-standing interest in recognizing the differences between true and false spirits. A circa 8 March 1831 revelation urged the Saints to 'beware lest ye are deceived' and to do 'all things with prayer & thanksgiving that ye may not be seduced by evil spirits or doctrines of Devils or the commandments of men for some are of men & others of Devils.' A revelation the following May was even more specific, explaining, 'There are many spirits which are false spirits which have gone forth in the Earth deceiving the world & also Satan hath sought to deceive you that he might overthrow you.' In April 1842 JS reiterated this message in a lengthy editorial in the church newspaper, urging the Saints to 'try the spirits.' Then, recounting portions of his own personal history to the Saints in a September 1842 letter, JS alluded to an early experience ‘on the banks of the Susquehanna’ when the devil had appeared to him ‘as an Angel of light.’”

Historical Background

JSP

“On 2 April 1843, JS responded to questions and instructed the Saints in Macedonia, Illinois, about the nature of God, prophecies of the last days, and the afterlife. The previous day, he began a journey from Nauvoo, Illinois, to Macedonia and Carthage, Illinois. During this four-day trip, JS, accompanied by William Clayton, Orson Hyde, and Jacob B. Backenstos, preached to members of the branch of the church in Macedonia, visited JS's sister Sophronia Smith McCleary, and conducted business at Carthage. After spending the night in the Macedonia home of church members Benjamin F. and Melissa LeBaron Johnson, JS spent Sunday, 2 April 1843, attending various public gatherings and private meetings.

“Following a Sunday morning service in which Orson Hyde preached on portions of the New Testament, JS corrected elements of Hyde's sermon. He also answered theological questions and related a dream he had, which Hyde interpreted.

“At some point ‘during the day,’ JS made several ‘remarks on doctrine’ relating to the timing of events prophesied to occur in the days leading up to the second coming of Jesus Christ. In the early 1840s, there was considerable interest in the prophecies relating to the latter days. Baptist minister William Miller, for example, predicted an approximate date for Christ's second coming based on a close reading of the Bible. He claimed that his examination of the books of Daniel and Revelation had revealed the second advent of Christ to be imminent, and his message was accepted by thousands of Christians in the early 1840s. Perhaps in response to a belief held by some Millerites that 3 April was the day appointed for the return of Christ, JS addressed this topic twice on 2 April.

“Later that day, during Sabbath meetings held at 1:00 p.m. and again at 7:00 p.m., JS preached on the meanings of several verses from the book of Revelation. The subject may have been of interest because of a high council meeting held two weeks earlier, in which church member Pelatiah Brown was tried for teaching false doctrine because of his controversial interpretation of these same passages.

“During his evening discourse, JS again corrected Hyde's morning sermon. At the close of the discourse, he offered Hyde a moment to respond. The apostle stated that JS had said all that could be said and closed the meeting. JS spent the evening at the Johnsons' home, where he provided private instruction on portions of the book of Revelation relating to the sealing of the 144,000.

“William Clayton, one of JS's travel companions, recorded details of JS's 2 April 1843 Sabbath-day teachings as he taught them. Clayton's journal contains other entries for which an earlier text is also extant, and comparisons of these entries indicate that when he copied his notes, he often expanded or otherwise changed them. Consequently, it seems likely that Clayton expanded the entries for 2 April 1843 as well. After the trip, Willard Richards, who kept JS's journal but was not present at the meetings, reconstructed a timeline for these teachings in JS's journal, presumably relying on Clayton's notes and conversations with people who were present. Because Clayton's initial notes are apparently not extant, it is impossible to know the exact sources Richards used to create his entry. Therefore, both Clayton's journal entry and the JS journal entry inscribed by Richards are featured here. Annotation that appears in Clayton's version of the discourse is not repeated in corresponding locations in the version by Richards. Richards included some details of the day's events that were not part of JS's teachings. They have been left to stand in the transcription.”

This section is a compilation of things JS said on a few different occasions over two different days, on 16 and 17 May 1843. The three different accounts are some instructions recorded by William Clayton on 16 May, a discourse recorded by William Clayton on 17 May, and another discourse recorded by William Clayton later on 17 May.

See the following list for a breakdown of where this material comes from.

¹Note that William Clayton's record of this discussion uses the word "principal," not "principle." The other account, from Willard Richards, has "principle." "Principal" does appear in the JS concordance, but only around 10 times, and only once as a noun, that I can see (the other times it's an adjective).

²The Willard Richards account of this discussion has "revelatin [revelation]" here, instead of "resurrection." The other account has "resurrection."

³Compare the principle of these two verses with the one at DC 132:5.

⁴The verse as it stands here says almost the opposite from what the two original sources say. The William Clayton account (passage l) says, "The Holy Ghost is a personage, and a person cannot have the personage of the H. G. in his heart. A man may receive the gifts of the H. G., and the H. G. may descend upon a man but not to tarry with him." The Willard Richards account (passage n) says, "the Father has a body of flesh & bones as tangible as mans the Son also, but the Holy Ghost is a personage of spirit.— and a person cannot have the personage <of the H G. Historical Background

Instruction, 16 May 1843

“On 16 May 1843 at the residence of Benjamin F. and Melissa LeBaron Johnson in Macedonia, Illinois, JS instructed the Johnsons and William Clayton ‘on the priesthood.’ Benjamin Johnson recalled that ‘in the evening,’ JS invited him and Melissa ‘to come and sit down, for he wished to marry us according to the law of the Lord. I thought it a joke, and said I should not marry my wife again, unless she courted me, for I did it all, the first time. He chided my levity, told me he was in earnest, and so it proved; for we stood up and were sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise.’ Contemporaneous records, however, show that when he later recounted the story, Johnson conflated when he first heard this teaching and when he and Melissa were actually sealed. According to William Clayton’s journal, the couple was ‘united in an everlasting covenant’ on 20 October 1843.

“JS taught that if a man and a woman were sealed as husband and wife by the power of the priesthood, their marriage would continue beyond death, and they would live together in marriage in the highest level of heaven. His teachings included the idea that couples properly sealed would have ‘children in the resurrection.’ Based on JS’s statement to Johnson that he knew in whom he could confide, it seems he expected the Johnsons not to discuss this doctrine with others.

“William Clayton was present during JS’s instruction and took notes. However, in view of the uniformity of the ink flow and character formation in his journal, it appears that Clayton created the entries covering 14 May through most of 19 May in one sitting. It is likely the entries were based upon earlier notes that are no longer extant.”

Discourse, 17 May 1843–A

“On 17 May 1843, JS preached a discourse in Macedonia, Illinois, on the first chapter of 2 Peter in the New Testament. In the discourse, JS revisited a subject he had addressed three days before in Morley Settlement, Illinois—the individual Christian believer’s obtaining assurance of having eternal life. As he did in the earlier discourse, JS emphasized the importance of knowledge in this process and explained the ‘more sure word of prophecy’ mentioned in 2 Peter 1:19, which he interpreted as receiving divine confirmation of being ‘sealed up unto eternal life.’ In this 17 May discourse, JS indicated that this divine affirmation would come through the priesthood.

“Having been apprised on the evening of 16 May that JS planned to preach the following day, the Saints congregated at 10:00 a.m. on 17 May, possibly in a schoolhouse built by church members in Macedonia. Samuel Prior, a Methodist preacher who was visiting Macedonia to observe the Latter-day Saints in general and JS in particular, attended the meeting and subsequently wrote an account of his experience, which was published in the Times and Seasons. Prior described taking his ‘seat in a conspicuous place in the congregation’ and waiting for JS’s arrival, after which JS ‘commenced calmly and continued dispassionately to pursue his subject. . . . He glided along through a very interesting and elaborate discourse, with all the care and happy facility of one who was well aware of his important station, and his duty to God and man, and evidencing to me, that he was well worthy to be styled “a workman rightly dividing the word of truth,” and giving without reserve, “saint and sinner his portion in due season.”’ Prior stated, ‘I was compelled to go away with a very different opinion from what I had entertained when I first took my seat to hear him [JS] preach.’

“William Clayton, who accompanied JS to Macedonia, wrote an account of the dis-course in his journal. The relatively polished nature of the featured text suggests that Clayton reconstructed JS’s words after the fact, likely from notes taken at the time. Based on the uniformity of the ink flow and character formation in his journal, it appears that Clayton created the entries covering 14 May through most of 19 May in one sitting. The original notes are apparently not extant.”

Discourse, 17 May 1843–B

“On the evening of 17 May 1843, JS preached a discourse in Macedonia, Illinois, in response to a sermon given by Samuel Prior, a visiting Methodist preacher, who had been ‘invited to preach’ earlier that evening before a ‘large and respectable’ congregation of Latter-day Saints. Prior wrote an article that was published in the Times and Seasons shortly after JS gave the sermon featured here. After Prior delivered his unrecorded discourse, JS sought to correct Prior’s interpretation of Genesis 2 and the ‘eternal duration of matter’—doing so ‘mildly, politely, and affectingly,’ according to Prior.

“During his remarks, JS questioned the King James Bible’s language in Genesis 2:7, which states, ‘The Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.’ According to Clayton’s notes of the discourse, JS also discussed aspects of Hebrew in his argument. JS argued that the ‘breath of life’ referred to Adam’s spirit, and he included comments on the Hebrew word ruach (breath or spirit), arguing that when the word is applied to Eve, life should be rendered lives.

“Genesis 2:7 prompted pronouncements from religious thinkers of JS’s era on the nature of bodies and souls and on their duration throughout eternity. Methodist minister Adam Clarke, for instance, wrote that ‘man is a compound being, having a body and a soul, distinctly and separately created; the body out of the dust of the earth, the soul immediately breathed from God himself.’ A widely circulated nineteenth-century theological dictionary stated that the ‘generally received opinion’ held that the human soul ‘began to exist in his mother’s womb.’ Though it is impossible to reconstruct Prior’s sermon, JS’s response makes clear that Prior used his sermon to engage this topic. JS responded to Prior and offered his own thoughts on the nature of the human spirit.

“JS’s own teachings about the soul and matter differed from those of other Christians of his day in some important respects. Common teachings stated that the soul consisted of ‘the vital, immaterial, active substance, or principle, in man.’ For some years, JS had taught that all beings were composed of eternal matter. A May 1833 revelation stated that ‘the Elements are eternal.’¹ On 30 August 1840, JS preached a ‘discourse on Eternal Judgement and the Eternal Duration of matter.’² In 1842, JS published an editorial directly opposing the traditional idea that the spirit was immaterial. He argued, much as he did in the discourse featured here, that ‘the body is supposed to be organized matter, and the spirit by many is thought to be immaterial, without substance. With this latter statement we should beg leave to differ—and state that spirit is a substance; that it is material, but that it is more pure, elastic, and refined matter than the body.’ Also in 1842, the published Book of Abraham stated that ‘the Gods formed man from the dust of the ground, and took his spirit, that is the man’s spirit, and put it into him, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul.’ The discourse featured here shares the Book of Abraham’s emphasis on the eternal nature of humankind and the idea that spirits were embodied at birth.

“William Clayton was present during JS’s discourse and took notes. However, based on the uniformity of the ink flow and character formation in his journal, it appears that Clayton created the entries covering 14 May through most of 19 May in one sitting. It is likely the entries were based upon earlier, nonextant notes.”

Historical Background

JSP

"On 12 July 1843, JS dictated a revelation in Nauvoo, Illinois, on eternal and plural marriage. Since the mid-1830s, JS had evidently been teaching some monogamous Latter-day Saint couples that their unions would endure into eternity if they remained faithful. Although the origins of plural marriage among the Saints are obscure, later accounts state that JS received ¹In the original source, they have been talking about marriage for eternity, and so the words "this order of the priesthood" make a clearer reference than they do here, which is why you get this bracketed explanation. See the earlier passage b of the original source.

²The other order of the priesthood, presumably; earlier he was talking about obtaining the highest degree, not entering into it, so I think it's talking here about entering into some other order of the priesthood.

³The original source, at passage b, also has more here—note that "increase" is spoken of separately from "children": "those who are married by the power & authority of the priesthood in this life & continue without committing the sin against the Holy Ghost will continue to increase & have children in the celestial glory."

⁴This is commentary on 2 Peter 1:19. Check the original source here, which has more useful stuff.

a commandment from God sometime in the 1830s to enter into the practice.¹ Several Latter-day Saints later reported that JS married one plural wife in the mid-1830s while living in Kirtland, Ohio, and by the early 1840s, he had discreetly introduced the doctrine and practice to a number of trusted women and men in and around Nauvoo. By summer 1843, JS had entered into about twenty-five confidential sealings, or plural unions. While evidence of these activities is found in contemporaneous documentation, JS did not commit to paper a revelation outlining the doctrine and practice until dictating the document featured here. JS's first and only publicly recognized wife, Emma Smith, showed marked ambivalence toward her husband's secret practice of plural marriage, at times rejecting the doctrine and at other times reluctantly accepting it. However, by July 1843 the practice had become a major source of distress between them. In hopes of alleviating the tension, JS's brother Hyrum Smith urged him to dictate a written revelation to persuade Emma of the divine origin of plural marriage. The resulting revelation expounded principles behind both plural and eternal marriage.

"JS's teachings on the eternal nature of marriage expanded upon the wider culture's view of marriage as a civil contract. Christians believed that the resurrection of Jesus Christ assured them an afterlife with eternal rewards. Early Christian theologians debated the nature of relationships in the afterlife, with many claiming that the afterlife would involve reuniting with family members or meeting prominent religious figures. By the time of the Reformation, English Protestants began formulating ideas about the nature of society in heaven that included the continuation of family or friend relationships. In the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, Americans increasingly viewed marriage as a union based on love, romance, or passion rather than utility or mutual economic benefit. This new outlook on marriage was reflected in religious beliefs, and individuals anticipated maintaining earthly ties and relationships in the next life. JS's contemporaries increasingly developed a belief in heaven as a place where they would not only glorify God but where they could also continue to love their spouses, family, and friends.

"This rich Christian context, then, offers a backdrop to JS's teaching that marriage, when performed under priesthood authority, could last into the eternities. In May 1835, William W. Phelps, who was visiting Kirtland, Ohio, wrote to his wife, Sally Waterman Phelps, about this development: 'A new idea, sally, If you and I continue faithful to the end, we are certain of being One in the Lord throughout eternity.' This new doctrine prompted some church members to consider an eternal perspective—the doctrine not only clarified the eternal duration of the marriage bond but also taught that marriages, when sealed by priesthood authority, could unlock individuals' eternal potential. In April 1843, JS taught that the 'same sociality which exists amongst us here will exist among us' in the hereafter. But the 'sociality' was based upon rituals performed through the priesthood. In May 1843, JS explained that 'except a man and his wife enter into an everlasting covenant and be married for eternity while in this probation by the power and authority of the Holy priesthood they will cease to increase when they die.' He additionally taught that 'those who are married by the power & authority of the priesthood in this life' would 'continue to increase & have children in the celestial glory.' The revelation featured here specified that those entering into this covenant would 'pass by the angels and the Gods which are Set there to their exaltation and Glory in all things as hath been Sealed upon their heads which glory Shall be a fullness and a Continuation of the Seeds for ever and ever.'

"By the time JS dictated this July 1843 revelation, approximately seven legally married couples had each been sealed for eternity by priesthood authority, with JS serving as officiator in some of the sealings. In some instances, men were sealed to plural wives; in other instances, men were sealed by proxy to a deceased first wife as well as to a living wife; and in one case, the sealing of the couple took place following the plural marriage of their daughter.

"Plural marriage ran counter to both social customs and existing laws. Illinois law included an antibigamy statute. Such laws reflected a general antagonism in Anglo-European society toward polygamy. Christian theologians had long debated the practice of polygamy by the biblical patriarchs, with some, like Martin Luther, defending it as divinely sanctioned. Others, such as John Calvin, argued that Abraham had erred in participating in the practice. While Americans in JS's day still debated the legitimacy of polygamy as practiced by Abraham and other ancient patriarchs, a broad cultural consensus against any contemporary practice of plural marriage existed.

"Given the cultural opposition to polygamy, Latter-day Saints who were invited to participate in plural marriage generally required explanation and persuasion before they agreed to do so. Most of this instruction occurred in private conversations that were rarely recorded contemporaneously, although some participants summarized their discussions with JS and others decades later in autobiographies and other reminiscent accounts. The authors of these reminiscences recorded that, following these conversations, they sought—and often received—spiritual confirmation that the practice was inspired. On rare occasions, however, JS cautiously wrote brief instructions and teachings regarding plural marriage. In a few known instances, JS wrote letters to explain and defend plural marriage. Employing a common letter-writing convention of the time, JS included explicit requests to burn such missives upon reading. JS also dictated or wrote blessings and a revelation that obliquely addressed the doctrine and promised eternal rewards for those who entered the practice. In July 1842, he dictated a revelation for Newel K. Whitney, a close confidant and church leader, that provided instructions for the sealing of JS to Whitney's daughter Sarah Ann. The following March, JS composed two blessings, the first for Sarah Ann and the second for Joseph Kingsbury, who had agreed to be Sarah Ann's husband in a civil union. While the revelation featured here addressed JS's specific situation with Emma Smith in July 1843, it also reflected these earlier teachings on plural marriage.

"According to JS, biblical and divine teachings provided the impetus for the revelation. In June 1844, JS stated that he received the revelation 'on enquiry' about Matthew 22:30 in the New Testament, which reads, 'For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven.' The revelation featured here begins by acknowledging questions JS had about the Old Testament practice of polygamy. In addition to citing biblical precedent, the featured revelation foregrounds several theological explanations for the practice, including the ultimate authority of God's law; the blessings and eternal rewards for those entering into the practice; and the consequences of not following God's law for those who had it 'revealed unto them' but did not obey it.

"Emma Smith struggled with JS's new marriages in the months leading up to July 1843. Since the beginning of 1843, JS was sealed to at least thirteen additional wives, most of whom were married to him without Emma's knowledge. Although details regarding Emma's reactions to JS's practice of plural marriage prior to 1843 are scarce, she evidently came to accept the doctrine, albeit temporarily, by May of that year, on the condition that she could choose the women to whom JS would be sealed. That month, she selected Eliza and Emily Partridge, who were then ages twenty-three and nineteen and living in the Smith household, as potential marriage partners to JS. In fact, JS had already been sealed to the sisters two months earlier. JS and the Partridge sisters sought to avoid confrontation by repeating the marriages, with Emma's blessing, as if for the first time. Likely during the same month, Emma suggested JS marry Maria and Sarah Lawrence, ages nineteen and sixteen or seventeen, another pair of sisters who were living in the Smith household. However, Emily Partridge later testified that Emma became embittered 'soon after' the Partridge sisters' second wedding ceremony. By the end of June, JS's scribe William Clayton noted, Emma was treating JS 'coldly & badly' and 'was disposed to be revenged on him,' saying 'she thought that if he would indulge himself she would too.'

"JS's late June arrest on charges stemming from the 1838 Missouri conflict and the subsequent habeas corpus proceedings before the Nauvoo Municipal Court delayed a potential reconciliation between JS and Emma until mid-July. William Clayton later recalled that on the morning of 12 July, JS and Hyrum Smith came into the 'small office upstairs in the rear of the brick store,' and Clayton overheard them discussing plural marriage. The brothers' conversation turned to Emma's difficulties with the practice. Initially, Hyrum was staunchly opposed to the practice of polygamy, which he had heard of through rumors, but in May 1843 he became both intellectually and spiritually convinced that the doctrine was inspired. Believing that Emma could be convinced of the doctrine, Hyrum told JS he could persuade her with the aid of a written revelation. 'If you will write the revelation,' Hyrum reportedly told JS, 'I will take, and read it to Emma, and I believe I can convince her of its truth, and you will hereafter have peace.' JS expressed his doubts, to which Hyrum replied, 'The doctrine is so plain I can convince any reasonable man or woman of its truth, purity and heavenly origin.'

"Assenting to Hyrum's urging, JS dictated the revelation that morning to Clayton in JS's office. Clayton recalled that JS dictated the 'Revelation on Celestial marriage' over the course of three hours, speaking slowly, 'sentence by sentence,' as Clayton wrote. Following the initial creation of the document, he remembered, 'Joseph requested me to read it slowly and carefully which I did, and he then pronounced it correct.' According to Clayton, the written revelation was only a portion of what could have been inscribed, but JS explained that 'what was written was sufficient for the present.' Clayton wrote in his journal that the original revelation comprised ten pages. He also gave his own contemporaneous understanding of the revelation, explaining that it contained 'the order of the priesthood,' including 'the designs in Moses, Abraham, David and Solomon having many wives & concubines &c.'

"The revelation framed both eternal and plural marriages as contracts ratified by priesthood authority. Unlike civil marriages, sealings performed by priesthood authority did not have to end with the death of either party but could persist into eternity. In addition, the revelation outlined regulations for plural marriages and the rights of first wives. The revelation did not distinguish between types of plural marriages; nevertheless, reminiscent statements of some individuals who were sealed to JS or who otherwise participated in plural marriage in this era suggest that early Latter-day Saints distinguished between sealings for time and eternity—involving relationships in this life and in the next life—and sealings for eternity alone—involving commitments only in the next life.

"Clayton documented in his journal that JS and Hyrum 'presented' and read the revelation to Emma. The latter part of the revelation contained language directed to Emma, specifying severe consequences if she continued in her resistance to the doctrine and commanding her to forgive JS so that she could be forgiven and so that God could 'bless her and multiply her, and make her heart to rejoice.' Hyrum's confidence that he could convince Emma of the doctrine proved misplaced. According to Clayton, Emma 'did not believe a word of it and appeared very rebellious.' Following the visit to Emma, JS 'put the Revelation in his pocket' and left the office. Over the next few days, the revelation was read by 'several of the authorities' of the church. Clayton remembered that 'two or three days' after the dictation of the revelation, JS reported that 'Emma had teased, and urgently entreated him for the privilege of destroying it; that he became so weary of her teasing, and to get rid of her annoyance, he told her she might destroy it, and she had done so, but he had consented to her wish in this matter to pacify her.' Elizabeth Ann Smith Whitney similarly reported that Emma 'burned the original, thinking she had destroyed the only written document upon the subject in existence.'

“Unbeknownst to Emma, a copy of the revelation was made, either the evening of 12 July or the next day, before she destroyed the original. After reviewing the revelation, Newel K. Whitney asked JS whether a copy could be made, and JS consented. Joseph Kingsbury—who was Whitney’s former brother-in-law, a clerk in JS’s brick store, and legal husband to Whitney’s daughter Sarah Ann—‘carefully copied’ the revelation, after which the copy was compared against the original for accuracy. As scribe for the original dictation, Clayton affirmed in 1874 that ‘the copy made by Joseph C. Kingsbury is a true and correct copy of the original in every respect.’

“Four days after he dictated this revelation, JS preached a discourse on ‘the law of the priesthood’ and described eternal marriage without mentioning plural marriage. JS explained ‘that a man must enter into an everlasting covenant with his wife in this world or he will have no claim on her in the next.’ Although he did not explicitly acknowledge the existence of a new written revelation on the subject, he indicated that ‘he could not reveal the fulness of these things until the Temple is completed.’ While the closing lines of the revelation (reading ‘therefore let this Suffice for the present’) hint at additional instruction, no additional written revelations on the subject are known. JS did, however, continue to develop some of the theological reasoning behind sealing, eternal progress, and other doctrine touched on in this revelation.

“After the revelation was inscribed, it circulated privately among a small group of individuals and was used to support the practice of plural marriage. For instance, in August 1843, Hyrum Smith read the revelation to the Nauvoo high council and then elaborated on its content for ‘about an hour’ and testified it was true. Later in her life, Mercy Fielding Thompson testified that she not only saw and read the revelation but ‘had it in [her] possession for quite a little while,’ or ‘four or five days,’ after which she returned it to Hyrum Smith. Not everyone close to JS immediately saw the copy of the revelation. Willard Richards wrote to Brigham Young and spoke of a ‘New Revelation,’ though he stated that he had ‘not seen it yet.’ While knowledge of the revelation and plural marriage remained guarded, JS began teaching the doctrine of eternal marriage publicly. In early January 1844, Jacob Scott wrote to his daughter, Mary, about possibilities he saw as exciting: ‘Several revelations of good utility & uncommon interest have been lately communicated to Joseph & the Church; . . . one is that all Marriage contracts or Covenants are to be “Everlasting,” that is . . . for both Time & Eternity.’ Scott continued, explaining that if a man ‘desires to be married to his deceased wife, a Sister in the Church stands as Proxy or as a representative of the deceased in attending to the marriage ceremony.’ Personalizing the news, Scott, who was called to serve a mission in Ireland, told his daughter, ‘I intend to be married to the wife of my youth before I go.’

“Though the revelation stipulated dire consequences for those who did not obey the law after having it ‘revealed unto them,’ some Latter-day Saint women and men who were introduced to the doctrine of plural marriage delayed entering into the practice, declined specific marriage proposals, or rejected outright the doctrine itself; some of them remained in the church in Nauvoo. JS’s own entrance into new plural marriages apparently decreased dramatically after he dictated this revelation—he entered only two new marriages with known dates—though he or others appointed to do so continued to seal other plural and monogamous couples through the end of his life.

“For the remainder of the nineteenth century, the Kingsbury copy of the revelation provided the textual support for Latter-day Saint belief in eternal marriage and the practice of plural marriage. All other extant versions are based on the Kingsbury copy. As the earliest extant version of the 12 July 1843 revelation, it is featured here.”

Section 132:1

VERILY, thus saith the Lord unto you my servant Joseph, that inasmuch as you have inquired of my hand to know and understand wherein I, the Lord, justified my servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, as also Moses, David and Solomon, my servants, as touching the principle and doctrine of their having many wives and concubines—

Section 132:2

Behold, and lo, I am the Lord thy God, and will answer thee as touching this matter.

Section 132:3

Therefore, prepare thy heart to receive and obey the instructions which I am about to give unto you; for all those who have this law revealed unto them must obey the same.

Section 132:4

For behold, I reveal unto you a new and an everlasting covenant; and if ye abide not that covenant, then are ye damned; for no one can reject this covenant and be permitted to enter into my glory.

Section 132:5

For all who will have a blessing at my hands shall abide the law which was appointed for that blessing, and the conditions thereof, as were instituted from before the foundation of the world.

Section 132:6

And as pertaining to the new and everlasting covenant, it was instituted for the fulness of my glory; and he that receiveth a fulness thereof must and shall abide the law, or he shall be damned, saith the Lord God.

Section 132:7

And verily I say unto you, that the conditions of this law are these: All covenants, contracts, bonds, obligations, oaths, vows, performances, connections, associations, or expectations, that are not made and entered into and sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise, of him who is anointed, both as well for time and for all eternity, and that too most holy, by revelation and commandment through the medium of mine anointed, whom I have appointed on the earth to hold this power (and I have appointed unto my servant Joseph to hold this power in the last days, and there is never but one on the earth at a time on whom this power and the keys of this priesthood are conferred), are of no efficacy, virtue, or force in and after the resurrection from the dead; for all contracts that are not made unto this end have an end when men are dead.

Section 132:8

Behold, mine house is a house of order, saith the Lord God, and not a house of confusion.

Section 132:9

Will I accept of an offering, saith the Lord, that is not made in my name?

Section 132:10

Or will I receive at your hands that which I have not appointed?

Section 132:11

And will I appoint unto you, saith the Lord, except it be by law, even as I and my Father ordained unto you, before the world was?

Section 132:12

I am the Lord thy God; and I give unto you this commandment—that no man shall come unto the Father but by me or by my word, which is my law, saith the Lord.

Section 132:13

And everything that is in the world, whether it be ordained of men, by thrones, or principalities, or powers, or things of name, whatsoever they may be, that are not by me or by my word, saith the Lord, shall be thrown down, and shall not remain after men are dead, neither in nor after the resurrection, saith the Lord your God.

Section 132:14

For whatsoever things remain are by me; and whatsoever things are not by me shall be shaken and destroyed.

Section 132:15

Therefore, if a man marry him a wife in the world, and he marry her not by me nor by my word, and he covenant with her so long as he is in the world and she with him, their covenant and marriage are not of force when they are dead, and when they are out of the world; therefore, they are not bound by any law when they are out of the world.

Section 132:16

Therefore, when they are out of the world they neither marry nor are given in marriage; but are appointed angels in heaven, which angels are ministering servants, to minister for those who are worthy of a far more, and an exceeding, and an eternal weight¹ of glory.

Section 132:17

For these angels did not abide my law; therefore, they cannot be enlarged, but remain separately and singly, without exaltation, in their saved condition, to all eternity; and from henceforth are not gods, but are angels of God forever and ever.

Section 132:18

And again, verily I say unto you, if a man marry a wife, and make a covenant with her for time and for all eternity, if that covenant is not by me or by my word, which is my law, and is not sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise, through him whom I have anointed and appointed unto this power, then it is not valid neither of force when they are out of the world, because they are not joined by me, saith the Lord, neither by my word; when they are out of the world it cannot be received there,

¹Compare 2 Corinthians 4:17. See also Peter Keating on the courage it takes to live the life you want—“it’s such a big responsibility, really to want something.”

because the angels and the gods are appointed there, by whom they cannot pass; they cannot, therefore, inherit my glory; for my house is a house of order, saith the Lord God.

Section 132:19

And again, verily I say unto you, if a man marry a wife by my word, which is my law, and by the new and everlasting covenant, and it is sealed unto them by the Holy Spirit of promise, by him who is anointed, unto whom I have appointed this power and the keys of this priesthood; and it shall be said unto them—Ye shall come forth in the first resurrection; and if it be after the first resurrection, in the next resurrection; and shall inherit thrones, kingdoms, principalities, and powers, dominions, all heights and depths—¹then shall it be written in the Lamb’s Book of Life, that he shall commit no murder whereby to shed innocent blood, and if ye abide in my covenant, and commit no murder whereby to shed innocent blood, it shall be done unto them in all things whatsoever my servant hath put upon them, in time, and through all eternity; and shall be of full force when they are out of the world; and they shall pass by the angels, and the gods, which are set there, to their exaltation and glory in all things, as hath been sealed upon their heads, which glory shall be a fulness and a continuation of the seeds² forever and ever.

Section 132:20

Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be from everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them.

Section 132:21

Verily, verily, I say unto you, except ye abide my law ye cannot attain to this glory.

Section 132:22

For strait is the gate, and narrow the way that leadeth unto the exaltation and continuation of the lives, and few there be that find it, because ye receive me not in the world neither do ye know me.

Section 132:23

But if ye receive me in the world, then shall ye know me, and shall receive your exaltation; that where I am ye shall be also.

Section 132:24

³This is eternal lives—to know the only wise and true God, and Jesus Christ, whom he hath sent. I am he. Receive ye, therefore, my law.

Section 132:25

Broad is the gate, and wide the way that leadeth to the deaths; and many there are that go in thereat, because they receive me not, neither do they abide in my law.

Section 132:26

Verily, verily, I say unto you, if a man marry a wife according to my word, and they are sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise, according to mine appointment, and he or she shall commit any sin or transgression of the new and everlasting covenant whatever, and all manner of blasphemies, and if they commit no murder wherein they shed innocent blood,¹ yet they shall come forth in the first resurrection, and enter into their exaltation; but they shall be destroyed in the flesh, and shall be delivered unto the buffetings² of Satan unto the day of redemption, saith the Lord God.

Section 132:27

The blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, which shall not be forgiven in the world nor out of the world, is in that ye commit murder wherein ye shed innocent blood, and assent unto my death, after ye have received my new and everlasting covenant, saith the Lord God; and he that abideth not this law can in nowise enter into my glory, but shall be damned, saith the Lord.

Section 132:28

I am the Lord thy God, and will give unto thee the law of my Holy Priesthood, as was ordained by me and my Father before the world was.

Section 132:29

Abraham received all things, whatsoever he received, by revelation and commandment, by my word, saith the Lord, and hath entered into his exaltation and sitteth upon his throne.

Section 132:30

Abraham received promises concerning his seed, and of the fruit of his loins—from whose loins ye are, namely, my servant Joseph—which were to continue so long as they were in the world; and as touching Abraham and his seed, out of the world they should continue; both in the world and out of the world should they continue as innumerable as the stars; or, if ye were to count the sand upon the seashore ye could not number them.

Section 132:31

This promise is yours also, because ye are of Abraham, and the promise was made unto Abraham; and by this law is the continuation of the works of my Father, wherein he glorifieth himself.

Section 132:32

Go ye, therefore, and do the works of Abraham; enter ye into my law and ye shall be saved.

Section 132:33

But if ye enter not into my law ye cannot receive the promise of my Father, which he made unto Abraham.

Section 132:34

God commanded Abraham, and Sarah gave Hagar to Abraham to wife. And why did she do it? Because this was the law; and from Hagar sprang many people. This, therefore, was fulfilling, among other things, the promises.

¹Compare Matthew 27:4.

²For “buffet,” see Mark 14:65.

Section 132:35

Was Abraham, therefore, under condemnation? Verily I say unto you, Nay; for I, the Lord, commanded it.

Section 132:36

Abraham was commanded to offer his son Isaac; nevertheless, it was written: Thou shalt not kill. Abraham, however, did not refuse, and it was accounted unto him for righteousness.

Section 132:37

Abraham received concubines, and they bore him children; and it was accounted unto him for righteousness, because they were given unto him, and he abode in my law; as Isaac also and Jacob did none other things than that which they were commanded; and because they did none other things than that which they were commanded, they have entered into their exaltation, according to the promises, and sit upon thrones, and are not angels but are gods.

Section 132:38

David also received many wives and concubines, and also Solomon and Moses my servants, as also many others of my servants, from the beginning of creation until this time; and in nothing did they sin save in those things which they received not of me.

Section 132:39

David's wives and concubines were given unto him of me, by the hand of Nathan, my servant, and others of the prophets who had the keys of this power; and in none of these things did he sin against me save in the case of Uriah and his wife; and, therefore he hath fallen from his exaltation, and received his portion; and he shall not inherit them out of the world, for I gave them unto another, saith the Lord.

Section 132:40

I am the Lord thy God, and I gave unto thee, my servant Joseph, an appointment, and restore all things. Ask what ye will, and it shall be given unto you according to my word.

Section 132:41

And as ye have asked concerning adultery, verily, verily, I say unto you, if a man receiveth a wife in the new and everlasting covenant, and if she be with another man, and I have not appointed unto her by the holy anointing, she hath committed adultery and shall be destroyed.

Section 132:42

If she be not in the new and everlasting covenant, and she be with another man, she has committed adultery.

Section 132:43

And if her husband be with another woman, and he was under a vow, he hath broken his vow and hath committed adultery.

Section 132:44

And if she hath not committed adultery, but is innocent and hath not broken her vow, and she knoweth it, and I reveal it unto you, my servant Joseph, then shall you have power, by the power of my Holy Priesthood, to take her and give her unto him that hath not committed adultery but hath been faithful; for he shall be made ruler over many.

Section 132:45

For I have conferred upon you the keys and power of the priesthood, wherein I restore all things, and make known unto you all things in due time.

Section 132:46

And verily, verily, I say unto you, that whatsoever you seal on earth shall be sealed in heaven; and whatsoever you bind on earth, in my name and by my word, saith the Lord, it shall be eternally bound in the heavens; and whosoever sins you remit on earth shall be remitted eternally in the heavens; and whosoever sins you retain on earth shall be retained in heaven.

Section 132:47

And again, verily I say, whomsoever you bless I will bless, and whomsoever you curse I will curse, saith the Lord; for I, the Lord, am thy God.

Section 132:48

And again, verily I say unto you, my servant Joseph, that whatsoever you give on earth, and to whomsoever you give any one on earth, by my word and according to my law, it shall be visited with blessings and not cursings, and with my power, saith the Lord, and shall be without condemnation on earth and in heaven.

Section 132:49

For I am the Lord thy God, and will be with thee even unto the end of the world, and through all eternity; for verily I seal upon you your exaltation, and prepare a throne for you in the kingdom of my Father, with Abraham your father.

Section 132:50

Behold, I have seen your sacrifices, and will forgive all your sins; I have seen your sacrifices in obedience to that which I have told you. Go, therefore, and I make a way for your escape, as I accepted the offering of Abraham of his son Isaac.

Section 132:51

Verily, I say unto you: A commandment I give unto mine handmaid, Emma Smith, your wife, whom I have given unto you, that she stay herself and partake not of that which I commanded you to offer unto her; for I did it, saith the Lord, to prove you all, as I did Abraham, and that I might require an offering at your hand, by covenant and sacrifice.

Section 132:52

And let mine handmaid, Emma Smith, receive all those that have been given unto my servant Joseph, and who are virtuous and pure before me; and those who are not pure, and have said they were pure, shall be destroyed, saith the Lord God.

Section 132:53

For I am the Lord thy God, and ye shall obey my voice; and I give unto my servant Joseph that he shall be made ruler over many things; for he hath been faithful over a few things, and from henceforth I will strengthen him.

Section 132:54

And I command mine handmaid, Emma Smith, to abide and cleave unto my servant Joseph, and to none else. But if she will not abide this commandment she shall be destroyed, saith the Lord; for I am the Lord thy God, and will destroy her if she abide not in my law.

Section 132:55

But if she will not abide this commandment, then shall my servant Joseph do all things for her, even as he hath said; and I will bless him and multiply him and give unto him an hundredfold in this world, of fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, houses and lands, wives and children, and crowns of eternal lives in the eternal worlds.

Section 132:56

And again, verily I say, let mine handmaid forgive my servant Joseph his trespasses; and then shall she be forgiven her trespasses, wherein she has trespassed against me; and I, the Lord thy God, will bless her, and multiply her, and make her heart to rejoice.

Section 132:57

And again, I say, let not my servant Joseph put his property out of his hands, lest an enemy come and destroy him; for Satan seeketh to destroy; for I am the Lord thy God, and he is my servant; and behold, and lo, I am with him, as I was with Abraham, thy father, even unto his exaltation and glory.

Section 132:58

Now, as touching the law of the priesthood, there are many things pertaining thereunto.

Section 132:59

Verily, if a man be called of my Father, as was Aaron, by mine own voice, and by the voice of him that sent me, and I have endowed him with the keys of the power of this priesthood, if he do anything in my name, and according to my law and by my word, he will not commit sin, and I will justify him.

Section 132:60

Let no one, therefore, set on my servant Joseph; for I will justify him; for he shall do the sacrifice which I require at his hands for his transgressions, saith the Lord your God.

Section 132:61

And again, as pertaining to the law of the priesthood—if any man espouse a virgin, and desire to espouse another, and the first give her consent, and if he espouse the second, and they are virgins, and have vowed to no other man, then is he justified; he cannot commit adultery for they are given unto him; for he cannot commit adultery with that that belongeth unto him and to no one else.

Section 132:62

And if he have ten virgins given unto him by this law, he cannot commit adultery, for they belong to him, and they are given unto him; therefore is he justified.

Section 132:63

But if one or either of the ten virgins, after she is espoused, shall be with another man, she has committed adultery, and shall be destroyed; for they are given unto him to multiply and replenish the earth, according to my commandment, and to fulfil the promise which was given by my Father before the foundation of the world, and for their exaltation in the eternal worlds, that they may bear the souls of men; for herein is the work of my Father continued, that he may be glorified.

Section 132:64

And again, verily, verily, I say unto you, if any man have a wife, who holds the keys of this power, and he teaches unto her the law of my priesthood, as pertaining to these things, then shall she believe and administer unto him, or she shall be destroyed, saith the Lord your God; for I will destroy her; for I will magnify my name upon all those who receive and abide in my law.

Section 132:65

Therefore, it shall be lawful in me, if she receive not this law, for him to receive all things whatsoever I, the Lord his God, will give unto him, because she did not believe and administer unto him according to my word; and she then becomes the transgressor; and he is exempt from the law of Sarah, who administered unto Abraham according to the law when I commanded Abraham to take Hagar to wife.

Section 132:66

And now, as pertaining to this law, verily, verily, I say unto you, I will reveal more unto you, hereafter; therefore, let this suffice for the present. Behold, I am Alpha and Omega. Amen.

Section 133 (3 November 1831)

Historical Background

JSP

“According to a later history, JS dictated this revelation on 3 November 1831 in answer to elders’ questions about ‘the gathering’ and ‘preaching the gospel to the inhabitants of the earth.’ The history indicates that this revelation was dictated following the two-day conference in Hiram, Ohio, which focused on the publication of JS’s revelations in the Book of Commandments. This revelation, which was later designated as the ‘appendix’ to the Book of Commandments, followed the 1 November dictation of the ‘preface’ to that book. The preface placed JS’s revelations in a millenarian context, and this 3 November revelation continued in that millenarian theme. Beginning with a call for the Saints to prepare for the second coming of Jesus Christ by leaving Babylon and gathering to Zion, the revelation then extended this message to all people. It warned of Christ’s imminent return to the earth in power and glory and of the events that would precede and accompany that return. It also provided an explicit statement that God wanted JS’s revelations to go to the world to prepare the inhabitants of the earth for Christ’s return.

“Because two early copies of this revelation bear different dates, there is some uncertainty about the exact date of this revelation. When John Whitmer copied it into Revelation Book 1, likely before leaving for Missouri on 20 November 1831, he dated it 3 November. JS’s later history also places this revelation after the 1–2 November conference. However, another copy of the revelation in Sidney Rigdon’s handwriting was inserted into Revelation Book 1 as a loose copy, bearing the endorsement ‘Luke Johnsons Nov 2 1831’ in unidentified handwriting, suggesting it may have been written during the

1–2 November conference, which Johnson attended. Because Rigdon transcribed this copy on loose leaves, it is difficult to determine exactly when the copy was made. It may have been placed into Revelation Book 1 before Whitmer left for Missouri, but it could have been inserted much later as well. Whitmer, on the other hand, likely copied the revelation into the bound book before Whitmer and Cowdery took the book to Missouri on 20 November 1831. Whitmer’s copy is apparently an earlier transcript than the Rigdon copy and therefore more reliable regarding the date—a conclusion corroborated by the fact that the 1–2 November conference minutes do not mention this revelation, and no other sources confirm its presentation on either 1 or 2 November.

“Although the 3 November revelation does not refer to itself as an ‘appendix,’ it may have been dictated specifically to serve as an appendix to JS’s revelations—much like the 1 November revelation was presented as the preface. The Rigdon copy contains the endorsement ‘An appendix to Revelation,’ suggesting an early designation of the revelation as an appendix. When the revelation was first published in the May 1833 issue of The Evening and the Morning Star, William W. Phelps explained that it was known as ‘the close’ or ‘the Appendix,’ indicating it had received that designation at least by the spring 1833. According to a later JS history, it was called the appendix because of ‘its importance, and for distinction.’”

The Lord who shall suddenly come to his temple; the Lord who shall come down upon the world with a curse to judgment; yea, upon all the nations that forget God, and upon all the ungodly among you.

Section 133:3

For he shall make bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of their God.

Section 133:4

Wherefore, prepare ye, prepare ye, O my people; sanctify yourselves; gather ye together, O ye people of my church, upon the land of Zion, all you that have not been commanded to tarry.

Section 133:5

Go ye out from Babylon. Be ye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord.

Section 133:6

Call your solemn assemblies, and speak often one to another. And let every man call upon the name of the Lord.

Section 133:7

Yea, verily I say unto you again, the time has come when the voice of the Lord is unto you: Go ye out of Babylon; gather ye out from among the nations, from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

Section 133:8

Send forth the elders of my church unto the nations which are afar off; unto the islands of the sea; send forth unto foreign lands; call upon all nations, first upon the Gentiles, and then upon the Jews.

Section 133:9

And behold, and lo, this shall be their cry, and the voice of the Lord unto all people: Go ye forth unto the land of Zion, that the borders of my people may be enlarged, and that her stakes may be strengthened, and that Zion may go forth unto the regions round about.

Section 133:10

Yea, let the cry go forth among all people: Awake and arise and go forth to meet the Bridegroom; behold and lo, the Bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him. Prepare yourselves for the great day of the Lord.

Section 133:11

Watch, therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour.

Section 133:12

Let them, therefore, who are among the Gentiles flee unto Zion.

Section 133:13

And let them who be of Judah flee unto Jerusalem, unto the mountains of the Lord's house.

Section 133:14

Go ye out from among the nations, even from Babylon, from the midst of wickedness, which is spiritual Babylon.

Section 133:15

But verily, thus saith the Lord, let not your flight be in haste, but let all things be prepared before you; and he that goeth, let him not look back lest sudden destruction shall come upon him.

Section 133:16

Hearken and hear, O ye inhabitants of the earth. Listen, ye elders of my church together, and hear the voice of the Lord; for he calleth upon all men, and he commandeth all men everywhere to repent.

Section 133:17

For behold, the Lord God hath sent forth the angel crying through the midst of heaven, saying: Prepare ye the way of the Lord, and make his paths straight, for the hour of his coming is nigh—

Section 133:18

When the Lamb shall stand upon Mount Zion, and with him a hundred and forty-four thousand, having his Father's name written on their foreheads.

Section 133:19

Wherefore, prepare ye for the coming of the Bridegroom; go ye, go ye out to meet him.

Section 133:20

For behold, he shall stand upon the mount of Olivet, and upon the mighty ocean, even the great deep, and upon the islands of the sea, and upon the land of Zion.

Section 133:21

And he shall utter his voice out of Zion, and he shall speak from Jerusalem, and his voice shall be heard among all people;

Section 133:22

And it shall be a voice as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder, which shall break down the mountains, and the valleys shall not be found.

Section 133:23

He shall command the great deep, and it shall be driven back into the north countries, and the islands shall become one land;

Section 133:24

And the land of Jerusalem and the land of Zion shall be turned back into their own place, and the earth shall be like as it was in the days before it was divided.

Section 133:25

And the Lord, even the Savior, shall stand in the midst of his people, and shall reign over all flesh.

Section 133:26

And they who are in the north countries shall come in remembrance before the Lord; and their prophets shall hear his voice, and shall no longer stay themselves; and they shall smite the rocks, and the ice shall flow down at their presence.

Section 133:27

And an highway shall be cast up in the midst of the great deep.

Section 133:28

Their enemies shall become a prey unto them,

Section 133:29

And in the barren deserts there shall come forth pools of living water; and the parched ground shall no longer be a thirsty land.

Section 133:30

And they shall bring forth their rich treasures unto the children of Ephraim, my servants.

Section 133:31

And the boundaries of the everlasting hills shall tremble at their presence.

Section 133:32

And there shall they fall down and be crowned with glory, even in Zion, by the hands of the servants of the Lord, even the children of Ephraim.

Section 133:33

And they shall be filled with songs of everlasting joy.

Section 133:34

Behold, this is the blessing of the everlasting God upon the tribes of Israel, and the richer blessing upon the head of Ephraim and his fellows.

Section 133:35

And they also of the tribe of Judah, after their pain, shall be sanctified in holiness before the Lord, to dwell in his presence day and night, forever and ever.

Section 133:36

And now, verily saith the Lord, that these things might be known among you, O inhabitants of the earth, I have sent forth mine angel flying through the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel, who hath appeared unto some and hath committed it unto man, who shall appear unto many that dwell on the earth.

Section 133:37

And this gospel shall be preached unto every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people.

Section 133:38

And the servants of God shall go forth, saying with a loud voice: Fear God and give glory to him, for the hour of his judgment is come;

Section 133:39

And worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters—

Section 133:40

Calling upon the name of the Lord day and night, saying: O that thou wouldst rend the heavens, that thou wouldst come down, that the mountains might flow down at thy presence.

Section 133:41

And it shall be answered upon their heads; for the presence of the Lord shall be as the melting fire that burneth, and as the fire which causeth the waters to boil.

Section 133:42

O Lord, thou shalt come down to make thy name known to thine adversaries, and all nations shall tremble at thy presence—

Section 133:43

When thou doest terrible things, things they look not for;

Section 133:44

Yea, when thou comest down, and the mountains flow down at thy presence, thou shalt meet him who rejoiceth and worketh righteousness, who remembereth thee in thy ways.

Section 133:45

For since the beginning of the world have not men heard nor perceived by the ear, neither hath any eye seen, O God, besides thee, how great things thou hast prepared for him that waiteth for thee.

Section 133:46

And it shall be said: Who is this that cometh down from God in heaven with dyed garments; yea, from the regions which are not known, clothed in his glorious apparel, traveling in the greatness of his strength?

Section 133:47

And he shall say: I am he who spake in righteousness, mighty to save.

Section 133:48

And the Lord shall be red in his apparel, and his garments like him that treadeth in the wine-vat.

Section 133:49

And so great shall be the glory of his presence that the sun shall hide his face in shame, and the moon shall withhold its light, and the stars shall be hurled from their places.

Section 133:50

And his voice shall be heard: I have trodden the wine-press alone, and have brought judgment upon all people; and none were with me;

Section 133:51

And I have trampled them in my fury, and I did tread upon them in mine anger, and their blood have I sprinkled upon my garments, and stained all my raiment; for this was the day of vengeance which was in my heart.

Section 133:52

And now the year of my redeemed is come; and they shall mention the loving kindness of their Lord, and all that he has bestowed upon them according to his goodness, and according to his loving kindness, forever and ever.

Section 133:53

In all their afflictions he was afflicted. And the angel of his presence saved them; and in his love, and in his pity, he redeemed them, and bore them, and carried them all the days of old;

Section 133:54

Yea, and Enoch also, and they who were with him; the prophets who were before him; and Noah also, and they who were before him; and Moses also, and they who were before him;

Section 133:55

And from Moses to Elijah, and from Elijah to John, who were with Christ in his resurrection, and the holy apostles, with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, shall be in the presence of the Lamb.

Section 133:56

And the graves of the saints shall be opened; and they shall come forth and stand on the right hand of the Lamb, when he shall stand upon Mount Zion, and upon the holy city, the New Jerusalem; and they shall sing the song of the Lamb, day and night forever and ever.

Section 133:57

And for this cause, that men might be made partakers of the glories which were to be revealed, the Lord sent forth the fulness of his gospel, his everlasting covenant, reasoning in plainness and simplicity—

Section 133:58

To prepare the weak for those things which are coming on the earth, and for the Lord's errand in the day when the weak shall confound the wise, and the little one become a strong nation, and two shall put their tens of thousands to flight.

Section 133:59

And by the weak things of the earth the Lord shall thrash the nations by the power of his Spirit.

Section 133:60

And for this cause these commandments were given; they were commanded to be kept from the world in the day that they were given, but now are to go forth unto all flesh—

Section 133:61

And this according to the mind and will of the Lord, who ruleth over all flesh.

Section 133:62

And unto him that repenteth and sanctifieth himself before the Lord shall be given eternal life.

Section 133:63

And upon them that hearken not to the voice of the Lord shall be fulfilled that which was written by the prophet Moses, that they should be cut off from among the people.

Section 133:64

And also that which was written by the prophet Malachi: For, behold, the day cometh that shall burn as an oven, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble; and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.

Section 133:65

Wherefore, this shall be the answer of the Lord unto them:

Section 133:66

In that day when I came unto mine own, no man among you received me, and you were driven out.

Section 133:67

When I called again there was none of you to answer; yet my arm was not shortened at all that I could not redeem, neither my power to deliver.

Section 133:68

Behold, at my rebuke I dry up the sea. I make the rivers a wilderness; their fish stink, and die for thirst.

Section 133:69

I clothe the heavens with blackness, and make sackcloth their covering.

Section 133:70

And this shall ye have of my hand—ye shall lie down in sorrow.

Section 133:71

Behold, and lo, there are none to deliver you; for ye obeyed not my voice when I called to you out of the heavens; ye believed not my servants, and when they were sent unto you ye received them not.

Section 133:72

Wherefore, they sealed up the testimony and bound up the law, and ye were delivered over unto darkness.

Section 133:73

These shall go away into outer darkness, where there is weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth.

Section 133:74

Behold the Lord your God hath spoken it. Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“On 17 August 1835, Oliver Cowdery and Sidney Rigdon presented the Doctrine and Covenants to a general assembly of the church in Kirtland, Ohio, for approval. JS, who was visiting Michigan Territory with Frederick G. Williams, was not present at this assembly. After representatives of different priesthood offices expressed their satisfaction with the book and after

‘the whole congregation’ unanimously ‘accepted and acknowledged it as the doctrine and covenants of their faith,’ William W. Phelps and Cowdery presented two additional documents that the assembly ‘accepted and adopted, and ordered to be printed in said book’: a statement on marriage and this declaration on government and law.

“The declaration on government and law outlined the church’s beliefs regarding the proper role of government in society. The most apparent motive for the declaration was the expulsion of church members from Jackson County, Missouri, in 1833. The first eleven of the declaration’s twelve articles address the role and duty of government in protecting and ensuring the free exercise of religion and could be read as an indictment of local, state, and national governments for failing to fulfill their duties in protecting the church from persecution. This was not the church’s first engagement in political discourse or its first reference to the constitutional rights of religious groups. In 1832, The Evening and the Morning Star gave a detailed account of the persecutions of Quakers in colonial British North America, perhaps in an attempt to offer historical context for the growing problems faced by church members in Missouri. In March 1833, Cowdery lamented that individuals had been ‘persecuted for opinion’s sake, or the sake of religion, when the constitution of our country allows all to worship according to the dictates of their own consciences.’ Later that year, he reasserted three fundamental rights of all Americans: ‘the freedom of speech, the liberty of conscience, and the liberty of the press.’ This August 1835 declaration contained similar language.

“In late 1834, Missouri governor Daniel Dunklin, responding to continued pleas from church leaders for help, expressed some sympathy for the plight of church members who had been driven from Jackson County. He recognized the injustices they had suffered and wondered what laws could be amended ‘to guard against such acts of violence for the future.’ When his statements reached Kirtland, they ‘revived the hopes of the church for the scattered brethren of Jackson County.’ While waiting for Dunklin’s sympathies to translate into action, the church initiated a series of political maneuvers. A pressing concern was to repair damage to the church’s image in Missouri caused by articles in The Evening and the Morning Star that were interpreted as supporting abolitionism and encouraging the migration of free blacks to Missouri, a pro-slavery state. To this end, in February 1835, the church founded a Democratic-leaning paper, the Northern Times, and used it to vocally oppose abolition. Church members hoped the paper might later serve to improve relations with Democrats (including Dunklin) and pro-slavery citizens in Missouri. Although it does not denounce abolition, this August 1835 declaration also distanced the church from the slavery question, intimating a policy of noninterference. Since church leaders were making active plans in 1835 to return to Missouri in 1836, the declaration may have been seen as a formal statement of the church’s position on proselytizing in slave-holding societies.

“The declaration may have also served to quell general complaints about the church’s recent political discourse. The Painesville Telegraph, for example, criticized the church’s newspaper, complaining that the church was seeking political influence. However, by publicly declaring the church’s belief in constitutionally protected freedoms, the Saints’ may have intended the declaration to recast their political discourse as a fundamentally American form of free speech.

“This emphasis on American principles may have similarly helped counteract accusations that the church was anti-government. The preface to the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants states that the church had been accused of being ‘an enemy to all good order and uprightness’ and ‘injurious to the peace of all governments civil and political.’ However, according to the declaration, church members believed ‘that all men are bound to sustain and uphold the respective Governments in which they reside.’ Using language and concepts from the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights, the declaration affirmed a dedication to law and order. It also highlighted God’s hand in establishing government and emphasized the church’s commitment to the separation of church and state.

“Given that the church intended to reclaim its Missouri lands, the declaration carried special significance. To redeem Zion, the church required government support, and the declaration may have been intended to emphatically state that failure on the government’s part to support the Saints in their quest was a violation of American values, constitutional rights, and the nation’s founding principles.

“The authorship of the declaration is unclear, as is the extent to which JS was involved in preparing it. Cowdery, who read the declaration at the assembly, may have been the primary author, as he editorialized on similar issues in The Evening and the Morning Star and the Northern Times, two periodicals for which he served as editor. Although JS’s involvement in writing the declaration is unclear, he later endorsed it. The April 1836 edition of the Latter Day Saints’ Messenger and Advocate featured a letter in which JS positively cited the declaration’s statement on noninterference with slaves. JS urged traveling elders to ‘search the Book of Covenant[s]’ for ‘the belief of the church concerning masters and servants.’ Five years later, JS signed a letter to the editor of a Chester County, Pennsylvania, newspaper in which he included the statement in its entirety, changing all of the ‘we believe’ statements to ‘I believe.’ Because it is uncertain how much JS contributed to the declaration’s contents, the document is included as an appendix to this volume rather than as featured text.”

DN 2:9 (6 March 1852), 33

Section 134:1

WE believe that governments were instituted of God for the benefit of man; and that he holds men accountable for their acts in relation to them, both in making laws and administering them, for the good and safety of society.

Section 134:2

We believe that no government can exist in peace, except such laws are framed and held inviolate as will secure to each individual the free exercise of conscience, the right and control of property, and the protection of life.

Section 134:3

We believe that all governments necessarily require civil officers and magistrates to enforce the laws of the same; and that such as will administer the law in equity and justice should be sought for and upheld by the voice of the people if a republic, or the will of the sovereign.

Section 134:4

We believe that religion is instituted of God; and that men are amenable to him, and to him only, for the exercise of it, unless their religious opinions prompt them to infringe upon the rights and liberties of others; but we do not believe that human law has a right to interfere in prescribing rules of worship to bind the consciences of men, nor dictate forms for public or private devotion; that the civil magistrate should restrain crime, but never control conscience; should punish guilt, but never suppress the freedom of the soul.

Section 134:5

We believe that all men are bound to sustain and uphold the respective governments in which they reside, while protected in their inherent and inalienable rights by the laws of such governments; and that sedition and rebellion are unbecoming every citizen thus protected, and should be punished accordingly; and that all governments have a right to enact such laws as in their own judgments are best calculated to secure the public interest; at the same time, however, holding sacred the freedom of conscience.

Section 134:6

We believe that every man should be honored in his station, rulers and magistrates as such, being placed for the protection of the innocent and the punishment of the guilty; and that to the laws all men show respect and deference, as without them peace and harmony would be supplanted by anarchy and terror; human laws being instituted for the express purpose of regulating our interests as individuals and nations, between man and man; and divine laws given of heaven, prescribing rules on spiritual concerns, for faith and worship, both to be answered by man to his Maker.

Section 134:7

We believe that rulers, states, and governments have a right, and are bound to enact laws for the protection of all citizens in the free exercise of their religious belief; but we do not believe that they have a right in justice to deprive citizens of this privilege, or proscribe them in their opinions, so long as a regard and reverence are shown to the laws and such religious opinions do not justify sedition nor conspiracy.

Section 134:8

We believe that the commission of crime should be punished according to the nature of the offense; that murder, treason, robbery, theft, and the breach of the general peace, in all respects, should be punished according to their criminality and their tendency to evil among men, by the laws of that government in which the offense is committed; and for the public peace and tranquility all men should step forward and use their ability in bringing offenders against good laws to punishment.

Section 134:9

We do not believe it just to mingle religious influence with civil government, whereby one religious society is fostered and another proscribed in its spiritual privileges, and the individual rights of its members, as citizens, denied.

Section 134:10

We believe that all religious societies have a right to deal with their members for disorderly conduct, according to the rules and regulations of such societies; provided that such dealings be for fellowship and good standing; but we do not believe that any religious society has authority to try men on the right of property or life, to take from them this world's goods, or to put them in jeopardy of either life or limb, or to inflict any physical punishment upon them. They can only excommunicate them from their society, and withdraw from them their fellowship.

Section 134:11

We believe that men should appeal to the civil law for redress of all wrongs and grievances, where personal abuse is inflicted or the right of property or character infringed, where such laws exist as will protect the same; but we believe that all men are justified in defending themselves, their friends, and property, and the government, from the unlawful assaults and encroachments of all persons in times of exigency, where immediate appeal cannot be made to the laws, and relief afforded.

Section 134:12

We believe it just to preach the gospel to the nations of the earth, and warn the righteous to save themselves from the corruption of the world; but we do not believe it right to interfere with bond-servants, neither preach the gospel to, nor baptize them contrary to the will and wish of their masters, nor to meddle with or influence them in the least to cause them to be dissatisfied with their situations in this life, thereby jeopardizing the lives of men; such interference we believe to be unlawful and unjust, and dangerous to the peace of every government allowing human beings to be held in servitude.

DC 1844 Section 111, 444–445

Section 135:1

TO seal the testimony of this book and the Book of Mormon, we announce the martyrdom of Joseph Smith the Prophet, and Hyrum Smith the Patriarch. They were shot in Carthage jail, on the 27th of June, 1844, about five o'clock p.m., by an armed mob—painted black—of from 150 to 200 persons. Hyrum was shot first and fell calmly, exclaiming: I am a dead man! Joseph leaped from the window, and was shot dead in the attempt, exclaiming: O Lord my God! They were both shot after they were dead, in a brutal manner, and both received four balls.

Section 135:2

John Taylor and Willard Richards, two of the Twelve, were the only persons in the room at the time; the former was wounded in a savage manner with four balls, but has since recovered; the latter, through the providence¹ of God, escaped, without even a hole in his robe.

Section 135:3

Joseph Smith, the Prophet and Seer of the Lord, has done more, save Jesus only, for the salvation of men in this world, than any other man that ever lived in it. In the short space of twenty years, he has brought forth the Book of Mormon, which he translated by the gift and power of God, and has been the means of publishing it on two continents; has sent the fulness of the everlasting gospel, which it contained, to the four quarters of the earth; has brought forth the revelations and commandments which compose this book of Doctrine and Covenants, and many other wise documents and instructions for the benefit of the children of men; gathered many thousands of the Latter-day Saints, founded a great city, and left a fame and name that cannot be slain. He lived great, and he died great in the eyes of God and his people; and like most of the Lord's anointed in ancient times, has sealed his mission and his works with his own blood; and so has his brother Hyrum. In life they were not divided, and in death they were not separated!

Section 135:4

When Joseph went to Carthage to deliver himself up to the pretended requirements of the law, two or three days previous to his assassination, he said: "I am going like a lamb to the slaughter; but I am calm as a summer's morning; I have a conscience void of offense towards God, and towards all men. I SHALL DIE INNOCENT, AND IT SHALL YET BE SAID OF ME—HE WAS MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD."—The same morning, after Hyrum had made ready to go—shall it be said to the slaughter? yes, for so it was—he read the following paragraph, near the close of the twelfth chapter of Ether, in the Book of Mormon, and turned down the leaf upon it:

Section 135:5

And it came to pass that I prayed unto the Lord that he would give unto the Gentiles grace, that they might have charity. And it came to pass that the Lord said unto me: If they have not charity it mattereth not unto thee, thou hast been faithful; wherefore thy garments shall be made clean. And because thou hast seen thy weakness, thou shalt be made strong, even unto the sitting down in the place which I have prepared in the mansions of my Father. And now I . . . bid farewell unto the Gentiles; yea, and also unto my brethren whom I love, until we shall meet before the judgment-seat of Christ, where all men shall know that my garments are not spotted with your blood. The testators are now dead, and their testament is in force.

¹The 1844 DC has "promises" instead of "providence."

Section 135:6

Hyrum Smith was forty-four years old in February, 1844, and Joseph Smith was thirty-eight in December, 1843; and henceforward their names will be classed among the martyrs of religion; and the reader in every nation will be reminded that the Book of Mormon, and this book of Doctrine and Covenants of the church, cost the best blood of the nineteenth century to bring them forth for the salvation of a ruined world; and that if the fire can scathe a green tree for the glory of God, how easy it will burn up the dry trees to purify the vineyard of corruption. They lived for glory; they died for glory; and glory is their eternal reward. From age to age shall their names go down to posterity as gems for the sanctified.

Section 135:7

They were innocent of any crime, as they had often been proved before, and were only confined in jail by the conspiracy of traitors and wicked men; and their innocent blood on the floor of Carthage jail is a broad seal affixed to “Mormonism” that cannot be rejected by any court on earth, and their innocent blood on the escutcheon of the State of Illinois, with the broken faith of the State as pledged by the governor, is a witness to the truth of the everlasting gospel that all the world cannot impeach; and their innocent blood on the banner of liberty, and on the magna charta of the United States, is an ambassador for the religion of Jesus Christ, that will touch the hearts of honest men among all nations; and their innocent blood, with the innocent blood of all the martyrs under the altar that John saw, will cry unto the Lord of Hosts till he avenges that blood on the earth. Amen.

Historical Background

HDDC

“Almost a year after the first saints began leaving Nauvoo on the trip west, most of them were temporarily located in and around Winter Quarters. They were waiting in this camp for the weather to break in order to continue on to the Salt Lake valley. In anticipation of the exodus in the spring, Brigham Young held several council meetings to consider the best way of organizing companies for the emigration...”¹

“This revelation had been accepted by all the councils in Winter Quarters, but the other camps that were stretched across Iowa had to be made aware of its contents; therefore, several men were sent out with copies of the revelation to read to the saints...”

“This revelation was first published in the Millennial Star, and it is interesting that when it first appeared in the D&C (1876 edition), it was copied into that book from the Millennial Star.”

And appoint presidents, and captains of hundreds, and of fifties, and of tens.

Section 136:16

And let my servants that have been appointed go and teach this, my will, to the saints, that they may be ready to go to a land of peace.

Section 136:17

Go thy way and do as I have told you, and fear not thine enemies; for they shall not have power to stop my work.

Section 136:18

Zion shall be redeemed in mine own due time.

Section 136:19

And if any man shall seek to build up himself, and seeketh not my counsel, he shall have no power, and his folly shall be made manifest.

Section 136:20

Seek ye; and keep all your pledges one with another; and covet not that which is thy brother's.

Section 136:21

Keep yourselves from evil to take the name of the Lord in vain, for I am the Lord your God, even the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob.

Section 136:22

I am he who led the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt; and my arm is stretched out in the last days, to save my people Israel.

Section 136:23

Cease to contend one with another; cease to speak evil one of another.

Section 136:24

Cease drunkenness; and let your words tend to edifying one another.

Section 136:25

If thou borrowest of thy neighbor, thou shalt restore that which thou hast borrowed; and if thou canst not repay then go straightway and tell thy neighbor, lest he condemn thee.

Section 136:26

If thou shalt find that which thy neighbor has lost, thou shalt make diligent search till thou shalt deliver it to him again.

Section 136:27

Thou shalt be diligent in preserving what thou hast, that thou mayest be a wise steward; for it is the free gift of the Lord thy God, and thou art his steward.

Section 136:28

If thou art merry, praise the Lord with singing, with music, with dancing, and with a prayer of praise and thanksgiving.

Section 136:29

If thou art sorrowful, call on the Lord thy God with supplication, that your souls may be joyful.

Section 136:30

Fear not thine enemies, for they are in mine hands and I will do my pleasure with them.

Section 136:31

My people must be tried in all things, that they may be prepared to receive the glory that I have for them, even the glory of Zion; and he that will not bear chastisement is not worthy of my kingdom.

Section 136:32

Let him that is ignorant learn wisdom by humbling himself and calling upon the Lord his God, that his eyes may be opened that he may see, and his ears opened that he may hear;

Section 136:33

For my Spirit is sent forth into the world to enlighten the humble and contrite, and to the condemnation of the ungodly.

Section 136:34

Thy brethren have rejected you and your testimony, even the nation that has driven you out;

Section 136:35

And now cometh the day of their calamity, even the days of sorrow, like a woman that is taken in travail; and their sorrow shall be great unless they speedily repent, yea, very speedily.

Section 136:36

For they killed the prophets, and them that were sent unto them; and they have shed innocent blood, which crieth from the ground against them.

Section 136:37

Therefore, marvel not at these things, for ye are not yet pure; ye can not yet bear my glory; but ye shall behold it if ye are faithful in keeping all my words that I have given you, from the days of Adam to Abraham, from Abraham to Moses, from Moses to Jesus and his apostles, and from Jesus and his apostles to Joseph Smith, whom I did call upon by mine angels, my ministering servants, and by mine own voice out of the heavens, to bring forth my work;

Section 136:38

Which foundation he did lay, and was faithful; and I took him to myself.

Section 136:39

Many have marveled because of his death; but it was needful that he should seal his testimony with his blood, that he might be honored and the wicked might be condemned.

Section 136:40

Have I not delivered you from your enemies, only in that I have left a witness of my name?

Section 136:41

Now, therefore, hearken, O ye people of my church; and ye elders listen together; you have received my kingdom.

Section 136:42

Be diligent in keeping all my commandments, lest judgments come upon you, and your faith fail you, and your enemies triumph over you. So no more at present. Amen and Amen.

Historical Background

JSP

“The winter of 1835–1836 was a time of meetings and instruction in Kirtland, Ohio, as the Latter-day Saints prepared for the forthcoming solemn assembly in the House of the Lord and for the divine endowment of power long promised to be received there. On the afternoon of 21 January 1836, JS and the church presidency met in the council room above the printing office to take another step in preparation for the endowment. Following biblical precedent, these church leaders washed their bodies with water and perfumed themselves with a sweet-smelling wash ‘preparatory to the anointing with the holy oil.’ At sunset the church presidency and several others, including JS’s scribe Warren Parrish and the bishoprics of Missouri and Kirtland, met on the third floor of the Kirtland House of the Lord in the ‘president’s room,’ also called the ‘west school room,’ to administer the anointing ordinance. The Kirtland and Missouri high councils also came to the House of the Lord, but they ‘waited in prayer’ separately until after the first anointings. According to Oliver Cowdery, the members of the church presidency were ‘annointed with the same kind of oil and in the man[n]er that were Moses and Aaron, and those who stood before the Lord in ancient days.’ The presidency first anointed church patriarch Joseph Smith Sr.’s head with consecrated oil and gave him a blessing. The patriarch then anointed the church’s presidents in the order of their ages. When Joseph Smith Sr. anointed the head of JS, he ‘sealed upon [him], the blessings, of Moses, to lead Israel in the latter days.’

“After the patriarch blessed his son, JS received blessings and prophecies under the hands of ‘all of the presidency,’ after which the ‘heavens were opened’ and JS and others beheld ‘visions and revelations.’ Warren Parrish recorded JS’s narrative of those heavenly manifestations, including a description of the celestial kingdom and the individuals who would dwell therein, in JS’s journal; that text is featured here. This vision of the celestial kingdom added details to JS’s 1832 vision that depicted the separation of the afterlife into three kingdoms of heavenly glory: celestial, terrestrial, and telestial.

“Bishop Edward Partridge recorded that a number of others present at the evening meeting also saw visions. JS’s journal notes that ‘some of them saw the face of the Saviour, and others were ministered unto by holy angels,’ and also that ‘the power of the highest rested upon, us the house was filled with the glory of God, and we shouted Hosannah to God and the Lamb.’ The next morning, instead of studying as usual, JS and others ‘spent the time in rehearsing to each other the glorious scenes that transpired’ the evening before.

“Cowdery demurred to record the details of the evening’s events in his journal. ‘The glorious scene is too great to be described in this book,’ he wrote, ‘therefore, I only say, that the heavens were opened to many, and great and marvelous things were shown.’ JS’s journal reports additional visionary experiences that were had during the week following 21 January 1836. Between 21 January and 6 February, JS and other senior church leaders gave instruction and performed washings, anointings, and other blessings as the solemn assembly neared.”

Section 137:1

THE heavens were opened upon us, and I beheld the celestial kingdom of God, and the glory thereof, whether in the body or out I cannot tell.

Section 137:2

I saw the transcendent beauty of the gate through which the heirs of that kingdom will enter, which was like unto circling flames of fire;

Section 137:3

Also the blazing throne of God, whereon was seated the Father and the Son.

Section 137:4

I saw the beautiful streets of that kingdom, which had the appearance of being paved with gold.

Section 137:5

I saw Father Adam and Abraham;¹ and my father and my mother; my brother Alvin, that has long since slept;

Section 137:6

And marveled how it was that he had obtained an inheritance in that kingdom, seeing that he had departed this life before the Lord had set his hand to gather Israel the second time, and had not been baptized for the remission of sins.

Section 137:7

Thus came the voice of the Lord unto me, saying: All who have died without a knowledge of this gospel, who would have received it if they had been permitted to tarry, shall be heirs of the celestial kingdom of God;

Section 137:8

Also all that shall die henceforth without a knowledge of it, who would have received it with all their hearts, shall be heirs of that kingdom;

Section 137:9

For I, the Lord, will judge all men according to their works, according to the desire of their hearts.

Section 137:10

And I also beheld that all children who die before they arrive at the years of accountability are saved in the celestial kingdom of heaven.

Historical Background

Scriptures

¹“A vision, given to President Joseph F. Smith in Salt Lake City, Utah, on October 3, 1918. In his opening address at the eighty-ninth Semiannual General Conference of the Church, on October 4, 1918, President Smith declared that he had received several divine communications during the previous months. One of these, concerning the Savior’s visit to the spirits of the dead while his body was in the tomb, he had received the previous day. It was written immediately following the close of the conference; on October 31, 1918, it was submitted to the counselors in the First Presidency, the Council of the Twelve, and the Patriarch, and it was unanimously accepted by them.”

Section 138:1

ON the third of October, in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, I sat in my room pondering over the scriptures;

Section 138:2

And reflecting upon the great atoning sacrifice that was made by the Son of God, for the redemption of the world;

Section 138:3

And the great and wonderful love made manifest by the Father and the Son in the coming of the Redeemer into the world;

Section 138:4

That through his atonement, and by obedience to the principles of the gospel, mankind might be saved.

Section 138:5

While I was thus engaged, my mind reverted to the writings of the apostle Peter, to the primitive saints scattered abroad throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, and other parts of Asia, where the gospel had been preached after the crucifixion of the Lord.

Section 138:6

I opened the Bible and read the third and fourth chapters of the first epistle of Peter, and as I read I was greatly impressed, more than I had ever been before, with the following passages:

¹This account was taken from the heading to the section in the Doctrine and Covenants.

Section 138:7

¹“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit:

Section 138:8

“By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison;

Section 138:9

“Which sometime were disobedient, when once the long-suffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water.” (1 Peter 3:18–20.)

Section 138:10

²“For for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.” (1 Peter 4:6.)

Section 138:11

As I pondered over these things which are written, the eyes of my understanding were opened, and the Spirit of the Lord rested upon me, and I saw the hosts of the dead, both small and great.

Section 138:12

And there were gathered together in one place an innumerable company of the spirits of the just, who had been faithful in the testimony of Jesus³ while they lived in mortality;

Section 138:13

And who had offered sacrifice in the similitude of the great sacrifice of the Son of God,⁴ and had suffered tribulation in their Redeemer’s name.

Section 138:14

All these had departed the mortal life, firm in the hope of a glorious resurrection, through the grace of God the Father and his Only Begotten Son, Jesus Christ.

¹See 1 Peter 3:18–20.

²See 1 Peter 4:6.

³The language here is similar to that in DC 76:69.

⁴For the idea of people offering sacrifice “in the similitude” of Christ’s great sacrifice, see 2 Nephi 9:18, Moses 1:6, 13, and 16, but especially Moses 5:7. I was talking to Moriah Davis once, on 11/1/2021, about this verse. She made a suggestion which I like: that the “sacrifice” here could refer to our baptism as the sort of “putting to death” of the former person we were, and sacrificing who or what we were, in order to take on Christ; see, for example, Romans 6:3–6, especially verse 6.

See also Psalms 51:17; Philippians 3:8–14; Romans 8:17; Colossians 2:11–13; 3 Nephi 9:20; DC 59:8; DC 96:6; DC 97:8 (this verse in particular is very interesting, because it could be a way of reading 138:13 such that the “sacrifice” is whatever one has to sacrifice in order to keep covenants—see also verse 12 of that section and verse 27); DC 101:4–5; DC 126:1; DC 132:50–51;

Section 138:15

I beheld that they were filled with joy and gladness, and were rejoicing together because the day of their deliverance was at hand.

Section 138:16

They were assembled awaiting the advent of the Son of God into the spirit world, to declare their redemption from the bands of death.

Section 138:17

Their sleeping dust was to be restored unto its perfect frame, bone to his bone, and the sinews and the flesh upon them, the spirit and the body to be united never again to be divided, that they might receive a fulness of joy.

Section 138:18

While this vast multitude waited and conversed, rejoicing in the hour of their deliverance from the chains of death, the Son of God appeared, declaring liberty to the captives who had been faithful;

Section 138:19

And there he preached to them the everlasting gospel, the doctrine of the resurrection and the redemption of mankind from the fall, and from individual sins on conditions of repentance.

Section 138:20

But unto the wicked he did not go, and among the ungodly and the unrepentant who had defiled themselves while in the flesh, his voice was not raised;

Section 138:21

Neither did the rebellious who rejected the testimonies and the warnings of the ancient prophets behold his presence, nor look upon his face.

Section 138:22

Where these were, darkness reigned, but among the righteous there was peace;

Section 138:23

And the saints rejoiced in their redemption, and bowed the knee and acknowledged the Son of God as their Redeemer and Deliverer from death and the chains of hell.

Section 138:24

Their countenances shone, and the radiance from the presence of the Lord rested upon them, and they sang praises unto his holy name.

Section 138:25

I marveled, for I understood that the Savior spent about three years in his ministry among the Jews and those of the house of Israel, endeavoring to teach them the everlasting gospel and call them unto repentance;

Section 138:26

And yet, notwithstanding his mighty works, and miracles, and proclamation of the truth, in great power and authority, there were but few who hearkened to his voice, and rejoiced in his presence, and received salvation at his hands.

Section 138:27

But his ministry among those who were dead was limited to the brief time intervening between the crucifixion and his resurrection;

Section 138:28

And I wondered at the words of Peter—wherein he said that the Son of God preached unto the spirits in prison, who sometime were disobedient, when once the long-suffering of God waited in the days of Noah—and how it was possible for him to preach to those spirits and perform the necessary labor among them in so short a time.

Section 138:29

And as I wondered, my eyes were opened, and my understanding quickened, and I perceived that the Lord went not in person among the wicked and the disobedient who had rejected the truth, to teach them;

Section 138:30

But behold, from among the righteous, he organized his forces and appointed messengers, clothed with power and authority, and commissioned them to go forth and carry the light of the gospel to them that were in darkness, even to all the spirits of men; and thus was the gospel preached to the dead.

Section 138:31

And the chosen messengers went forth to declare the acceptable day of the Lord and proclaim liberty to the captives who were bound, even unto all who would repent of their sins and receive the gospel.

Section 138:32

Thus was the gospel preached to those who had died in their sins, without a knowledge of the truth, or in transgression,¹ having rejected the prophets.

Section 138:33

These were taught faith in God, repentance from sin, vicarious baptism for the remission of sins, the gift of the Holy Ghost by the laying on of hands, ¹This group of people isn't qualified as saying that they didn't know who they were rejecting or what they were doing. It seems pretty clear that these people were willfully disobedient to the commandments and still had the gospel preached to them.

Section 138:34

And all other principles of the gospel that were necessary for them to know in order to qualify themselves that they might be judged according to men in the flesh,¹ but live according to God in the spirit.

Section 138:35

And so it was made known among the dead, both small and great, the unrighteous as well as the faithful, that redemption had been wrought through the sacrifice of the Son of God upon the cross.

Section 138:36

Thus was it made known that our Redeemer spent his time during his sojourn in the world of spirits, instructing and preparing² the faithful spirits of the prophets who had testified of him in the flesh;

Section 138:37

That they might carry the message of redemption unto all the dead, unto whom he could not go personally, because of their rebellion and transgression, that they through the ministration of his servants might also hear his words.

Section 138:38

Among the great and mighty ones who were assembled in this vast congregation of the righteous were Father Adam, the Ancient of Days and father of all,

Section 138:39

And our glorious Mother Eve, with many of her faithful daughters who had lived through the ages and worshiped the true and living God.

Section 138:40

Abel, the first martyr, was there, and his brother Seth, one of the mighty ones, who was in the express image of his father, Adam.

Section 138:41

Noah, who gave warning of the flood; Shem, the great high priest; Abraham, the father of the faithful; Isaac, Jacob, and Moses, the great law-giver of Israel;

Section 138:42

And Isaiah, who declared by prophecy that the Redeemer was anointed to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that were bound, were also there.

¹The language here comes from 1 Peter 4:6.

²Why did these individuals need to be “instructed and prepared”? They were prophets, so they already had a lot of experience in sharing the gospel and a lot of knowledge, I would think. So why did Christ need to instruct them?

Section 138:43

Moreover, Ezekiel, who was shown in vision the great valley of dry bones, which were to be clothed upon with flesh, to come forth again in the resurrection of the dead, living souls;

Section 138:44

Daniel, who foresaw and foretold the establishment of the kingdom of God in the latter days, never again to be destroyed nor given to other people;

Section 138:45

Elias, who was with Moses on the Mount of Transfiguration;

Section 138:46

And Malachi, the prophet who testified of the coming of Elijah—of whom also Moroni spake to the Prophet Joseph Smith, declaring that he should come before the ushering in of the great and dreadful day of the Lord—were also there.

Section 138:47

The Prophet Elijah was to plant in the hearts of the children the promises made to their fathers,

Section 138:48

Foreshadowing the great work to be done in the temples of the Lord in the dispensation of the fulness of times, for the redemption of the dead, and the sealing of the children to their parents, lest the whole earth be smitten with a curse and utterly wasted at his coming.

Section 138:49

All these and many more, even the prophets who dwelt among the Nephites and testified of the coming of the Son of God, mingled in the vast assembly and waited for their deliverance,

Section 138:50

For the dead had looked upon the long absence of their spirits from their bodies as a bondage.¹

Section 138:51

These the Lord taught, and gave them power to come forth, after his resurrection from the dead, to enter into his Father's kingdom, there to be crowned with immortality and eternal life,

Section 138:52

And continue thenceforth their labor as had been promised by the Lord, and be partakers of all blessings which were held in reserve for them that love him.

¹See DC 45:17.

Section 138:53

The Prophet Joseph Smith, and my father, Hyrum Smith, Brigham Young, John Taylor, Wilford Woodruff, and other choice spirits who were reserved to come forth in the fulness of times to take part in laying the foundations of the great Latter-day work,

Section 138:54

Including the building of the temples and the performance of ordinances therein for the redemption of the dead, were also in the spirit world.

Section 138:55

I observed that they were also among the noble and great ones who were chosen in the beginning to be rulers in the Church of God.

Section 138:56

Even before they were born, they, with many others, received their first lessons in the world of spirits and were prepared to come forth in the due time of the Lord to labor in his vineyard for the salvation of the souls of men.

Section 138:57

I beheld that the faithful elders of this dispensation, when they depart from mortal life, continue their labors in the preaching of the gospel of repentance and redemption, through the sacrifice of the Only Begotten Son of God, among those who are in darkness and under the bondage of sin in the great world of the spirits of the dead.

Section 138:58

The dead who repent will be redeemed, through obedience to the ordinances of the house of God,

Section 138:59

And after they have paid the penalty of their transgressions, and are washed clean, shall receive a reward according to their works, for they are heirs of salvation.

Section 138:60

Thus was the vision of the redemption of the dead revealed to me, and I bear record, and I know that this record is true, through the blessing of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, even so. Amen.

Official Declaration 1

OFFICIAL DECLARATION—1

To Whom It May Concern:

Official Declaration 1:1

Press dispatches having been sent for political purposes, from Salt Lake City, which have been widely published, to the effect that the Utah Commission, in their recent report to the Secretary of the Interior, allege that plural marriages are still being solemnized and that forty or more such marriages have been contracted in Utah since last June or during the past year, also that in public discourses the leaders of the Church have taught, encouraged and urged the continuance of the practice of polygamy—

Official Declaration 1:2

I, therefore, as President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, do hereby, in the most solemn manner, declare that these charges are false. We are not teaching polygamy or plural marriage, nor permitting any person to enter into its practice, and I deny that either forty or any other number of plural marriages have during that period been solemnized in our Temples or in any other place in the Territory.

Official Declaration 1:3

One case has been reported, in which the parties allege that the marriage was performed in the Endowment House, in Salt Lake City, in the Spring of 1889, but I have not been able to learn who performed the ceremony; whatever was done in this matter was without my knowledge. In consequence of this alleged occurrence the Endowment House was, by my instructions, taken down without delay.

Official Declaration 1:4

Inasmuch as laws have been enacted by Congress forbidding plural marriages, which laws have been pronounced constitutional by the court of last resort, I hereby declare my intention to submit to those laws, and to use my influence with the members of the Church over which I preside to have them do likewise.

Official Declaration 1:5

There is nothing in my teachings to the Church or in those of my associates, during the time specified, which can be reasonably construed to inculcate or encourage polygamy; and when any Elder of the Church has used language which appeared to convey any such teaching, he has been promptly reproved. And I now publicly declare that my advice to the Latter-day Saints is to refrain from contracting any marriage forbidden by the law of the land.

Official Declaration 1:6

WILFORD WOODRUFF

President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Official Declaration 1:7

President Lorenzo Snow offered the following:

Official Declaration 1:8

“I move that, recognizing Wilford Woodruff as the President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and the only man on the earth at the present time who holds the keys of the sealing ordinances, we consider him fully authorized by virtue of his position to issue the Manifesto which has been read in our hearing, and which is dated September 24th, 1890, and that as a Church in General Conference assembled, we accept his declaration concerning plural marriages as authoritative and binding.”

Official Declaration 1:9

The vote to sustain the foregoing motion was unanimous.

Official Declaration 1:10

Salt Lake City, Utah, October 6, 1890.

EXCERPTS FROM THREE ADDRESSES BY PRESIDENT WILFORD WOODRUFF
REGARDING THE MANIFESTO

Official Declaration 1:11

The Lord will never permit me or any other man who stands as President of this Church to lead you astray. It is not in the programme. It is not in the mind of God. If I were to attempt that, the Lord would remove me out of my place, and so He will any other man who attempts to lead the children of men astray from the oracles of God and from their duty. (Sixty-first Semiannual General Conference of the Church, Monday, October 6, 1890, Salt Lake City, Utah. Reported in Deseret Evening News, October 11, 1890, p. 2.)

Official Declaration 1:12

It matters not who lives or who dies, or who is called to lead this Church, they have got to lead it by the inspiration of Almighty God. If they do not do it that way, they cannot do it at all...

Official Declaration 1:13

I have had some revelations of late, and very important ones to me, and I will tell you what the Lord has said to me. Let me bring your minds to what is termed the manifesto...

Official Declaration 1:14

The Lord has told me to ask the Latter-day Saints a question, and He also told me that if they would listen to what I said to them and answer the question put to them, by the Spirit and power of God, they would all answer alike, and they would all believe alike with regard to this matter.

Official Declaration 1:15

The question is this: Which is the wisest course for the Latter-day Saints to pursue—to continue to attempt to practice plural marriage, with the laws of the nation against it and the opposition of sixty millions of people, and at the cost of the confiscation and loss of all the Temples, and the stopping of all the ordinances therein, both for the living and the dead, and the imprisonment of the First Presidency and Twelve and the heads of families in the Church, and the confiscation of personal property of the people (all of which of themselves would stop the practice); or, after doing and suffering what we have through our adherence to this principle to cease the practice and submit to the law, and through doing so leave the Prophets, Apostles and fathers at home, so that they can instruct the people and attend to the duties of the Church, and also leave the Temples in the hands of the Saints, so that they can attend to the ordinances of the Gospel, both for the living and the dead?

Official Declaration 1:16

The Lord showed me by vision and revelation exactly what would take place if we did not stop this practice. If we had not stopped it, you would have had no use for . . . any of the men in this temple at Logan; for all ordinances would be stopped throughout the land of Zion. Confusion would reign throughout Israel, and many men would be made prisoners. This trouble would have come upon the whole Church, and we should have been compelled to stop the practice. Now, the question is, whether it should be stopped in this manner, or in the way the Lord has manifested to us, and leave our Prophets and Apostles and fathers free men, and the temples in the hands of the people, so that the dead may be redeemed. A large number has already been delivered from the prison house in the spirit world by this people, and shall the work go on or stop? This is the question I lay before the Latter-day Saints. You have to judge for yourselves. I want you to answer it for yourselves. I shall not answer it; but I say to you that that is exactly the condition we as a people would have been in had we not taken the course we have.

Official Declaration 1:17

...I saw exactly what would come to pass if there was not something done. I have had this spirit upon me for a long time. But I want to say this: I should have let all the temples go out of our hands; I should have gone to prison myself, and let every other man go there, had not the God of heaven commanded me to do what I did do; and when the hour came that I was commanded to do that, it was all clear to me. I went before the Lord, and I wrote what the Lord told me to write...

Official Declaration 1:18

I leave this with you, for you to contemplate and consider. The Lord is at work with us. (Cache Stake Conference, Logan, Utah, Sunday, November 1, 1891. Reported in Deseret Weekly, November 14, 1891.)

Official Declaration 1:19

Now I will tell you what was manifested to me and what the Son of God performed in this thing...All these things would have come to pass, as God Almighty lives, had not that Manifesto been given. Therefore, the Son of God felt disposed to have that thing presented to the Church and to the world for purposes in his own mind. The Lord had decreed the establishment of Zion. He had decreed the finishing of this temple. He had decreed that the salvation of the living and the dead should be given in these valleys of the mountains. And Almighty God decreed that the Devil should not thwart it. If you can understand that, that is a key to it. (From a discourse at the sixth session of the dedication of the Salt Lake Temple, April 1893. Typescript of Dedicatory Services, Archives, Church Historical Department, Salt Lake City, Utah.)

Official Declaration 2

OFFICIAL DECLARATION—2

To Whom It May Concern:

Official Declaration 2:1

On September 30, 1978, at the 148th Semiannual General Conference of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the following was presented by President N. Eldon Tanner, First Counselor in the First Presidency of the Church:

Official Declaration 2:2

In early June of this year, the First Presidency announced that a revelation had been received by President Spencer W. Kimball extending priesthood and temple blessings to all worthy male members of the Church. President Kimball has asked that I advise the conference that after he had received this revelation, which came to him after extended meditation and prayer in the sacred rooms of the holy temple, he presented it to his counselors, who accepted it and approved it. It was then presented to the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, who unanimously approved it, and was subsequently presented to all other General Authorities, who likewise approved it unanimously.

Official Declaration 2:3

President Kimball has asked that I now read this letter:

Official Declaration 2:4

June 8, 1978

To all general and local priesthood officers of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints throughout the world:

Official Declaration 2:5

Dear Brethren:

Official Declaration 2:6

As we have witnessed the expansion of the work of the Lord over the earth, we have been grateful that people of many nations have responded to the message of the restored gospel, and have joined the Church in ever-increasing numbers. This, in turn, has inspired us with a desire to extend to every worthy member of the Church all of the privileges and blessings which the gospel affords.

Official Declaration 2:7

Aware of the promises made by the prophets and presidents of the Church who have preceded us that at some time, in God's eternal plan, all of our brethren who are worthy may receive the priesthood, and witnessing the faithfulness of those from whom the priesthood has been withheld, we have pleaded long and earnestly in behalf of these, our faithful brethren, spending many hours in the Upper Room of the Temple supplicating the Lord for divine guidance.

Official Declaration 2:8

He has heard our prayers, and by revelation has confirmed that the long-promised day has come when every faithful, worthy man in the Church may receive the holy priesthood, with power to exercise its divine authority, and enjoy with his loved ones every blessing that flows therefrom, including the blessings of the temple. Accordingly, all worthy male members of the Church may be ordained to the priesthood without regard for race or color. Priesthood leaders are instructed to follow the policy of carefully interviewing all candidates for ordination to either the Aaronic or the Melchizedek Priesthood to insure that they meet the established standards for worthiness.

Official Declaration 2:9

We declare with soberness that the Lord has now made known his will for the blessing of all his children throughout the earth who will hearken to the voice of his authorized servants, and prepare themselves to receive every blessing of the gospel.

Official Declaration 2:10

Sincerely yours,

SPENCER W. KIMBALL

N. ELDON TANNER

MARION G. ROMNEY

Official Declaration 2:11

Recognizing Spencer W. Kimball as the prophet, seer, and revelator, and president of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, it is proposed that we as a constituent assembly accept this revelation as the word and will of the Lord. All in favor please signify by raising your right hand. Any opposed by the same sign.

Official Declaration 2:12

The vote to sustain the foregoing motion was unanimous in the affirmative.

PEARL OF GREAT PRICE

Moses

Moses 1

Moses 1:1

THE words of God, which he spake unto Moses at a time when Moses was caught up into an exceedingly high mountain,

Moses 1:2

And he saw God face to face, and he talked with him, and the glory of God was upon Moses; therefore Moses could endure his presence.

Moses 1:3

And God spake unto Moses, saying: Behold, I am the Lord God Almighty, and Endless is my name; for I am without beginning of days or end of years; and is not this endless?¹

Moses 1:4

And, behold, thou art my son; wherefore look, and I will show thee the workmanship of mine hands; but not all, for my works are without end, and also my words, for they never cease.

Moses 1:5

Wherefore, no man can behold all my works, except he behold all my glory; and no man can behold all my glory, and afterwards remain in the flesh on the earth.

Moses 1:6

And I have a work for thee, Moses, my son; and thou art in the similitude of mine Only Begotten; and mine Only Begotten is and shall be the Savior, for he is full of grace and truth; but there is no God beside me, and all things are present with me, for I know them all.

Moses 1:7

And now, behold, this one thing I show unto thee, Moses, my son, for thou art in the world, and now I show it unto thee.

Moses 1:8

And it came to pass that Moses looked, and beheld the world upon which he was created; and Moses beheld the world and the ends thereof, and all the children of men which are, and which were created; of the same he greatly marveled and wondered.

¹See DC 19:4 and the verses that follow it; the “endless” language comes from there, and that section may have a further influence on this chapter as well.

Moses 1:9

And the presence of God withdrew from Moses, that his glory was not upon Moses; and Moses was left unto himself. And as he was left unto himself, he fell unto the earth.

Moses 1:10

And it came to pass that it was for the space of many hours before Moses did again receive his natural strength like unto man; and he said unto himself: Now, for this cause I know that man is nothing, which thing I never had supposed.

Moses 1:11

But now mine own eyes have beheld God; but not my natural, but my spiritual eyes, for my natural eyes could not have beheld; for I should have withered and died in his presence; but his glory was upon me; and I beheld his face, for I was transfigured before him.

Moses 1:12

And it came to pass that when Moses had said these words, behold, Satan came tempting him, saying: Moses, son of man, worship me.

Moses 1:13

And it came to pass that Moses looked upon Satan and said: Who art thou? For behold, I am a son of God, in the similitude of his Only Begotten; and where is thy glory, that I should worship thee?

Moses 1:14

For behold, I could not look upon God, except his glory should come upon me, and I were transfigured before him. But I can look upon thee in the natural man. Is it not so, surely?

Moses 1:15

Blessed be the name of my God, for his Spirit hath not altogether withdrawn from me, or else where is thy glory, for it is darkness unto me? And I can judge between thee and God; for God said unto me: Worship God, for him only shalt thou serve.

Moses 1:16

Get thee hence, Satan; deceive me not; for God said unto me: Thou art after the similitude of mine Only Begotten.

Moses 1:17

And he also gave me commandments when he called unto me out of the burning bush, saying: Call upon God in the name of mine Only Begotten, and worship me.

Moses 1:18

And again Moses said: I will not cease to call upon God, I have other things to inquire of him: for his glory has been upon me, wherefore I can judge between him and thee. Depart hence, Satan.

Moses 1:19

And now, when Moses had said these words, Satan cried with a loud voice, and ranted upon the earth, and commanded, saying: I am the Only Begotten, worship me.

Moses 1:20

And it came to pass that Moses began to fear exceedingly; and as he began to fear, he saw the bitterness of hell. Nevertheless, calling upon God, he received strength, and he commanded, saying: Depart from me, Satan, for this one God only will I worship, which is the God of glory.

Moses 1:21

And now Satan began to tremble, and the earth shook; and Moses received strength, and called upon God, saying: In the name of the Only Begotten, depart hence, Satan.

Moses 1:22

And it came to pass that Satan cried with a loud voice, with weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth; and he departed hence, even from the presence of Moses, that he beheld him not.

Moses 1:23

And now of this thing Moses bore record; but because of wickedness it is not had among the children of men.

Moses 1:24

And it came to pass that when Satan had departed from the presence of Moses, that Moses lifted up his eyes unto heaven, being filled with the Holy Ghost, which beareth record of the Father and the Son;

Moses 1:25

And calling upon the name of God, he beheld his glory again, for it was upon him; and he heard a voice, saying: Blessed art thou, Moses, for I, the Almighty, have chosen thee, and thou shalt be made stronger than many waters; for they shall obey thy command as if thou wert God.

Moses 1:26

And lo, I am with thee, even unto the end of thy days; for thou shalt deliver my people from bondage, even Israel my chosen.

Moses 1:27

And it came to pass, as the voice was still speaking, Moses cast his eyes and beheld the earth, yea, even all of it; and there was not a particle of it which he did not behold, discerning it by the spirit of God.

Moses 1:28

And he beheld also the inhabitants thereof, and there was not a soul which he beheld not; and he discerned them by the Spirit of God; and their numbers were great, even numberless as the sand upon the sea shore.

Moses 1:29

And he beheld many lands; and each land was called earth, and there were inhabitants on the face thereof.

Moses 1:30

And it came to pass that Moses called upon God, saying: Tell me, I pray thee, why these things are so, and by what thou madest them?

Moses 1:31

And behold, the glory of the Lord was upon Moses, so that Moses stood in the presence of God, and talked with him face to face. And the Lord God said unto Moses: For mine own purpose have I made these things. Here is wisdom and it remaineth in me.

Moses 1:32

And by the word of my power, have I created them, which is mine Only Begotten Son, who is full of grace and truth.

Moses 1:33

And worlds without number have I created; and I also created them for mine own purpose; and by the Son I created them, which is mine Only Begotten.

Moses 1:34

And the first man of all men have I called Adam, which is many.

Moses 1:35

But only an account of this earth, and the inhabitants thereof, give I unto you. For behold, there are many worlds that have passed away by the word of my power. And there are many that now stand, and innumerable are they unto man; but all things are numbered unto me, for they are mine and I know them.

Moses 1:36

And it came to pass that Moses spake unto the Lord, saying: Be merciful unto thy servant, O God, and tell me concerning this earth, and the inhabitants thereof, and also the heavens, and then thy servant will be content.

Moses 1:37

And the Lord God spake unto Moses, saying: The heavens, they are many, and they cannot be numbered unto man; but they are numbered unto me, for they are mine.

Moses 1:38

And as one earth shall pass away, and the heavens thereof even so shall another come, and there is no end to my works, neither to my words.

Moses 1:39

¹For behold, this is my work and my glory—to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man.

OTR1 for behold this is my work to my glory to the immortality & the eternal life of man OTRJW for behold this is my work to my glory to the immortality & the Eternal life of man

¹Compare 1 Nephi 14:7,

Moses 1:40

And now, Moses, my son, I will speak unto thee concerning this earth upon which thou standest; and thou shalt write the things which I shall speak.

Moses 1:41

And in a day when the children of men shall esteem my words as naught and take many of them from the book which thou shalt write, behold, I will raise up another like unto thee; and they shall be had again among the children of men—among as many as shall believe.

Moses 1:42

(These words were spoken unto Moses in the mount, the name of which shall not be known among the children of men. And now they are spoken unto you. Show them not unto any except them that believe. Even so. Amen.)

Moses 2

Moses 2:1

AND it came to pass that the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: Behold, I reveal unto you concerning this heaven, and this earth; write the words which I speak. I am the Beginning and the End, the Almighty God; by mine Only Begotten I created these things; yea, in the beginning I created the heaven, and the earth upon which thou standest.

Moses 2:2

And the earth was without form, and void; and I caused darkness to come up upon the face of the deep; and my Spirit moved upon the face of the water; for I am God.

Moses 2:3

And I, God, said: Let there be light; and there was light.

Moses 2:4

And I, God, saw the light; and that light was good. And I, God, divided the light from the darkness.

Moses 2:5

And I, God, called the light Day; and the darkness, I called Night; and this I did by the word of my power, and it was done as I spake; and the evening and the morning were the first day.

Moses 2:6

And again, I, God, said: Let there be a firmament in the midst of the water, and it was so, even as I spake; and I said: Let it divide the waters from the waters; and it was done;

Moses 2:7

And I, God, made the firmament and divided the waters, yea, the great waters under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament, and it was so even as I spake.

Moses 2:8

And I, God, called the firmament Heaven; and the evening and the morning were the second day.

Moses 2:9

And I, God, said: Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and it was so; and I, God, said: Let there be dry land; and it was so.

Moses 2:10

And I, God, called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters, called I the Sea; and I, God, saw that all things which I had made were good.

Moses 2:11

And I, God, said: Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, the fruit tree yielding fruit, after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed should be in itself upon the earth, and it was so even as I spake.

Moses 2:12

And the earth brought forth grass, every herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed should be in itself, after his kind; and I, God, saw that all things which I had made were good;

Moses 2:13

And the evening and the morning were the third day.

Moses 2:14

And I, God, said: Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day from the night, and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and for years;

Moses 2:15

And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth; and it was so.

Moses 2:16

And I, God, made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night, and the greater light was the sun, and the lesser light was the moon; and the stars also were made even according to my word.

Moses 2:17

And I, God, set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth,

Moses 2:18

And the sun to rule over the day, and the moon to rule over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness; and I, God, saw that all things which I had made were good;

Moses 2:19

And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

Moses 2:20

And I, God, said: Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl which may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

Moses 2:21

And I, God, created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind; and I, God, saw that all things which I had created were good.

Moses 2:22

And I, God, blessed them, saying: Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the sea; and let fowl multiply in the earth;

Moses 2:23

And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

Moses 2:24

And I, God, said: Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping things, and beasts of the earth after their kind, and it was so;

Moses 2:25

And I, God, made the beasts of the earth after their kind, and cattle after their kind, and everything which creepeth upon the earth after his kind; and I, God, saw that all these things were good.

Moses 2:26

And I, God, said unto mine Only Begotten, which was with me from the beginning: Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and it was so. And I, God, said: Let them have dominion over the fishes of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

Moses 2:27

And I, God, created man in mine own image, in the image of mine Only Begotten created I him; male and female created I them.

Moses 2:28

And I, God, blessed them, and said unto them: Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

Moses 2:29

And I, God, said unto man: Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree in the which shall be the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat.

Moses 2:30

And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to everything that creepeth upon the earth, wherein I grant life, there shall be given every clean herb for meat; and it was so, even as I spake.

Moses 2:31

And I, God, saw everything that I had made, and, behold, all things which I had made were very good; and the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

Moses 3

Moses 3:1

THUS the heaven and the earth were finished, and all the host of them.

Moses 3:2

And on the seventh day I, God, ended my work, and all things which I had made; and I rested on the seventh day from all my work, and all things which I had made were finished, and I, God, saw that they were good;

Moses 3:3

And I, God, blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it; because that in it I had rested from all my work which I, God, had created and made.

Moses 3:4

And now, behold, I say unto you, that these are the generations of the heaven and of the earth, when they were created, in the day that I, the Lord God, made the heaven and the earth,

Moses 3:5

And every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew. For I, the Lord God, created all things, of which I have spoken, spiritually,¹ before they were naturally upon the face of the earth. For I, the Lord God, had not caused it to rain upon the face of the earth. And I, the Lord God, had created all the children of men; and not yet a man to till the ground; for in heaven created I them; and there was not yet flesh upon the earth, neither in the water, neither in the air;

Moses 3:6

But I, the Lord God, spake, and there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

¹For this “spiritual creation,” see DC 29:31–44. Note especially verse 34, where the Lord seems to suggest that the distinction between “spiritual” and “temporal” doesn’t really mean anything to him, and that this is a way of talking that is supposed to help us “naturally understand” (29:33).

Moses 3:7

And I, the Lord God, formed man from the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul, the first flesh upon the earth, the first man also; nevertheless, all things were before created; but spiritually were they created and made according to my word.

Moses 3:8

And I, the Lord God, planted a garden eastward in Eden, and there I put the man whom I had formed.

Moses 3:9

And out of the ground made I, the Lord God, to grow every tree, naturally, that is pleasant to the sight of man; and man could behold it. And it became also a living soul. For it was spiritual in the day that I created it; for it remaineth in the sphere in which I, God, created it, yea, even all things which I prepared for the use of man; and man saw that it was good for food. And I, the Lord God, planted the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and also the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

Moses 3:10

And I, the Lord God, caused a river to go out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads.

Moses 3:11

And I, the Lord God, called the name of the first Pison, and it compasseth the whole land of Havilah, where I, the Lord God, created much gold;

Moses 3:12

And the gold of that land was good, and there was bdellium and the onyx stone.

Moses 3:13

And the name of the second river was called Gihon; the same that compasseth the whole land of Ethiopia.

Moses 3:14

And the name of the third river was Hiddekel; that which goeth toward the east of Assyria. And the fourth river was the Euphrates.

Moses 3:15

And I, the Lord God, took the man, and put him into the Garden of Eden, to dress it, and to keep it.

Moses 3:16

And I, the Lord God, commanded the man, saying: Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat,

Moses 3:17

But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it, nevertheless, thou mayest choose for thyself, for it is given unto thee; but, remember that I forbid it, for in the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die.

Moses 3:18

And I, the Lord God, said unto mine Only Begotten, that it was not good that the man should be alone; wherefore, I will make an help meet for him.

Moses 3:19

And out of the ground I, the Lord God, formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and commanded that they should come unto Adam, to see what he would call them; and they were also living souls; for I, God, breathed into them the breath of life, and commanded that whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that should be the name thereof.

Moses 3:20

And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field; but as for Adam, there was not found an help meet for him.

Moses 3:21

And I, the Lord God, caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam; and he slept, and I took one of his ribs and closed up the flesh in the stead thereof;

Moses 3:22

And the rib which I, the Lord God, had taken from man, made I a woman, and brought her unto the man.

Moses 3:23

And Adam said: This I know now is bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of man.

Moses 3:24

Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they shall be one flesh.

Moses 3:25

And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

Moses 4

Moses 4:1

¹AND I, the Lord God, spake unto Moses, saying: That Satan, whom thou hast commanded in the name of mine Only Begotten, is the same which was from the beginning, and he came before me, saying—Behold, here am I, send me, I will be thy son,² and I will redeem all mankind, that one soul shall not be lost, and surely I will do it; wherefore give me thine³honor.

¹We have to read this chapter in conjunction with DC 29.

²Christ was the “only begotten,” or μονογενής, of the Father; this means he had a special relationship with the Father, such that Christ received his power directly from the Father—see John 5:26, John 14:10, 3 Nephi 9:15, 3 Nephi 11:27, DC 35:2, DC 50:43, and DC 93:3. Satan wanted that special relationship with the Father. (We do not have this relationship with the Father—we have it with Christ. This is why we become the “children of Christ,” and why the true name of the priesthood on this planet in this church is “the Holy Priesthood, after the Order of the Son of God”; see DC 107:3.)

³See DC 29:36 and note especially the connection to Hebrews 5:4; DC 29 is September 1830, and Moses 4 is around the same time. I take “honor” here to refer to priesthood power and the office associated with having certain power in the priesthood. Notice that Satan wants to do it all himself and take all the credit: “Here I am, send me, I will be thy son, and I will redeem all mankind,” etc. He definitely wanted the “honor” part of the priesthood. See Mark 12:7,

Moses 4:2

But, behold, my Beloved Son, which was my Beloved and Chosen from the beginning, said unto me—Father, thy will be done, and the glory be thine forever.

Moses 4:3

Wherefore, because that Satan rebelled against me, and sought to destroy the agency of man, which I, the Lord God, had given him, and also, that I should give unto him mine own power; by the power of mine Only Begotten, I caused that he should be cast down;

Moses 4:4

And he became Satan, yea, even the devil, the father of all lies, to deceive and to blind men, and to lead them captive at his will, even as many as would not hearken unto my voice.

Moses 4:5

And now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which I, the Lord God, had made.

Moses 4:6

And Satan put it into the heart of the serpent, (for he had drawn away many after him,) and he sought also to beguile Eve, for he knew not the mind of God, wherefore he sought to destroy the world.

Moses 4:7

And he said unto the woman: Yea, hath God said—Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? (And he spake by the mouth of the serpent.)

Moses 4:8

And the woman said unto the serpent: We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden;

Moses 4:9

But of the fruit of the tree which thou beholdest in the midst of the garden, God hath said—Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

Moses 4:10

And the serpent said unto the woman: Ye shall not surely die;

Moses 4:11

For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

Moses 4:12

And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it became pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make her wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and also gave unto her husband with her, and he did eat.

John 5:23,

Moses 4:13

And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they had been naked. And they sewed fig-leaves together and made themselves aprons.

Moses 4:14

And they heard the voice of the Lord God, as they were walking in the garden, in the cool of the day; and Adam and his wife went to hide themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden.

Moses 4:15

And I, the Lord God, called unto Adam, and said unto him: Where goest thou?

Moses 4:16

And he said: I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I beheld that I was naked, and I hid myself.

Moses 4:17

And I, the Lord God, said unto Adam: Who told thee thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldst not eat, if so thou shouldst surely die?

Moses 4:18

And the man said: The woman thou gavest me, and commandest that she should remain with me, she gave me of the fruit of the tree and I did eat.

Moses 4:19

And I, the Lord God, said unto the woman: What is this thing which thou hast done? And the woman said: The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

Moses 4:20

And I, the Lord God, said unto the serpent: Because thou hast done this thou shalt be cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life;

Moses 4:21

And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, between thy seed and her seed; and he shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

Moses 4:22

Unto the woman, I, the Lord God, said: I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception. In sorrow thou shalt bring forth children, and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee.

Moses 4:23

And unto Adam, I, the Lord God, said: Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the fruit of the tree of which I commanded thee, saying—Thou shalt not eat of it, cursed shall be the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life.

Moses 4:24

Thorns also, and thistles shall it bring forth to thee, and thou shalt eat the herb of the field.

Moses 4:25

By the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, until thou shalt return unto the ground—for thou shalt surely die—for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou wast, and unto dust shalt thou return.

Moses 4:26

And Adam called his wife's name Eve, because she was the mother of all living; for thus have I, the Lord God, called the first of all women, which are many.

Moses 4:27

Unto Adam, and also unto his wife, did I, the Lord God, make coats of skins, and clothed them.

Moses 4:28

And I, the Lord God, said unto mine Only Begotten: Behold, the man is become as one of us to know good and evil; and now lest he put forth his hand and partake also of the tree of life, and eat and live forever,

Moses 4:29

Therefore I, the Lord God, will send him forth from the Garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken;

Moses 4:30

For as I, the Lord God, liveth, even so my words cannot return void, for as they go forth out of my mouth they must be fulfilled.

Moses 4:31

So I drove out the man, and I placed at the east of the Garden of Eden, cherubim and a flaming sword, which turned every way to keep the way of the tree of life.

Moses 4:32

(And these are the words which I spake unto my servant Moses, and they are true even as I will; and I have spoken them unto you. See thou show them unto no man, until I command you, except to them that believe. Amen.)

Moses 5

Moses 5:1

AND it came to pass that after I, the Lord God, had driven them out, that Adam began to till the earth, and to have dominion over all the beasts of the field, and to eat his bread by the sweat of his brow, as I the Lord had commanded him. And Eve, also, his wife, did labor with him.

Moses 5:2

And Adam knew his wife, and she bare unto him sons and daughters, and they began to multiply and to replenish the earth.

Moses 5:3

And from that time forth, the sons and daughters of Adam began to divide two and two in the land, and to till the land, and to tend flocks, and they also begat sons and daughters.

Moses 5:4

And Adam and Eve, his wife, called upon the name of the Lord, and they heard the voice of the Lord from the way toward the Garden of Eden, speaking unto them, and they saw him not; for they were shut out from his presence.

Moses 5:5

And he gave unto them commandments, that they should worship the Lord their God, and should offer the firstlings of their flocks, for an offering unto the Lord. And Adam was obedient unto the commandments of the Lord.

Moses 5:6

And after many days an angel of the Lord appeared unto Adam, saying: Why dost thou offer sacrifices unto the Lord? And Adam said unto him: I know not, save the Lord commanded me.

Moses 5:7

And then the angel spake, saying: This thing is a similitude of the sacrifice of the Only Begotten of the Father, which is full of grace and truth.

Moses 5:8

Wherefore, thou shalt do all that thou doest in the name of the Son, and thou shalt repent and call upon God in the name of the Son forevermore.

Moses 5:9

And in that day the Holy Ghost fell upon Adam, which beareth record of the Father and the Son, saying: I am the Only Begotten of the Father from the beginning, henceforth and forever, that as thou hast fallen thou mayest be redeemed, and all mankind, even as many as will.

Moses 5:10

And in that day Adam blessed God and was filled, and began to prophesy concerning all the families of the earth, saying: Blessed be the name of God, for because of my transgression my eyes are opened, and in this life I shall have joy, and again in the flesh I shall see God.

Moses 5:11

And Eve, his wife, heard all these things and was glad, saying: Were it not for our transgression we never should have had seed, and never should have known good and evil, and the joy of our redemption, and the eternal life which God giveth unto all the obedient.

Moses 5:12

And Adam and Eve blessed the name of God, and they made all things known unto their sons and their daughters.

Moses 5:13

And Satan came among them, saying: I am also a son of God; and he commanded them, saying: Believe it not; and they believed it not, and they loved Satan more than God. And men began from that time forth to be carnal, sensual, and devilish.

Moses 5:14

And the Lord God called upon men by the Holy Ghost everywhere and commanded them that they should repent;

Moses 5:15

And as many as believed in the Son, and repented of their sins, should be saved; and as many as believed not and repented not, should be damned; and the words went forth out of the mouth of God in a firm decree; wherefore they must be fulfilled.

Moses 5:16

And Adam and Eve, his wife, ceased not to call upon God. And Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bare Cain, and said: I have gotten a man from the Lord; wherefore he may not reject his words. But behold, Cain hearkened not, saying: Who is the Lord that I should know him?

Moses 5:17

And she again conceived and bare his brother Abel. And Abel hearkened unto the voice of the Lord. And Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground.

Moses 5:18

And Cain loved Satan more than God. And Satan commanded him, saying: Make an offering unto the Lord.

Moses 5:19

And in process of time it came to pass that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord.

Moses 5:20

And Abel he also brought of the firstlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel, and to his offering;

Moses 5:21

But unto Cain, and to his offering, he had not respect. Now Satan knew this, and it pleased him. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

Moses 5:22

And the Lord said unto Cain: Why art thou wroth? Why is thy countenance fallen?

Moses 5:23

If thou doest well, thou shalt be accepted. And if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door, and Satan desireth to have thee; and except thou shalt hearken unto my commandments, I will deliver thee up, and it shall be unto thee according to his desire. And thou shalt rule over him;

Moses 5:24

For from this time forth thou shalt be the father of his lies; thou shalt be called Perdition; for thou wast also before the world.

Moses 5:25

And it shall be said in time to come—That these abominations were had from Cain; for he rejected the greater counsel which was had from God; and this is a cursing which I will put upon thee, except thou repent.

Moses 5:26

And Cain was wroth, and listened not any more to the voice of the Lord, neither to Abel, his brother, who walked in holiness before the Lord.

Moses 5:27

And Adam and his wife mourned before the Lord, because of Cain and his brethren.

Moses 5:28

And it came to pass that Cain took one of his brothers' daughters to wife, and they loved Satan more than God.

Moses 5:29

And Satan said unto Cain: Swear unto me by thy throat, and if thou tell it thou shalt die; and swear thy brethren by their heads, and by the living God, that they tell it not; for if they tell it, they shall surely die; and this that thy father may not know it; and this day I will deliver thy brother Abel into thine hands.

Moses 5:30

And Satan sware unto Cain that he would do according to his commands. And all these things were done in secret.

Moses 5:31

And Cain said: Truly I am Mahan, the master of this great secret, that I may murder and get gain. Wherefore Cain was called Master Mahan, and he gloried in his wickedness.

Moses 5:32

And Cain went into the field, and Cain talked with Abel, his brother. And it came to pass that while they were in the field, Cain rose up against Abel, his brother, and slew him.

Moses 5:33

And Cain gloried in that which he had done, saying: I am free; surely the flocks of my brother falleth into my hands.

Moses 5:34

And the Lord said unto Cain: Where is Abel, thy brother? And he said: I know not. Am I my brother's keeper?

Moses 5:35

And the Lord said: What hast thou done? The voice of thy brother's blood cries unto me from the ground.

Moses 5:36

And now thou shalt be cursed from the earth which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand.

Moses 5:37

When thou tillest the ground it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength. A fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth.

Moses 5:38

And Cain said unto the Lord: Satan tempted me because of my brother's flocks. And I was wroth also; for his offering thou didst accept and not mine; my punishment is greater than I can bear.

Moses 5:39

Behold thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the Lord, and from thy face shall I be hid; and I shall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth; and it shall come to pass, that he that findeth me will slay me, because of mine iniquities, for these things are not hid from the Lord.

Moses 5:40

And I the Lord said unto him: Whosoever slayeth thee, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold. And I the Lord set a mark upon Cain, lest any finding him should kill him.

Moses 5:41

And Cain was shut out from the presence of the Lord, and with his wife and many of his brethren dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east of Eden.

Moses 5:42

And Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bare Enoch, and he also begat many sons and daughters. And he builded a city, and he called the name of the city after the name of his son, Enoch.

Moses 5:43

And unto Enoch was born Irad, and other sons and daughters. And Irad begat Mahujael, and other sons and daughters. And Mahujael begat Methusael, and other sons and daughters. And Methusael begat Lamech.

Moses 5:44

And Lamech took unto himself two wives; the name of one being Adah, and the name of the other, Zillah.

Moses 5:45

And Adah bare Jabal; he was the father of such as dwell in tents, and they were keepers of cattle; and his brother's name was Jubal, who was the father of all such as handle the harp and organ.

Moses 5:46

And Zillah, she also bare Tubal Cain, an instructor of every artificer in brass and iron. And the sister of Tubal Cain was called Naamah.

Moses 5:47

And Lamech said unto his wives, Adah and Zillah: Hear my voice, ye wives of Lamech, hearken unto my speech; for I have slain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt.

Moses 5:48

If Cain shall be avenged sevenfold, truly Lamech shall be seventy and seven fold;

Moses 5:49

For Lamech having entered into a covenant with Satan, after the manner of Cain, wherein he became Master Mahan, master of that great secret which was administered unto Cain by Satan; and Irad, the son of Enoch, having known their secret, began to reveal it unto the sons of Adam;

Moses 5:50

Wherefore Lamech, being angry, slew him, not like unto Cain, his brother Abel, for the sake of getting gain, but he slew him for the ¹oath's sake.

Moses 5:51

For, from the days of Cain, there was a secret combination, and their works were in the dark, and they knew every man his brother.

Moses 5:52

Wherefore the Lord cursed Lamech, and his house, and all them that had covenanted with Satan; for they kept not the commandments of God, and it displeased God, and he ministered not unto them, and their works were abominations, and began to spread among all the sons of men. And it was among the sons of men.

Moses 5:53

And among the daughters of men these things were not spoken, because that Lamech had spoken the secret unto his wives, and they rebelled against him, and declared these things abroad, and had not compassion;

Moses 5:54

Wherefore Lamech was despised, and cast out, and came not among the sons of men, lest he should die.

¹Compare Mark 6:26.

Moses 5:55

And thus the works of darkness began to prevail among all the sons of men.

Moses 5:56

And God cursed the earth with a sore curse, and was angry with the wicked, with all the sons of men whom he had made;

Moses 5:57

For they would not hearken unto his voice, nor believe on his Only Begotten Son, even him whom he declared should come in the meridian of time, who was prepared from before the foundation of the world.

Moses 5:58

And thus the Gospel began to be preached, from the beginning, being declared by holy angels sent forth from the presence of God, and by his own voice, and by the gift of the Holy Ghost.

Moses 5:59

And thus all things were confirmed unto Adam, by an holy ordinance, and the Gospel preached, and a decree sent forth, that it should be in the world, until the end thereof; and thus it was. Amen.

Moses 6

Moses 6:1

AND Adam hearkened unto the voice of God, and called upon his sons to repent.

Moses 6:2

And Adam knew his wife again, and she bare a son, and he called his name Seth. And Adam glorified the name of God; for he said: God hath appointed me another seed, instead of Abel, whom Cain slew.

Moses 6:3

And God revealed himself unto Seth, and he rebelled not, but offered an acceptable sacrifice, like unto his brother Abel. And to him also was born a son, and he called his name Enos.

Moses 6:4

And then began these men to call upon the name of the Lord, and the Lord blessed them;

Moses 6:5

And a book of remembrance was kept, in the which was recorded, in the language of Adam, for it was given unto as many as called upon God to write by the spirit of inspiration;

Moses 6:6

And by them their children were taught to read and write, having a language which was pure and undefiled.

Moses 6:7

Now this same Priesthood, which was in the beginning, shall be in the end of the world also.

Moses 6:8

Now this prophecy Adam spake, as he was moved upon by the Holy Ghost, and a genealogy was kept of the children of God. And this was the book of the generations of Adam, saying: In the day that God created man, in the likeness of God made he him;

Moses 6:9

In the image of his own body, male and female, created he them, and blessed them, and called their name Adam, in the day when they were created and became living souls in the land upon the footstool of God.

Moses 6:10

And Adam lived one hundred and thirty years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his own image, and called his name Seth.

Moses 6:11

And the days of Adam, after he had begotten Seth, were eight hundred years, and he begat many sons and daughters;

Moses 6:12

And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died.

Moses 6:13

Seth lived one hundred and five years, and begat Enos, and prophesied in all his days, and taught his son Enos in the ways of God; wherefore Enos prophesied also.

Moses 6:14

And Seth lived, after he begat Enos, eight hundred and seven years, and begat many sons and daughters.

Moses 6:15

And the children of men were numerous upon all the face of the land. And in those days Satan had great dominion among men, and raged in their hearts; and from thenceforth came wars and bloodshed; and a man's hand was against his own brother, in administering death, because of secret works, seeking for power.

Moses 6:16

All the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years, and he died.

Moses 6:17

And Enos lived ninety years, and begat Cainan. And Enos and the residue of the people of God came out from the land, which was called Shulon, and dwelt in a land of promise, which he called after his own son, whom he had named Cainan.

Moses 6:18

And Enos lived, after he begat Cainan, eight hundred and fifteen years, and begat many sons and daughters. And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years, and he died.

Moses 6:19

And Cainan lived seventy years, and begat Mahalaleel; and Cainan lived after he begat Mahalaleel eight hundred and forty years, and begat sons and daughters. And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years, and he died.

Moses 6:20

And Mahalaleel lived sixty-five years, and begat Jared; and Mahalaleel lived, after he begat Jared, eight hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters. And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred and ninety-five years, and he died.

Moses 6:21

And Jared lived one hundred and sixty-two years, and begat Enoch; and Jared lived, after he begat Enoch, eight hundred years, and begat sons and daughters. And Jared taught Enoch in all the ways of God.

Moses 6:22

And this is the genealogy of the sons of Adam, who was the son of God, with whom God, himself, conversed.

Moses 6:23

And they were preachers of righteousness, and spake and prophesied, and called upon all men, everywhere, to repent; and faith was taught unto the children of men.

Moses 6:24

And it came to pass that all the days of Jared were nine hundred and sixty-two years, and he died.

Moses 6:25

And Enoch lived sixty-five years, and begat Methuselah.

Moses 6:26

And it came to pass that Enoch journeyed in the land, among the people; and as he journeyed, the Spirit of God descended out of heaven, and abode upon him.

Moses 6:27

And he heard a voice from heaven, saying: Enoch, my son, prophesy unto this people, and say unto them—Repent, for thus saith the Lord: I am angry with this people, and my fierce anger is kindled against them; for their hearts have waxed hard, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes cannot see afar off;

Moses 6:28

And for these many generations, ever since the day that I created them, have they gone astray, and have denied me, and have sought their own counsels in the dark; and in their own abominations have they devised murder, and have not kept the commandments, which I gave unto their father, Adam.

Moses 6:29

Wherefore, they have foresworn themselves, and, by their oaths, they have brought upon themselves death; and a hell I have prepared for them, if they repent not;

Moses 6:30

And this is a decree, which I have sent forth in the beginning of the world, from my own mouth, from the foundation thereof, and by the mouths of my servants, thy fathers, have I decreed it, even as it shall be sent forth in the world, unto the ends thereof.

Moses 6:31

And when Enoch had heard these words, he bowed himself to the earth, before the Lord, and spake before the Lord, saying: Why is it that I have found favor in thy sight, and am but a lad, and all the people hate me; for I am slow of speech; wherefore am I thy servant?

Moses 6:32

And the Lord said unto Enoch: Go forth and do as I have commanded thee, and no man shall pierce thee. Open thy mouth, and it shall be filled, and I will give thee utterance, for all flesh is in my hands, and I will do as seemeth me good.

Moses 6:33

Say unto this people: Choose ye this day, to serve the Lord God who made you.

Moses 6:34

Behold my Spirit is upon you, wherefore all thy words will I justify; and the mountains shall flee before you, and the rivers shall turn from their course; and thou shalt abide in me, and I in you; therefore walk with me.

Moses 6:35

And the Lord spake unto Enoch, and said unto him: Anoint thine eyes with clay, and wash them, and thou shalt see. And he did so.

Moses 6:36

And he beheld the spirits that God had created; and he beheld also things which were not visible to the natural eye; and from thenceforth came the saying abroad in the land: A seer hath the Lord raised up unto his people.

Moses 6:37

And it came to pass that Enoch went forth in the land, among the people, standing upon the hills and the high places, and cried with a loud voice, testifying against their works; and all men were offended because of him.

Moses 6:38

And they came forth to hear him, upon the high places, saying unto the tent-keepers: Tarry ye here and keep the tents, while we go yonder to behold the seer, for he prophesieth, and there is a strange thing in the land; a wild man hath come among us.

Moses 6:39

And it came to pass when they heard him, no man laid hands on him; for fear came on all them that heard him; for he walked with God.

Moses 6:40

And there came a man unto him, whose name was Mahijah, and said unto him: Tell us plainly who thou art, and from whence thou comest?

Moses 6:41

And he said unto them: I came out from the land of Cainan, the land of my fathers, a land of righteousness unto this day. And my father taught me in all the ways of God.

Moses 6:42

And it came to pass, as I journeyed from the land of Cainan, by the sea east, I beheld a vision; and lo, the heavens I saw, and the Lord spake with me, and gave me commandment; wherefore, for this cause, to keep the commandment, I speak forth these words.

Moses 6:43

And Enoch continued his speech, saying: The Lord which spake with me, the same is the God of heaven, and he is my God, and your God, and ye are my brethren, and why counsel ye yourselves, and deny the God of heaven?

Moses 6:44

The heavens he made; the earth is his footstool; and the foundation thereof is his. Behold, he laid it, an host of men hath he brought in upon the face thereof.

Moses 6:45

And death hath come upon our fathers; nevertheless we know them, and cannot deny, and even the first of all we know, even Adam.

Moses 6:46

For a book of remembrance we have written among us, according to the pattern given by the finger of God; and it is given in our own language.

Moses 6:47

And as Enoch spake forth the words of God, the people trembled, and could not stand in his presence.

Moses 6:48

And he said unto them: Because that Adam fell, we are; and by his fall came death; and we are made partakers of misery and woe.

Moses 6:49

Behold Satan hath come among the children of men, and tempteth them to worship him; and men have become carnal, sensual, and devilish, and are shut out from the presence of God.

Moses 6:50

But God hath made known unto our fathers that all men must repent.

Moses 6:51

And he called upon our father Adam by his own voice,¹ saying: I am God; I made the world, and men before they were in the flesh.

Moses 6:52

And he also said unto him: If thou wilt turn unto me, and hearken² unto my voice, and believe, and repent of all thy transgressions, and be baptized, even in water, in the name of mine Only Begotten Son, who is full of grace and truth, which is Jesus Christ, the only name which shall be given under heaven, whereby salvation shall come unto the children of men, ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost, asking all things in his name, and whatsoever ye shall ask, it shall be given you.

Moses 6:53

And our father Adam spake unto the Lord, and said: Why is it that men must repent and be baptized in water? And the Lord said unto Adam: Behold I have forgiven thee thy transgression in the Garden of Eden.

Moses 6:54

Hence came the saying abroad among the people, that the Son of God hath atoned for original guilt, wherein the sins of the parents cannot be answered upon the heads of the children, for they are whole from the foundation of the world.

Moses 6:55

And the Lord spake unto Adam, saying: Inasmuch as thy children are conceived in sin,³ even so when they begin to grow up, sin conceiveth in their hearts, and they taste the bitter, that they may know to prize the good.⁴

Moses 6:56

And it is given unto them to know good from evil; wherefore they are agents unto themselves, and I have given unto you another law and commandment.

Moses 6:57

Wherefore teach it unto your children, that all men, everywhere, must repent, or they can in nowise inherit the kingdom of God, for no unclean thing can dwell there, or dwell in his presence; for, in the language of Adam, Man of Holiness is his name, and the name of his Only Begotten is the Son of Man, even Jesus Christ, a righteous Judge, who shall come in the meridian of time.

¹Compare JST OTR1 of Genesis 14, part of which says that the order of the priesthood “was delivered unto men by the calling of his [God’s] own voice.”

²Here between “hearken” and “unto” OT1-14 begins. At the top of this page John Whitmer wrote and partially circled the heading, “The Plan of Salvation.”

Moses 6:58

Therefore I give unto you a commandment, to teach these things freely unto your children, saying:

Moses 6:59

That by reason of transgression cometh the fall, which fall bringeth death, and inasmuch as ye were born into the world by water, and blood, and the spirit, which I have made, and so became of dust a living soul, even so ye must be born again into the kingdom of heaven, of water, and of the Spirit, and be cleansed by blood, even the blood of mine Only Begotten; that ye might be sanctified from all sin, and enjoy the words of eternal life in this world, and eternal life in the world to come, even immortal glory;

Moses 6:60

For by the water ye keep the commandment; by the Spirit ye are justified, and by the blood ye are sanctified;

Moses 6:61

Therefore it is given to abide in you; the record of heaven; the Comforter; the peaceable things of immortal glory; the truth of all things; that which quickeneth all things, which maketh alive all things; that which knoweth all things, and hath all power according to wisdom, mercy, truth, justice, and judgment.

Moses 6:62

And now, behold, I say unto you: This is the plan of salvation unto all men, through the blood of mine Only Begotten, who shall come in the meridian of time.

Moses 6:63

And behold, all things have their likeness, and all things are created and made to bear record of me, both things which are temporal, and things which are spiritual; things which are in the heavens above, and things which are on the earth, and things which are in the earth, and things which are under the earth, both above and beneath: all things bear record of me.

Moses 6:64

And it came to pass, when the Lord had spoken with Adam, our father, that Adam cried unto the Lord, and he was caught away by the Spirit of the Lord, and was carried down into the water, and was laid under the water, and was brought forth out of the water.

Moses 6:65

And thus he was baptized, and the Spirit of God descended upon him, and thus he was born of the Spirit, and became quickened in the inner man.

Moses 6:66

And he heard a voice out of heaven, saying: Thou art baptized with fire, and with the Holy Ghost. This is the record of the Father, and the Son, from henceforth and forever;

Moses 6:67

And thou art after the order of him who was without beginning of days or end of years, from all eternity to all eternity.

Moses 6:68

Behold, thou art one in me,¹ a son of God; and thus may all become my sons. Amen.

Moses 7

Moses 7:1

²AND it came to pass that Enoch continued his speech, saying: Behold, our father Adam taught these things, and many have believed and become the sons of God, and many have believed not, and have perished in their sins, and are looking forth with fear, in torment, for the fiery indignation of the wrath of God to be poured out upon them.

Moses 7:2

And from that time forth Enoch began to prophesy, saying unto the people, that: As I was journeying, and stood upon the place Mahujah, and cried unto the Lord, there came a voice out of heaven, saying—Turn ye, and get ye upon the mount Simeon.

Moses 7:3

And it came to pass that I turned and went up on the mount; and as I stood upon the mount, I beheld the heavens open, and I was clothed upon with glory;

Moses 7:4

And I saw the Lord; and he stood before my face, and he talked with me, even as a man talketh one with another, face to face; and he said unto me: Look, and I will show unto thee the world for the space of many generations.

Moses 7:5

And it came to pass that I beheld in the valley of Shum, and lo, a great people which dwelt in tents, which were the people of Shum.

Moses 7:6

And again the Lord said unto me: Look; and I looked towards the north, and I beheld the people of Canaan, which dwelt in tents.

Moses 7:7

And the Lord said unto me: Prophecy; and I prophesied, saying: Behold the people of Canaan, which are numerous, shall go forth in battle array against the people of Shum, and shall slay them that they shall utterly be destroyed; and the people of Canaan shall divide themselves in the land, and the land shall be barren and unfruitful, and none other people shall dwell there but the people of Canaan;

Moses 7:8

For behold, the Lord shall curse the land with much heat, and the barrenness thereof shall go forth forever; and there was a blackness came upon all the children of Canaan, that they were despised among all people.

¹For “one in me,” see DC 35:2.

Moses 7:9

And it came to pass that the Lord said unto me: Look; and I looked, and I beheld the land of Sharon, and the land of Enoch, and the land of Omner, and the land of Heni, and the land of Shem, and the land of Haner, and the land of Hanannah, and all the inhabitants thereof;

Moses 7:10

And the Lord said unto me: Go to this people, and say unto them—Repent, lest I come out and smite them with a curse, and they die.

Moses 7:11

And he gave unto me a commandment that I should baptize in the name of the Father, and of the Son, which is full of grace and truth, and of the Holy Ghost, which beareth record of the Father and the Son.

Moses 7:12

And it came to pass that Enoch continued to call upon all the people, save it were the people of Canaan, to repent;

Moses 7:13

And so great was the faith of Enoch that he led the people of God, and their enemies came to battle against them; and he spake the word of the Lord, and the earth trembled, and the mountains fled, even according to his command; and the rivers of water were turned out of their course; and the roar of the lions was heard out of the wilderness; and all nations feared greatly, so powerful was the word of Enoch, and so great was the power of the language which God had given him.

Moses 7:14

There also came up a land out of the depth of the sea, and so great was the fear of the enemies of the people of God, that they fled and stood afar off and went upon the land which came up out of the depth of the sea.

Moses 7:15

And the giants of the land, also, stood afar off; and there went forth a curse upon all people that fought against God;

Moses 7:16

And from that time forth there were wars and bloodshed among them; but the Lord came and dwelt with his people, and they dwelt in righteousness.

Moses 7:17

The fear of the Lord was upon all nations, so great was the glory of the Lord, which was upon his people. And the Lord blessed the land, and they were blessed upon the mountains, and upon the high places, and did flourish.

Moses 7:18

And the Lord called his people ZION, because they were of one heart and one mind,¹ and dwelt in righteousness; and there was no poor among them.²

And he saw angels descending out of heaven; and he heard a loud voice saying: Wo, wo be unto the inhabitants of the earth.

And he beheld Satan; and he had a great chain in his hand, and it veiled the whole face of the earth with darkness; and he looked up and laughed, and his angels rejoiced.

Moses 7:27

And Enoch beheld angels descending out of heaven, bearing testimony of the Father and Son; and the Holy Ghost fell on many, and they were caught up by the powers of heaven into Zion.

Moses 7:28

And it came to pass that the God of heaven looked upon the residue of the people, and he wept; and Enoch bore record of it, saying: How is it that the heavens weep, and shed forth their tears as the rain upon the mountains?

Moses 7:29

And Enoch said unto the Lord: How is it that thou canst weep, seeing thou art holy, and from all eternity to all eternity?

¹See DC 45:11-14.

Moses 7:30

And were it possible that man could number the particles of the earth, yea, millions of earths like this, it would not be a beginning to the number of thy creations; and thy curtains are stretched out still; and yet thou art there, and thy bosom is there; and also thou art just; thou art merciful and kind forever;

Moses 7:31

And thou hast taken Zion to thine own bosom, from all thy creations, from all eternity to all eternity; and naught but peace, justice, and truth is the habitation of thy throne; and mercy shall go before thy face and have no end; how is it thou canst weep?

Moses 7:32

The Lord said unto Enoch: Behold these thy brethren; they are the workmanship of mine own hands, and I gave unto them their knowledge, in the day I created them; and in the Garden of Eden, gave I unto man his agency;

Moses 7:33

And unto thy brethren have I said, and also given commandment, that they should love one another, and that they should choose me, their Father; but behold, they are without affection, and they hate their own blood;

Moses 7:34

And the fire of mine indignation is kindled against them; and in my hot displeasure will I send in the floods upon them, for my fierce anger is kindled against them.

Moses 7:35

Behold, I am God; Man of Holiness is my name; Man of Counsel is my name; and Endless and Eternal is my name, also.

Moses 7:36

Wherefore, I can stretch forth mine hands and hold all the creations which I have made; and mine eye can pierce them also, and among all the workmanship of mine hands there has not been so great wickedness as among thy brethren.

Moses 7:37

But behold, their sins shall be upon the heads of their fathers; Satan shall be their father, and misery shall be their doom; and the whole heavens shall weep over them, even all the workmanship of mine hands; wherefore should not the heavens weep, seeing these shall suffer?

Moses 7:38

But behold, these which thine eyes are upon shall perish in the floods; and behold, I will shut them up; a prison have I prepared for them.

Moses 7:39

And That which I have chosen hath pled before my face. Wherefore, he suffereth for their sins; inasmuch as they will repent in the day that my Chosen shall return unto me, and until that day they shall be in torment;

Moses 7:40

Wherefore, for this shall the heavens weep, yea, and all the workmanship of mine hands.

Moses 7:41

And it came to pass that the Lord spake unto Enoch, and told Enoch all the doings of the children of men; wherefore Enoch knew, and looked upon their wickedness, and their misery, and wept and stretched forth his arms, and his heart swelled wide as eternity;¹ and his bowels yearned; and all eternity shook.

Moses 7:42

And Enoch also saw Noah, and his family; that the posterity of all the sons of Noah should be saved with a temporal salvation;

Moses 7:43

Wherefore Enoch saw that Noah built an ark; and that the Lord smiled upon it, and held it in his own hand; but upon the residue of the wicked the floods came and swallowed them up.

Moses 7:44

And as Enoch saw this, he had bitterness of soul, and wept over his brethren, and said unto the heavens: I will refuse to be comforted; but the Lord said unto Enoch: Lift up your heart, and be glad; and look.

Moses 7:45

And it came to pass that Enoch looked; and from Noah, he beheld all the families of the earth; and he cried unto the Lord, saying: When shall the day of the Lord come? When shall the blood of the Righteous be shed, that all they that mourn may be sanctified and have eternal life?

Moses 7:46

And the Lord said: It shall be in the meridian of time, in the days of wickedness and vengeance.

Moses 7:47

And behold, Enoch saw the day of the coming of the Son of Man, even in the flesh; and his soul rejoiced, saying: The Righteous is lifted up, and the Lamb is slain from the foundation of the world; and through faith I am in the bosom of the Father, and behold, Zion is with me.

Moses 7:48

And it came to pass that Enoch looked upon the earth; and he heard a voice from the bowels thereof, saying: Wo, wo is me, the mother of men; I am pained, I am weary, because of the wickedness of my children. When shall I rest, and be cleansed from the filthiness which is gone forth out of me? When will my Creator sanctify me, that I may rest, and righteousness for a season abide upon my face?

¹In a 14 May 1840 letter, JS wrote the following to Orson Hyde and John E. Page: "therefore, inasmuch as you are to be instrumental in this great work, he will endow you with power, wisdom, might, and intelligence; and every qualification necessary; while your minds will expand wider and wider, untill you can circumscribe the Earth, & the Heavens, and reach forth into eternity; contemplate the mighty acts of Jehovah, in all their variety & glory."

Moses 7:49

And when Enoch heard the earth mourn, he wept, and cried unto the Lord, saying: O Lord, wilt thou not have compassion upon the earth? Wilt thou not bless the children of Noah?

Moses 7:50

And it came to pass that Enoch continued his cry unto the Lord, saying: I ask thee, O Lord, in the name of thine Only Begotten, even Jesus Christ, that thou wilt have mercy upon Noah and his seed, that the earth might never more be covered by the floods.

Moses 7:51

And the Lord could not withhold; and he covenanted with Enoch, and sware unto him with an oath, that he would stay the floods; that he would call upon the children of Noah;

Moses 7:52

And he sent forth an unalterable decree, that a remnant of his seed should always be found among all nations, while the earth should stand;

Moses 7:53

And the Lord said: Blessed is he through whose seed Messiah shall come; for he saith—I am Messiah, the King of Zion, the Rock of Heaven, which is broad as eternity; whoso cometh in at the gate and climbeth up by me shall never fall; wherefore, blessed are they of whom I have spoken, for they shall come forth with songs of everlasting joy.

Moses 7:54

And it came to pass that Enoch cried unto the Lord, saying: When the Son of Man cometh in the flesh, shall the earth rest? I pray thee, show me these things.

Moses 7:55

And the Lord said unto Enoch: Look, and he looked and beheld the Son of Man lifted up on the cross, after the manner of men;

Moses 7:56

And he heard a loud voice; and the heavens were veiled; and all the creations of God mourned; and the earth groaned;¹ and the rocks were rent; and the saints arose, and were crowned at the right hand of the Son of Man, with crowns of glory;

Moses 7:57

And as many of the spirits as were in prison came forth, and stood on the right hand of God; and the remainder were reserved in chains of darkness until the judgment of the great day.

Moses 7:58

And again Enoch wept and cried unto the Lord, saying: When shall the earth rest?

¹See Romans 8:22; DC 84:49–53;

Moses 7:59

And Enoch beheld the Son of Man ascend up unto the Father; and he called unto the Lord, saying: Wilt thou not come again upon the earth? Forasmuch as thou art God, and I know thee, and thou hast sworn unto me, and commanded me that I should ask in the name of thine Only Begotten; thou hast made me, and given unto me a right to thy throne, and not of myself, but through thine own grace; wherefore, I ask thee if thou wilt not come again on the earth.

Moses 7:60

And the Lord said unto Enoch: As I live, even so will I come in the last days, in the days of wickedness and vengeance, to fulfil the oath which I have made unto you concerning the children of Noah;

Moses 7:61

And the day shall come that the earth shall rest, but before that day the heavens shall be darkened, and a veil of darkness shall cover the earth; and the heavens shall shake, and also the earth; and great tribulations shall be among the children of men, but my people will I preserve;

Moses 7:62

And righteousness will I send down out of heaven; and truth will I send forth out of the earth, to bear testimony of mine Only Begotten; his resurrection from the dead; yea, and also the resurrection of all men; and righteousness and truth will I cause to sweep the earth as with a flood, to gather out mine elect from the four quarters of the earth, unto a place which I shall prepare, an Holy City, that my people may gird up their loins, and be looking forth for the time of my coming; for there shall be my tabernacle, and it shall be called Zion, a New Jerusalem.

Moses 7:63

And the Lord said unto Enoch: Then shalt thou and all thy city meet them there, and we will receive them into our bosom, and they shall see us; and we will fall upon their necks, and they shall fall upon our necks, and we will kiss each other;

Moses 7:64

And there shall be mine abode, and it shall be Zion, which shall come forth out of all the creations which I have made; and for the space of a thousand years the earth shall rest.

Moses 7:65

And it came to pass that Enoch saw the day of the coming of the Son of Man, in the last days, to dwell on the earth in righteousness for the space of a thousand years;

Moses 7:66

But before that day he saw great tribulations among the wicked; and he also saw the sea, that it was troubled, and men's hearts failing them, looking forth with fear for the judgments of the Almighty God, which should come upon the wicked.

Moses 7:67

And the Lord showed Enoch all things, even unto the end of the world; and he saw the day of the righteous, the hour of their redemption, and received a fulness of joy;

AND all the days of Enoch were four hundred and thirty years.

Moses 8:2

And it came to pass that Methuselah, the son of Enoch, was not taken, that the covenants of the Lord might be fulfilled, which he made to Enoch; for he truly covenanted with Enoch that Noah should be of the fruit of his loins.

Moses 8:7

And all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred and sixty-nine years, and he died.

Moses 8:8

And Lamech lived one hundred and eighty-two years, and begat a son,

Moses 8:9

And he called his name Noah, saying: This son shall comfort us concerning our work and toil of our hands, because of the ground which the Lord hath cursed.

¹Compare DC 38:4.

Moses 8:10

Moses 8:11

And all the days of Lamech were seven hundred and seventy-seven years, and he died.

Moses 8:12

Moses 8:20

And it came to pass that Noah called upon the children of men that they should repent; but they hearkened not unto his words;

Moses 8:21

And also, after that they had heard him, they came up before him, saying: Behold, we are the sons of God; have we not taken unto ourselves the daughters of men? And are we not eating and drinking, and marrying and giving in marriage? And our wives bear unto us children, and the same are mighty men, which are like unto men of old, men of great renown. And they hearkened not unto the words of Noah.

Moses 8:22

And God saw that the wickedness of men had become great in the earth; and every man was lifted up in the imagination of the thoughts of his heart, being only evil continually.

Moses 8:23

And it came to pass that Noah continued his preaching unto the people, saying: Hearken, and give heed unto my words;

Moses 8:24

Believe and repent of your sins and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, even as our fathers, and ye shall receive the Holy Ghost, that ye may have all things made manifest; and if ye do not this, the floods will come in upon you; nevertheless they hearkened not.

And the Lord said: I will destroy man whom I have created, from the face of the earth, both man and beast, and the creeping things, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth Noah that I have created them, and that I have made them; and he hath called upon me; for they have sought his life.

Moses 8:27

And thus Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord; for Noah was a just man, and perfect in his generation; and he walked with God, as did also his three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

Abraham

Abraham 1

Abraham 1:1

IN the land of the Chaldeans, at the residence of my fathers, I, Abraham, saw that it was needful for me to obtain another place of residence;

Abraham 1:2

And, finding there was greater happiness and peace and rest for me, I sought for the blessings of the fathers, and the right whereunto I should be ordained to administer the same; having been myself a follower of righteousness, desiring also to be one who possessed great knowledge, and to be a greater follower of righteousness, and to possess a greater knowledge, and to be a father of many nations, a prince of peace, and desiring to receive instructions, and to keep the commandments of God, I became a rightful heir, a High Priest, holding the right belonging to the fathers.

Abraham 1:3

It was conferred upon me from the fathers; it came down from the fathers, from the beginning of time, yea, even from the beginning, or before the foundation of the earth, down to the present time, even the right of the firstborn, or the first man, who is Adam, or first father, through the fathers unto me.

Abraham 1:4

I sought for mine appointment unto the Priesthood according to the appointment of God unto the fathers concerning the seed.

Abraham 1:5

My fathers having turned from their righteousness, and from the holy commandments which the Lord their God had given unto them, unto the worshiping of the gods of the heathen, utterly refused to hearken to my voice;

Abraham 1:6

For their hearts were set to do evil, and were wholly turned to the god of Elkenah, and the god of Libnah, and the god of Mahmackrah, and the god of Korash, and the god of Pharaoh, king of Egypt;

Abraham 1:7

Therefore they turned their hearts to the sacrifice of the heathen in offering up their children unto these dumb idols, and hearkened not unto my voice, but endeavored to take away my life by the hand of the priest of Elkenah. The priest of Elkenah was also the priest of Pharaoh.

Abraham 1:8

Now, at this time it was the custom of the priest of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, to offer up upon the altar which was built in the land of Chaldea, for the offering unto these strange gods, men, women, and children.

Abraham 1:9

And it came to pass that the priest made an offering unto the god of Pharaoh, and also unto the god of Shagreel, even after the manner of the Egyptians. Now the god of Shagreel was the sun.

Abraham 1:10

Even the thank-offering of a child did the priest of Pharaoh offer upon the altar which stood by the hill called Potiphar's Hill, at the head of the plain of Olishem.

Abraham 1:11

Now, this priest had offered upon this altar three virgins at one time, who were the daughters of Onitah, one of the royal descent directly from the loins of Ham. These virgins were offered up because of their virtue; they would not bow down to worship gods of wood or of stone, therefore they were killed upon this altar, and it was done after the manner of the Egyptians.

Abraham 1:12

And it came to pass that the priests laid violence upon me, that they might slay me also, as they did those virgins upon this altar; and that you may have a knowledge of this altar, I will refer you to the representation at the commencement of this record.

Abraham 1:13

It was made after the form of a bedstead, such as was had among the Chaldeans, and it stood before the gods of Elkenah, Libnah, Mahmackrah, Korash, and also a god like unto that of Pharaoh, king of Egypt.

Abraham 1:14

That you may have an understanding of these gods, I have given you the fashion of them in the figures at the beginning, which manner of figures is called by the Chaldeans Rahleenos, which signifies hieroglyphics.

Abraham 1:15

And as they lifted up their hands upon me, that they might offer me up and take away my life, behold, I lifted up my voice unto the Lord my God, and the Lord hearkened and heard, and he filled me with the vision of the Almighty, and the angel of his presence stood by me, and immediately unloosed my bands;

Abraham 1:16

And his voice was unto me: Abraham, Abraham, behold, my name is Jehovah, and I have heard thee, and have come down to deliver thee, and to take thee away from thy father's house, and from all thy kinsfolk, into a strange land which thou knowest not of;

Abraham 1:17

And this because they have turned their hearts away from me, to worship the god of Elkenah, and the god of Libnah, and the god of Mahmackrah, and the god of Korash, and the god of Pharaoh, king of Egypt; therefore I have come down to visit them, and to destroy him who hath lifted up his hand against thee, Abraham, my son, to take away thy life.

Abraham 1:18

Behold, I will lead thee by my hand, and I will take thee, to put upon thee my name, even the Priesthood of thy father, and my power shall be over thee.

Abraham 1:19

As it was with Noah so shall it be with thee; but through thy ministry my name shall be known in the earth forever, for I am thy God.

Abraham 1:20

Behold, Potiphar's Hill was in the land of Ur, of Chaldea. And the Lord broke down the altar of Elkenah, and of the gods of the land, and utterly destroyed them, and smote the priest that he died; and there was great mourning in Chaldea, and also in the court of Pharaoh; which Pharaoh signifies king by royal blood.

Abraham 1:21

Now this king of Egypt was a descendant from the loins of Ham, and was a partaker of the blood of the Canaanites by birth.

Abraham 1:22

From this descent sprang all the Egyptians, and thus the blood of the Canaanites was preserved in the land.

Abraham 1:23

The land of Egypt being first discovered by a woman, who was the daughter of Ham, and the daughter of Egyptus, which in the Chaldean signifies Egypt, which signifies that which is forbidden;

Abraham 1:24

When this woman discovered the land it was under water, who afterward settled her sons in it; and thus, from Ham, sprang that race which preserved the curse in the land.

Abraham 1:25

Now the first government of Egypt was established by Pharaoh, the eldest son of Egyptus, the daughter of Ham, and it was after the manner of the government of Ham, which was patriarchal.

Abraham 1:26

Pharaoh, being a righteous man, established his kingdom and judged his people wisely and justly all his days, seeking earnestly to imitate that order established by the fathers in the first generations, in the days of the first patriarchal reign, even in the reign of Adam, and also of Noah, his father, who blessed him with the blessings of the earth, and with the blessings of wisdom, but cursed him as pertaining to the Priesthood.

Abraham 1:27

Now, Pharaoh being of that lineage by which he could not have the right of Priesthood, notwithstanding the Pharaohs would fain claim it from Noah, through Ham, therefore my father was led away by their idolatry;

Abraham 1:28

But I shall endeavor, hereafter, to delineate the chronology running back from myself to the beginning of the creation, for the records have come into my hands, which I hold unto this present time.

Abraham 1:29

Now, after the priest of Elkenah was smitten that he died, there came a fulfilment of those things which were said unto me concerning the land of Chaldea, that there should be a famine in the land.

Abraham 1:30

Accordingly a famine prevailed throughout all the land of Chaldea, and my father was sorely tormented because of the famine, and he repented of the evil which he had determined against me, to take away my life.

Abraham 1:31

But the records of the fathers, even the patriarchs, concerning the right of Priesthood, the Lord my God preserved in mine own hands; therefore a knowledge of the beginning of the creation, and also of the planets, and of the stars, as they were made known unto the fathers, have I kept even unto this day, and I shall endeavor to write some of these things upon this record, for the benefit of my posterity that shall come after me.

Abraham 2

Abraham 2:1

NOW the Lord God caused the famine to wax sore in the land of Ur, insomuch that Haran, my brother, died; but Terah, my father, yet lived in the land of Ur, of the Chaldees.

Abraham 2:2

And it came to pass that I, Abraham, took Sarai to wife, and Nahor, my brother, took Milcah to wife, who was the daughter of Haran.

Abraham 2:3

Now the Lord had said unto me: Abraham, get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee.

Abraham 2:4

Therefore I left the land of Ur, of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan; and I took Lot, my brother's son, and his wife, and Sarai my wife; and also my father followed after me, unto the land which we denominated Haran.

Abraham 2:5

And the famine abated; and my father tarried in Haran and dwelt there, as there were many flocks in Haran; and my father turned again unto his idolatry, therefore he continued in Haran.

Abraham 2:6

But I, Abraham, and Lot, my brother's son, prayed unto the Lord, and the Lord appeared unto me, and said unto me: Arise, and take Lot with thee; for I have purposed to take thee away out of Haran, and to make of thee a minister to bear my name in a strange land which I will give unto thy seed after thee for an everlasting possession, when they hearken to my voice.

Abraham 2:7

For I am the Lord thy God; I dwell in heaven; the earth is my footstool; I stretch my hand over the sea, and it obeys my voice; I cause the wind and the fire to be my chariot; I say to the mountains—Depart hence—and behold, they are taken away by a whirlwind, in an instant, suddenly.

Abraham 2:8

My name is Jehovah, and I know the end from the beginning; therefore my hand shall be over thee.

Abraham 2:9

And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee above measure, and make thy name great among all nations, and thou shalt be a blessing unto thy seed after thee, that in their hands they shall bear this ministry and Priesthood unto all nations;

Abraham 2:10

And I will bless them through thy name; for as many as receive this Gospel shall be called after thy name, and shall be accounted thy seed, and shall rise up and bless thee, as their father;

Abraham 2:11

And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse them that curse thee; and in thee (that is, in thy Priesthood) and in thy seed (that is, thy Priesthood), for I give unto thee a promise that this right shall continue in thee, and in thy seed after thee (that is to say, the literal seed, or the seed of the body) shall all the families of the earth be blessed, even with the blessings of the Gospel, which are the blessings of salvation, even of life eternal.

Abraham 2:12

Now, after the Lord had withdrawn from speaking to me, and withdrawn his face from me, I said in my heart: Thy servant has sought thee earnestly; now I have found thee;

Abraham 2:13

Thou didst send thine angel to deliver me from the gods of Elkenah, and I will do well to hearken unto thy voice, therefore let thy servant rise up and depart in peace.

Abraham 2:14

So I, Abraham, departed as the Lord had said unto me, and Lot with me; and I, Abraham, was sixty and two years old when I departed out of Haran.

Abraham 2:15

And I took Sarai, whom I took to wife when I was in Ur, in Chaldea, and Lot, my brother's son, and all our substance that we had gathered, and the souls that we had won in Haran, and came forth in the way to the land of Canaan, and dwelt in tents as we came on our way;

Abraham 2:16

Therefore, eternity was our covering and our rock and our salvation, as we journeyed from Haran by the way of Jershon, to come to the land of Canaan.

Abraham 2:17

Now I, Abraham, built an altar in the land of Jershon, and made an offering unto the Lord, and prayed that the famine might be turned away from my father's house, that they might not perish.

Abraham 2:18

And then we passed from Jershon through the land unto the place of Sechem; it was situated in the plains of Moreh, and we had already come into the borders of the land of the Canaanites, and I offered sacrifice there in the plains of Moreh, and called on the Lord devoutly, because we had already come into the land of this idolatrous nation.

Abraham 2:19

And the Lord appeared unto me in answer to my prayers, and said unto me: Unto thy seed will I give this land.

Abraham 2:20

And I, Abraham, arose from the place of the altar which I had built unto the Lord, and removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Bethel, and pitched my tent there, Bethel on the west, and Hai on the east; and there I built another altar unto the Lord, and called again upon the name of the Lord.

Abraham 2:21

And I, Abraham, journeyed, going on still towards the south; and there was a continuation of a famine in the land; and I, Abraham, concluded to go down into Egypt, to sojourn there, for the famine became very grievous.

Abraham 2:22

And it came to pass when I was come near to enter into Egypt, the Lord said unto me: Behold, Sarai, thy wife, is a very fair woman to look upon;

Abraham 2:23

Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Egyptians shall see her, they will say—She is his wife; and they will kill you, but they will save her alive; therefore see that ye do on this wise:

Abraham 2:24

Let her say unto the Egyptians, she is thy sister, and thy soul shall live.

Abraham 2:25

And it came to pass that I, Abraham, told Sarai, my wife, all that the Lord had said unto me—Therefore say unto them, I pray thee, thou art my sister, that it may be well with me for thy sake, and my soul shall live because of thee.

Abraham 3

Abraham 3:1

AND I, Abraham, had the Urim and Thummim, which the Lord my God had given unto me, in Ur of the Chaldees;

Abraham 3:2

And I saw the stars, that they were very great, and that one of them was nearest unto the throne of God; and there were many great ones which were near unto it;

Abraham 3:3

And the Lord said unto me: These are the governing ones; and the name of the great one is Kolob, because it is near unto me, for I am the Lord thy God: I have set this one to govern all those which belong to the same order as that upon which thou standest.

Abraham 3:4

And the Lord said unto me, by the Urim and Thummim, that Kolob was after the manner of the Lord, according to its times and seasons in the revolutions thereof; that one revolution was a day unto the Lord, after his manner of reckoning, it being one thousand years according to the time appointed unto that whereon thou standest. This is the reckoning of the Lord's time, according to the reckoning of Kolob.

Abraham 3:5

And the Lord said unto me: The planet which is the lesser light, lesser than that which is to rule the day, even the night, is above or greater than that upon which thou standest in point of reckoning, for it moveth in order more slow; this is in order because it standeth above the earth upon which thou standest, therefore the reckoning of its time is not so many as to its number of days, and of months, and of years.

Abraham 3:6

And the Lord said unto me: Now, Abraham, these two facts exist, behold thine eyes see it; it is given unto thee to know the times of reckoning, and the set time, yea, the set time of the earth upon which thou standest, and the set time of the greater light which is set to rule the day, and the set time of the lesser light which is set to rule the night.

Abraham 3:7

Now the set time of the lesser light is a longer time as to its reckoning than the reckoning of the time of the earth upon which thou standest.

Abraham 3:8

And where these two facts exist, there shall be another fact above them, that is, there shall be another planet whose reckoning of time shall be longer still;

Abraham 3:9

And thus there shall be the reckoning of the time of one planet above another, until thou come nigh unto Kolob, which Kolob is after the reckoning of the Lord's time; which Kolob is set nigh unto the throne of God, to govern all those planets which belong to the same order as that upon which thou standest.

Abraham 3:10

And it is given unto thee to know the set time of all the stars that are set to give light, until thou come near unto the throne of God.

Abraham 3:11

Thus I, Abraham, talked with the Lord, face to face, as one man talketh with another; and he told me of the works which his hands had made;

Abraham 3:12

And he said unto me: My son, my son (and his hand was stretched out), behold I will show you all these. And he put his hand upon mine eyes, and I saw those things which his hands had made, which were many; and they multiplied before mine eyes, and I could not see the end thereof.

Abraham 3:13

And he said unto me: This is Shinehah,¹ which is the sun. And he said unto me: Kokob, which is star. And he said unto me: Olea, which is the moon. And he said unto me: Kokaubeam, which signifies stars, or all the great lights, which were in the firmament of heaven.

Abraham 3:14

And it was in the night time when the Lord spake these words unto me: I will multiply thee, and thy seed after thee, like unto these; and if thou canst count the number of sands, so shall be the number of thy seeds.

Abraham 3:15

And the Lord said unto me: Abraham, I show these things unto thee before ye go into Egypt, that ye may declare all these words.

Abraham 3:16

If two things exist, and there be one above the other, there shall be greater things above them; therefore Kolob is the greatest of all the Kokaubeam that thou hast seen, because it is nearest unto me.

Abraham 3:17

Now, if there be two things, one above the other, and the moon be above the earth, then it may be that a planet or a star may exist above it; and there is nothing that the Lord thy God shall take in his heart to do but what he will do it.

¹For this term and "Olea," see DC 117:8.

Abraham 3:18

Howbeit that he made the greater star; as, also, if there be two spirits, and one shall be more intelligent than the other, yet these two spirits, notwithstanding one is more intelligent than the other, have no beginning; they existed before, they shall have no end, they shall exist after, for they are gnolaum, or eternal.

Abraham 3:19

And the Lord said unto me: These two facts do exist, that there are two spirits, one being more intelligent than the other; there shall be another more intelligent than they; I am the Lord thy God, I am more intelligent than they all.

Abraham 3:20

The Lord thy God sent his angel to deliver thee from the hands of the priest of Elkenah.

Abraham 3:21

I dwell in the midst of them all; I now, therefore, have come down unto thee to declare unto thee the works which my hands have made, wherein my wisdom excelleth them all, for I rule in the heavens above, and in the earth beneath, in all wisdom and prudence, over all the intelligences thine eyes have seen from the beginning; I came down in the beginning in the midst of all the intelligences thou hast seen.

Abraham 3:22

Now the Lord had shown unto me, Abraham, the intelligences that were organized¹ before the world was; and among all these there were many of the noble and great ones;

Abraham 3:23

And God saw these souls that they were good, and he stood in the midst of them, and he said: These I will make my rulers; for he stood among those that were spirits, and he saw that they were good; and he said unto me: Abraham, thou art one of them; thou wast chosen before thou wast born.

Abraham 3:24

And there stood one among them that was like unto God, and he said unto those who were with him: We will go down, for there is space there, and we will take of these materials, and we will make an earth whereon these may dwell;

Abraham 3:25

And we will prove them herewith, to see if they will do all things whatsoever the Lord their God shall command them;

Abraham 3:26

And they who keep their first estate shall be added upon; and they who keep not their first estate shall not have glory in the same kingdom with those who keep their first estate; and they who keep their second estate shall have glory added upon their heads for ever and ever.

¹Note that some believe this “organization” refers to an act of creating the intelligences; the idea of a “spiritual creation” (around Moses 3:5 and DC 29:31–32) may bolster this belief. I think it means “arranged” here, though, or something like that. See DC 88:74,

Abraham 3:27

And the Lord said: Whom shall I send? And one answered like unto the Son of Man: Here am I, send me. And another answered and said: Here am I, send me. And the Lord said: I will send the first.

Abraham 3:28

And the second was angry, and kept not his first estate; and, at that day, many followed after him.

Abraham 4

Abraham 4:1

AND then the Lord said: Let us go down. And they went down at the beginning, and they, that is the Gods, organized and formed the heavens and the earth.

Abraham 4:2

And the earth, after it was formed, was empty and desolate, because they had not formed anything but the earth; and darkness reigned upon the face of the deep, and the Spirit of the Gods was brooding upon the face of the waters.

Abraham 4:3

And they (the Gods) said: Let there be light; and there was light.

Abraham 4:4

And they (the Gods) comprehended the light, for it was bright; and they divided the light, or caused it to be divided, from the darkness.

Abraham 4:5

And the Gods called the light Day, and the darkness they called Night. And it came to pass that from the evening until morning they called night; and from the morning until the evening they called day; and this was the first, or the beginning, of that which they called day and night.

Abraham 4:6

And the Gods also said: Let there be an expanse in the midst of the waters, and it shall divide the waters from the waters.

Abraham 4:7

And the Gods ordered the expanse, so that it divided the waters which were under the expanse from the waters which were above the expanse; and it was so, even as they ordered.

Abraham 4:8

And the Gods called the expanse, Heaven. And it came to pass that it was from evening until morning that they called night; and it came to pass that it was from morning until evening that they called day; and this was the second time that they called night and day.

Abraham 4:9

And the Gods ordered, saying: Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the earth come up dry; and it was so as they ordered;

Abraham 4:10

And the Gods pronounced the dry land, Earth; and the gathering together of the waters, pronounced they, Great Waters; and the Gods saw that they were obeyed.

Abraham 4:11

And the Gods said: Let us prepare the earth to bring forth grass; the herb yielding seed; the fruit tree yielding fruit, after his kind, whose seed in itself yieldeth its own likeness upon the earth; and it was so, even as they ordered.

Abraham 4:12

And the Gods organized the earth to bring forth grass from its own seed, and the herb to bring forth herb from its own seed, yielding seed after his kind; and the earth to bring forth the tree from its own seed, yielding fruit, whose seed could only bring forth the same in itself, after his kind; and the Gods saw that they were obeyed.

Abraham 4:13

And it came to pass that they numbered the days; from the evening until the morning they called night; and it came to pass, from the morning until the evening they called day; and it was the third time.

Abraham 4:14

And the Gods organized the lights in the expanse of the heaven, and caused them to divide the day from the night; and organized them to be for signs and for seasons, and for days and for years;

Abraham 4:15

And organized them to be for lights in the expanse of the heaven to give light upon the earth; and it was so.

Abraham 4:16

And the Gods organized the two great lights, the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; with the lesser light they set the stars also;

Abraham 4:17

And the Gods set them in the expanse of the heavens, to give light upon the earth, and to rule over the day and over the night, and to cause to divide the light from the darkness.

Abraham 4:18

And the Gods watched those things which they had ordered until they obeyed.

Abraham 4:19

And it came to pass that it was from evening until morning that it was night; and it came to pass that it was from morning until evening that it was day; and it was the fourth time.

Abraham 4:20

And the Gods said: Let us prepare the waters to bring forth abundantly the moving creatures that have life; and the fowl, that they may fly above the earth in the open expanse of heaven.

Abraham 4:21

And the Gods prepared the waters that they might bring forth great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters were to bring forth abundantly after their kind; and every winged fowl after their kind. And the Gods saw that they would be obeyed, and that their plan was good.

Abraham 4:22

And the Gods said: We will bless them, and cause them to be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas or great waters; and cause the fowl to multiply in the earth.

Abraham 4:23

And it came to pass that it was from evening until morning that they called night; and it came to pass that it was from morning until evening that they called day; and it was the fifth time.

Abraham 4:24

And the Gods prepared the earth to bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle and creeping things, and beasts of the earth after their kind; and it was so, as they had said.

Abraham 4:25

And the Gods organized the earth to bring forth the beasts after their kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after its kind; and the Gods saw they would obey.

Abraham 4:26

And the Gods took counsel among themselves and said: Let us go down and form man in our image, after our likeness; and we will give them dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

Abraham 4:27

So the Gods went down to organize man in their own image, in the image of the Gods to form they him, male and female to form they them.

Abraham 4:28

And the Gods said: We will bless them. And the Gods said: We will cause them to be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it, and to have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

Abraham 4:29

And the Gods said: Behold, we will give them every herb bearing seed that shall come upon the face of all the earth, and every tree which shall have fruit upon it; yea, the fruit of the tree yielding seed to them we will give it; it shall be for their meat.

Abraham 4:30

And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, behold, we will give them life, and also we will give to them every green herb for meat, and all these things shall be thus organized.

Abraham 4:31

And the Gods said: We will do everything that we have said, and organize them; and behold, they shall be very obedient. And it came to pass that it was from evening until morning they called night; and it came to pass that it was from morning until evening that they called day; and they numbered the sixth time.

Abraham 5

Abraham 5:1

AND thus we will finish the heavens and the earth, and all the hosts of them.

Abraham 5:2

And the Gods said among themselves: On the seventh time we will end our work, which we have counseled; and we will rest on the seventh time from all our work which we have counseled.

Abraham 5:3

And the Gods concluded upon the seventh time, because that on the seventh time they would rest from all their works which they (the Gods) counseled among themselves to form; and sanctified it. And thus were their decisions at the time that they counseled among themselves to form the heavens and the earth.

Abraham 5:4

And the Gods came down and formed these the generations of the heavens and of the earth, when they were formed in the day that the Gods formed the earth and the heavens,

Abraham 5:5

According to all that which they had said concerning every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew; for the Gods had not caused it to rain upon the earth when they counseled to do them, and had not formed a man to till the ground.

Abraham 5:6

But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

Abraham 5:7

And the Gods formed man from the dust of the ground, and took his spirit (that is, the man's spirit), and put it into him; and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul.

Abraham 5:8

And the Gods planted a garden, eastward in Eden, and there they put the man, whose spirit they had put into the body which they had formed.

Abraham 5:9

And out of the ground made the Gods to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food; the tree of life, also, in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

Abraham 5:10

There was a river running out of Eden, to water the garden, and from thence it was parted and became into four heads.

Abraham 5:11

And the Gods took the man and put him in the Garden of Eden, to dress it and to keep it.

Abraham 5:12

And the Gods commanded the man, saying: Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat,

Abraham 5:13

But of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it; for in the time that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die. Now I, Abraham, saw that it was after the Lord's time, which was after the time of Kolob; for as yet the Gods had not appointed unto Adam his reckoning.

Abraham 5:14

And the Gods said: Let us make an help meet for the man, for it is not good that the man should be alone, therefore we will form an help meet for him.

Abraham 5:15

And the Gods caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam; and he slept, and they took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh in the stead thereof;

Abraham 5:16

And of the rib which the Gods had taken from man, formed they a woman, and brought her unto the man.

Abraham 5:17

And Adam said: This was bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh; now she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of man;

Abraham 5:18

Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife, and they shall be one flesh.

Abraham 5:19

And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

Abraham 5:20

And out of the ground the Gods formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air, and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them; and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that should be the name thereof.

Abraham 5:21

And Adam gave names to all cattle, to the fowl of the air, to every beast of the field; and for Adam, there was found an help meet for him.

Article of Faith 5

We believe that a man must be called of God, by prophecy, and by the laying on of hands by those who are in authority, to preach the Gospel and administer in the ordinances thereof.

¹See DC 68:25; a 16 May 1841 discourse; a 22 January 1843 discourse;

Article of Faith 11

We claim the privilege of worshiping Almighty God according to the dictates of our own conscience, and allow all men the same privilege, let them worship how, where, or what they may.

Article of Faith 12

We believe in being subject to kings, presidents, rulers, and magistrates, in obeying, honoring, and sustaining the law.

Article of Faith 13

¹We believe in being honest, true, chaste, benevolent, virtuous, and in doing good to all men; indeed, we may say that we follow the admonition of Paul—We believe all things, we hope all things, we have endured many things, and hope to be able to endure all things. If there is anything virtuous, lovely, or of good report or praiseworthy, we seek after these things.

Old Testament Revision 1

OTR1 Genesis

OTR1 Moses 1

A Revelation given to Joseph the Revelator June 1830

The words of God which he gave <spake> unto Moses at a time when Moses was caught up into an exceeding high Mountain & he saw God face to face & he talked with him & the glory of God was upon Moses therefore Moses could endure his presence & God spake unto Moses saying Behold I I am the Lord God Almighty & endless is my name for I am without beginning of days or end of years & is this not endless & behold thou art my Son Wherefore look & I will shew thee the workmanship of mine hands but not all for my works are without end & also my wo[r]ds for they never cease wherefore no man can behold all my works except he behold <all> my glory & no man can behold all my glory & afterwards remain in the flesh & I have a work for thee Moses my Son & thou art in similitude to my <mine> only begotten & mine only begotten is & shall be for he is full of grace & truth bu[t] there is none other God beside me & all things are present with me for I know them all And now behold this one thing I shew unto thee Moses my son for thou art in the world & now I shew it thee And it came to pass that Moses looked & beheld the world upon which he was created & [as] Moses beheld the world & the ends thereof & all the Children of men which was & which was created of the same he greatly marvelled & wondered & the presence of God withdrew from Moses that his glory was not upon Moses & Moses was left unto himself & as he was left unto himself he fell unto the Earth, And it came to pass, that it was for the space of many hours before Moses did again receive his natural strength [lik]e unto man, & he saith unto himself ñ Now for this once I know that [m]an is nothing, which thing I never had supposed, but now mine eyes, mine own eyes but not mine eyes for mine eyes could not have beheld for I should have withered & died in his presence but his glory was upon me & I beheld his face for I was transfigured before him And now it came to pass that when Moses had said these words, behold, Satan came tempting him saying, Moses, Son of man, worship me, And it came to pass that Moses looked upon Satan & saith, Who art thou for behold, I am a Son of God in the similitude of his only begotten, & where is thy glory that I should worship thee, for, behold, I could not look upon God except his glory should come upon me, & I were transfigured before him but I can look upon thee in the natural man, if not so surely blessed be the name of my God for his Spirit hath not altogether withdrawn from m[e] or else where is thy glory for it is blackness unto me & I can Judge between thee & God for God said unto me Worship God for him only shalt thou serve Get thee hence Satan deceive me not for God said unto me Thou art after the similitude of mine only begotten & he also gave unto me commandment when he called unto me out of the burning bush Saying [c]all upon God in the name of mine only begotten & worship me And again Moses saith I will not cease to call upon God I have other things to inquire of him for his glory has been upon me & it is glory unto me wherefore I can judge betwixt him & thee depart hence Satan And now when Mose[s] had said these words Satan cried with a loud [voice &] went upon the Ear[th] & comma[n]ded saying I am the only begotten worship me And it came to pass that Moses began to fear exceedingly & as he began to fear he saw the bitterness of Hell Nevertheless calling upon God he received strength & he commanded saying Depart hence Satan for this one God only will I worship which is the God of glory & now Satan began to tremble & the Earth shook & Moses receiving strength called upon God saying In the name of Jesus Christ depart hence Satan And it came to pass that satan cried with a loud voice with weeping & wailing & gnashing of teeth & departed hence yea from the presence of Moses that he beheld him not And now of this thing Moses bore record but because of wickedness it is not had among the children of men And it came to pass that when Satan had departed from the presence of Moses he lifted up his eyes unto Heaven being filled with the Holy Ghost which beareth record of the Father & the Son & calling upon the name of God he beheld again his glory for it was upon him & he heard a voice saying Blessed art thou Moses for I the Almighty have chosen thee & thou shalt be made stronger than the many waters for they shall obey thy command even as if thou wert God & lo I am with you even to the end of thy days for thou shalt deliver my people from bondage even Israel my chose[n] And it came to pass as the voice was still speaking he cast his eyes & beheld the Earth yea even all the face of it & there was not a particl[e] of it which he did not behold discerning it by the Spirit of God & he beheld also the inhabitants thereof & there was not a soul which he be[h]eld not & he discerned them by the Spirit of God & their numbers were grea[t] even as numberless as the sand upon the sea shore & he beheld many lands & each land was called Earth & there were inhabitants upon the face there of And it came to pass that Moses called upon God saying tell me I pray thee why these things are so & by what thou madest them & behold the glory of God was upon Moses that Moses stood in the presence of God & he talk[ed] with him face to face & the Lord God said unto Moses For mine own purpose have I made these things here is wisdom & it remaineth in me & by the word of my power have I created them which is mine only begotten Son full of grace & truth & worlds without number have I created & I also created them for mine own purpose & by the same I created them which is mine only begotten & the first man of all men have I called Adam which is many but only an account of this Earth & the inhabitants thereof give I unto you for behold there are many worlds which have passed away by the word of my power & there are many also which now stand & numberless are they unto man bu[t] all things are numbered unto me for they are mine & I know them And it came to pass that Moses spake unto the Lord saying Be merciful [u]nto thy servant O God & tell me concerning this Earth & the inhabitan[ts] [th]ereof & also the H[eavens] & then thy servant will be content

And the Lord God spake unto Moses saying The Heavens there are many & they cannot be numbered unto man but they are numbered unto me for they are mine & as one Earth shall pass away & the Heavens thereof even so shall another come And there is no end to my works neither my words for behold this is my work to my glory to the immortality & the eternal life of man And now Moses my Son I will speak unto you concerning this Earth upon which thou standest & thou shalt write the things which I shall speak & in a day when the children of men shall esteem my words as naught & take many of them from the Book which thou shalt write behold I will raise up another like unto thee thee & they shall be had again among the Children of men among even as many as shall believe These words was spoken unto Moses in the mount the name of which shall not be known among the Children of men And now they are also spoken unto you shew them not unto any except them that believe <Amen>

A Revelation given to the Elders of the Church of Christ On the first Book of Moses given to Joseph the Seer

OTR1 Genesis 1

Chapter first

And it came to pass that the Lord spake unto Moses saying Behold I reveal unto you concerning this Heaven & this Earth write the words which I speak I am the beginning & the end the Almighty God by mine only begotten I created these things yea in the beginning I created the Heaven & the Earth upon which thou standest & the Earth was without form & void & I caused darkness to come up upon the face of the deep & my Spirit moved upon the face of the waters for I am God & I God said Let there be light & there was light & I God saw the light & the light was good & I God divided the light from the darkness & I God called the light day & the darkness I called night & this I done by the Word of my power & it was done as I spake & the evening & the morning were the first day And again I God said let there be a firmament in the midst <midst> of the waters & it was so even as I spake And I said Let it divide the waters from the waters & it was done & I God made the firmament & divide[d] the waters yea the great waters under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament & it was so even as I spake And I God called the firmament Heaven & the evening & the morning were the second day And I God said Let the waters under the Heaven be gathered together unto one place & it was so & I God said Let there be dry land [&] it was so & I God called the dry land Earth & the gathering together <of> the waters called I <the> Seas & I God saw that all things which I had made were good & I God said Let the Earth bring forth grass the herb yielding seed the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind & the tree yielding fruit whose seed should be in itself after upon the Earth & it was so even as I spake & the Earth brought forth grass every herb yielding seed after his kind & the tree yielding fruit whose seed should be in itself after it[s] kind— ◊

And I God saw that all things which I had made were good & the evening & the morning were the third day And I God said Let there be lights in the firmament of the Heaven to divide the day from the night & let them be for signs & for seasons & for days & for years & let them be for lights in the firmament of the Heaven to give light upon the Earth & it was so & I God made two great lights the greater light to rule the day & the lesser light to rule the night & the greater light was the Sun & the lesser light was the moon & the stars also was made even according to my word & I God set them in the firmament of the Heaven to give light upon the Earth & the Sun to rule over the day & the moon to rule over the night & to divide the light from the darkness & I God saw that all things which I made were good & the evening & the morning were the fourth day & I God said Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moveing creature that hath life & fowl which may fly above the Earth in the open firmament of Heaven & I God created great whales & every living creature that moveth which the waters brought forth abundantly after their kind & every winged fowl after his kind & <I> God saw that all things which I had created were good & I God blessed them saying be fruitful & multiply & fill the waters in the Seas & let fowl multiply in the Earth & the evening & the morning were the fifth day & I God said Let the Earth bring forth the living creature after his kind cattle & creeping thing & beast <of the eart[h]> after his kind & it was so & I God made the beast of the Earth after his kind & cattle after their kind & every thing which creepeth upon the Earth after his kind & I God saw that all these things were good & I God said unto mine only begotten which was with me from the beginning Let us make man in our image after our likeness & it was so & I God said Let them have dominion over the fish of the Sea & over the fowl of the air & over the cattle & over all the Earth & over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the Earth So I God created man in mine own image in the image of mine only begotten created I him male & feemale created I them & I God blessed them & I God said unto them Be fruitful & multiply & replenish the Earth & subdue it & have dominion over the fish of the Sea & over the fowl of the air & over every living thing that moveth upon the Earth & I God said unto man Behold I have given you every herb bearing seed which is upon the face of all the Earth & every tree in the which shall be the fruit of a tree yielding seed to you it shall be for meat & to every beast of the Earth & to every fowl of the air & to every thing that creepeth upon the Earth wherein I grant life there shall be given every clean herb for meat & it was so even as I spake & I God saw every thing that I had made & behold all things which I had made were ~~very~~ <very> good & the evening & the morning were the sixth day——

OTR1 Genesis 2

Thus the Heaven & the Earth were finished & all the host of them & on the seventh day I God ended my work & all things which I had made & I rested on the seventh day from all my work & all things which I had made were finished & I saw that they were good & I God blessed the seventh day & sanctified it because that in it I had rested from all my work which I God had created & made And now behold I say unto you that these are the generations of the Heaven & of the Earth when they were created in the day that I the Lord God made the Heaven & the Earth & every plant of the field before it was in the Earth & every herb of the field before it grew for I the Lord God created all things of which I have spoken spiritually before they were naturally upon the face of the Earth for I the Lord God had not caused it to rain upon the face of the earth & I the Lord God had created all the children of men & not yet a man to till the ground for in Heaven created I them & there was not yet flesh upon the Earth neither in the water neither in the air but I the Lord God spake & there went up a mist from the Earth & watered the whole face of the ground & I the Lord God formed Man from the dust of the ground & breathed into his nostrils the breath of life & man became a living soul the first flesh upon the Earth the first man also nevertheless all things were before created but spiritually were they created [&] made according to my word & I the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden & there I put them man whom I had formed & out of the ground made I the Lord God to grow every tree naturally that is pleasant to the sight of man & man could behold it & they became also a living soul for it was ~~spirituall~~ spiritual in the day that I created it for it remaineth in the sphere which I created it yea even all things which I prepared for the use of man & man saw that it was good for food & I the Lord God placed the tree of life also in the midst of the garden & also the tree of knowledge of good & evil & a River went out of Eden to water the garden & from thence it was parted & became into four heads & I the Lord God called the name of the <first> Pison & it compasseth the whole land of Havilah where there were created much gold & the gold of that land was good & there was bdellium & the Onyx stone & the name of the second River was called Gihon the same was it that compasseth the whole land of Ethiopia & the name of the third River was Hiddekel that was it which goeth towards the east of Assyria & the fourth River was Euphrates & I the Lord God took the man & put him into the garden of Eden & to dress it & to keep it & I the Lord God commanded the man saying Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat but of the tree of the knowledge of good & evil thou shalt not eat of it nevertheless thou mayest chose for thyself for it is given unto thee but remember that I forbid it for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die And I the Lord God said unto mine only begotten that it was not good that the man should be alone Wherefore I will mak[e] a help meet for him & out of the ground I the Lord God formed every beast of the field & every fowl of the air & commanded that they should be brought unto Adam to see what he would call them & they were also living souls & it was breathed into them the breath of life & whatsoever Adam called every living creature that was the name thereof & Adam gave names to all cattle & to the fowl of the air & to every beast of the field but for Adam there was not found a help meet for him & I the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam & he slept & I took one of his ribs & closed up the flesh in the stead thereof & the rib which I the Lord God had taken from man made I a woman & brought her unto the man & Adam said this I know now is bone of my bones & flesh of my flesh she shall be called woman because she was taken out of man therefore shall a man leave his father & his mother & shall cleave unto his wife & they shall be one flesh & they were both naked the ma[n] & his wife & were not ashamed.

¹Speaking about people who exercised great faith, Hebrews 11:33–34 tell about those “Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.”

²Christ is also described as being “a man approved of God” in Acts 2:22.

³I think the antecedent of this pronoun is “order,” rather than “covenant.”

⁴Compare Moses 5:58 but especially Moses 6:51. See also DC 107:45;

⁵Notice the “having sworn,” “being ordained,” “having this faith,” “coming up unto,” and other gerund constructions here—very similar to the many weird gerunds in Alma 13:3–9.

Commentary on the “sons of Levi” in Malachi 3:3

Levi himself had three sons: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari (Genesis 46:11, Exodus 6:16). Gershon had two sons, Libni and Shimi (Exodus 6:17) and Merari had two, Mahali and Mushi (Exodus 6:19). Kohath had four sons: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel (Exodus 6:18). Then “Amram took him Jochebed his father’s sister to wife; and she bare him Aaron and Moses” (Exodus 6:20). Going through the generations by the fathers (1 Chronicles 6), then, you get:

So Moses and Aaron are brothers, and they are the great-grandsons of Levi (though through their mother’s side they skip a generation, because Amram’s wife was Levi’s daughter). All the descendants of Levi had special responsibilities over the tabernacle and all its implements (Numbers 3, Numbers 4, 1 Chronicles 23–26); they had special ministry and judgment responsibilities (Deuteronomy 21:5); they communicated the Lord’s law to the people every seven years (Deuteronomy 31:9). They played a pretty fundamental role in the administration of ordinances and rituals among this early people.

This verse appears to be the biblical basis for John says to JS and Cowdery in DC 13. See Deuteronomy 18:1, 3, 26:4, and 3 Nephi 24:3–4.

Here are some excerpts from commentaries:

“Malachi had previously rebuked the priests in the second disputation for failing in their duties as ministers of the temple rituals and teachers of the Mosaic law (1:8, 10, 13; 2:6–8). The priests are singled out as the target of God’s refining process, ‘because they were the mediators between God and his people, and were therefore also responsible for the religious decline of the people. Thus purification of the people has to start with them.’ Once purified, ‘they shall be fit to bring offerings to the LORD’ (NEB; cf. NLT, ‘so that they may once again offer acceptable sacrifices to the LORD’). The prophet may have had the post-exodus Mosaic period in mind as the days gone by or the ideal era of Hebrew covenant relationship with YHWH (cf. the reference to Phinehas in 2:5). Taken together, the two expressions probably allude more generally to those times in Israelite history when the Hebrew priests and people faithfully served YHWH. In either case, the reference serves as an important reminder to the priests and the people of post-exilic Judah that they have a legacy they can aspire to emulate” (Tyndale Old Testament Commentaries, volume 28, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi, Andrew E. Hill).

“When the messenger of the covenant comes, he will proclaim a purifying and refining message, one especially directed to and effective among ‘the Levites,’ that is, the priests (vv.2–4). Though the gospel narratives do not provide much direct evidence for this happening (but see, e.g., Nicodemus [John 3:1, 19:39]; and many priests who later believed [Acts 6:7]), there is no question that John’s ministry paved the way for the life-changing message of the gospel and the establishment of the church (Acts 19:1–7)” (The Expositor’s Bible Commentary, Revised Edition, Daniel–Malachi).

“It is the Levites (lit., ‘the sons of Levi’) who are purified. Levi has been mentioned twice earlier in Malachi in relation to a covenant of religious obligation with him (2:4, 8). His descendants, the Levitical priests (the terms ‘Levite’ and ‘priests’ are equivalent in Malachi), have reached a state of ritual impurity that disallows them from performing their expected duties. They therefore need to be made ritually pure...These Levitical priests, whose role was to purify the people through sacrifice, have so polluted the ritual practice and themselves that they now need purification before they can offer sacrifice on behalf of others. Those who raise themselves above the ordinances of God (1:7–8) now need the cleansing only achieved through their own abasement (2:9). When purification is complete, the Levites will be restored to their role as those who can effectively officiate in the sacrificial cult...The offering previously unacceptable from the hands of the priests (1:10; 2:13) is now no longer so because of the righteousness in which it is brought...Yahweh did not previously condemn the Levitical priesthood as an institution, but rather the manner in which they had been performing their role. When the manner is rectified, the role can and must be resumed—not only for the sake of the priests but also for the people...The word ‘sacrifice’ links verse 4 to the previous verse, now speaking specifically of the sacrifices of Judah and its capital, Jerusalem. Priestly sacrifices (v. 3) represent those of the people, but they must also precede them in time, since a defiled priest cannot perform acceptable rituals for a defiled people, but must purify himself first. The sacrifice of the people will then be ‘acceptable to the LORD’

(NIV; ‘welcomed’ JB; ‘pleasing/pleasant,’ KJV, NASB, NEB, NRSV), a term used elsewhere of sacrifice (cf. those which are unacceptable, Jeremiah 6:20). This contrasts the previously unacceptable offerings (Malachi 1:9–10). Yahweh now accepts these offerings” (The NIV Application Commentary: Joel, Obadiah, Malachi, David W. Baker).

“In the desert the Levites had been given the right to serve the ark. By virtue of this they became the keepers of the central sanctuary in the tribal league. It became their prerogative to expound the Mosaic law as well as sacrifice at the central sanctuary. As the Levites grew in number, not all of them could stay at the central sanctuary. This made some available for serving at local sanctuaries. Anyone could be a priest at a local sanctuary, but even there Levites were preferred. On the other hand, at the central sanctuary only the Levites could serve. These are the “Levitical priests” of Deuteronomy. All these Levites seem to be descendants of Moses and/or Ithamar. They were probably the Mushites and Libnites mentioned in Numbers 26:58a. The Aaronites (Hebronites) and Korahites were not influential during this time, and we have no record of their activities” (ABD 5281).

DC 98:16–17	Therefore, renounce war and proclaim peace, and seek diligently to turn the hearts of the children to their fathers, and the hearts of the fathers to the children; And again, the hearts of the Jews unto the prophets, and the prophets unto the Jews; lest I come and smite the whole earth with a curse, and all flesh be consumed before me.
DC 110:14–15	Behold, the time has fully come, which was spoken of by the mouth of Malachi—testifying that he [Elijah] should be sent, before the great and dreadful day of the Lord come— 15 To turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers, lest the whole earth be smitten with a curse—
DC 2:2–3 (1838/21 September 1823)	And he shall plant in the hearts of the children the promises made to the fathers, and the hearts of the children shall turn to their fathers. 3 If it were not so, the whole earth would be utterly wasted at his coming.

The Synoptic Problem

There are at least two aspects to the synoptic problem:

- The proposed dependence of Matthew and Luke on Mark for the material that all three have in common;
- The proposed common-source “Q” as the source for the material that Matthew and Luke have in common but that does not appear in Mark.

As ABD 8529 puts it, “The three Synoptic Gospels are thus in some relationship with each other, and the problem of determining the nature of that relationship is known as the synoptic problem.”

Matthew 5:3–12: On the Beatitudes in the Sermon on the Mount

NIVAC NT 01 PDF 315–319

Dallas Willard’s influential book The Divine Conspiracy is a forceful development of Christian discipleship, concentrating on the Gospel of Matthew and the SM in particular as his biblical foundation. In his discussion of the Beatitudes, he recounts how a woman told him that her son had dropped his Christian identification and left the church because of the Beatitudes. This son, a strong, intelligent, military person, had had an unhappy experience:

As often happens, he had been told that the Beatitudes—with its list of the poor and the sad, the weak and the mild—were a picture of the ideal Christian. He explained to his mother very simply: “That’s not me. I can never be like that.”

I understand this young man’s experience. In my teens I also renounced my Christian identity and church for similar reasons. I clearly remember sitting in youth group meetings where the characteristics of the Beatitudes were held up as ideals for us to emulate. I remember snickering in the back row with my buddies as the youth leaders cajoled us to cease being cocky and macho and become meek and mild. The four of us were three-sport athletes in high school, and the picture of the Christian life that was held up for us from the Beatitudes seemed lamely pathetic. As I think back, our youthful cockiness and machismo were probably just as pathetic, but the Christian life painted by that church had nothing to offer us as a viable, robust alternative.

Not too many years after ruling out the Beatitudes for real life, I sat under the brilliant stars in a jungle in Vietnam and their significance overwhelmed me. I was a member of a cocky airborne infantry combat battalion. We were a well-trained, exceedingly efficient war machine. One night as I sat on guard duty after one especially ravaging battle, I experienced the reality of what Jesus addressed in the Beatitudes. I had killed gleefully that day. I had ripped the life from other young men without a twinge of conscience. I saw the bodies of my nineteen-and twenty-year-old squad members ravaged by other young men who were our hated enemies, yet probably none of us on either side could really offer any adequate explanation for our animosity.

That night I experienced brokenness. I became poor in spirit as I recognized the depth of my depravity and shuddered as I considered the possibility of my fate before God, if he existed. I mourned at the evil in me and at the evil that I saw emerge so quickly in all of us. For the first time in my young life, I understood that I was not the invincible captain of my ship. I could be killed at any moment. So from that very night I began to realize that there was indeed a very different way to live. I did not articulate it that night in these words, but meekness, righteousness, mercy, purity, and peacemaking all became so much more clearly preferable than the way that I had been pursuing significance and success.

I now realize I was experiencing the beginnings of the pronouncement aspects of the Beatitudes. I saw for the first time the horror of my life as a human apart from God. I desperately needed something, but what it was, I had no clue. I experienced the condemnation of my old cockiness and self-sufficiency, and above all, the condemnation of my arrogant abuse of people in my quest to satisfy my own lusts. This transition in my life readied me and enabled me to accept Jesus’ invitation to the life of the kingdom of heaven two years later...

In the same way that the Beatitudes express the blessedness that comes to the crowds from the convicting work of the Holy Spirit, they also express the blessedness that comes from the renewing work of the Holy Spirit in the life of a disciple...

The individual characteristics of the Beatitudes are not self-produced, nor can we simply learn or emulate them in an attempt to bring them about in our lives. They are products of a life energized by the Spirit of God. They are, like the listing Paul gives in Galatians 5:22–23, the fruit of the Spirit. They are a wholistic view of what the Spirit will produce in the life of a disciple of Jesus who is walking in his ways and is being transformed into his image.

So it does help tremendously to study the Beatitudes, because they reveal the values of the kingdom of heaven. As in any study of Scripture, they show us God's ways in distinction from the world's ways and help us to know the right path. But the wonderful truth behind the study of the Beatitudes and our obedience to their truth as the Word of God is that the characteristics of the Beatitudes are ultimately produced by the Spirit of God.

The young man mentioned earlier had turned away from Christianity because of the perception he had of the Christian life displayed in the Beatitudes. Two things are probably at play here. (1) Like me, he is a product of a world that glories in self, in personal and institutional strength and bravado. The Beatitudes turn those values on end to show what humanity rightly related to God and to each other will be through the arrival of the kingdom of God.

(2) He quite likely has seen faulty applications of the Beatitudes in his church experiences. Throughout church history the Beatitudes have been subjected to faulty interpretation that has led to extremes. Many years later I came to understand that the church I left in my teens was theologically liberal. They really did believe that the Beatitudes were an expression of the ideal life that humans need to pursue to find God. They rightly recognized that the Beatitudes are an ideal statement of the Christian life, but they mistakenly thought that they could do it on their own.

Some groups have contended that these characteristics are not for today's rough-and-tumble, sinwracked world, but await some far-off future kingdom. Still others have based entire personal and ecclesiastical practices of pacifism and nonviolence on the Beatitudes' overriding centrality for a present-day theological system. No wonder the young man did not see what Jesus meant to communicate. The Beatitudes are neither a means of entering nor of advancing in the kingdom. They are expressions of Spirit-produced kingdom life, revealing to the entire world that a transformation of creation is beginning in Jesus' disciples. That is why we are blessed.

Matthew 10:39: On Losing One's Self

WBC 33a PDF 370

Taking up one's cross refers not to the personal problems or difficulties of life that one must bear, as it is sometimes used in common parlance, but to a radical obedience that entails self-denial and, indeed, a dying to self. To take up one's cross is to follow in the footsteps of Jesus, who is the model of such radical obedience and self-denial (cf. 4:1-11). Thus in a real sense v 39 is a kind of exegesis of v 38. "Finding one's life" (εὕρων τὴν ψυχὴν) in v 39a refers obviously to the affirmation of life on one's own terms within one's self-centered framework apart from allegiance and discipleship to Jesus. "Find" here means "to obtain" or "find for oneself" (BAGD, 325 [BDAG 363b meaning #3]). This person will in the end lose his or her life, i.e., will not inherit the life of the future kingdom. On the contrary, the one who loses his or her life ἐνεχεν ἑαυτοῦ, "for my sake," i.e., in the self-denial entailed in the taking up of one's cross, which might mean even martyrdom (vv 21, 28; cf. Rev. 12:11), is ultimately the one who will "find" it, i.e., in a degree of fulfillment in the present age but preeminently in the age to come (cf. John 12:25; for a Jewish parallel, see Abot R Nat. II[2]. 36a). For the sake of Jesus, and thus the gospel, the disciple is called to follow after Jesus in unqualified obedience to the will of God, even to the point of death itself, which becomes for the disciple the entry into life. ψυχὴ can mean either "soul" (cf. 10:28) or "life" in its more inclusive sense (e.g., 6:25). Since literal martyrdom is not required to "find life" (though it may be the lot of some), losing life and finding life are here taken in the extended sense of meaningful existence, fulfillment, purpose, or identity. There is no real life in this sense apart from relationship to Jesus.

Luke 8:5–13: On Prayer

To understand this parable, we must appreciate certain aspects of first-century cultural expectation. (1) Food was not as readily available as it is today; the era of twenty-four hour convenience stores is new. Bread was baked each day to meet daily needs. (2) The culture held hospitality in high regard, almost as a duty. A visitor was to be welcomed and cared for, regardless of the hour of his arrival. Here, then, we have a dilemma: a late evening guest, but no food. What would the host do? Also behind the story stands the reality that most ancient homes had only one room. To approach a neighbor meant risking waking the family. How bold would the host be?

Jesus poses the dilemma and then asks, "Which of you would have the nerve to go wake up his friend (and possibly his family as well!) in the middle of the night to ask for bread?" The request for three loaves would meet the need, provided his neighbor still had some leftovers from the day. The answer shows the tension. He replies that he cannot be bothered, since the children are in bed and he is unwilling to risk rousing them! Anyone who has put children to bed understands how the neighbor feels. In fact, the natural quality of the reply is part of the charm of this parable. Jesus then comes to his main point. The neighbor does respond, not because he is a friend but because the petitioner has "boldness" (anaideian). This Greek term is difficult to render in English. It combines two qualities: boldness and shamelessness. This man has nerve to make such a request. In recognition of his boldness, the neighbor honors the request (cf. Heb. 10:19-22).

The qualification of these requests as applying to basic spiritual needs comes from the concluding verses of the unit (vv. 9-10), where Jesus issues a call to "ask," "seek," and "knock." The promise of an open door lies before the disciple, who need not be too shy to ask. Then Jesus gives another illustration. If a child asks for a basic meal, fish, or eggs, will the father give him something dangerous instead, like a snake or scorpion? What father would do that? None. So Jesus concludes, "If you then, though you are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!"...

God is not a cosmic grouch. He loves and cares for us, desiring what is best for us. He shows the extent of his commitment to us in the sacrifice of Jesus (Rom. 8:30-39). Nothing can separate us from a close connection with him but ourselves and our failure to accept the care, provision, and access that comes from his hands. A relationship takes more than words claiming his presence; it must be nurtured through time and effort. That is why prayer is so crucial to the Christian walk. If Jesus took the time to teach us how to pray and urged us to do so with boldness, then our calling is to make time for it.

The pursuit of spiritual discipline is receiving renewed attention today. This is only right. Our world is so hectic that often all we think we have time for is a quick "check in" with the Father above. In fact, however, the more hectic the pace, the more we need him. In Jesus' life, Luke notes him praying in the moments when things were getting the most hectic. He prayed when he was baptized, before he chose the Twelve, after Peter's confession at the Transfiguration as he prepared to face Jerusalem, and when he was in the Garden, even as the guards approached to take him prisoner—not to mention on the cross itself. When events surrounded him, Jesus circled the wagons around the courts of God. The disciples must have sensed this, because this is one of the few places where they make a specific request to be taught something. The application is simple: Make time to see his face.

Another point emerges in the juxtaposition of intimacy with respect for God's uniqueness. God is not a "buddy," he is both Father and Lord. The petitioner who recognizes his uniqueness appreciates the privilege of entering his presence. Kneeling before the God of the universe requires humility. In our culture, where respect for elders often has reversed itself into a worshiping of youth, it is important to appreciate that a relationship with God is not a peer relationship. He sits enthroned in the heavens above. Thus, humility is fundamental to the ways of discipleship. The requests in the community prayer evidence this perspective. From daily food to spiritual forgiveness to spiritual protection, the disciple looks to God. There is no moment that can spare dependence on him.

God desires prayer that is bold, even shameless, in its approach to him. It is not shameless in the sense of coming to God for all the wants that we have. But it is brash and bold in making use of the access he gives us to seek his face and call on him to develop us spiritually. He desires prayer with nerve. Our requests can be set before his table. The response, of course, is up to God, but the Lord desires we share our heart with him and come with an intense desire to knock at heaven's door. The reason we can be bold emerges in the more subtle argument of the parable: If a human being responds affirmatively to the earthly request of his neighbor, surely a gracious God will respond to our requests about basic spiritual needs. This implicit idea in verses 5-10 emerges explicitly in verses 10-13. We are to come to the Father, knowing that his arms are open for us. I had the gift of a father who loved me. I knew what it meant to be able to walk into his room, his office, the living room, or wherever he was, and know that if I had a crucial need, he had an ear that was leaning in my direction and a heart that was open to my pain. The great lesson of a good father is that it gave me a glimpse of the heavenly Father I now have, even in the absence of my human father. I knew what it was to receive fish or eggs when I asked for them, just as I know now what it is to receive spiritual strength for basic spiritual needs from my Father in heaven. We can be bold because he cares. We can seek his face because he is there, waiting to hear and embrace our spiritual needs.

“Discernible” in Alma 32:35

This is the only use of “discernible” in all the scriptures. Here is the entry from the 1828 dictionary:

- That may be seen distinctly; discoverable by the eye or the understanding; distinguishable.

Why does Alma say this? He asks at the beginning of the verse, “Isn’t this real?” I believe he’s thinking of Korihor, who accused him and others of laboring under a “foolish and a vain hope” (Alma 30:13), having “foolish traditions” (Alma 30:14), of not being able to know of things that they “do not see” (Alma 30:15), and of being deluded about the reality of their experiences (Alma 30:16). So Alma then tells us about faith in verse 21 of this chapter: “If ye have faith, ye hope for things which is not seen, which are true”—in other words, the things you are hoping for are real, even though he admits that you can’t see them. And now he gives an example involving this seed and the feelings and insights it creates inside you, and then he asks, isn’t this real? How could it not be real? You’re experiencing it right now! And then the discernible part. I read it not as saying that whatever is light is good because it is discernible—I don’t think he’s saying, the explanation for the goodness is the discernibility. I think what’s he saying is, you know it’s real because it’s discernible—“whatsoever is light is good, [and you’re able to make this judgment about the reality of the goodness] because it is discernible; therefore ye must know that it is good.” The end part is really saying, “To conclude that it really is good is a totally legitimate inference to make, based on what you have experienced.” And then in the next verse, at the end of 36, he reminds us that we’ve really just been trying an experiment “to know if the seed was good.” And because our experiences, feelings, and insights are real—and we know they are real because they are discernible—then the experiment puts us in a position to make a good inference about the goodness of the seed.

Some possibly relevant quotations:

Tertullian, ACCS NT 04a 130 The things that make us luminaries of the world are these—our good works. What is good, moreover (provided it is true and full), does not love darkness: it rejoices in being seen and exults over the very recognition it receives. To Christian modesty it is not enough to be so but to also appear so. For its fullness should be so great that it flows out from the mind to the clothing and bursts out from the conscience to the outward appearance.

Augustine, ACCS NT 04a 130 You must hate your own work and love the work of God in you. And when your own deeds begin to displease you, that is when your good works begin as you begin to find fault with your evil works. The beginning of good works is the confession of evil works, and then you do the truth and come to the light. How do you do the truth? You do not soothe or flatter yourself or say, “I am righteous,” while in actuality you are unrighteous. This is how you begin to do the truth. You come to the light so that your works may be shown to originate in God. And you have come to the light because this very sin in you, which displeases you, would not displease you if God did not shine on you and his truth show it to you. But the one who loves his sin, even after being admonished, hates the light admonishing him and flees from it so that his works that he loves may not be proved to be evil.

DC EXTENDED SCRIPTURE STUDIES

Background for DC 3

[The following extract is from BSJSP 107–127.]

After bringing home the plates, Joseph commenced working with his father and brothers on the farm, in order to be as near as possible to the treasure which was confided to his care.

Soon after this, he came in from work, one afternoon, and after remaining a short time, he put on his great coat, and left the house. I was engaged at the time, in an upper room, in preparing some oil-cloths for painting. When he returned, he requested me to come down stairs. I told him, that I could not leave my work just then, yet, upon his urgent request, I finally concluded to go down, and see what he wanted, upon which he handed me the breastplate spoken of in his history.

It was wrapped in a thin muslin handkerchief, so thin that I could see the glistening metal, and ascertain its proportions without any difficulty.

It was concave on one side, and convex on the other, and extended from the neck downwards, as far as the centre of the stomach of a man of extraordinary size. It had four straps of the same material, for the purpose of fastening it to the breast, two of which ran back to go over the shoulders, and the other two were designed to fasten to the hips. They were just the width of two of my fingers, (for I measured them,) and they had holes in the end of them, to be convenient in fastening.

The whole plate was worth at least five hundred dollars: after I had examined it, Joseph placed it in the chest with the Urim and Thummim.

Shortly after this circumstance, Joseph came to the house in great haste, and inquired, if there had been a company of men about. I told him, not a single individual had come to the house since he left. He then said, that a mob would be there that night, if they did not come before that time, to search for the Record, and that it must be removed immediately.

Soon afterwards, a man by the name of Braman came in from the village of Livonia, a man in whom we reposed much confidence, and who was well worthy of the same. Joseph told him his apprehensions of a mob being there that night, and that they must prepare themselves to drive them away; but, that the first thing to be attended to, was to secure the Record and breast-plate.

In view of this, it was determined that a portion of the hearth should be taken up, and that the Record and breast, plate should be buried under the same, and then the hearth be relaid, to prevent suspicion.

This was done as speedily as possible, but the hearth was scarcely relaid when a large company of men well armed came rushing up to the house. Joseph threw open the doors, and taking a hint from the stratagem of his grandfather Mack, hallooed as if he had a legion at hand, in the meanwhile, giving the word of command with great emphasis; while all the male portion of the family, from the father down to little Carlos, ran out of the house with such fury upon the mob, that it struck them with terror and dismay, and they fled before the little Spartan band into the woods, where they dispersed themselves to their several homes.

In a short time Joseph received another intimation of the approach of a mob, also of the necessity of removing the Record and breast-plate from the place wherein they were secreted, consequently he took them out of the box in which they were placed, and wrapping them in clothes, carried them across the road to a cooper's shop, and laid them in a quantity of flax, which was stowed in the shop left. After which he nailed up the box again, then tore up the floor of the shop, and put it under the same.

As soon as night came, the mob came also, and commenced ransacking the place. They rummaged round the house, and all over the premises, but did not come into the house. After making satisfactory search they went away.

The next morning we found the floor of the cooper's shop torn up, and the box which was laid under it shivered in pieces.

In a few days afterwards we learned the cause of this last move—why their curiosity led them in the direction of the cooper's shop. A young woman by the name of Chase, sister to Willard Chase, found a green glass, through which she could see many very wonderful things, and among her great discoveries she said that she saw the precise place where "Joe Smith kept his gold bible hid," and obedient to her directions, the mob gathered their forces and laid siege to the cooper's shop.

Notwithstanding their disappointment in not finding the plates in the shop, their confidence was not in the least shaken in Miss Chase, for they still went from place to place by her direction, determined to get, if possible, the much desired object of their search.

Not long after the circumstance of the mob's going into the cooper's shop, and splitting in pieces the box, Joseph began to make arrangements to accomplish the translation of the Record. The first step that he was instructed to take in regard to this work, was to make a fac-simile of some of the characters, which were called reformed Egyptian, and to send them to some of the most learned men of this generation, and ask them for the translation thereof.

The reader will here observe, that on a preceding, page of this volume, I spoke of a confidential friend to whom my husband merely mentioned the existence of the plates, some two or three years prior to their coming forth. This was no other than Martin Harris, one of the witnesses to the book subsequent to its being translated.

With the view of commencing the work of translation, and carrying it forward as speedily as circumstances would permit, Joseph came to me one afternoon and requested me to go to this Mr. Harris, and inform him that he had got the plates, and that he desired to see Mr. Harris concerning the matter. This, indeed, was an errand which I much disliked, as Mr. Harris's wife was a very peculiar woman, one that was naturally of a very jealous disposition; besides this, she was rather dull of hearing, and when anything was said that she did not hear distinctly, she suspected that it was some secret, which was designedly kept from her. So I told Joseph that I would rather not go, unless I could have the privilege of speaking to her first upon the subject. To this he consented, and I went according to his request.

On arriving at Mr. Harris's, I cautiously detailed the particulars with regard to Joseph's finding the plates, so far as wisdom dictated and necessity demanded, in order to satisfy Mrs. Harris's curiosity. However, she did not wait for me to get through with my story, before she commenced urging upon me a considerable amount of money, that she had at her command. Her husband always allowed her to keep a private purse, in order to satisfy her singular disposition, and it was this private money that she wished me to receive. She also had a sister living with her who desired me to receive an amount of money, I think some seventy-five dollars, to assist in getting the Record translated.

I told her that I came on no such business, that I did not want her money, and that Joseph would attend to his own affairs; but, that I would like to talk with Mr. Harris a moment, and then return home, as my family would soon be expecting me. Yet, notwithstanding all this, she was determined to assist in the business, for she said she knew that we should want money, and she could spare two hundred dollars as well as not.

After detaining me a few minutes, she went with me to her husband, and told him that I wished to speak to him. He replied, that he was not going to stop his work, for he was just laying the last brick in his hearth.

"You see," said he, "this is the last work I have to do on the house, and it is the last work I shall do about the house, or on the farm, in one year. And when this is done, I am going to hire a hand to work a year for me, as I shall travel that length of time before I shall settle myself at home again."

After completing the work in which he was engaged, he left the house, but was absent only a short time. On returning, he came to me and said, "Now I am a free man—my hands are altogether untied—I can come and go and do as I please."

I related, in short, the errand on which I had come. He said, that he would see Joseph in the course of a few days. At this his wife exclaimed, "Yes, and I am coming to see him too, and I will be there on Tuesday afternoon, and will stop over night."

Accordingly, when Tuesday afternoon arrived, Mrs. Harris made her appearance, and as soon as she was well seated, she began to importune my son relative to the truth of what he had said concerning the Record, declaring that if he really had any plates, she would see them, and that she was determined to help him publish them.

He told her she was mistaken—that she could not see them, for he was not permitted to exhibit them to any one, except those whom the Lord should appoint to testify of them. "And, in relation to assistance," he observed, "I always prefer dealing with men, rather than their wives."

This highly displeased Mrs. Harris, for she considered herself altogether superior to her husband, and she continued her importunities. She would say, "Now, Joseph, are you not telling me a lie? Can you look full in my eye, and say before God, that you have in reality found a Record, as you pretend?"

To this, Joseph replied, rather indifferently, "Why, yes, Mrs. Harris, I would as soon look you in the face, and say so as not, if that will be any gratification to you."

Then, said she, "Joseph, I will tell you what I will do, if I can get a witness that you speak the truth, I will believe all you say about the matter, and I shall want to do something about the translation—I mean to help you. any way."

This closed the evening's conversation. The next morning, soon after she arose, she related a very remarkable dream which she said she had had during the night. It ran about as follows. She said that a personage appeared to her, who told her, that as she had disputed the servant of the Lord, and said his word was not to be believed, and had also asked him many improper questions, she had done that which was not right in the sight of God. After which he said to her, "Behold, here are the plates, look upon them, and believe."

After giving us an account of her dream, she described the Record yew minutely, then told us that she had made up her mind in relation to the course which she intended to pursue, namely that she had in her possession twenty-eight dollars which she received from her mother just before she died, while she was on her death bed, and that Joseph should accept of it. If he would he might give his note, but he should certainly take it upon some terms.

The last proposal Joseph accepted, in order to get rid of further importunity upon the subject.

Soon afterwards, Alva Hale, Joseph's brother-in-law, came to our house, from Pennsylvania, for the purpose of moving Joseph to his father-in-law's, as word had been sent to them, that Joseph desired to move there as soon as he could settle up his business. During the short interval of Alva's stay with us, he and Joseph were one day in Palmyra, at a public-house, transacting some business. As they were thus engaged, Mr. Harris came in: he stepped immediately up to my son, and taking him by the hand, said, "How do you do, Mr. Smith." After which, he took a bag of silver from his pocket, and said again, "Here, Mr. Smith, is fifty dollars; I give this to you to do the Lord's work with; no, I give it to the Lord for his own work."

"No, said Joseph, "We will give you a note Mr. Hale, I presume, will sign it with me."

"Yes," said Alva, "I will sign it."

Mr. Harris, however, insisted that he would give the money to the Lord, and called those present to witness the fact that he gave it freely, and did not demand any compensation, that it was for the purpose of helping Mr. Smith to do the Lord's work. And as I have been informed, many were present on that occasion, who witnessed the same circumstance.

Joseph, in a short time, arranged his affairs, and was ready for the journey. The Record and breast-plate for security, he nailed up in a box and then put them into a strong cask; and after filling the cask with beans, headed it up again.

When it became generally known that Joseph was about moving to Pennsylvania, a mob of fifty men collected themselves together, and they went to one Dr. Mc Intyre, and requested him to take the command of the company, stating, that they were resolved on following "Joe Smith," and taking his "gold bible" from him. The doctor's ideas and feelings did not altogether harmonize with theirs, and he told them they were a pack of devilish fools, and to go home and mind their own business; that, if Joseph Smith had any business of that sort to attend to, he was capable of doing it, and that it would be better for them to busy themselves about that which more concerned them.

After this, a quarrel arose among them respecting who should be captain, and it ran so high that it broke up the expedition.

When Joseph had had a sufficient time to accomplish the journey, and transcribe some of the Egyptian characters, it was agreed that Martin Harris should follow him—and that he (Martin) should take the characters to the East, and, on his way, he was to call on all the professed linguists, in order to give them an opportunity to display their talents in giving a translation of the characters.

When Mrs. Harris heard of what her husband had in contemplation, she resolved to accompany him; but he, concluding that it would be better to go without her, left quite suddenly without her knowledge, in company with my son Hyrum.

Mrs. Harris soon missed her husband, and came to me, for the purpose of ascertaining if I knew where he was. I told her what he had said concerning his leaving, suppressing, however, his remarks pertaining to herself.

On hearing this, she became highly exasperated, and charged me with planning the whole affair. I protested against it, asserting that I had nothing to do with the plan, nor the execution of it. Furthermore, that the business of a house, which was the natural cares of a woman, was all that I attempted to dictate, or interfere with, unless it was by my husband's or son's request.

Mrs. Harris then observed, that she had property, and knew how to take care of it, which she would convince me of.

"Now, stop," said I, "do you not know that we have never asked you for money or property? and that if we had been disposed to take advantage of your liberality, could we not have got, at least, two hundred and seventy dollars of your cash?" She answered in the affirmative, notwithstanding she went home in a great rage, determined to have satisfaction for the treatment which she had received.

In a short time Mr. Harris returned, and his wife's anger kindled afresh at his presence, insomuch that she prepared a separate bed and room for him, which room she refused to enter.

A young man by the name of Dikes, had been paying some attention to Miss Lucy, Martin Harris's oldest daughter. To this young man Mr. Harris was quite attached, and his daughter Lucy was by no means opposed to him; but Mrs. Harris, of course, was decidedly upon the negative. However, just at this crisis, a scheme entered her brain which materially changed her deportment to Mr. Dikes. She told him, if he would manage to get the Egyptian characters from Mr. Harris's possession, and procure a room in Palmyra for the purpose of transcribing them, and then bring her the transcript, that she would consent to his marriage with her daughter Lucy.

To this, Mr. Dikes cheerfully consented, and suffice it to say, he succeeded to her satisfaction, and thus received the promised reward.

When Mr. Harris began to make preparations to start for Pennsylvania the second time, with the view of writing for Joseph, his wife told him that she had fully decreed in her heart to accompany him. Mr. Harris, having no particular objections, informed her that she might do so; that she might go and stay one or two weeks, and then he would bring her home again, after which he would return, and resume his writing for Joseph. To this she cheerfully agreed. But Mr. Harris little suspected what he had to encounter by this move. The first time he exhibited the characters before named, she took out of her pocket an exact copy of the same; and told those present, that "Joe Smith" was not the only one who was in possession of this great curiosity, that she had the same characters, and, they were quite as genuine as those shown by Mr. Harris. This course she continued to pursue, until they arrived at Joseph's.

As soon as she arrived there, she informed him that her object in coming, was to see the plates, and that she would never leave until she had accomplished it. Accordingly, without delay, she commenced ransacking every nook and corner about the house—chests, trunks, cupboards, &c.; consequently, Joseph was under the necessity of removing both the breast-plate and the Record from the house, and secreting them elsewhere. Not finding them in the house, she concluded that Joseph had buried them, and the next day she commenced searching out of doors, which she continued to do until about two o'clock P.M. She then came in rather ill-natured; after warming herself a little, she asked Joseph's wife if there were snakes in that country in the winter. She replied in the negative. Mrs. Harris then said, "I have been walking round in the woods to look at the situation of your place, and as I turned round to come home, a tremendous black snake stuck up his head before me, and commenced hissing at me."

The woman was so perplexed and disappointed in all her undertakings, that she left the house and took lodgings during her stay in Pennsylvania with a near neighbor, to whom she stated that the day previous she had been hunting for the plates, and that, after a tedious search, she at length came to a spot where she judged, from the appearance of things, they must be buried; but upon stooping down to scrape away the snow and leaves, in order to ascertain the fact, she encountered a horrible black snake, which gave her a terrible fright, and she ran with all possible speed to the house.

While this woman remained in the neighbourhood, she did all that lay in her power to injure Joseph in the estimation of his neighbours—telling them that he was a grand impostor, and, that by his specious pretensions, he had seduced her husband into the belief that he (Joseph Smith) was some great one, merely through a design upon her husband's property.

When she returned home, being about two weeks after her arrival in Harmony, the place where Joseph resided, she endeavoured to dissuade her husband from taking any further part in the publication of the Record; however, Mr. Harris paid no attention to her, but returned and continued writing.

Immediately after Martin Harris left home for Pennsylvania, his wife went from place to place, and from house to house, telling her grievances, and declaring that Joseph Smith was practising a deception upon the people, which was about to strip her of all that she possessed, and that she was compelled to deposit a few things away from home in order to secure them. So she carried away her furniture, linen, and bedding; also other moveable articles, until she nearly stripped the premises of every thing that could conduce either to comfort or convenience, depositing them with those of her friends and acquaintances, in whom she reposed sufficient confidence to assure her of their future safety. Chapter 25

MARTIN HARRIS IS PERMITTED TO TAKE THE MANUSCRIPT HOME WITH HIM—HE LOSES IT—THE SEASON OF MOURNING WHICH ENSUED.

Martin Harris, having written some one hundred and sixteen pages for Joseph, asked permission of my son to carry the manuscript home with him, in order to let his wife read it, as he hoped it might have a salutary effect upon her feelings.

Joseph was willing to gratify his friend as far as he could consistently, and he inquired of the Lord to know if he might do as Martin Harris had requested, but was refused. With this, Mr. Harris was not altogether satisfied, and, at his urgent request, Joseph inquired again, but received a second refusal. Still, Martin Harris persisted as before, and Joseph applied again, but the last answer was not like the two former ones. In this the Lord permitted Martin Harris to take the manuscript home with him, on condition that he would exhibit it to none, save five individuals whom he had mentioned, and who belonged to his own family.

Mr. Harris was delighted with this, and bound himself in a written covenant of the most solemn nature, that he would strictly comply with the injunctions which he had received. Which being done, he took the manuscript and went home.

Joseph did not suspect but that his friend would keep his faith, consequently, he gave himself no uneasiness with regard to the matter.

Shortly after Mr. Harris left, Joseph's wife became the mother of a son, which, however, remained with her but a short time before it was snatched from her arms by the hand of death. And the mother seemed, for some time, more like sinking with her infant into the mansion of the dead, than remaining with her husband among the living. Her situation was such for two weeks, that Joseph slept not an hour in undisturbed quiet. At the expiration of this time she began to recover, but as Joseph's anxiety about her began to subside, another cause of trouble forced itself upon his mind. Mr. Harris had been absent nearly three weeks, and Joseph had received no intelligence whatever from him, which was, altogether aside of the arrangement when they separated. But Joseph kept his feelings from his wife, fearing that if she became acquainted with them it might agitate her too much.

In a few days, however, she mentioned the subject herself, and desired her husband to go and get her mother to stay with her, while he should repair to Palmyra, for the purpose of learning the cause of Mr. Harris's absence as well as silence. At first Joseph objected, but seeing her so cheerful, and so willing to have him leave home, he finally consented.

He set out in the first stage that passed for Palmyra, and, when he was left to himself; he began to contemplate the course which Martin had taken, and the risk which he (Joseph) had run in letting the manuscript go out of his own hands—for it could not be obtained again, in case Martin had lost it through transgression, except by the power of God, which was something Joseph could hardly hope for—and that, by persisting in his entreaties to the Lord, he had perhaps fallen into transgression, and thereby lost the manuscript. When, I say, he began to contemplate these things, they troubled his spirit, and his soul was moved with fearful apprehensions. And, although he was now nearly worn out, sleep fled from his eyes, neither had he any desire for food, for he felt that he had done wrong, and how great his condemnation was he did not know.

Only one passenger was in the stage besides himself: this man, observing Joseph's gloomy appearance, inquired the cause of his affliction, and offered to assist him if his services would be acceptable. Joseph thanked him for his kindness, and mentioned that he had been watching some time with a sick wife and child, that the child had died, and that his wife was still very low; but refrained from giving any further explanation. Nothing more passed between them upon this subject, until Joseph was about leaving the stage; at which time he remarked, that he still had twenty miles further to travel on foot that night, it being then about ten o'clock. To this the stranger objected, saying, "I have watched you since you first entered the stage, and I know that you have neither slept nor eat since that time, and you shall not go on foot twenty miles alone this night; for, if you must go, I will be your company. Now tell me what can be the trouble that makes you thus dispirited?"

Joseph replied; about as before—that he had left his wife in so low a state of health, that he feared he should not find her alive when he returned; besides, he had buried his first and only child but a few days previous. This was true, though there was another trouble lying at his heart, which he dared not to mention.

The stranger then observed, “I feel to sympathize with you, and I fear that your constitution, which is evidently not strong, will be inadequate to support you. You will be in danger of falling asleep in the forest, and of meeting with some awful disaster.”

Joseph again thanked the gentleman for his kindness, and, leaving the stage, they proceeded together. When they reached our house it was nearly daylight. The stranger said he was under the necessity of leading Joseph the last four miles by the arm; for nature was too much exhausted to support him any longer, and he would fall asleep as he was walking along, every few minutes, towards the last of this distance.

On entering our house, the stranger remarked that he had brought our son through the forest, because he had insisted on coming, that he was sick, and needed rest, as well as refreshment, and that he ought to have some pepper tea to warm his stomach. After thus directing us, relative to our son, he said, that when we had attended to Joseph he would thank us for a little breakfast for himself, as he was in haste to be on his journey again.

When Joseph had taken a little nourishment, according to the directions of the stranger, he requested us to send immediately for Mr. Harris. This we did without delay. And when we had given the stranger his breakfast, we commenced preparing breakfast for the family; and we supposed that Mr. Harris would be there, as soon as it was ready, to eat with us, for he generally came in such haste when he was sent for. At eight o’clock we set the victuals on the table, as we were expecting him every moment. We waited till nine, and he came not—till ten, and he was not there—till eleven, still he did not make his appearance. But at half-past twelve we saw him walking with a slow and measured tread towards the house, his eyes fixed thoughtfully upon the ground. On coming to the gate, he stopped, instead of passing through, and got upon the fence, and sat there some time with his hat drawn over his eyes. At length he entered the house. Soon after which we sat down to the table, Mr. Harris with the rest. He took up his knife and fork as if he were going to use them, but immediately dropped them. Hyrum, observing this, said “Martin, why do you not eat; are you sick? Upon which, Mr. Harris pressed his hands upon his temples, and cried out, in a tone of deep anguish, “Oh, I have lost my soul! I have lost my soul!”

Joseph, who had not expressed his fears till now, sprang from the table, exclaiming, “Martin, have you lost that manuscript? have you broken your oath, and brought down condemnation upon my head, as well as your own?”

“Yes, it is gone,” replied Martin, “and I know not where.”

“Oh, my God!” said Joseph, clinching his hands. “All is lost! all is lost! What shall I do? I have sinned—it is I who tempted the wrath of God. I should have been satisfied with the first answer which I received from the Lord; for he told me that it was not safe to let the writing go out of my possession.” He wept and groaned, and walked the floor continually.

At length he told Martin to go back and search again.

“No,” said Martin, “it is all in vain; for I have ripped open beds and pillows; and I know it is not there.”

“Then must I,” said Joseph, “return to my wife with such a tale as this? I dare not do it, lest I should kill her at once. And how shall I appear before the Lord? Of what rebuke am I not worthy from the angel of the Most High?”

I besought him not to mourn so, for perhaps the Lord would forgive him, after a short season of humiliation and repentance. But what could I say to comfort him, when he saw all the family in the same situation of mind as himself; for sobs and groans, and the most bitter lamentations filled the house. However, Joseph was more distressed than the rest, as he better understood the consequences of disobedience. And he continued, pacing back and forth, meantime weeping and grieving, until about sunset, when, by persuasion, he took a little nourishment.

The next morning we set out for home. We parted with heavy hearts, for it now appeared that all which we had so fondly anticipated, and which had been the source of so much secret gratification, had in a moment fled; and fled for ever.

Chapter 26

MARTIN HARRIS’S PERFIDY.

I will now give a sketch of the proceedings of Martin Harris during the time he was absent from Joseph.

After leaving Joseph he arrived at home with the manuscript in safety. Soon after he exhibited the manuscript to his wife and family. His wife was so pleased with it, that she gave him the privilege of locking it up in her own set of drawers, which was a special favour, for she had never before this allowed him even the privilege of looking into them. After he had shown the manuscript to those who had a right, according to his oath, to see it, he went with his wife to visit one of her relatives, who lived some ten or fifteen miles distant.

After remaining with them a short time, he returned home, but his wife declined accompanying him back. Soon after his return, a very particular friend of his made him a visit, to whom he related all that he knew concerning the Record. The man’s curiosity was much excited, and, as might be expected, he earnestly desired to see the manuscript. Martin was so anxious to gratify his friend, that, although it was contrary to his obligation, he went to the drawer to get the manuscript, but the key was gone. He sought for it some time, but could not find it. Resolved, however, to carry his purpose into execution, he picked the lock, and, in so doing, considerably injured his wife’s bureau. He then took out the manuscript, and, after showing it to this friend, he removed it to his own set of drawers, where he could have it at his command. Passing by his oath, he showed it to any good friend that happened to call on him.

When Mrs. Harris returned, and discovered the marred state of her bureau, her irascible temper was excited to the utmost pitch, and an intolerable storm ensued, which descended with the greatest violence upon the devoted head of her husband.

Having once made a sacrifice of his conscience, Mr. Harris no longer regarded its scruples; so he continued to exhibit the writings, until a short time before Joseph arrived, to any one whom he regarded as prudent enough to keep the secret, except our family, but we were not allowed to set our eyes upon them.

For a short time previous to Joseph's arrival, Mr. Harris had been otherwise engaged, and thought but little about the manuscript. When Joseph sent for him, he went immediately to the drawer where he had left it, but, behold it was gone! lie asked his wife where it was. She solemnly averred that she did not know anything respecting it. He then made a faithful search throughout the house, as before related.

The manuscript has never been found; and there is no doubt but Mrs. Harris took it from the drawer, with the view of retaining it, until another translation should be given, then, to alter the original translation, for the purpose of showing a discrepancy between them, and thus make the whole appear to be a deception.

It seemed as though Martin Harris, for his transgression, suffered temporally as well as spiritually. The same day on which the foregoing circumstance took place, a dense fog spread itself over his fields, and blighted his wheat while in the blow, so that he lost about two-thirds of his crop, whilst those fields which lay only on the opposite side of the road, received no injury whatever.

I well remember that day of darkness, both within and without. To us, at least, the heavens seemed clothed with blackness, and the earth shrouded with gloom. I have often said within myself, that if a continual punishment, as severe as that which we experienced on that occasion, were to be inflicted upon the most wicked characters who ever stood upon the footstool of the Almighty—if even their punishment were no greater than that, I should feel to pity their condition. Chapter 27 THE URIM AND THUMMIM ARE TAKEN FROM JOSEPH—HE RECEIVES THEM AGAIN.

For nearly two months after Joseph returned to his family, in Pennsylvania, we heard nothing from him, and becoming anxious about him, Mr. Smith and myself set off to make him a visit. When we came within three-quarters of a mile of the house, Joseph started to meet us, telling his wife, as he left, that father and mother were coming. When he met us, his countenance wore so pleasant an aspect, that I was convinced he had something agreeable to communicate with regard to the work in which he was engaged. When I entered, the first thing which attracted my attention was a red morocco trunk, lying on Emma's bureau, which Joseph shortly informed me contained the Urim and Thummim, and the plates. And, in the evening, he gave us the following relation of what had transpired since our separation:—

"On leaving you," said Joseph, "I returned immediately home. Soon after my arrival, I commenced humbling myself in mighty prayer before the Lord, and, as I was pouring out my soul in supplication to God, that if possible, I might obtain mercy at his hands, and be forgiven of all that I had done contrary to his will, an angel stood before me, and answered me, saying, that I had sinned in delivering the manuscript into the hands of a wicked man, and, as I had ventured to become responsible for his faithfulness, I would of necessity have to suffer the consequences of his indiscretion, and I must now give up the Urim and Thummim into his (the angel's) hands."

"This I did as I was directed, and as I handed them to him, he remarked, 'If you are very humble and penitent, it maybe you will receive them again; if so, it will be on the twenty-second of next September.'"

Joseph then related a revelation which he received soon after the angel visited him. A part of which is as follows:—

"Behold, you have been entrusted with these things, but how strict were your commandments, and remember, also, the promises which were made to you, if you did not transgress them; and behold how oft you have transgressed the commandments, and the laws of God, and have gone on in the persuasions of men. For behold, you should not have feared man more than God. Although men set at nought the counsels of God, and despise his words, yet you should have been faithful, and he would have extended his arm, and supported you against all the fiery darts of the adversary, and he would have been with you in every time of trouble.

"Behold, thou art Joseph, and thou wast chosen to do the work of the Lord; but because of transgression, if thou art not aware, thou wilt fall. But remember, God is merciful; therefore, repent of that which thou hast done, which is contrary to the commandment which I gave you, and thou art still chosen, and art again called to the work. Except thou do this, thou shalt be delivered up, and become as other men. and have no more gift.

"And when thou deliveredst up that which God had given thee sight and power to translate, thou deliveredst up that which was sacred, into the hands of a wicked man, who has set at nought the counsels of God, and has broken the most sacred promises which were made before God, and has depended upon his own judgment, and boasted in his own wisdom; and this is the reason that thou hast test thy privileges for a season, for thou hast suffered the counsel of thy director to be trampled upon from the beginning.

"Nevertheless, my work shall go forth, for inasmuch as the knowledge of a Saviour has come unto the world through the testimony of the Jews, even so shall the knowledge of a Saviour come unto my people."

For the sake of brevity, I have omitted part of this revelation, but the reader will find it in the Doc. and Cov., sec. xxx.

I will now return to Joseph's recital.

"After the angel left me," said he, "I continued my supplications to God, without cessation, and on the twenty-second of September, I had the joy and satisfaction of again receiving the Urim and Thummim, with which I have again commenced translating, and Emma writes for me, but the angel said that the Lord would send me a scribe, and I trust his promise will be verified, The angel seemed pleased with me when he gave me back the Urim and Thummim, and he told me that the Lord loved me, for my faithfulness and humility."

A few months after Joseph received them, he inquired of the Lord, and obtained the following revelation:—

"Now, behold I say unto you, that because you delivered up those writings which you had power given unto you to translate, by the means of the Urim and Thummim, into the hands of a wicked man, you have lost them, and you also lost your gift at the same time, and your mind became darkened; nevertheless, it is now restored unto you again; therefore, see that you are faithful, and continue on unto the finishing of the remainder of the work of translation as you have begun. Do not run faster, or labor more than you have strength and means provided to enable you to translate, but be diligent unto the end, pray always, that you may come off conqueror, yea, that you may conquer Satan, and that you may escape the hands of the servants of Satan that do uphold his work. Behold, they have sought to destroy you, yea, even the man in whom you have trusted, has sought to destroy you, and for this cause I said, that he is a wicked man, for he has sought to take away the things wherewith you have been entrusted, and he has also sought to destroy your gift; and because you have delivered the writings into his hands, behold wicked men have taken them from you. Therefore, you have delivered them up, yea, that which was sacred, unto wickedness. And behold, Satan has put it into their hearts to alter the words which you have caused to be written, or which you have translated, which have gone out of your hands; and behold, I say unto you, that because they have altered the words, they read contrary from that which you translated and caused to be written; and on this wise the devil has sought to lay a cunning plan, that he may destroy this work. For he has put it into their hearts to do this, that by lying, they may say they have caught you in the words."—Doc. and Cov., sec. xxxvi.

Church Articles & Covenants

Received in Fayette Seneca County New York April 10th. 1830

Given to Joseph the seer by the gift & power of God &c soon after the Ch~~or~~

The rise of the Church of Christ in these last days being one Thousand eight Hundred & thirty years since the coming of our Lord & Saveiour Jesus Christ in the flesh it being regularly organized & established agreeable to the Laws of our Country by the will & commandments of God in the fourth Month & on the Sixth day of the Month which is called April[.] Commandments were given to Joseph the seer who was called of God & ordained an Apostle of Jesus Christ an Elder of the Church & also to Oliver [Cowdery] who was also called of God & ~~ordained~~ an Apostle of Jesus Christ an Elders of the Church & ordained under his hand & this according to the grace of our Lord & saveiour Jesus Christ to whom be all glory both now and forever amen

For after that <it> truly was manifested unto this first Elder that he had Received a remission of his sins he was entangled again in the vanities of the world but after truly Repenting God ministered unto him by an Holy Angel whose countenance was as Lightning & whose garments were pure & white above all whiteness & gave unto him Commandments which inspired [inspired] him from on high & gave unto him power by the means of which was before prepared that he should translate a Book which Book contained a record of a fallen People & also the fulness of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles & also to the Jews proveing unto them that the Holy Scriptures are truel & also that God doth Minister inspire men in & call them to his Holy work in these last days as well as in in days of old that he might be the same God forever amen Which Book was given by inspiration is Called the Book of Mormon & is confirmed to others by the ministering of Angels & declared unto the World by them Wherefore having so great witnesses by them shall the world be Judged even as many as shall hereafter receive this work either to faith & righteousness or to the hardness of heart in unbelief to their own condemnation for the Lord God hath spoken it for we the Elders of the Church have heard & bear witness to his the words of his glorious majesty on high to whom be glory for ever & ever amen

Wherefore by these things we know that there is a God in Heaven who is infinite & Eternal from everlasting to everlasting the same unchangeable God the Maker of Heaven & Earth & all things that in them is & that he created man male & female & after his own Image & in his likeness created he them & that he gave unto the Children of men a commandment that they should love & serve him the only being whom they should worship but by the Transgression of these Holy Laws man became sensual & devlish & became fallen man Wherefore the almighty God gave his only begotten Son as it is Written in those Scriptures which have been given of him that he suffered temptation but gave no heed unto them that he was crucified died & rose again the third day & that he ascended into Heaven to sit down on the right hand of the Father to reign with almighty Power according to the will of the Father therefore as many as would believe & were Baptized in his Holy name & endured in faith to the end should be saved yea even as many as were before he came in the flesh from the beginning which believed in the words of the Holy Prophets which were inspired by the gift of the Holy Ghost which truly testify of him in all things & as well as they which should come after which should believe in the gifts & callings of God by the Holy Ghost which beareth Record of the Father & of the Son which Father & Son is & the Holy Ghost is one God Infinite & eternal without end amen=

And we know that all men must Repent & believe on the name of Jesus Christ & worship the father in his name & endure in faith on his name to the end or they cannot be saved in the Kingdom of God & we know that Justification through the grace of our Lord & saviour Jesus Christ is Just & true & we also know that Sanctification through the grace of our Lord & Saviour ~~is Just~~ Jesus Christ is Just & true to all those who love & serve God with all their mights minds & strength but there is a possibility that men may fall from grace & depart from the living God therefore let the Church take heed & pray always lest ye fall into temptation yea & even he that is sanctified also & we know that these things are true & agreeable to the Revelations of John neither ad[ding] nor diminishing to the ~~Holy Scriptures~~ Prophecy of his Book neither to the Holy Scriptures neither to the Revelations of God which shall come hereafter by the gift & power of the Holy Ghost neither by the voice of God neither by the ministering of the ~~Holy Ghost~~ Angels & the Lord God hath spoken it & honour Power & glory be rendered to his holy name both now & ever amen

JSR notes on DC 27

The following is copied from JSR 73–80, in its commentary on [DC 27.]

In BC 28 is a commandment to the church dated 4 September 1830. In the 1835 D&C additional wording has been added. The commandment was published in the Evening and the Morning Star in March 1833 and reads the same as the BC, which is based on a handwritten manuscript of November 1831. The text was published in a non-Mormon newspaper, The Telegraph (Painesville, Ohio), on 19 April 1831. Once again the text compares closely with what later appeared in BC 28. In the one surviving manuscript in the handwriting of Edward Partridge, the text is close to all pre-1835 versions.

In the shorter text it states: “Behold this is wisdom in me, wherefore marvel not, for the hour cometh that I will drink of the fruit of the vine with you, on the earth, and with all those whom my Father hath given me out of the world[.]”

In the 1835 D&C, after the words “drink of the fruit of the vine with you, on the earth, and with” and before the words “all those whom my Father hath given me out of the world” is inserted a major block of material dealing with “the keys of bringing to pass the restoration of all things.”

The following will help sort those who are to drink of the fruit of the vine:

1. Moroni, who was sent to reveal the Book of Mormon and has the keys of the stick of Ephraim.
2. Elias [Gabriel], who has the keys of the restoration of all things and visited Zacharias and promised that John the Baptist would be filled with his spirit.
3. John the Baptist, who was sent to Smith and Cowdery “to ordain you unto this first priesthood...that you might be called and ordained even as Aaron.”

The text at this point deals with many other faithful who would celebrate when the Lord comes:

4. Elijah, who has the keys of Malachi 4:6.
5. Joseph, Jacob, Isaac, and Abraham.
6. Michael (or Adam).
7. Peter, James, and John, “by whom I have ordained you and confirmed you to be apostles” and “bear the keys of your ministry.” Peter, James, and John have “the keys of my kingdom and a dispensation of the gospel for the last times; and for the fulness of times.”

A strong indication that this is an embellished text is the phrase “Michael, or Adam, the father of all, the prince of all, the ancient of days.” A letter written by Oliver Cowdery on 1 January 1834 states: “Since I came down I have been informed from a proper source that the Angel Michael is no less than our father Adam, and Gabriel is Noah.”¹ This idea was not known to Cowdery until the end of 1833.

After a few words from the early text, another addition begins after the words “gird up your loins” and before “and be faithful until I come.” The majority of this is borrowed from Ephesians 6:13–17 (KJV) with minor differences. The point of including these words seems to be that Smith and Cowdery had taken upon them the “whole armor” and that the angels had sent to them the necessary equipment (keys) to protect them from the “fiery darts of the wicked.” This emphasis from Ephesians on the “preparation of the gospel of peace” (6:15) refers in its new context to angelic visits listed above with the words: “which I have sent mine angels to commit unto you.”

It appears that all the added material dates from after the time when the com-[p.75]mandment was received. The additions are too developed, the product of a later stage of theological evolution.

The title page of the 1835 edition states that the documents were selected from the revelations of God. Section 50 of the 1835 D&C is titled “Revelation given September, 1830” with no location given. Joseph Smith’s church history uses the 1835 text and mentions that a messenger appeared to Smith and that there were two sections to this revelation. The draft history of 1839 states:

Early in the month of August [1830] Newel Knights [Knight] and his wife paid us a visit at our place in Harmony. Neither his wife nor mine had been as yet confirmed, and it was proposed that we should have sacrament together & confirm them; before he & his wife should leave us. ~~and that we~~ In order to prepare for these things I set out—to go to procure some wine for the occasion. I had however gone but a short distance when I was met by a heavenly messenger, and had the following revelation. the first paragraph of which was written at this time, & the remainder in Septer [September] following Page 179 [LDS D&C 27; RLDS D&C 26]...We arrived at Fayette, during the last week of August...As a conference meeting had been appointed for the 1st [1st] September²

It is possible that Newel Knight helped James Mulholland with this portion of the history. The published Newel Knight journal states that Joseph Smith “received the first four verses of the revelation given on page 138, of the Doctrine and Covenants (new edition), the remainder being given in the September following at, Fayette, New York.”³ This reference to the new edition is to the 1879 edition of the LDS D&C which contains the heading: “The first four verses of the following Revelation, were given through Joseph, the Seer, in Harmony, Penn., August, 1830, and the remainder in Fayette, New York, September, 1830.”

The first paragraph of the 1835 printing of this commandment ends with the words “in this my Father’s kingdom which shall be built up on the earth.” In BC 28 this phrase ends verse 5 and there are two more short verses before the end of the document. The second paragraph in the 1835 D&C contains thirty words that were in BC 28:6. In addition, the earliest printing in the Evening and the Morning Star has sixty-three words after “built up on the earth” and ends with “Amen.”

¹The reference is to Cowdery’s letterbook, page 15, 1 January 1834. It’s a letter to John Whitmer. Cowdery’s letterbook is at the Huntington Library. On 3/14/2022, I messaged the Huntington and asked whether there is a digital copy; they told me there wasn’t. But the MPD has a Word document with transcriptions of at least some of the letters. See the entire letter from that transcription here.

³JSR note: “‘Newel Knight’s Journal,’ in Scraps of Biography. Tenth Book of the Faith-Promoting Series (Salt Lake City: Juvenile Instructor Office, 1883), 62. Newel Knight died in 1847.”

The manuscript history draft is incorrect that “the first paragraph of which was written at this time, & the remainder in Septer [September] following.” Interpretations that either two separate revelations were put together to complete the text or two separate revelations were given in different months and possibly at different locations do not fit the BC, the Evening and Morning Star, or an early manuscript of the text of this 4 September 1830 commandment.

The draft of Joseph Smith’s history has Newel Knight and his wife Sally visiting Harmony in early August, but it dates their arrival with Smith “at Fayette, during the last week of August” as a conference was scheduled for 1 September 1830. Since the conference started on 26 September, the draft history is twenty-five days too early. It appears that James Mulholland changed the September date of the revelation in the 1835 D&C to “August 1830” in the manuscript history. This was done to reconcile what he had previously written concerning the Knights visiting Smith in Harmony early in August since the second church conference had been incorrectly dated as 1 September. Mulholland moved back the visit of Newel and Sally Knight to early August when it should have been early September.

The 1835 text mentions drinking the fruit of the vine (wine) with Christ on the earth and with “Elias” who has “the keys of bringing to pass the restoration of all things, or the restorer of all things.” Mentioned next is John, son of Zacharias (known as John the Baptist who baptized Jesus). This “Elias” promised Zacharias that he would “have a son, and his name should be John” and that John would “be filled with the spirit of Elias.” In Luke 1:13 and 17 is recorded the name of the child and the promise of going forth “in the spirit of Elias,” meaning the spirit and power of Elijah.

That this refers to the spirit of Elijah is evident since in the New Testament the John the Baptist material applies to the passage in Malachi 4:5–6 about turning the hearts of the fathers to the children. In the New Testament John the Baptist is said to have put Malachi 4:5–6 into effect. Luke 1:19 records that the angel told Zacharias that his name was Gabriel. The angel Gabriel is mentioned in the Old Testament book of Daniel. If the passage about the angel promising Zacharias that his son would be “filled with the spirit of Elias” meant filled with the spirit of Gabriel, then this passage is in error.

In essence, the Elias in this 1835 revision was Gabriel, who on earth was Noah in the book of Genesis. Having a deceased person who lived come back to minister to people on earth is evidently another problem.

The revision of 1835 mentions that John the Baptist was sent to Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery to ordain them that they “might be called and ordained even as Aaron.” This first priesthood would by 1835 be called the Aaronic Priesthood or the Priesthood of Aaron though it did not require recipients to be descendants of Aaron or of the tribe of Levi.

Next mentioned to attend with Jesus on the earth is Elijah who has “the keys of the power of turning the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the hearts of the children to the fathers.” Here in the additional material we have Elias and Elijah as two distinct persons.

In the King James Version of the Bible, the proper names appear in the Hebrew form in the Old Testament (Elijah) and in Greek form in the New Testament (Elias). Elias and Elijah are the same person, the Tishbite of the Old Testament. They are not separate persons. When the Hebrew scriptures were translated into Greek in the Septuagint, the reading of Malachi 4:5 in English read: “I will send to you Elias the Thesbite,” clearly meaning Elijah the Tishbite.¹

To Joseph Smith, a number of people were considered an “Elias,” being a forerunner/preparer or a restorer. In addition to Gabriel, there was John the Baptist, Jesus, and John the Revelator. Smith spent time during 1830–33 correcting the Bible. This work is known variously as the Inspired Version, Joseph Smith Revision, or the Joseph Smith Translation (JST). The JST is Joseph Smith’s doctrinal correction (“translation”) of the Old and New Testaments and does not restore the Hebrew or Greek biblical text.

The New Testament KJV records that John the Baptist was to go before the Lord in the spirit and power of Elias [Elijah]. Jesus explained that, for those who understood, John the Baptist was the Elijah they were waiting for. John the Baptist was understood by Christ’s disciples as the Elias (Elijah) who would “restore all things.”

Joseph Smith dictated his revision of Matthew 17 in the spring of 1831. It tells about Jesus being transfigured on a high mountain before Peter, James, and John. While Smith had the text refer to John the Baptist, he also had the name Elias used for “another which should come and restore all things.” His scribe Sidney Rigdon wrote (italics are added words to the KJV):

and his disciples asked him [Jesus] saying why then say the Scribes that Elias must first come[?] and Jesus answered and said unto them Elias truly shall first come and restore all things as the prophets have written and again I say unto you that Elias has come already and they knew him not and have done unto him whatsoever they listed likewise shall also the son of Man suffer of them

*but I say unto you who is Elias[?] behold this is Elias who I send to prepare the way before me Then the disciples understood that he spake unto them of John the Baptist and also of another which should come and restore all things as they were written by the prophets*²

¹JSR here quotes a Zondervan edition of the LXX from 1970. JSR is basically right even though it’s a bit more complicated than that. At least in my critical edition of the LXX, the book of Malachi has only three chapters, not four. The verse which speaks of Elias (Elijah) is 3:22: καὶ ἰδοὺ ἐγὼ ἀποστέλλω ὑμῖν Ἠλίαν τὸν Θεσβίτην πρὶν ἔλθειν ἡμέραν κυρίου τὴν μεγάλην καὶ ἐπιφανῆ. Clearly the Tishbite thing (Θεσβίτην) is in there. I have seen other versions of the LXX though where they include a fourth chapter with those verses instead of having three chapters, so there must be other ways of organizing it.

²JSR’s note says that this passage comes from NTR1, for Matthew 17:9–14. Here is NTR2 for the same passage: “& <And> his deciples asked him, saying,

In August 1831 Joseph Smith was told the “day of transfiguration shall come when the earth shall be transfigured even according to the pattern which was shown unto mine apostles upon the mount of which account the fulness ye have not yet received.”¹ When Smith and Sidney Rigdon revised Mark in the fall of 1831 concerning the transfiguration, Smith interpreted the Elias who appeared before the four men not as the prophet Elijah but as John the Baptist. The King James Version reads, “And there appeared unto them Elias with Moses: and they were talking with Jesus.”² But Smith’s revision reads, “And there appeared unto them Elias with Moses, or in other words, John the baptist and Moses; and they were talking with Jesus.”³ The words “or in other words” help us to understand this is commentary by Smith. The mention of Moses and Elias in Matthew means Moses and Elijah, representatives of the law and the prophets.

When Smith first revised Matthew 11 in 1831, the manuscript had Jesus saying: “and if ye will receive me I am Elias which was for to come.”⁴ This reading was also copied onto the second New Testament manuscript shortly after with the same reading. A number of changes were made to this manuscript, and this reading was revised in December 1832 or January 1833 with the words “me I am Elias” being crossed through and the passage now applying to John the Baptist.⁵

John 1 describes John the Baptist being questioned. Sidney Rigdon originally wrote in January or February 1832 the following:

and he [John the Baptist] confessed and denyed [denied] not but confessed I am not the christ and they asked him what then art thou Elias[?] and he saith I am not[.] art thou that prophet[?] and he answered no...and they asked him and said unto him why baptisest thou then if thou be not the christ nor Elias neither that prophet[?] John answered...he it is of *whom I bear record he is that Prophet, even Elias*⁶

This passage was further revised in December 1832 or January 1833 on a note pinned to the manuscript as follows:

And he [John the Baptist] confessed, and denyed [denied] not that he was Elias, but confessed, saying; I am not the christ. And they asked him, saying; How then art thou Elias? And he saith, I am not that Elias who was to restore all things. And they asked him, saying; Art thou that Prophet? And he answered; No...And they asked him, and said unto him; why baptisest thou then, if thou be not the christ, nor Elias who was to restore all things, neither that prophet?⁷

In March 1832, when Joseph Smith first revised the biblical book of Revelation, a number of questions were asked concerning the interpretation of passages in that book. To the question relating to the angel of Revelation 7:2, Smith answered, “the angel ascending from the east is he to whom is given the seal of the living God over the twelve tribes of Israel...And, if you will receive it, this is Elias which was to come to gather together the tribes of Israel.” To a question about Revelation 10, the answer was, “We are to understand that it was a mission, and an ordinance, for him to gather the tribes of Israel; behold, this is Elias, who, as it is written, must come and restore all things.”⁸ In June 1831 Smith prophesied “that John the Revelator was then among the ten tribes of Israel.”⁹ Levi Hancock who attended the same meeting wrote, “Joseph said that John was to tarry until Christ came. He is now with the ten tribes preaching to them and when we can get ready for them they will come.”¹⁰

While Joseph Smith was trying to make it clear to himself who various biblical personages were as he interpreted the text, he also created a number of confused passages. For example, in LDS D&C 76:100; RLDS D&C 76:7 (16 Feb. 1832), he used New Testament names of Elias [Elijah] and Esaias [Isaiah] and used the Old Testament name of Isaiah: “some of Moses, and some of Elias, and some of Esaias, and some of Isaiah, and some of Enoch.” Later it was said that “Esaias also lived in the days of Abraham.”¹¹ In LDS D&C 110:12 mention is made of a vision when “Elias appeared, and committed the dispensation of the gospel of Abraham.” Some have interpreted this to mean the Old Testament prophet Noah (Elias = Gabriel = Noah), or it may refer to Esaias who “lived in the days of Abraham.”

Why then say the Scribes that Elias must first come? & <And> Jesus answered & said unto them, Elias truly shall first come, & restore all things. ~~as the Prophets have written & again I say unto you that <that> Elias is <has> come already <concerning whom it <is> written, Behold I will send my messenger and he shall prepare the way before me> & they knew him not & have done unto him whatsoever they listed*~~ Likewise shall also the Son of man suffer of them. But I say unto you, Who is Elias? Behold, this is Elias whom I send to prepare the way before me. Then the Deciples understood that he spake unto them of John the Baptist, & also of another which should come <5/> & restore all things, as ~~they were~~ <it is> written by the Prophets.”

Smith's doctrine of Elias developed further, and Elias was applied in the revision of 1835 to the angel Gabriel. This application does not fit an 1830 context as the 1835 revision seemingly implies.

The 1835 addition to the September 1830 commandment also mentioned Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and Joseph. Then there would be "Michael, or Adam, the father of all, the prince of all, the ancient of days."

The final persons named to gather with Jesus were the apostles Peter, James, and John, who were sent "unto whom I have committed the keys of the kingdom, and [p.80] a dispensation of the gospel for the last times; and for the fulness of times." This 1835 addition is the earliest known record of Christ's apostles being sent to visit Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery.⁵⁹ Smith and Cowdery ordained each other elders (apostles) on 6 April 1830.

DC 29 as recorded in "Hyde and Smith, Notebook"

[Orson Hyde wrote down this version of DC 29 in a notebook that he apparently kept with some "Smith," possibly Hyrum. The JSP website says this about the source: Revelation, [Fayette Township, Seneca Co., NY], [Sept. 1830]. Version copied between [ca. 25 Jan. and 1 Feb. 1832] in Hyde and Smith, Notebook, [29]–[38]; handwriting of Orson Hyde; Revelations Collection, CHL.]

A Commandment to the to the Church of Christ given to six elders of the Church which are agreed in the presence of three of the members, Listen to the voice of Jesus Christ your Redeemer the great I am whose arm of mercy hath atoned for your sins who will gather his Elect even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings even as many as will hearken to my voice and humble themselves before me and call upon me in mighty prayer, behold verily I say unto you that at this time your sins are forgiven you therefore ye receive these things but remember to sin no more lest perils shall come upon you verily I say unto you that ye are chosen out of the world to declare my gospel with the sound of rejoicing as with the voice of a trumpet lift up your hearts and be glad, for I am in your midst and am your advocate with the father and it is his good will to give you the Kingdom & as it is written whatsoever ye shall ask in faith believing ye united in prayer according to my commandment ye shall receive and ye are called to bring to pass the gathering of mine elect, For mine elect hear my voice & hearken not their hearts wherefore the decree hath gone forth from the father that they shall be gathered into one place upon the face of this land to prepare their hearts & to be prepared in all things against the day of tribulation and destruction sent forth upon the wicked for the hour is nigh and the day soon at hand when the Earth is ripe and I will burn them up that wickedness shall not be upon the Earth for the hour is nigh and that which was spoken by mine apostles must be fulfilled for as they spake so shall it come to pass for I will reveal myself from heaven with power and great glory with all the hosts thereof and dwell in righteousness with men on Earth a Thousand years and the wicked shall not stand and again verily I say unto you & it hath gone forth in a firm decree by the will of the father that mine apostles the 12 which were with me in my ministry at Jerusalem shall stand at my right hand at the day of my coming in a pillar of fire being clothed with robes of righteousness with crowns upon their heads in glory even as I am to judge the whole house of Israel even as many as have loved me and kept my commandments and none else for a trumpet shall sound both long and loud and even as upon mount Sinai and all the earth shall quake & they shall come forth yea even the dead which died in me to receive a crown of righteousness & to be clothed upon even as I am to be with me that we may be one but behold I say unto you that before this great day shall come the sun shall be darkened and the moon shall be turned into blood & the stars shall fall from heaven & there shall be greater signs in heaven above and in the Earth beneath, & there shall be a great Hail storm sent forth to destroy the crops of the Earth and it shall come to pass because of the wickedness of the world I will take vengeance upon the wicked for they will not repent for the cup of mine indignation is full, for behold my blood shall not cleanse them if they hear me not wherefore I the Lord <God> will send forth flies upon the face of the Earth which shall take hold of the inhabitants thereof & shall eat their flesh & shall cause maggots to come in upon them and their tongues shall be stayed that they shall not utter against me, and their flesh shall fall from off their bones and their eyes from their sockets and it shall come to pass that the beasts of the forest and the fowls of the air shall devour them up & that great and abominable Church which is the whore of all the Earth shall be cast down by devouring fire according as it was spoken by the mouth of Ezekiel the prophet which spake of these things which have not come to pass but surely must as I live for abominations shall not reign and again verily I say unto you when the Thousand years are ended & men again begin to deny their God then will I spare the Earth but for a little season & the end shall come & the heaven and Earth shall be consumed and pass away & then shall be a new heaven and a new Earth for all old things shall pass away & all things shall become new when the heavens and the Earth and all the fulness thereof both men and beasts the fowls of the air and the fishes of the seas and not on[e] hair neither mote shall be lost for it is the workmanship of mine hand, but behold verily I say unto you before the Earth shall pass away Michael mine archangel shall sound his trumpet and then shall all the dead awake for their graves shall be opened and they shall come forth even all & the righteous shall be gathered on my right hand into eternal life and the wicked on my left hand will I be ashamed to own before the father wherefore I will say unto them depart from me ye cursed into everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels and now behold I say unto you never at any time hath I declared from mine own mouth that they should return for where I am they cannot come for they have no power, but remember that all my judgments are not given unto man, and as the words have gone forth out of my mouth even so shall they be fulfilled that the first should be last and that the last should be first in all things, whatsoever I have created by the word of my power which is the power of my spirit for by the power of my spirit created I them, yea all things both spiritual and temporal firstly spiritual secondly temporal which is the beginning of my work, and again firstly temporal and secondly spiritual which is the last of my work speaking unto you that ye may naturally understand, but unto myself my works hath no end neither beginning but it is given unto you that ye may understand because ye have asked it of me and are agreed wherefore verily I say unto you that all things unto me are spiritual and not at any time have I given unto you a law which was temporal neither any man neither the children of men neither adam your father whom I have created behold I gave unto him but no carnal commandments for my commandments are spiritual th[e]y are not natural nor temporal neither carnal nor sensual and it came to pass that adam being <tempted> of the Devil for behold the Devil was before Adam for he rebelled against me saying give me thine honour which is my power and also the Third part of the hosts of heaven turned he away from me because of their agency and They were Thrust down & thus came the Devil and his angels & behold a place prepared for them from the beginning which place is hell and must be that the Devil should tempt the children of men or they cannot be agents unto themselves for if they never should have bitter they would not know the sweet wherefore it came to pass that the Devil tempted Adam & he partook of the forbidden fruit and transgressed the commandments wherefore he became subject to the will of the Devil because he yielded to temptation wherefore I the Lord God caused that he should be cast out from the garden of Eden from my presence because of his transgression wherein he became spiritually dead which is the first Death even that that same death which is the last death which is spiritual which shall be pronounced upon the wicked when I shall say depart ye cursed but behold I say unto you that I the Lord God gave unto Adam & unto his seed that they should not die as to the temporal death until I the Lord God should send forth Angels to declare unto them repentance & redemption through faith on the name of mine onely begotten son and thus did I the Lord God appoint unto man the days of his probation that by his natural death he might be raised in immortality unto eternal life even as many as would believe & they that believe not unto eternal damnation for they cannot be redeemed from their spiritual fall because they repented not for they will Love darkness rather than light and their deeds are evil & they receive their wages of whom they list to obey but behold I say unto you that little child[re]n are redeemed from the fall foundation of the world through mine onely begotten wherefore they cannot sin for power is not given unto Satan to tempt little children until they begin to be accountable befor me for it is given unto them even as I will according to mine own pleasure that great things may be required at the hand of their fathers & again I say unto you that whoso having knowledge have I not commanded to repent & he that hath no understanding it remaineth in me to do accord[in]g as it is written & now I declare no more at unto you at this time Amen

Symonds Rider version of DC 35

This version of DC 35 comes from the Ohio Star, published on 5 January 1832. See notes at section 35 for the background to this publication. See this version online [here.]

A commandment to Joseph and Sidney [Rigdon], Dec. 7th, 1830, saying: Listen to the voice of the Lord your God, even Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, whose course is an eternal round, the same today as yesterday, and forever. I am Jesus Christ the Son of God, who was crucified for the sins of the world, even as many as will believe on my name, that they may become the sons of God, even one in me as I am in the Father, as the Father is one in me, that we may be one. Behold, verily, verily I say unto my servant Sidney, I have looked upon thee and thy works; I have heard thy prayers, and prepared thee for a greater work. Thou art blessed, for thou shalt do great things. Behold thou wast sent forth, even as John, to prepare the way before me, and Elijah, which should come thou knew it not.— Thou didst baptize by water, unto repentance, but they received not the Holy Ghost; but now I give unto you a commandment, that thou shalt baptize by water, and give the Holy Ghost by the laying on of hands, even as the Apostles of old; and it shall come to pass that there shall be a great work in the land, even among the gentiles, for their folly; their abominations shall be made manifest in the eyes of all people, for I am God, and mine arm is not shortened; and I will show miracles, signs, and wonders, unto all those who believe on my name; and whoso shall ask it in my name, in faith, they shall cast out Devils; they shall heal the sick; they shall cause the blind to receive their sight, and the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak, and the lame to walk; and this speedily cometh, that great things are to be shown forth unto the children of men; but without faith shall not any thing be shown forth, except desolation upon Babylon, the same which has made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication; and there is none that doeth good, except they that are ready to receive the fulness of my gospel, which I have sent forth to this generation; wherefore, I have called upon the weak things, they that are unlearned and despised, to thrash the nations by the power of my spirit, and their arm shall be mine arm, and I will be their shield and their buckler; I will gird up their loins and they shall fight manfully for me, and their enemies shall be under their feet, and I will let fall my sword in their behalf, and by the fire of mine indignation will I pursue them; and the poor and the meek shall have the gospel preached unto them, and they shall be looking forth for the time of my coming, for it is nigh at hand, and they shall learn the parable of the fig tree, for even now already summer is nigh, and I have sent forth the fulness of my gospel by the hand of my servant Joseph, and in weakness have I blessed him, and I have given unto him the keys of the mystery of those things which have been sealed, even things which was from the foundation of the world, and the things which shall come from this time to the time of my coming, if he abide in me, and if not, another will I plant in his stead, wherefore, watch over him, that his faith fail not, and it shall be given by the comforter, the Holy Ghost, which knoweth all things. And a commandment I give unto you that thou shalt write for him, and the scriptures shall be given even as they are in my own bosom, to the salvation of mine own elect, for they will hear my voice and shall see me, and shall not be asleep, and shall abide the day of my coming, for they shall be purified even as I am pure. And now I say unto you, tarry with him, and he shall journey with thee, forsake him not, and surely these things shall be fulfilled. And inasmuch as ye do not write, behold it shall be given unto him to prophecy; and thou shalt preach my gospel, and call on the holy prophets to prove his words as they shall be given him; keep all the commandments and covenants by which ye are bound, and I will cause the heavens to shake for your good, and Satan shall tremble, and Zion shall rejoice upon the hills and flourish, Israel shall be saved in mine own due time, and by the keys which have been given shall they be led, and no more be confounded at all. Lift up your hearts and be glad: your redemption draweth nigh. Fear not, little flock! the kingdom is yours, until I come. Behold I come quickly; even so—Amen.

The Spirits which have gone abroad in the <Earth>

<Rec^d. in May 1831>

Hearken O ye Elders of my Church & give Ear to the voice of the living God & attend unto the words of wisdom which shall be given unto you according as ye have asked and are agreed as touching the Church & the Spirits which have gone abroad in the Earth, behold verily I Say unto you that there are many Spirits which are false Spirits which have gone forth in the earth deceiving the world, & also Satan hath Sought to deceive you that he might overthrow you, behold I the Lord have looked upon you, & have seen abominations in the Church which profess my name, but blessed are they who are faithful & endure whether in life or in death for they shall / inherit Eternal life, but wo unto them that are deceivers & hypocrites for thus saith the Lord, I will bring them to Judgement, Behold verily I say unto you, there are Hypocrites among you & they have deceived some, which has given the adversary power, but behold such shall be reclaimed, but the Hypocrites shall be detected & shall be cut off,— whether in life or in death even as I will and wo is them that are cut off from my Church, for the same is overcome of the world— Wherefore let every man beware lest he do that which is not in truth & righteousness before me, and now Come saith the Lord, by the Spirit unto the Elders of his Church and let us reason together that ye may understand, let us reason as a man reasoneth one with another, face to face— now when a man reasoneth he understandeth of man, because he reasoneth as a man even so will I the Lord reason with you, that you may understand, wherefore I the Lord asketh you this question, unto what was ye ordained to preach my Gospel by the Spirit, even the Comforter which was sent forth to teach the truth, & then received ye the Spirits which ye could not understand, and received them to be of God— and in this are ye justified?— Behold ye shall answer this question of yourselves, nevertheless I will be merciful unto you, he that is weak among you hereafter shall be made strong— verily I say unto you he that is ordained of me, & sent forth to preach the word of truth by the Comforter in the Spirit of truth, doth he preach it by the Spirit of truth, or some other way, & if by some other way, it be not of God, and again he that receiveth the word of truth, doth he receive it by the Spirit of truth or some other way, if it be some other way it be not of God.— Wherefore why is it that ye cannot understand & know that he that receiveth the word by the Spirit of truth receiveth it as it is preached by the Spirit of truth, wherefore, he that preacheth & he that receiveth understandeth one another and both are edified and rejoice together and that which doth not edify is not of God and is darkness, that which is of God is light, & he that receiveth light & continueth in God receiveth more light, and that light groweth brighter & brighter untill the perfect day.

And again verily I say unto you, & I say it that you may know the truth, that ye may Chase darkness from among you, for he that is ordained of God & sent forth, the same is appointed to be the greatest, notwithstanding he is least & the servant of all, wherefore, he is possessor of all things for all things are subject unto him both in Heaven & on the earth, the life and the light, the Spirit & the power, sent forth by the will of the Father through Jesus Christ his son, but no man is possessor of all things except he be purified & Cleansed from all sin, & if ye are purified & cleansed from all sin, ye shall ask whatsoever you will in the name of Jesus & it shall be done, but know this it shall be given you what ye shall ask and as ye are appointed to the head the Spirit shall be subject unto you, wherefore it shall come to pass that if ye behold a spirit manifested that ye cannot understand, and you receive not that Spirit, ye shall ask of the Father in the name of Jesus, & if he give not unto you that Spirit then you may know that it is not of God, and it shall be given unto you power over that spirit, & you shall proclaim against that Spirit with a loud voice that it is not of God, not with railing accusation, that ye be not overcome, neither with boasting nor rejoicing, lest ye be seized therewith, He that receiveth of God let him account it of God, & let him rejoice that he is accounted of God worthy to receive, & by giving heed & doing these things which ye have received & which ye shall hereafter receive, and the kingdom is given unto you of the Father & power to overcome all things which is not ordained of him & behold verily I say unto you, <blessed are you that> hear these words of mine from the mouth of my Servant for your Sins are forgiven you.—

Let my Servant Joseph [Wakefield] in whom I am well pleased, & my servant Parley [P. Pratt] go forth among the Churches & strengthen them by the word of Exhortation & also my Servant John [Corrill], or as many of my servants as are ordained unto this office & let them labour in the vineyard and let no man hinder them of doing that which I have appointed unto them, wherefore in this thing my Servant Edward [Partridge] is not justified, nevertheless, let him repent & he shall be forgiven— Behold ye are little Children, & ye cannot bear all things now, ye must grow in grace & in the knowledge of the truth, fear not little Children for you are mine & I have overcome the world & you are of them that my father hath given me and none of them which my father hath given me shall be lost— and the Father & I are one I am in the Father & the Father in me, & inasmuch as ye have rec^d. me ye are in me, and I in you, wherefore I am in your midst, & I am the good Shepherd & the day Cometh that you Shall hear my voice & see me and know that I am.— watch therefore that ye may be ready, even so Amen.

A commandment concerning the Spirit

Hearken o ye elders of my Church & give ere [ear] to the voice of the living God & attend to the words of wisdom which shall be given unto you according as ye have asked & are agreed as touching the church & the spirits which have gone abroad behold verily I say unto you that there are many spirits which are false spirits which have gone forth in the earth deceiving the world & also Satan hath sought to deceive you that he might overthrow you, behold I the lord have looked upon you and have seen abominations in the Church which profess my name, but blessed are they who are faithful & endure whether in life or in death for they shall inherit eternal life but wo unto them that are deceivers & hypocrites for thus saith the Lord I will bring them to judgment, behold verily I say unto you there are hypocrites among you & have deceived some which have given the adversary power but behold such shall be reclaimed but the hypocrites shall be detected & shall be cut off either in life or in death even as I will & wo is them that is cut off from my church for the same is overcome of the world wherefore let every man be aware lest he do that which is not in truth & righteousness before me, And now come saith the Lord by the Spirit unto the Elders of his church & let us reason together that ye may understand let us reason even as a man reasoneth one with another face to face, now when a man reasoneth he is understood of man because he reasoneth as a man even so will I the lord reason with you that you may understand wherefore I the Lord asketh you this question unto what was ye ordained, to preach my Gospel by the spirit even the comforter which was sent forth to teach the truth & then received ye spirits which ye could not understand & rec^d. them to be of God & in this are ye justified!¹ behold ye shall answer this question of yourselves nevertheless I will be merciful unto you he that is weak among you hereafter shall be made strong verily I say unto you he that is ordained of me & sent forth to preach the word of truth by the comforter the spirit of truth doth he preach it by the spirit of truth or some other way if by some other way it be not of God, & again, he that receiveth the word of truth doth he receive it by the spirit of truth or some other way if it be some other way it be not of God. Therefore why is it that ye cannot understand & know that he that receiveth the word by the spirit of truth receiveth it as it is preached by the spirit of truth wherefore he that preacheth & he that receiveth understandeth one another & both are edified & rejoice together & that which doth not edify is not of God & is darkness, That which is of God is light & he that receiveth light & continueth in God receiveth more light & that light groweth brighter & brighter until the perfect day & again verily I say unto you & I say it that you may know the truth that you may chase darkness from among you for he that is ordained of God & sent forth the same is appointed to be greatest nevertheless he is least & the servant of all wherefore he is possessor of all things for all things are subject unto him both in heaven & on the earth the life & the light the spirit & the power sent forth by the will of the father through Jesus Christ his son but no man is possessor of all things except he be purified and cleansed from all sin & if ye are purified & cleansed from all sin ye shall ask whatsoever you will in the name of Jesus & it shall be done but know this it shall be given you what ye shall ask & as ye are appointed to the head the spirits shall be subject unto you wherefore it shall come to pass that if ye behold a spirit manifested that ye cannot understand & you receive not that spirit ye shall ask of the father in the name of Jesus & if he give not unto you that spirit then you may know that it is not of God & it shall be given unto you power over that spirit & you shall proclaim against that spirit with a loud voice that it is not of God & not with railing accusation that ye be not over come neither with boasting nor rejoicing lest you be seized therewith he that receiveth of God let him account it of God & let him rejoice that he is accounted of God worthy to receive & by giving heed & doing these things which ye have received & which ye shall hereafter receive & the Kingdom is given unto you of the father and power to overcome all things which is not ordained of him & behold verily I say unto you blessed are you that hear these words of mine from the mouth of my servant for your sins are forgiven you, let my servant Joseph [Wakefield] in whom I am well pleased & my servant Parley [P. Pratt] go forth among the churches & strengthen them by the word of exhortation & also my servant John [Corrill] & as many of my servants as are ordained unto this office & let them labour in the vineyard & let no man hinder them of doing that which I have appointed unto them wherefore in this thing My servant Edward [Partridge] is not justified nevertheless let him repent & he shall be forgiven behold ye are little children & ye cannot bear all things now ye must grow in grace & in the knowledge of the truth fear not little children for ye are mine & I have overcome the world & ye are of them that my father Hath given me & none of them which my father hath given me shall be lost & the father & I are one I am in the father & the father in me & inasmuch as ye have rec^d. me ye are in me & I in you wherefore I am in your midst & I am the good Shepherd & the day cometh that you shall hear my voice & see me & Know that I am watch therefore that ye may be ready even so—

Hearken unto me saith the Lord your God & I will speak unto my Servant Edward [Partridge] & give unto him directions for it must needs be that he receive directions how to organize this people for it must needs be that they are organized according to my laws, if otherwise they will be cut off, wherefore let my Servant Edw^d. receive the properties of this people which have covenanted with me to obey the laws which I have given & let my Servant Edward receive the money as it shall be laid before him according to the Covenant & go & obtain a deed or article of this Land unto himself for I have appointed him to receive these things & thus through him the properties of this Church shall be consecrated unto me, wherefore let my Servant Edward & those whom he has chosen in whom I am well pleased, appoint unto this people their portion every man alike according to their families, according to their wants & needs & let my Servant Edw^d. when he shall appoint a man his portion give unto him a writing that shall secure unto him his portion, that he shall hold it of the church untill he transgress & is not counted worthy by the voice of the Church according to the laws, to belong to the Church, & thus all things shall be made sure, according to the laws of the land & let that which belongeth to to this people be appointed unto this people & the money which is left unto this people let there be an agent appointed unto this people to take the money to provide food and raiment according to the wants of this people & let every man deal honestly & be alike among this people & receive alike that ye may be one even as I have commanded you, & let that which belongeth to this people not be taken & given unto that of another Church, wherefore if another Church would receive money of this Church let them pay unto this Church again according as they should agree & this shall be done through the Bishop or the Agent which shall be appointed by the voice of the Church— and again let the Bishop appoint a Store House unto this Church & let all things both in money & <in> meat which is more than is need full for the wants of this people be kept in the hands of the Bishop & let him also reserve unto himself for his own wants & for the wants of his family as he shall be employed in doing this business— and thus I grant unto this people a privilege of organizing themselves according to my laws & I consecrate unto them this land for a little season, untill I the Lord shall provide for them otherwise & command them to go hence, & the hour & the day i[s] not given unto them, wherefore let the[m] act upon this land as for years & this sh[all] turn unto them for their good— Behold this shall be ensample unto my Servant Edward in other places, in all churches & whose is found a faithful & just & a wise steward shall enter into the joy his Lord & shall inherit eternal life— Verily I say unto you I am Jesus Chris[t] who cometh quickly, in an hour ye think not— Even So— Amen.

Structure of DC 76

The “Poetic Paraphrase” of DC 76

Introduction and background

In early 1843, the “poetic” version of this vision was published in the Times and Seasons (4:6, 1 February 1843, 81–85; see here). Before the poetic version there is a short poem called “Vade Mecum, (Translated.) Go With Me.” Here is the text of that poem (the line numbers are my addition):

vade mecum, (translated,) go with me.

Go with me, will you go to the saints that have died,—	2
To the next, better world, where the righteous reside;
Where the angels and spirits in harmony be	4
In the joys of a vast paradise? Go with me.
Go with me where the truth and the virtues prevail;	6
Where the union is one, and the years never fail;
Not a heart can conceive, nor a nat’ral eye see	8
What the Lord has prepar’d for the just. Go with me.
Go with me where there is no destruction or war;	10
Neither tyrants, or sland’ers, or nations ajar;
Where the system is perfect, and happiness free,	12
And the life is eternal with God. Go with me.
Go with me, will you go to the mansions above,	14
Where the bliss, and the knowledge, the light, and the love,
And the glory of God do eternally be?—	16
Death, the wages of sin, is not there. Go with me.
Nauvoo, January, 1843.

After that short poem follows 78 stanzas of the vision in section 76. The short poem claims to have been written by W. W. Phelps to JS; the next one, the one with the vision, is called “The Answer” and is addressed to Phelps. JS’s name appears at the end of it as though he is the author.

There are two views about who is the actual author of the poem. Michael Hicks argues, in this article, that the author is actually Phelps himself. Summarizing the available evidence—the article appeared in 1994, and he gives a more detailed discussion of each piece of evidence in the article—Hicks writes, “Several points, then, argue for Phelps’s authorship of the poem. First, much of the poem’s diction and imagery is more characteristic of Phelps than Smith. Second, the poem seems to deny Rigdon his irrevocable place as a witness to the vision. Third, Smith’s diary inexplicably makes no mention of his creation of so weighty a document. Fourth, Phelps was authorized to write for Smith. Fifth, he was practiced in poetic paraphrases of scripture.” In my opinion this evidence is fairly compelling.

The second view is that JS is the author, given that it appears over his name. The JSP takes this view, since the document appears under the heading “Poem to William W. Phelps, between circa 1 and circa 15 February 1843” (JSP D11:421). D11:422–423 discusses the issue, but doesn’t really go through the evidence in any detail; all it really says is that “JS’s level of engagement with the poem’s production is unclear” but that “there is no conclusive evidence that Phelps was involved with JS’s poem, and JS may have worked with others such as Parley P. Pratt, who returned to Nauvoo in early February, or Eliza R. Snow, who continued to live in JS’s home until mid-February, both of whom were accomplished poets. Nevertheless, the poem was written in JS’s voice, even including the phrase ‘I, Joseph, the prophet’” (D11:422–423). To me this is a pretty unsophisticated take on the available evidence, and they don’t even cite Hicks’s article, which is a little weird.

Taken together, the evidence suggests there is great doubt that JS is the author of the poetic version, and there are good reasons, but not conclusive ones, to think that Phelps is the author.

For a line-by-line comparison of the whole section and the whole poem, see here.

“The Answer” poem

[Note that the line numbers on the right side did not appear in the original publication; the stanza numbers are original.]

THE ANSWER: TO W[ILLIAM] W. PHELPS, ESQ. A Vision.

1. I will go, I will go, to the home of the Saints,	2
Where the virtue’s the value, and life the reward;
But before I return to my former estate	4
I must fulfil the mission I had from the Lord.
2. Wherefore, hear, O ye heavens, and give ear O ye earth;	6
And rejoice ye inhabitants truly again;
For the Lord he is God, and his life never ends,	8
And besides him there ne’er was a Saviour of men.

3. His ways are a wonder; his wisdom is great; The extent of his doings, there's none can unveil; His purposes fail not; from age unto age He still is the same, and his years never fail.	10 12
4. His throne is the heavens, his life time is all Of eternity now , and eternity then ; His union is power, and none stays his hand,— The Alpha, Omega, for ever: Amen.	14 16
5. For thus saith the Lord, in the spirit of truth, I am merciful, gracious, and good unto those That fear me, and live for the life that's to come; My delight is to honor the saints with repose;	18 20
6. That serve me in righteousness true to the end; Eternal's their glory, and great their reward; I'll surely reveal all my myst'ries to them,— The great hidden myst'ries in my kingdom stor'd—	22 24
7. From the council in Kolob, to time on the earth. And for ages to come unto them I will show My pleasure & will, what my kingdom will do: Eternity's wonders they truly shall know.	26 28
8. Great things of the future I'll show unto them, Yea, things of the vast generations to rise; For their wisdom and glory shall be very great, And their pure understanding extend to the skies:	30 32
9. And before them the wisdom of wise men shall cease, And the nice understanding of prudent ones fail! For the light of my spirit shall light mine elect, And the truth is so mighty 't will ever prevail.	34 36
10. And the secrets and plans of my will I'll reveal; The sanctified pleasures when earth is renew'd, What the eye hath not seen, nor the ear hath yet heard; Nor the heart of the natural man ever hath view'd.	38 40
11. I, Joseph, the prophet, in spirit beheld, And the eyes of the inner man truly did see Eternity sketch'd in a vision from God, Of what was, and now is, and yet is to be.	42 44
12. Those things which the Father ordained of old, Before the world was, or a system had run,— Through Jesus the Maker and Savior of all; The only begotten, (Messiah) his son.	46 48
13. Of whom I bear record, as all prophets have, And the record I bear is the fulness,—yea even The truth of the gospel of Jesus— the Christ , With whom I convers'd, in the vision of heav'n.	50 52
14. For while in the act of translating his word, Which the Lord in his grace had appointed to me, I came to the gospel recorded by John, Chapter fifth and the twenty ninth verse, which you'll see. Which was given as follows:	54 56

Speaking of the resurrection of the dead,—	58
Concerning those who shall hear the voice of the son of man—
And shall come forth:—	60
They who have done good in the resurrection of the just.
And they who have done evil in the resurrection of the unjust.	62
15. I marvel'd at these resurrections, indeed!
For it came unto me by the spirit direct:—	64
And while I did meditate what it all meant,
The Lord touch'd the eyes of my own intellect:—	66
16. Hosanna forever! they open'd anon,
And the glory of God shone around where I was;	68
And there was the Son, at the Father's right hand,
In a fulness of glory, and holy applause.	70
17. I beheld round the throne, holy angels and hosts,
And sanctified beings from worlds that have been,	72
In holiness worshipping God and the Lamb,
Forever and ever, amen and amen!	74
18. And now after all of the proofs made of him,
By witnesses truly, by whom he was known,	76
This is mine, last of all, that he lives; yea he lives!
And sits at the right hand of God, on his throne.	78
19. And I heard a great voice, bearing record from heav'n,
He's the Saviour, and only begotten of God—	80
By him, of him, and through him, the worlds were all made,
Even all that career in the heavens so broad,	82
20. Whose inhabitants, too, from the first to the last,
Are sav'd by the very same Saviour of ours;	84
And, of course, are begotten God's daughters and sons,
By the very same truths, and the very same pow'rs.	86
21. And I saw and bear record of warfare in heav'n;
For an angel of light, in authority great,	88
Rebell'd against Jesus, and sought for his pow'r,
But was thrust down to woe from his Godified state.	90
22. And the heavens all wept, and the tears drop'd like dew,
That Lucifer, son of the morning had fell!	92
Yea, is fallen! is fall'n, and become, Oh, alas!
The son of Perdition; the devil of hell!	94
23. And while I was yet in the spirit of truth,
The commandment was: write ye the vision all out;	96
For Satan, old serpent, the devil's for war,—
And yet will encompass the saints round about.	98
24. And I saw, too, the suff'ring and mis'ry of those,
(Overcome by the devil, in warfare and fight,)	100
In hell-fire, and vengeance, the doom of the damn'd;
For the Lord said, the vision is further: so write.	102
25. For thus saith the Lord, now concerning all those
Who know of my power and partake of the same;	104
And suffer themselves, that they be overcome
By the power of Satan; despising my name:—	106

26. Defying my power, and denying the truth;— They are they—of the world, or of men, most forlorn, The Sons of Perdition, of whom, ah! I say, 'T were better for them had they never been born!	108 110
27. They're vessels of wrath, and dishonor to God, Doom'd to suffer his wrath, in the regions of woe, Through the terrific night of eternity's round, With the devil and all of his angels below:	112 114
28. Of whom it is said, no forgiveness is giv'n, In this world, alas! nor the world that's to come; For they have denied the spirit of God, After having receiv'd it: and mis'ry's their doom.	116 118
29. And denying the only begotten of God,— And crucify him to themselves, as they do, And openly put him to shame in their flesh, By gospel they cannot repentance renew.	120 122
30. They are they, who must go to the great lake of fire, Which burneth with brimstone, yet never consumes, And dwell with the devil, and angels of his, While eternity goes and eternity comes.	124 126
31. They are they, who must groan through the great second death, And are not redeemed in the time of the Lord; While all the rest are, through the triumph of Christ, Made partakers of grace, by the power of his word.	128 130
32. The myst'ry of Godliness truly is great;— The past, and the present, and what is to be; And this is the gospel—glad tidings to all, Which the voice from the heavens bore record to me:	132 134
33. That he came to the world in the middle of time, To lay down his life for his friends and his foes, And bear away sin as a mission of love; And sanctify earth for a blessed repose.	136 138
34. 'Tis decreed, that he'll save all the work of his hands, And sanctify them by his own precious blood; And purify earth for the Sabbath of rest, By the agent of fire, as it was by the flood.	140 142
35. The Savior will save all his Father did give, Even all that he gave in the regions abroad, Save the Sons of Perdition: They're lost; ever lost, And can never return to the presence of God.	144 146
36. They are they, who must reign with the devil in hell, In eternity now, and eternity then, Where the worm dieth not, and the fire is not quench'd;— And the punishment still, is eternal. Amen.	148 150
37. And which is the torment apostates receive, But the end, or the place where the torment began, Save to them who are made to partake of the same, Was never, nor will be, revealed unto man.	152 154

38. Yet God shows by vision a glimpse of their fate, And straightway he closes the scene that was shown:	156
So the width, or the depth, or the misery thereof, Save to those that partake, is forever unknown.	158
39. And while I was pondering, the vision was closed; And the voice said to me, write the vision: for lo!	160
'Tis the end of the scene of the sufferings of those, Who remain filthy still in their anguish and woe.	162
40. And again I bear record of heavenly things, Where virtue's the value, above all that's pric'd—	164
Of the truth of the gospel concerning the just, That rise in the first resurrection of Christ.	166
41. Who receiv'd and believ'd, and repented likewise, And then were baptis'd, as a man always was,	168
Who ask'd and receiv'd a remission of sin, And honored the kingdom by keeping its laws.	170
42. Being buried in water, as Jesus had been, And keeping the whole of his holy commands,	172
They received the gift of the spirit of truth, By the ordinance truly of laying on hands.	174
43. For these overcome, by their faith and their works, Being tried in their life-time, as purified gold,	176
And seal'd by the spirit of promise, to life, By men called of God, as was Aaron of old.	178
44. They are they, of the church of the first born of God,— And unto whose hands he committeth all things;	180
For they hold the keys of the kingdom of heav'n, And reign with the Savior, as priests, and as kings.	182
45. They're priests of the order of Melchisedek, Like Jesus, (from whom is this highest reward,)	184
Receiving a fulness of glory and light; As written: They're Gods; even sons of the Lord.	186
46. So all things are theirs; yea, of life, or of death; Yea, whether things now, or to come, all are theirs,	188
And they are the Savior's, and he is the Lord's, Having overcome all, as eternity's heirs.	190
47. 'Tis wisdom that man never glory in man, But give God the glory for all that he hath;	192
For the righteous will walk in the presence of God, While the wicked are trod under foot in his wrath.	194
48. Yea, the righteous shall dwell in the presence of God, And of Jesus, forever, from earth's second birth—	196
For when he comes down in the splendor of heav'n, All these he'll bring with him, to reign on the earth.	198
49. These are they that arise in their bodies of flesh, When the trump of the first resurrection shall sound;	200
These are they that come up to Mount Zion, in life, Where the blessings and gifts of the spirit abound.	202

50. These are they that have come to the heavenly place; To the numberless courses of angels above:	204
To the city of God; e'en the holiest of all, And the home of the blessed, the fountain of love:	206
51. To the church of old Enoch, and of the first born: And gen'ral assembly of ancient renown'd,	208
Whose names are all kept in the archives of heav'n, As chosen and faithful, and fit to be crown'd.	210
52. These are they that are perfect through Jesus' own blood, Whose bodies celestial are mention'd by Paul,	212
Where the sun is the typical glory thereof, And God, and his Christ, are the true judge of all.	214
53. Again I beheld the terrestrial world, In the order and glory of Jesus, go on;	216
'Twas not as the church of the first born of God, But shone in its place, as the moon to the sun.	218
54. Behold, these are they that have died without law; The heathen of ages that never had hope,	220
And those of the region and shadow of death, The spirits in prison, that light has brought up.	222
55. To spirits in prison the Savior once preach'd, And taught them the gospel, with powers afresh;	224
And then were the living baptiz'd for their dead, That they might be judg'd as if men in the flesh.	226
56. These are they that are hon'orable men of the earth; Who were blinded and dup'd by the cunning of men:	228
They receiv'd not the truth of the Savior at first; But did, when they heard it in prison, again.	230
57. Not valiant for truth, they obtain'd not the crown, But are of that glory that's typ'd by the moon;	232
They are they, that come into the presence of Christ, But not to the fulness of God, on his throne.	234
58. Again I beheld the telestial, as third, The lesser, or starry world, next in its place.	236
For the leaven must leaven three measures of meal, And every knee bow that is subject to grace.	238
59. These are they that receiv'd not the gospel of Christ, Or evidence, either, that he ever was;	240
As the stars are all diff'rent in glory and light, So differs the glory of these by the laws.	242
60. These are they that deny not the spirit of God, But are thrust down to hell, with the devil, for sins,	244
As hypocrites, liars, whoremongers, and thieves, And stay 'till the last resurrection begins.	246
61. 'Till the Lamb shall have finish'd the work he begun; Shall have trodden the wine press, in fury alone,	248
And overcome all by the pow'r of his might: He conquers to conquer, and save all his own.	250

62. These are they that receive not a fulness of light, From Christ, in eternity's world, where they are, The terrestrial sends them the Comforter, though; And minist'ring angels, to happify there.	252 254
63. And so the telestial is minister'd to, By ministers from the terrestrial one, As terrestrial is, from the celestial throne; And the great, greater, greatest, seem's stars, moon, and sun.	256 258
64. And thus I beheld, in the vision of heav'n, The telestial glory, dominion and bliss, Surpassing the great understanding of men,— Unknown, save reveal'd, in a world vain as this.	260 262
65. And lo, I beheld the terrestrial, too, Which excels the telestial in glory and light, In splendor, and knowledge, and wisdom, and joy, In blessings, and graces, dominion and might.	264 266
66. I beheld the celestial, in glory sublime; Which is the most excellent kingdom that is,— Where God, e'en the Father, in harmony reigns; Almighty, supreme, and eternal, in bliss.	268 270
67. Where the church of the first born in union reside, And they see as they're seen, and they know as they're known; Being equal in power, dominion and might, With a fulness of glory and grace, round his throne.	272 274
68. The glory celestial is one like the sun; The glory terrestr'al is one like the moon; The glory telestial is one like the stars, And all harmonize like the parts of a tune.	276 278
69. As the stars are all different in lustre and size, So the telestial region, is mingled in bliss; From least unto greatest, and greatest to least, The reward is exactly as promis'd in this.	280 282
70. These are they that came out for Apollos and Paul; For Cephas and Jesus, in all kinds of hope; For Enoch and Moses, and Peter, and John; For Luther and Calvin, and even the Pope.	284 286
71. For they never received the gospel of Christ, Nor the prophetic spirit that came from the Lord; Nor the covenant neither, which Jacob once had; They went their own way, and they have their reward.	288 290
72. By the order of God, last of all, these are they, That wilt not be gather'd with saints here below, To be caught up to Jesus, and meet in the cloud:— In darkness they worshipp'd; to darkness they go.	292 294
73. These are they that are sinful, the wicked at large, That glutted their passion by meanness or worth; All liars, adulterers, sorc'ers, and proud; And suffer, as promis'd, God's wrath on the earth.	296 298

74. These are they that must suffer the vengeance of hell, 'Till Christ shall have trodden all enemies down, And perfected his work, in the fulness of times: And is crown'd on his throne with his glorious crown.	300 302
75. The vast multitude of the telestial world— As the stars of the skies, or the sands of the sea;— The voice of Jehovah echo'd far and wide, Ev'ry tongue shall confess, and they all bow the knee.	304 306
76. Ev'ry man shall be judg'd by the works of his life, And receive a reward in the mansions prepar'd; For his judgments are just, and his works never end, As his prophets and servants have always declar'd.	308 310
77. But the great things of God, which he show'd unto me, Unlawful to utter, I dare not declare; They surpass all the wisdom and greatness of men, And only are seen, as has Paul, where they are.	312 314
78. I will go, I will go, while the secret of life, Is blooming in heaven, and blasting in hell; Is leaving on earth, and a budding in space:— I will go, I will go, with you, brother, farewell.	316 318

DC 118:5, given 8 July 1838, instructs the apostles to leave on a mission to England and to depart from Far West on 26 April 1839. Here is WW's journal entry for that date in 1839, from WWJ 1:325–327:

April 26th 1839 The events of this day are worthy of record for a Revelation of God & commandment is this day fulfilled & that to under Circumstances which to all human appearance could not have been done. The Lord had given a Commandment to the Twelve to assemble upon the building spot of the house of the Lord in far west Caldwell Co Mo on the 26th day of April & there take the parting hand with the Saints to go to the nations of the earth. (See Aug 10th 1838.) But persecution had arisen to such an highth that about ten thousand souls of the Saints had been driven from the State, & the city far west almost made desolate & lade waste while at the same time the Presidency Joseph & his council with other Elders were in prision & they had been under the sentance of death several times because of their religion & they would have been put to death had not the Lord saved them for their lives were in his hands & notwithstanding the lives of those men were preserved yet there were about thirty five souls martered & put to death. David W. Patten one of the Twelve Apostles were among the martered. And not ownly so but the Missourians had sworn that the revelation above alluded to should not be fulfilled.

It was in the midst of these imbaessments that we mooved forward to the building spot of the house of the Lord in the City of far west & held a Council & fulfilled the revelation & Commandment & took our leave of the Saints & rode 32 miles & Camped. 32 miles.

COUNCIL

At a Council held at Far West by the Twleve, High Priests, Elders, & Priests on the twenty Sixth of April 1839 The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved that the following persons should be no more fellowshiped in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints but excommunicated from the Same, viz. The Council then proceeded to the building spot of the Lords house when the following business was transacted: Part of a Hymn was sung on the mission of the Twelve. Elder Cutler the Master workman of the house then recommenced laying the foundation of the LORD'S house agreeable to revelation by rooling up a large stone near the South east corner.

The following of the Twelve were present: Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimble, Orson Pratt, John E. Page, & John Taylor, who proceeded to ordain (on the chief corner stone of the building) Willford Woodruff & George A. Smith, (who had been previously nominated by the first Presidency, accepted by the Twelve, & acknowledged by the Church,) to the office of the Twelve to fill the place of those who had fallen. Darwin Chase & Norman Shearer (who had Just been liberated from Richmond prison whare they had been confined for the cause of Jesus Christ) were then Ordained to the office of the Seventies.

The Twelve then offered up vocal Prayer in the following order: Brigham Young, Heber C Kimble, Orson Pratt, John E. Page, John Taylor, Willford Woodruff & George A. Evidence that JS was commanded to practice polygamy in the early to mid-1830's

In the historical background to section 132, the JSP discusses some later accounts (from after JS's death) that suggest he received a commandment sometime in the 1830's to practice polygamy. The footnote to that statement reads,

See Mary Elizabeth Rollins Lightner, Statement, 8 Feb. 1902, 1, Mary Elizabeth Rollins Lightner Family Collection, CHL; William W. Phelps to Brigham Young, 12 Aug. 1861, Revelations Collection, CHL; and Joseph F. Smith, New York City, NY, to John Taylor et al., [Salt Lake City, Utah Territory], 17 Sept. 1878, draft, pp. [23]–[24], Joseph F. Smith, Papers, CHL.

So there are three documents there. I couldn't find the W. W. Phelps letter, though I'm sure it's around if I looked harder, but I did track down the other two, transcribed below.

I was sealed to Joseph Smith the Prophet by commandment, in the spring of 1831. The Savior appeared commanded him to seal me up to everlasting Life, gave me to Joseph to be with him in his Kingdom, even as he is in the Fathers Kingdom in 1834 <he was> commanded to take me for a Wife, I was a Thousand Miles from him, he got afraid, the angel came to him three times the last time with a drawn sword and threatned his life. I did not believe, if God told him so, why did he not come and tell me, the angel told him I should have a witness, and an angel came to me, it went through me like Lightning, I was afraid. Joseph said he come <with> ~~and~~ more Revelation and knowledge than Joseph ever dare reveal, Brigham Young sealed me to him, for time & all Eternity, <Feb, 1842>¹ Joseph said I was his, before I came here, he said all the Devils in Hell

Joseph F. Smith draft letter to John Taylor

[See this document in a PDF collection of letters here; the letter you want starts on PDF 35, but the passage below begins on PDF 57 and continues until PDF 58.]

While at Plano, we were invited to attend a prayer meeting of the "Reorg^d Church." in their meeting house on the evening of Sept. 12. We of course accepted the invitation, but declined ~~refused~~ to be advertised to Speak to them which they were very solicitous we should consent to, ~~We however consented to their earnest entreaties to Speak at their meeting without any any parade of advertising &c.~~

At their meeting however we consented to their earnest entreaties to address them, Elder Pratt giving a plain, simple naration of his early acquaintance <with> and experience in the first rise of the Church. Related the circumstances of under which Joseph received several Revelations, and the manner in which he recieved them.. Referred to the witness or testimoney of the Spirit which he recieved while as yet only a boy, Testified that theseings were not only a matters of belief with him but of actual knowledge.

Related the circumstances connected with the coming forth of the Revelation on Celestial Marriage, refuted some charges made against that doctrine, and against the Pres. Young and the Twelve in connection with it. proved that Joseph Smith the prophet not only entered into the practice of that principle before Pres. Young and the Twelve returned from their missions to Europe in 1841 but also that Joseph had recieved, ~~that~~ <that> revelation as early as 1831- or '32. Lyman Johnson who was very familiar with Joseph at that time having told him—(O.P.) that Joseph had said at that early date to him that plural marriage was a correct principle, that God had revealed it to him, but that the time had not yet come to teach or practice it, but, that <the> time would come, &c. Elder J. F. Smith, bore testimony to what bro. Pratt had said, after which the meeting adjourned. The congregation, not large, immediately entering upon the discussion of these matters among themselves.

Joseph Smith

On the meaning of the term “Mormon”

In a letter to the editor of the Times and Seasons written in May 1843, JS comments on the meaning of the term “Mormon,” and says that it means “more good.”

Here is a discussion of that term and JS’s comments, from the Book of Mormon Onomasticon (pulled 27 June 2022), for the entry “Mormon.” Some of this seems pretty sloppy to me.

“Any discussion of the meaning of the name MORMON, must start by dealing with a letter published in the Times and Seasons 4 (15 May 1843): 194, that is attributed to the Prophet Joseph Smith.

“But first a probable explanation of why the letter was written in the first place is in order. In E. D. Howe’s 1834 Mormonism Unveiled, it is claimed that ‘the word Mormon, the name given to his [Joseph Smith’s] book, is the English termination of the Greek word “Mormoo,” which we find defined in an old, obsolete Dictionary, to mean “bug-bear, hob-goblin, raw head, and bloody bones.”’ Almost any knowledgeable reader, even in 1834, would have recognized that this definition is not only fabricated but downright silly. Closer in time to the letter in question is this passage from a local Illinois newspaper in 1841: ‘I will here give you the signification of the word Mormon, and also, book of Mormon, which every person that has read a dictionary of the reformed Egyptian tongue knows to be correct. Mormon—A writer of wicked, absurd, fictitious nonsense, for evil purposes, to make sorcerers. Book of Mormon—A book of gross, fictitious nonsense, wrote by Mormon, for Gazelom’s diabolical purposes. Mormons—Anciently in Egypt—a set of black-legs, thieves, robbers, and murderers.’ This satirical attempt to define Mormon is even more fanciful and absurd than E. D. Howe’s. Such doggerel regarding Mormon became the standard fare in the yellow journalism of the times. But no matter how outdated and fetid the nonsense, a reply seems to have been the reason for writing the letter that was published in 1843 in the Times and Seasons.

“And now the letter, which was printed over the name of the Prophet: ‘I may safely say that the word Mormon stands independent of the learning and wisdom of this generation.—Before I give a definition, however, to the word, let me say that the Bible in its widest sense, means good; for the Savior says according to the gospel of John, “I am the good shepherd;” and it will not be beyond the common use of terms, to say that good is among the most important in use, and though known by various names in different languages, still its meaning is the same, and is ever in opposition to bad. We say from the Saxon, good; the Dane, god; the Goth, goda; the German, gut; the Dutch, goed; the Latin, bonus; the Greek, kalos; the HEBREW, tob; and the Egyptian, mon. Hence, with the addition of more, or the contraction, mor, we have the word MORMON; which means, literally, more good’ (T&S 4 [15 May 1843]: 194).

“It is possible that the tone of the letter was at least partially meant to imitate the flippant anti-Mormon literature of the previous ten years. After all, satire is a tempting retort to satire. Although some of the letter might be an application of lex talionis (an eye for an eye), there is a more salient crux that needs to be addressed.

“The first issue with this statement is that it is not certain Joseph Smith is responsible for all of the content. The Prophet’s journal entry for 20 May 1844 [1843] reads, ‘in the office heard Bro Phelps read a deffinition of the Word of Mormon – More-Good – corrected and sent to press.’ Unfortunately, not enough information is given to determine which parts of the letter published over Joseph’s signature stem from W. W. Phelps and which parts Joseph corrected. What is certain is that Joseph was not the original author, but that Joseph made changes in the text, and that he gave approval to have it published over his name. This was not the first or last time that W. W. Phelps was a ghostwriter for Joseph. B. H. Roberts, when he was compiling the Documentary History of the Church (hereafter HC), also ‘found evidence that the editor of Times and Seasons, W. W. Phelps, rather than Joseph Smith, wrote this paragraph and that it was “based on inaccurate premises and was offensively pedantic.”’ He asked for and received permission from the First Presidency to leave the offending paragraph out of the official History of the Church he was producing. [The footnote here is: “Truman Madsen, Defender of the Faith: The B. H. Roberts Story (Salt Lake City: Bookcraft, 1980), 291-292. Madsen cites no source for his information.”] In the final version of the HC, B. H. Roberts introduced the letter with a paraphrase of Joseph’s journal entry, rather frankly writing, ‘Corrected and sent to the Times and Seasons the following.’ After leaving out all the words after ‘the learning and wisdom of this generation,’ Roberts summarized the last sentence as ‘The word Mormon, means literally, more good.’

“But there are other issues with this letter. When the letter states that ‘the Bible in its widest sense, means good,’ the writer was not suggesting that the word ‘Bible’ etymologically means good. Rather, the writer was suggesting that the Bible is good and the reading of it promotes good. This certainly is an acceptable metaphorical meaning of ‘Bible’ that no Christian in the 19th century would deny.

“This metaphorical meaning leads to an examination of the phrase, ‘The word Mormon, means literally, more good.’ Just as today, the word literally was used in 19th century English in the sense of ‘actually,’ ‘really.’[7] In other words, the word ‘literally’ can be understood in the letter to mean ‘actually’ and not necessarily ‘word-for-word.’ Thus, if the Bible, which is true as far as it was transmitted correctly, means ‘good,’ then the Book of Mormon, which was transmitted correctly, must actually mean ‘more good.’ The conclusion can be drawn that ‘more good’ is not a translation of the word ‘Mormon,’ but a metaphorical interpretation in the sense that while the Bible means ‘good,’ ‘Mormon’ means ‘more [of the] good,’ or possibly ‘better translated than the Bible.’

“What then is the philological explanation of MORMON? Notwithstanding the warning in the letter attributed to Joseph Smith ‘that the word Mormon stands independent of the learning and wisdom of this generation,’ many attempts have been made to provide a sound etymology for MORMON based on secular knowledge of ancient Near Eastern languages. The results at best show promise. The following discussion reviews some of the suggestions that have been made.

“The first point to be made is that the name, being mentioned first as a GN [geographical name] (Mosiah 18:4) and then later as a PN [personal name] (3 Nephi 5:12, in which the PN is explicitly derived from the GN), might derive from a descriptive that would be appropriate for both a place and a person. It might be suggested, based on Mosiah 18:4, ‘a place which was called Mormon, having received its name from the king ... having been infested... by wild beasts,’ that MORMON could have something to do with ‘wild beasts.’ On the other hand, based on Mosiah 18:5, ‘there was in Mormon a fountain of pure water,’ or based on Mosiah 18:30, ‘the place of Mormon, the waters of Mormon, the forest of Mormon, how beautiful are they,’ MORMON might derive from ‘fountain/spring’ or ‘pure water’ or ‘beautiful/beauty.’

“Janne Sjodahl derived the second half of the word MORMON from ancient Egyptian ‘Imn’ ‘Amun,’ and Hugh Nibley similarly suggested that MORMON possibly derived from Egyptian PN Mry-Imn, ‘Beloved of “Amon” – applying Egyptian mr- ‘want, wish, desire, love; beloved,’ along with the name of the Egyptian god ‘Amun. Meir Lubetski called our attention to pre-exilic Hebrew use of this Egyptian name Mry-Imn on Hebrew seals as my’mn. This makes sense since the -r- in mr(y) is dropped in Egyptian scribal Akkadian ma-a-i, as well as in Coptic me, mei, mai, mēi ‘love.’ Matt Bowen demonstrates how this word is used for several puns (Mosiah 18:8–11, 21, 28, 30, Alma 5:3–6, 26, Mormon 3:12, Moroni 7:47–48, 8:16–17), and he applies the same understanding of the etymology to the name MARY in the Book of Mormon.

“Similarly, Robert F. Smith and Benjamin Urrutia have each called attention to EGYPTIAN mr mn, ‘truly beloved,’ or ‘love is established’ (BU), or ‘strong/firm love’ or ‘love remains steadfast/firm’ (RFS). The translation ‘love is established forever’ brings to memory the words of Paul, ‘charity never faileth’ (1 Corinthians 13:8) (BU). Interestingly, it is MORMON who uses the same words in a letter written to his son MORONI, adding, ‘But charity is the pure love of CHRIST, and it endureth forever’ (Moroni 7:46–47) (JAT).

“As Carl Hugh Jones pointed out in 1970, Frederick G. Williams left two possible hieratic characters from the Book of Mormon plates which he claimed represent the phrase ‘Book of Mormon,’ and Egyptologist John Gee has said that it looks authentic. Why? Because the character for ‘book’ in that phrase is written nearly identical to a known early Demotic Egyptian form of m_d3t ‘book.’ That the syntax appears to be Mrmn md3t (reading from right to left) is no problem since names or titles frequently come first in Egyptian, as in m_d3t n_tr ‘Holy Writ,’ where n_tr is written first.

On a limestone stela of the 19th to 21st EGYPTIAN dynasty in the Museum of Gizeh the name mrmmu appears, accompanied by the title ‘door keeper.’ In a yet to be superseded article, W. Spiegelberg, ‘Zu den semitischen Eigennamen in ägyptischer Umschrift aus der Zeit des “neuen Reiches” (um 1500–1000),’ Zeitschrift für Assyriologie 13 (1898):51, treats the name as Semitic in EGYPTIAN transcription although he is not certain that it is Semitic, and he does not provide a meaning. He transcribes it into HEBREW characters with mr/lmn(w). Spiegelberg’s description of the stela unfortunately does not permit its current identification. Despite various difficulties, such as dating to at least 600 years before LEHI and not having an etymology, this name, mrmm, on an EGYPTIAN inscription seems like a direct hit, as Hugh Nibley pointed out years ago. Unfortunately, no immediate etymology suggests itself.

Nevertheless, Nibley has also pointed out that mrmm, besides appearing in the EGYPTIAN PN, is attested in HEBREW and Arabic, and means ‘desirable’ or ‘good.’ In this case, MORMON would consist of the root mrmm plus the common Semitic ending -ōn (often used on GNs and PNs, such as Kidron and GIDEON). For possible, HEBREW examples, see the biblical PN mirmâh in 1 Chronicles 8:10 (HALOT does not offer an etymology; the Septuagint transcribes it as μαρμα), and the PN merēmôt (also of questionable etymology; Septuagint μεραμων), the name of a priest in Ezra 10:36 (=Nehemiah 10:5), are possibilities (JH). The name also appears as mrmmwt on a 6th century BC ostrakon from Arad. Note also the PN at Ugarit, ma-ri-ma-na (JH), but the language origin of the name is unknown.

Less likely is EGYPTIAN mr (> Nubian and Coptic mur, mor), ‘bind, girth’ (RFS). On the element mr see Nibley, SC, 194,

July one Thousand Eight hundred & Twenty Eight Given to Joseph the Seer after he had lost certain writings which he had Translated by the gift & Power of God

Saying the words <works> of & designs & the Purposes of God cannot be frustrated neither can they come to naught ground for God doth not wa[l]k in crooked Paths neither doth he turn to the right hand nor to the left neither doth vary from that which he hath said therefore his paths are strait & his course is one eternal round Remember Remember that it is not the work of God that is frustrated but the works of men for although a man may have many Revelations & have power to do many Mighty works yet if he boast in his own strength & Sets at naught the councils of God & follows after the dictates of his will & carnal desires he must fall to the Earth & incur the vengeance of a Just God upon him behold you have been intrusted with those things but strict was your commandment & Remember also the Promises which were made to you if you transgressed them & behold how oft you have transgressed them Laws of God & have gone on in the Persuasions of men for behold you should not have feared men more then God although men set at naught the councils of God & dispise his words yet you should have been faithful & he would have extended his arm & supported you against all the firey darts of the advisory & he would have been with you in evry time of trouble behold thou art Joseph & thou wast chosen to do the work of the Lord but because of transgression thou mayest fall but remember God is merciful therefore repent of that which thou hast done & he will only cause thee to be afflicted for a season & thou art still chosen & will & will again be called to the work & except Thou do this thou shalt be delivered up & become as other men & have no more gift & when thou deliveredst up that Which that which God had given thee right¹ to Translate thou deliveredest up that which was Sacred into the hands of a wicked man who has Set at naught the Councils of God & hath broken the most Sacred promises which was made before God & hath depended upon his own Judgement & boasted in his own ~~arm~~ wisdom & this is the reason that thou hast lost thy Privileges for a Season for thou hast suffered that the council of thy directors to be tramped upon from the begining for as the knowledge of a Saveiour hath come to the world so shall the knowledge of my People the Nephities & the Jacobites & the Josephites & the Lamanites come to the ~~Lamanites~~ knowledge of the Lamanites & the Lamanites & the Ishmaelites which dwindeled in unbelief because of the iniquities of their Fathers who hath been suffered to destroy their Brethren because of their iniquities & their Abominations & for this very Purpose are these Plates prepared which contain these Records that the Promises of the Lord might be fulfilled which he made to his People & that the Lamanites might come to the knowledge of their Fathers & that they may know the Promises of the Lord that they may believe the Gospel & rely upon the merits of Jesus Christ & that they might be glorified through faith in his name & that they might repent & be Saved Amen Received in Harmony Susquehannah

- 1 A Revelation to Oliver [Cowdery], given in Harmony, Pennsylvania, April, 1829, when employed a scribe for Joseph, while translating the book of Mormon.
- A GREAT and marvelous work is about to come forth unto the children of men: behold I am God, and give heed unto my word, which is quick and powerful, sharper than a two-edged sword, to the dividing asunder of both joints and marrow:—Therefore give heed unto my words.
- 2 Behold the field is white already to harvest, therefore whoso desireth to reap, let him thrust in his sickle with his might and reap while the day lasts, that he may treasure up for his soul everlasting salvation in the kingdom of God: Yea, whosoever will thrust in his sickle and reap, the same is called of God; therefore, if you will ask of me you shall receive; if you will knock it shall be opened unto you.
- 3 Now as you have asked, behold I say unto you, keep my commandments, and seek to bring forth and establish the cause of Zion: seek not for riches but for wisdom, and behold the mysteries of God shall be unfolded unto you, and then shall you be made rich. Behold he that hath eternal life is rich.

4 Verily, verily I say unto you, even as you desire of me, so shall it be unto you; and, if you desire, you shall be the means of doing much good in this generation. Say nothing but repentance unto this generation; keep my commandments and assist to bring forth my work according to my commandments, and you shall be blessed.

5 Behold thou hast a gift, and blessed art thou because of thy gift. Remember it is sacred and cometh from above; and if thou wilt inquire, thou shalt know mysteries which are great and marvelous: therefore thou shalt exercise thy gift, that thou mayest find out mysteries, that thou mayest bring many to the knowledge of the truth; yea, convince them of the error of their ways. Make not thy gift known unto any, save it be those which are of thy faith.— Trifle not with sacred things. If thou wilt do good, yea and hold out faithful to the end, thou shalt be saved in the kingdom of God, which is the greatest of all the gifts of God; for there is no gift greater than the gift of salvation.

6 Verily, verily I say unto thee, blessed art thou for what thou hast done, for thou hast inquired of me, and behold as often as thou hast inquired, thou hast received instruction of my Spirit. If it had not been so, thou wouldst not have come to the place where thou art at this time.

7 Behold thou knowest that thou hast inquired of me, and I did enlighten thy mind; and now I tell thee these things, that thou mayest know that thou hast been enlightened by the Spirit of truth; yea, I tell thee, that thou mayest know that there is none else save God, that knowest thy thoughts and the intents of thy heart: I tell thee these things as a witness unto thee, that the words or the work which thou hast been writing is true:

8 Therefore be diligent, stand by my servant Joseph faithfully in whatsoever difficult circumstances he may be, for the word's sake. Admonish him in his faults and also receive admonition of him. Be patient; be sober; be temperate; have patience, faith, hope and charity.

9 Behold thou art Oliver, and I have spoken unto thee because of thy desires, therefore, treasure up these words in thy heart. Be faithful and diligent in keeping the commandments of God, and I will incircle thee in the arms of my love.

10 Behold I am Jesus Christ, the Son of God. I am the same that came unto my own and my own received me not. I am the light which shineth in darkness, and the darkness comprehendeth it not.

11 Verily, verily I say unto you, if you desire a further witness, cast your mind upon the night that you cried unto me in your heart, that you might know concerning the truth of these things; did I not speak peace to your mind concerning the matter?— What greater witness can you have than from God? And now behold, you have received a witness, for if I have told you things which no man knoweth, have you not received a witness? And behold I grant unto you a gift if you desire of me, to translate even as my servant Joseph.

12 Verily, verily I say unto you, that there are records which contain much of my gospel, which have been kept back because of the wickedness of the people; and now I command you, that if you have good desires, a desire to lay up treasures for yourself in heaven, then shall you assist in bringing to light, with your gift, those parts of my scriptures which have been hidden because of iniquity.

13 And now behold I give unto you, and also unto my servant Joseph, the keys of this gift, which shall bring to light this ministry; and in the mouth of two or three witnesses, shall every word be established.

14 Verily, verily I say unto you, if they reject my words, and this part of my gospel and ministry, blessed are ye, for they can do no more unto you than unto me; and if they do unto you, even as they have done unto me, blessed are ye, for you shall dwell with me in glory: but if they reject not my words, which shall be established by the testimony which shall be given, blessed are they; and then shall ye have joy in the fruit of your labors.

15 Verily, verily I say unto you, as I said unto my disciples, where two or three are gathered together in my name, as touching one thing, behold there will I be in the midst of them: even so am I in the midst of you. Fear not to do good my sons, for whatsoever ye sow, that shall ye also reap: therefore, if ye sow good, ye shall also reap good for your reward:

16 Therefore fear not little flock, do good, let earth and hell combine against you, for if ye are built upon my Rock, they cannot prevail. Behold I do not condemn you, go your ways and sin no more: perform with soberness the work which I have commanded you: look unto me in every thought, doubt not, fear not: behold the wounds which pierced my side, and also the prints of the nails in my hands and feet: be faithful; keep my commandments, and ye shall inherit the kingdom of heaven: Amen.

1 A Revelation given to Joseph, in Harmony, Pennsylvania, May, 1829 informing him of the alteration of the Manuscript of the fore part of the book of Mormon.

NOW, behold I say unto you, that because you delivered up so many writings, which you had power to translate, into the hands of a wicked man, you have lost them, and you also lost your gift at the same time, nevertheless it has been restored unto you again: therefore, see that you are faithful and go on unto the finishing of the remainder of the work as you have begun. Do not run faster than you have strength and means provided to translate, but be diligent unto the end, that you may come off conquerer; yea, that you may conquer satan, and those that do uphold his work.

2 Behold they have sought to destroy you; yea, even the man in whom you have trusted, and for this cause I said, that he is a wicked man, for he has sought to take away the things wherewith you have been intrusted; and he has also sought to destroy your gift, and because you have delivered the writings into his hands, behold they have taken them from you: therefore, you have delivered them up; yea, that which was sacred unto wickedness. And behold, satan has put it into their hearts to alter the words which you have caused to be written, or which you have translated, which have gone out of your hands; and behold I say unto you, that because they have altered the words, they read contrary from that which you translated and caused to be written; and on this wise the devil has sought to lay a cunning plan, that he may destroy this work; for he has put it into their hearts to do this, that by lying they may say they have caught you in the words which you have pretended to translate.

3 Verily I say unto you, that I will not suffer that satan shall accomplish his evil design in this thing, for behold he has put it into their hearts to tempt the Lord their God; for behold they say in their hearts, We will see if God has given him power to translate, if so, he will also give him power again; and if God giveth him power again, or if he translate again, or in other words, if he bringeth forth the same words, behold we have the same with us, and we have altered them: Therefore, they will not agree, and we will say that he has lied in his words, and that he has no gift, and that he has no power: therefore, we will destroy him, and also the work, and we will do this that we may not be ashamed in the end, and that we may get glory of the world.

4 Verily, verily I say unto you, that satan has great hold upon their hearts; he stirreth them up to do iniquity against that which is good, that he may lead their souls to destruction, and thus he has laid a cunning plan to destroy the work of God; yea, he stirreth up their hearts to anger against this work; yea, he saith unto them, Deceive and lie in wait to catch, that ye may destroy: behold this is no harm, and thus he flattereth them and telleth them that it is no sin to lie, that they may catch a man in a lie, that they may destroy him, and thus he flattereth them, and leadeth them along until he draggeth their souls down to hell; and thus he causeth them to catch themselves in their own snare; and thus he goeth up and down, to and fro in the earth, seeking to destroy the souls of men.

5 Verily, verily I say unto you, wo be unto him that lieth to decieve, because he supposeth that another lieth to decieve, for such are not exempt from the justice of God.

6 Now, behold they have altered those words, because satan saith unto them, He hath decieved you, and thus he flattereth them away to do iniquity, to tempt the Lord their God.

7 Behold I say unto you, that you shall not translate again those words which have gone forth out of your hands; for behold, they shall not lie any more against those words; for behold, if you should bring forth the same words, they would say that you have lied; that you have pretended to translate, but that you have contradicted your words; and behold they would publish this, and satan would harden the hearts of the people, to stir them up to anger against you, that they might not believe my words: thus satan would overpower this generation, that the work might not come forth in this generation: but behold here is wisdom, and because I show unto you wisdom, and give you commandments concerning these things, what you shall do, show it not unto the world until you have accomplished the work.

8 Marvel not that I said unto you, here is wisdom, show it not unto the world, for I said, show it not unto the world, that you may be preserved. Behold I do not say that you shall not show it unto the righteous; but as you cannot always judge the righteous, or as you cannot always tell the wicked from the righteous: therefore, I say unto you, hold your peace until I shall see fit to make all things known unto the world concerning the matter.

9 And now, verily I say unto you, that an account of those things that you have written, which have gone out of your hands, are engraven upon the plates of Nephi; yea, and you remember, it was said in those writings, that a more particular account was given of these things upon the plates of Nephi.

10 And now, because the account which is engraven upon the plates of Nephi, is more particular concerning the things, which in my wisdom I would bring to the knowledge of the people in this account: therefore, you shall translate the engravings which are on the plates of Nephi, down even till you come to the reign of king Benjamin, or until you come to that which you have translated, which you have retained; and behold, you shall publish it as the record of Nephi, and thus I will confound those who have altered my words. I will not suffer that they shall destroy my work; yea, I will show unto them that my wisdom is greater than the cunning of the devil.

11 Behold they have only got a part, or an abridgment of the account of Nephi. Behold there are many things engraven on the plates of Nephi, which do throw greater views upon my gospel: therefore, it is wisdom in me, that you should translate this first part of the engravings of Nephi, and send forth in this work. And behold, all the remainder of this work, does contain all those parts of my gospel which my holy prophets; yea, and also my disciples desired in their prayers, should come forth unto this people. And I said unto them, that it should be granted unto them according to their faith in their prayers; yea, and this was their faith, that my gospel which I gave unto them, that they might preach in their days, might come unto their brethren, the Lamanites, and also, all that had become Lamanites, because of their dissensions.

12 Now this is not all, their faith in their prayers were, that this gospel should be made known also, if it were possible that other nations should possess this land; and thus they did leave a blessing upon this land in their prayers, that whosoever should believe in this gospel, in this land, might have eternal life; yea, that it might be free unto all of whatsoever nation, kindred, tongue, or people, they may be.

13 And now, behold, according to their faith in their prayers, will I bring this part of my gospel to the knowledge of my people. Behold, I do not bring it to destroy that which they have received, but to build it up.

14 And for this cause have I said, if this generation harden not their hearts, I will establish my church among them. Now I do not say this to destroy my church, but I say this to build up my church: therefore, whosoever belongeth to my church need not fear, for such shall inherit the kingdom of heaven: but it is they who do not fear me, neither keep my commandments, but buildeth up churches unto themselves, to get gain; yea, and all those that do wickedly, and buildeth up the kingdom of the devil; yea, verily, verily I say unto you, that it is they that I will disturb, and cause to tremble and shake to the centre.

15 Behold, I am Jesus Christ, the Son of God: I came unto my own, and my own received me not. I am the light which shineth in darkness, and the darkness comprehendeth it not. I am he who said other sheep have I which are not of this fold, unto my disciples, and many there were that understood me not.

16 And I will show unto this people, that I had other sheep, and that they were a branch of the house of Jacob; and I will bring to light their marvelous works, which they did in my name; yea, and I will also bring to light my gospel, which was ministered unto them, and behold they shall not deny that which you have received, but they shall build it up, and shall bring to light the true points of my doctrine: Yea, and the only doctrine which is in me; and this I do, that I may establish my gospel, that there may not be so much contention: Yea, satan doth stir up the hearts of the people to contention, concerning the points of my doctrine; and in these things they do err, for they do wrest the scriptures, and do not understand them: therefore, I will unfold unto them this great mystery, for behold, I will gather them as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, if they will not harden their hearts: Yea, if they will come, they may, and partake of the waters of life freely.

17 Behold this is my doctrine: whosoever repenteth, and cometh unto me, the same is my church: whosoever declareth more or less than this, the same is not of me, but is against me: therefore, he is not of my church.

18 And now, behold whosoever is of my church, and endureth of my church to the end, him will I establish upon my Rock, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against them.

19 And now, remember the words of him who is the life and the light of the world, your Redeemer, your Lord and your God: Amen.

1 A Revelation given to Oliver [Cowdery], in Harmony, Pennsylvania, April, 1829.

BEHOLD I say unto you, my son, that, because you did not translate according to that which you desired of me, and did commence again to write for my servant Joseph, even so I would that you should continue until you have finished this record, which I have intrusted unto you: and then behold, other records have I, that I will give unto you power that you may assist to translate.

2 Be patient my son, for it is wisdom in me, and it is not expedient that you should translate at this present time. Behold the work which you are called to do, is to write for my servant Joseph; and behold it is because that you did not continue as you commenced, when you begun to translate, that I have taken away this privilege from you. Do not murmur my son, for it is wisdom in me that I have dealt with you after this manner.

3 Behold you have not understood, you have supposed that I would give it unto you, when you took no thought, save it was to ask me; but behold I say unto you, that you must study it out in your mind; then you must ask me if it be right, and if it is right, I will cause that your bosom shall burn within you: therefore, you shall feel that it is right; but if it be not right, you shall have no such feelings, but you shall have a stupor of thought, that shall cause you to forget the thing which is wrong: therefore, you cannot write that which is sacred, save it be given you from me.

4 Now if you had known this, you could have translated: nevertheless, it is not expedient that you should translate now. Behold it was expedient when you commenced, but you feared and the time is past, that it is not expedient now: for, do you not behold that I have given unto my servant Joseph sufficient strength, whereby it is made up? and neither of you have I condemned.

5 Do this thing which I have commanded you, and you shall prosper. Be faithful, and yield to no temptation. Stand fast in the work wherewith I have called you, and a hair of your head shall not be lost, and you shall be lifted up at the last day: Amen.

1 A Revelation given to Hyrum [Smith], in Harmony, Pennsylvania, May, 1829.

A GREAT and marvelous work is about to come forth among the children of men: behold I am God and give heed to my word, which is quick and powerful, sharper than a two-edged sword, to the dividing asunder of both joints and marrow: therefore, give heed unto my word.

2 Behold the field is white already to harvest, therefore, whoso desireth to reap, let him thrust in his sickle with his might, and reap while the day lasts, that he may treasure up for his soul everlasting salvation in the kingdom of God; yea, whosoever will thrust in his sickle and reap, the same is called of God: therefore, if you will ask of me, you shall receive; if you will knock, it shall be opened unto you.

3 Now as you have asked, behold I say unto you, keep my commandments, and seek to bring forth and establish the cause of Zion. Seek not for riches but for wisdom, and behold the mysteries of God shall be unfolded unto you, and then shall you be made rich; behold he that hath eternal life is rich.

4 Verily, verily I say unto you, even as you desire of me, so shall it be done unto you; and, if you desire you shall be the means of doing much good in this generation. Say nothing but repentance unto this generation. Keep my commandments, and assist to bring forth my work according to my commandments, and you shall be blessed.

5 Behold thou hast a gift, or thou shalt have a gift, if thou wilt desire of me in faith, with an honest heart, believing in the power of Jesus Christ, or in my power which speaketh unto thee: for behold it is I that speaketh: behold I am the light which shineth in darkness, and by my power I give these words unto thee.

6 And now, verily, verily I say unto thee, put your trust in that Spirit which leadeth to do good: Yea, to do justly; to walk humbly; to judge righteously; and this is my Spirit.

7 Verily, verily I say unto you, I will impart unto you of my Spirit, which shall enlighten your mind, which shall fill your soul with joy, and then shall you know, or by this shall you know, all things whatsoever you desire of me, which is pertaining unto things of righteousness, in faith believing in me that you shall receive.

8 Behold I command you, that you need not suppose that you are called to preach until you are called: wait a little longer, until you shall have my word, my Rock, my church, and my gospel, that you may know of a surety my doctrine; and then behold, according to your desires, yea, even according to your faith, shall it be done unto you.

9 Keep my commandments; hold your peace; appeal unto my Spirit: Yea, cleave unto me with all your heart, that you may assist in bringing to light those things of which have been spoken: Yea, the translation of my work: be patient until you shall accomplish it.

10 Behold this is your work, to keep my commandments: Yea, with all your might, mind, and strength: seek not to declare my word, but first seek to obtain my word, and then shall your tongues be loosed; then, if you desire you shall have my Spirit, and my word: Yea, the power of God unto the convincing of men: but now hold your peace; study my word which hath gone forth among the children of men; and also study my word which shall come forth among the children of men; or that which you are translating: Yea, until you have obtained all which I shall grant unto the children of men in this generation; and then shall all things be added thereunto.

11 Behold thou art Hyrum, my son; seek the kingdom of God and all things shall be added according to that which is just. Build upon my Rock, which is my gospel; deny not the Spirit of revelation, nor the Spirit of prophecy, for wo unto him that denieth these things: therefore, treasure up in your hearts until the time which is in my wisdom, that you shall go forth: Behold I speak unto all who have good desires, and have thrust in their sickles to reap.

12 Behold I am Jesus Christ, the Son of God: I am the life and the light of the world: I am the same which came unto my own, and my own received me not: but verily, verily I say unto you, that as many as receiveth me, them will I give power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on my name: Amen.

1 A Revelation given to David [Whitmer], in Fayette, New-York, June, 1829.

A GREAT and marvelous work is about to come forth unto the children of men: behold I am God, and give heed to my word, which is quick and powerful, sharper than a two-edged sword, to the dividing asunder of both joints and marrow: therefore, give heed unto my word.

4 And it shall come to pass, that if you shall ask the Father in my name, in faith believing, you shall receive the Holy Ghost, which giveth utterance, that you may stand as a witness of the things of which you shall both hear and see; and also, that you may declare repentance unto this generation.

5 Behold I am Jesus Christ the Son of the living God, which created the heavens and the earth; a light which cannot be hid in darkness: wherefore, I must bring forth the fulness of my gospel from the Gentiles unto the house of Israel. And behold thou art David, and thou art called to assist: Which thing if ye do, and are faithful, ye shall be blessed both spiritually and temporally, and great shall be your reward: Amen.

1 A Revelation to Joseph, Oliver [Cowdery] and David [Whitmer], making known the calling of twelve disciples in these last days, and also, instructions relative to building up the church of Christ, according to the fulness of the gospel: Given in Fayette, New-York, June, 1829.

NOW behold, because of the thing which you have desired to know of me, I give unto you these words:

2 Behold I have manifested unto you, by my Spirit in many instances, that the things which you have written are true:

3 Wherefore you know that they are true; and if you know that they are true, behold I give unto you a commandment, that you rely upon the things which are written; for in them are all things written, concerning my church, my gospel, and my rock.

4 Wherefore if you shall build up my church, and my gospel, and my rock, the gates of hell shall not prevail against you.

5 Behold the world is ripening in iniquity, and it must needs be, that the children of men are stirred up unto repentance, both the Gentiles, and also the house of Israel:

6 Wherefore as thou hast been baptized by the hand of my servant, according to that which I have commanded him:

7 Wherefore he hath fulfilled the thing which I commanded him.

8 And now marvel not that I have called him unto mine own purpose, which purpose is known in me:

9 Wherefore if he shall be diligent in keeping my commandments, he shall be blessed unto eternal life, and his name is Joseph.

10 And now Oliver, I speak unto you, and also unto David, by the way of commandment:

11 For behold I command all men every where to repent, and I speak unto you, even as unto Paul mine apostle, for you are called even with that same calling with which he was called.

12 Remember the worth of souls is great in the sight of God:

13 For behold the Lord your God suffered death in the flesh: wherefore he suffered the pain of all men, that all men might repent and come unto him.

14 And he hath risen again from the dead, that he might bring all men unto him on conditions of repentance.

15 And how great is his joy in the soul that repenteth.

16 Wherefore you are called to cry repentance unto this people.

17 And if it so be that you should labor in all your days, in crying repentance unto this people, and bring save it be one soul only unto me, how great shall be your joy with him in the kingdom of my Father?

18 And now if your joy will be great with one soul, that you have brought unto me into the kingdom of my Father, how great will be your joy, if you should bring many souls unto me?

19 Behold you have my gospel before you, and my rock, and my salvation:

20 Ask the Father in my name in faith believing that you shall receive, and you shall have the Holy Ghost which manifesteth all things, which is expedient unto the children of men.

21 And if you have not faith, hope and charity, you can do nothing.

22 Contend against no church, save it be the church of the devil.

23 Take upon you the name of Christ, and speak the truth in soberness, and as many as repent, and are baptized in my name, which is Jesus Christ, and endure to the end, the same shall be saved.

24 Behold Jesus Christ is the name which is given of the Father, and there is none other name given whereby man can be saved:

25 Wherefore all men must take upon them the name which is given of the Father, for in that name shall they be called at the last day:

26 Wherefore if they know not the name by which they are called, they cannot have place in the kingdom of my Father.

27 And now behold, there are others which are called to declare my gospel, both unto Gentile and unto Jew: Yea, even unto twelve:

28 And the twelve shall be my disciples, and they shall take upon them my name:

29 And the twelve are they which shall desire to take upon them my name, with full purpose of heart:

30 And if they desire to take upon them my name, with full purpose of heart, they are called to go into all the world to preach my gospel unto every creature:

31 And they are they which are ordained of me to baptize in my name, according to that which is written; and you have that which is written before you:

32 Wherefore you must perform it according to the words which are written.

33 And now I speak unto the twelve:

34 Behold my grace is sufficient for you: You must walk uprightly before me and sin not.

35 And behold you are they which are ordained of me to ordain priests and teachers to declare my gospel, according to the power of the Holy Ghost which is in you, and according to the callings and gifts of God unto men:

36 And I Jesus Christ, your Lord and your God, have spoken it.

37 These words are not of men, nor of man, but of me:

38 Wherefore you shall testify they are of me, and not of man; for it is my voice which speaketh them unto you:

39 For they are given by my Spirit unto you:
 40 And by my power you can read them one to another; and save it were by my power, you could not have them:
 41 Wherefore you can testify that you have heard my voice, and know my words.
 42 And now behold I give unto you, Oliver, and also unto David, that you shall search out the twelve which shall have the desires of which I have spoken; and by their desires and their works, you shall know them:
 43 And when you have found them you shall show these things unto them.
 44 And you shall fall down and worship the Father in my name:
 45 And you must preach unto the world, saying, you must repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ:
 46 For all men must repent and be baptized; and not only men, but women and children, which have arriven to the years of accountability.
 47 And now, after that you have received this, you must keep my commandments in all things:
 48 And by your hands I will work a marvelous work among the children of men, unto the convincing of many of their sins, that they may come unto repentance; and that they may come unto the kingdom of my Father:
 49 Wherefore the blessings which I give unto you are above all things.
 50 And after that you have received this, if you keep not my commandments, you cannot be saved in the kingdom of my Father. Behold I Jesus Christ, your Lord and your God, and your Redeemer, by the power of my Spirit, have spoken it. Amen.

1 A commandment of God and not of man to you, Martin [Harris], given (Manchester, New-York, March, 1830,) by him who is eternal:

YEA, even I, I am he, the beginning and the end: Yea, Alpha and Omega, Christ the Lord, the Redeemer of the world:

2 I having accomplished and finished the will of him whose I am, even the Father:

3 Having done this, that I might subdue all things unto myself:

4 Retaining all power, even to the destroying of satan and his works at the end of the world, and the last great day of judgment, which I shall pass upon the inhabitants thereof, judging every man according to his works, and the deeds which he hath done.

5 And surely every man must repent or suffer, for I God am endless:

6 Wherefore, I revoke not the judgments which I shall pass, but woes shall go forth, weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth:

7 Yea, to those who are found on my left hand, nevertheless, it is not written, that there shall be no end to this torment; but it is written endless torment.

8 Again, it is written eternal damnation: wherefore it is more express than other scriptures, that it might work upon the hearts of the children of men, altogether for my name's glory:

9 Wherefore, I will explain unto you, this mystery, for it is mete unto you, to know even as mine apostles.

10 I speak unto you that are chosen in this thing, even as one, that you may enter into my rest.

11 For behold, the mystery of Godliness how great is it? for behold I am endless, and the punishment which is given from my hand, is endless punishment, for endless is my name:

12 Wherefore—

Eternal punishment	}	Endless punishment
is God's punishment:	}	is God's punishment:

13 Wherefore, I command you by my name, and by my Almighty power, that you repent: repent, lest I smite you by the rod of my mouth, and by my wrath, and by my anger, and your sufferings be sore:

14 How sore you know not!

15 How exquisite you know not!

16 Yea, how hard to bear you know not!

17 For behold, I God have suffered these things for all, that they might not suffer, if they would repent, but if they would not repent, they must suffer even as I:

18 Which suffering caused myself, even God, the greatest of all, to tremble because of pain, and to bleed at every pore, both body and spirit:

19 And would that I might not drink the bitter cup and shrink:

20 Nevertheless, glory be to the Father, and I partook and finished my preparations unto the children of men:

21 Wherefore, I command you again by my Almighty power, that you confess your sins, lest you suffer these punishments of which I have spoken, of which in the smallest, yea, even in the least degree you have tasted at the time I withdrew my Spirit.

22 And I command you, that you preach nought but repentance; and show not these things, neither speak these things unto the world, for they can not bear meat, but milk they must receive:

23 Wherefore, they must not know these things lest they perish:

24 Wherefore, learn of me, and listen to my words; walk in the meekness of my Spirit and you shall have peace in me, Jesus Christ by the will of the Father.

25 And again: I command you, that thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife.

26 Nor seek thy neighbor's life.

27 And again: I command you, that thou shalt not covet thine own property, but impart it freely to the printing of the book of Mormon, which contains the truth and the word of God, which is my word to Gentile, that soon it may go to the Jew, of which the Lamanites are a remnant; that they may believe the gospel, and look not for a Messiah to come which has already come.

28 And again: I command you, that thou shalt pray vocally as well as to thyself:

29 Yea, before the world as well as in secret; in public as well as in private.

30 And thou shalt declare glad tidings; yea, publish it upon the mountains, and upon every high place, and among every people which thou shalt be permitted to see.

31 And thou shalt do it with all humility, trusting in me, reviling not against revilers.

32 And of tenets thou shalt not talk, but thou shalt declare repentance and faith on the Savior and remission of sins by baptism and by fire; yea, even the Holy Ghost.

33 Behold this is a great and the last commandment which I shall give unto you:

34 For this shall suffice for thy daily walk even unto the end of thy life.

35 And misery thou shalt receive, if thou wilt slight these counsels; Yea, even destruction of thyself and property.
 36 Impart a portion of thy property; Yea, even a part of thy lands and all save the support of thy family.
 37 Pay the printer's debt.
 38 Release thyself from bondage.
 39 Leave thy house and home, except when thou shalt desire to see them.
 40 And speak freely to all: Yea, preach, exhort, declare the truth, even with a loud voice; with a sound of rejoicing, crying hosanna! hosanna! blessed be the name of the Lord God.
 41 Pray always and I will pour out my Spirit upon you, and great shall be your blessing:
 42 Yea, even more than if you should obtain treasures of earth, and corruptibleness to the extent thereof.
 43 Behold, canst thou read this without rejoicing, and lifting up thy heart for gladness; or canst thou run about longer as a blind guide; or canst thou be humble and meek and conduct thyself wisely before me:
 44 Yea, come unto me thy Savior. Amen.

PREFACE.

TO THE READER—

As many false reports have been circulated respecting the following work, and also many unlawful measures taken by evil designing persons to destroy me, and also the work, I would inform you that I translated, by the gift and power of God, and caused to be written, one hundred and sixteen pages, the which I took from the Book of Lehi, which was an account abridged from the plates of Lehi, by the hand of Mormon; which said account, some person or persons have stolen and kept from me, notwithstanding my utmost exertions to recover it again—and being commanded of the Lord that I should not translate the same over again, for Satan had put it into their hearts to tempt the Lord their God, by altering the words, that they did read contrary from that which I translated and caused to be written; and if I should bring forth the same words again, or, in other words, if I should translate the same over again, they would publish that which they had stolen, and Satan would stir up the hearts of this generation, that they might not receive this work: but behold, the Lord said unto me, I will not suffer that Satan shall accomplish his evil design in this thing: therefore thou shalt translate from the plates of Nephi, until ye come to that which ye have translated, which ye have retained; and behold ye shall publish it as the record of Nephi; and thus I will confound those who have altered my words. I will not suffer that they shall destroy my work; yea, I will shew unto them that my wisdom is greater than the cunning of the Devil. Wherefore, to be obedient unto the commandments of God, I have, through his grace and mercy, accomplished that which he hath commanded me respecting this thing. I would also inform you that the plates of which hath been spoken, were found in the township of Manchester, Ontario county, New-York.

- b same calling with which he was called Now therefore whosoever repenteth & humbleth himself before me & desireth to be baptized in my name shall ye baptize them And after this manner did he command me that I should baptize them Behold ye shall go down & stand in the water & in my name shall ye baptize them And now behold these are the words which ye shall say calling them by name saying Having authority given me of Jesus Christ I baptize you in the name of the Father & of the Son & of the Holy Ghost Amen And then shall ye immerse them in the water & come forth again out of the water & after this manner shall ye baptize in my name For behold verily I say unto you That the Father & the Son & the Holy Ghost are one & I am in the Father & the Father in me & the Father & I are one
- c And ye are also called to ordain Priests & Teachers according to the gifts & callings of God unto men & after this manner shall ye ordain them Ye shall pray unto the Father in my name & then shall ye lay your hands upon them & say In the name of Jesus Christ I ordain you to be a Priest or if he be a Teacher I ordain you to be a Teacher to preach repentance & remission of sins through Jesus Christ by the endurance of faith on his name to the end Amen And this shall be the duty of the Priest He shall kneel down & the members of the Church shall kneel also which Church shall be called The Church of Christ & he
- d shall pray to the Father in my name for the church & if it so be that it be built upon my Rock I will bless it And after that ye have prayed to the Father in my name ye shall preach the truth in soberness casting out none from among you but rather invite them to come And the Church shall oft partake of bread & wine & after this manner shall ye partake of it The Elder or Priest shall minister it & after this manner shall he do he shall kneel with the Church & pray to the Father in the name of Christ & then shall ye say O God the Eternal Father we ask thee in the name of thy Son Jesus Christ to bless & sanctify this bread to the souls of all those who partake of it that they may eat <eat> in remembrance of the body of thy Son & witness unto thee O God the Eternal Father that they are willing to take upon them the name of thy Son & always remember him & keep his commandments which he hath given them that they may always have his spirit to be with them Amen
- e And then shall ye take the cup & say O God the Eternal Father we ask thee in the name of thy Son Jesus Christ to bless & sanctify this wine to the souls of all those who drink of it that they may do in remembrance of the blood of thy Son which was shed for them that they may witness unto thee O God the Eternal Father that they do always remember him that they may have his spirit to be with them Amen
- f And now behold I give unto you a commandment that ye shall not suffer any one knowingly to partake of my flesh & blood unworthily when ye shall minister it for whoso eateth & drinketh my flesh & blood unworthily eateth & drinketh damnation to his soul Therefore if ye know that a man is unworthy to eat & drink of my flesh & blood ye shall forbid him nevertheless ye shall not cast him out from among you but ye shall minister unto him & shall pray for him unto the Father in my name & if it so be that he repenteth & is baptized in my name then shall ye receive him & shall minister unto him of my

- g flesh & blood but if he repenteth not he shall not be numbered among my people that he may not destroy my people For behold I know my Sheep & they are numbered nevertheless ye shall not cast him out of your Synagogues or your places of worship for unto such shall ye continue to minister for ye know not but what they will return & repent & come unto me with full purpose of heart & I shall heal <heal> them & ye shall be the means of bringing Salvation unto them Therefore keep these sayings which I have commanded you that ye come not under condemnation for wo unto him whom the Father condemneth——
- h And the church shall meet together oft for prayer & suplication casting out none from your places of worship but rather invite them to come And each member shall speak & tell the church of their progress in the way to Eternal life
- i And there shall be no pride nor envying nor strifes nor malice nor idoletry nor witchcrafts nor whoredoms nor fornications nor covetousness nor lying nor deceits nor no manner of iniquity & if any one is guilty of any or the least of these & doth not repent & shew fruits meets <meats> for repentance they shall not be numbered among my people that they may not destroy my people
- j And now I speak unto the Church Repent all ye ends of the Earth & come unto me & be baptized in my name which is Jesus Christ & endure to the end & ye shall be saved Behold Jesus Christ is the name which is given of the Father & there is none other name given whereby man can be saved Therefore all men must take upon them the name which is given of the Father for in that name shall they be called at the last <day> Therefore if they know not the name by which they are called
- k they cannot have place in the Kingdom of my Father Behold ye must walk uprightly before me & sin not & if ye do walk uprightly before me & sin not my grace is sufficient for you that ye shall be lifted up at the last day Behold I am Jesus Christ the Son of the liveing God I am the same which came unto my own & my own received me not I am the light which shineth in darkness & the darkness comprehendeth it not these words are not of men nor of man but of me Now remember the words of him who is the first & the last the light & the life of the world And I Jesus Christ your Lord & your God & your Redeemer

- a I wish also to mention here, that the Title Page of the Book of Mormon is a literal translation, taken from the very last leaf, on the left hand side of the collection or book of plates, which contained the record which has been translated; ~~and not by any means~~ the language of the whole running same as all Hebrew writing in general; and that, said Title Page is not by any means a modern composition either of mine or of any other man's who has lived or does live in this generation. Therefore, in order to correct an error which generally exists concerning it, I give below that part of the Title Page of the English Version of the Book of Mormon, which is a genuine and literal translation of the Title Page of the Original Book of Mormon, as recorded on the plates.
- b
- The Book of Mormom

An account written by the hand of Mormon, upon plates, Taken from the plates of Nephi.

Wherefore it is an abridgement of the record of the people of Nephi, and also of the Lamanites; written to the Lamanites, who are a remnant of the house of Israel; and also to Jew and Gentile: written by way of commandment, and also by the spirit of prophecy and of revelation.
- c Written, and sealed up, and hid up unto the Lord, that they might not be destroyed; to come forth by the gift and power of God unto the interpretation thereof: sealed by the hand of Moroni, and hid up unto the Lord, to come forth in due time by the way of Gentile; the interpretation thereof by the gift of God.
- d An abridgement taken from the book of Ether, also; which is a record of the people of Jared; who were scattered at the time the Lord confounded the language of the people when they were building a tower to get to Heaven: which is to shew
- e unto the remnant of the house of Israel what great things the Lord hath done for their fathers; and that they may know the Covenants of the Lord, that they are not cast off forever; and also to the convincing of <the> Jew and Gentile that Jesus is the Christ, the Eternal God, manifesting himself unto all nations. And now if there are faults, they are the mistakes of men; wherefore condemn not the things of God, that ye may be found spotless at the judgement seat of Christ.
- (The remainder <(of the Title page)> is of course, modern)

The articles and covenants of the Church of Christ agreeable to the will and commandments of God. The rise of the Church of Christ in these last days, being 1830 years since the coming of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ in the flesh, it being regularly organized and established agreeable to the laws of our country, by the will and commandments of God, in the 4th month, and on the 6th day of the same, which commandments were given to Joseph Smith, jun. who was called of God and ordained an apostle of Jesus Christ, an elder of the church, and also to Oliver Cowdery, who was also called of God ¹Marquardt does not give the text of this revelation, not knowing at the time whether it still existed. His discussion still provides useful historical background.

an apostle of Jesus Christ, an elder of the church, and ordained under his hand, and this according to the grace of God the Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, to whom be all glory both now and ever—amen.

For after that it truly was manifested unto the first elder that he had received remission of his sins, he was entangled again in the vanities of the world, but after truly repenting, God visited him by an holy angel, whose countenance was as lightning, and whose garments were pure and white above all whiteness, and gave unto him commandments which inspired him from on high, and gave unto him power, by the means of which was before prepared that he should translate a book; which book contains a record of a fallen people, and also the fullness of the gospel of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles and also to the Jews, proving unto them that the holy scriptures be true, and also that God doth inspire men and call them to his holy work in these last days, as well as in days of old, that he may be the same God forever—amen.

Which book, given by inspiration, is called the Book of Mormon, and is confirmed to others by the ministering of angels, and declared unto the world by them. Wherefore, having so great witnesses, by them shall the world be judged, even as many as shall hereafter receive this work, either to faith and righteousness, or to the hardness of heart in unbelief to their own condemnation. For the Lord God hath spoken it, for we elders of the church have heard and bear record to the words of the glorious Majesty on high, to whom be glory forever and ever—Amen. Wherefore, by these things, we know that there is a God in heaven, who is infinite and eternal, from everlasting to everlasting the same unchangeable God. the Maker of heaven and earth, and all things that in them is, and that he is all power, and all wisdom, and all understanding, and that he created man male and female after his own image and in his own likeness created he them, and that he gave unto the children of men a commandment that they should love and serve him the only being whom they should worship; but by the transgression of these holy laws, men became sensual and devilish, and became fallen man—wherefore the Almighty God gave his only begotten Son, as is written in those scriptures which hath been given of him, that he suffered temptations but gave no heed unto them, that he was crucified and died and rose again the third day, and that he ascended into heaven to sit down on the right hand of the Father, to reign with almighty power according to the will of the Father, that as many as would believe and were baptized into his holy name and endured in faith to the end should be saved; yea, even as many as were before he came in the flesh, from the beginning, which believed in the words of the holy prophets, which were inspired by the gift of the Holy Ghost, which truly testified of him in all things, as well they which should come after, which should believe in the gifts and calling of God by the Holy Ghost which beareth record of the Father and of the Son, which Father and the Son, and the Holy Ghost is one God, infinite and eternal, without end.— Amen.

And we know that all men must repent and believe on the name of Jesus Christ, and worship the Father in his name, and endure in faith on his name to the end, or they cannot be saved in the kingdom of God. And we know that justification through the grace of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ is just and true. And we also know that sanctification through the grace of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ is just and true to all those who love and serve God with all their mights, minds, and strength. But there is a possibility that men may fall from grace, and depart from the living God, therefore let the church take heed, and pray always, lest they enter into temptations; yea, and he that is sanctified also. And we know that these things are true and agreeable to the revelations of Jesus Christ which was signified by his angel unto John, neither adding nor diminishing to the prophecy of his book; neither to the holy scriptures; neither to the revelations of God which shall come hereafter by the gift and power of the Holy Ghost, neither by the voice of God, neither by the ministering of angels. And the Lord God hath spoken it—and honor, power, and glory be rendered to his holy name both now and ever.—Amen.

And again, by way of commandment to the church concerning the manner of baptism, behold whosoever humbly himself before God and desireth to be baptized, and comes forth with a broken heart and a contrite spirit, and witnesseth unto the church that they truly repent of all their sins, and are willing to take upon them the name of Christ, having a determination to serve him unto the end, and truly manifest by their works that they have received the gift of Christ unto the remission of their sins, then shall they be received unto baptism into the church of Christ.

The duty of Elders, Priests, Teachers, and Deacons, and members of the church of Christ:—An apostle is an elder, and it is his calling to baptize and to ordain other elders, priests, teachers, and deacons, and to administer the flesh and blood of Christ according to the scriptures, and to teach, expound, and exhort, and to baptize and to watch over the church, and to confirm the church by the laying on of hands and the giving of the Holy Ghost, and to take the lead of all meetings, &c.

The elders are to conduct the meetings as they are led by the Holy Ghost.

The priests' duty is to preach, teach, expound, and exhort, and baptize, and administer the sacrament, and visit the house of each member, and exhort them to pray vocally and in secret, and also to attend to all family duties, to ordain priests, teachers, and deacons, and to take the lead in meetings; but none of these offices is he to do when there is an elder present, but in all cases is to assist the elder, &c. The teacher's duty is to watch over the church always, and be with them and strengthen them, and see that there is no iniquity in the church, nor no hardness with each other, nor no lying nor backbiting, nor no evil speaking; and see that the church meets together oft, and also see that every member does his duty, and he is to take the lead of the meetings in the absence of the elder or priest, and is to be assisted always and all his duties in the church by the deacons. But neither the teacher nor the deacon has authority to baptize nor administer the sacrament; but are to warn, exhort, expound and teach and invite all to come to Christ. Every elder, priest, teacher, or deacon, is to be ordained according to the gifts and calling of God unto them by the power of the Holy Ghost, which is in the one who ordains them.

The several elders composing the church of Christ are to meet at each of its meetings to do church business, whatsoever is necessary, &c. and each priest or teacher who is ordained by any priest is to take a certificate from him at the time, which, when shown to an elder, he is to give him a license, which shall authorize him to perform the duty of his calling. The duty of the church members after they are received by baptism:—The elders or priests are to have a sufficient time to expound all things concerning this church of Christ to their understanding previous to their partaking of the sacrament, and being confirmed by the laying on of the hands of the elders, so that all things shall be done in order; and the members shall manifest before the church and before the elders a godly walk and conversation that they are worthy of it, that there may be works and faith agreeable to the holy scriptures, walking in holiness before the Lord. Every member of this church of Christ having children, are to bring them unto the elders before the church who are to lay hands on them in the name of the Lord, and bless them in the name of Christ. There cannot any one be received into this church of Christ who have not arrived to the years of accountability before God, and are not capable of repentance. And the manner of baptism & the manner of administering the sacrament are to be done as is written in the Book of Mormon. Any member of this church of Christ transgressing, or being overtaken in a fault, shall be dealt with according as the scriptures direct, &c It shall be the duty of the several churches composing this church of Christ to send one of their priests or teachers to attend the several conferences held by the elders of the church with a list of the names the several persons uniting themselves to the church since the last conference, or send by the hand of some elder, so that there can be kept a regular list of all the names of the members of the whole church in a book kept by one of the elders whomsoever the other elders shall appoint from time to time, end [and] also if any have been expelled from the church so that their names may be blotted out of the general church record of names; any member removing from the church where he belongs, if going to a church where he is not known, may take letter certifying that he is a member and in good standing, which certificate may be signed by any elder or priest—if the person receiving the letter is personally acquainted with the elder or priest; or may be signed by the teachers or deacons of his church.

A commandment unto the church of Christ which was established in these last days A. D. 1830, on the 4th month and the 6th day of the month, which is called April:— Behold I say unto you that all old covenants have I caused to be done away in this thing, and this is a new and everlasting covenant; wherefore, although a man should be baptized a hundred times it availeth him nothing, for ye cannot enter in at the straight gait by the law of Moses, neither by your dead works, for it is because of your dead works that I have caused this last covenant and this church to be built up unto me; wherefore enter ye in at the gate as I have commanded, and seek not to counsel your God.

A Revelation given to Joseph the Revelator June 1830

The words of God which he gave <spake> unto Moses at a time when Moses was caught up into an exceeding high Mountain & he saw God face to face & he talked with him & the glory of God was upon Moses therefore Moses could endure his presence & God spake unto Moses saying Behold I I am the Lord God Almighty & endless is my name for I am without beginning of days or end of years & is this not endless & behold thou art my Son Wherefore look & I will shew thee the workmanship of mine hands but not all for my works are without end & also my wo[r]lds for they never cease wherefore no man can behold all my works except he behold <all> my glory & no man can behold all my glory & afterwords remain in the flesh & I have a work for thee Moses my Son & thou art in similitude to my <mine> only begotten & mine only begotten is & shall be for he is full of grace & truth but there is none other God beside me & all things are present with me for I know them all And now behold this one thing I shew unto thee Moses my son for thou art in the world & now I shew it thee And it came to pass that Moses looked & beheld the world upon which he was created & Moses beheld the world & the ends thereof & all the Children of men which was & which was created of the same he greatly marvelled & wondered & the presence of God withdrew from Moses that his glory was not upon Moses & Moses was left unto himself & as he was left unto himself he fell unto the Earth, And it came to pass, that it was for the space of many hours before Moses did again receive his natural strength [lik]e unto man, & he saith unto himself ~~no~~ Now for this once I know that [m]an is nothing, which thing I never had supposed, but now mine eyes, mine own eyes but not mine eyes for mine eyes could not have beheld for I should have withered & died in his presence but his glory was upon me & I beheld his face for I was transfigured before him And now it came to pass that when Moses had said these words, behold, Satan came tempting him saying, Moses, Son of man, worship me, And it came to pass that Moses looked upon Satan & saith, Who art thou for behold, I am a Son of God in the similitude of his only begotten, & where is thy glory that I should worship thee, for, behold, I could not look upon God except his glory should come upon me, & I were transfigured before him but I can look upon thee in the natural man, if not so surely blessed be the name of my God for his Spirit hath not altogether withdrawn from me or else where is thy glory for it is blackness unto me & I can Judge between thee & God for God said unto me Worship God for him only shalt thou serve Get thee hence Satan deceive me not for God said unto me Thou art after the similitude of mine only begotten & he also gave unto me commandment when he called unto me out of the burning bush Saying [c]all upon God in the name of mine only begotten & worship me And again Moses saith I will not cease to call upon God I have other things to inquire of him for his glory has been upon me & it is glory unto me wherefore I can judge betwixt him & thee[.] depart hence Satan And now when Mose[s] had said these words Satan cried with a loud [voice &] went upon the Ea[r]t[h] & comma[n]ded saying I am the only begotten worship me And it came to pass that Moses began to fear exceedingly & as he began to fear he saw the bitterness of Hell Nevertheless calling upon God he received strength & he commanded saying Depart hence Satan for this one God only will I worship which is the God of glory & now Satan began to tremble & the Earth shook & Moses receiving strength called upon God saying In the name of Jesus Christ depart hence Satan And it came to pass that satan cried with a loud voice with weeping & wailing & gnashing of teeth & departed hence yea from the presence of Moses that he beheld him not And now of this thing <thing> Moses bore record but because of wickedness it is not had among the children of men And it came to pass that when Satan had departed from the presence of Moses he lifted up his eyes unto Heaven being filled with the Holy Ghost which beareth record of the Father & the Son & calling upon the name of God he beheld again his glory for it was upon him & he heard a voice saying Blessed art thou Moses for I the Almighty have chosen thee & thou shalt be made stronger than the many waters for they shall obey thy command even as if thou wert God & lo I am with you even to the end of thy days for thou shalt deliver my people from bondage even Israel my chose[n] And it came to pass as the voice was still speaking he cast his eyes & h[e] beheld the Earth yea even all all the face of it & there was not a particl[e] of it which he did not behold discerning it by the Spirit of God & he beheld also the inhabitants thereof & there was not a soul which he be[held] not & he discerned them by the Spirit of God & their numbers were grea[t] even as numberless as the sand upon the sea shore & he beheld many lands & each land was called Earth & there were inhabitants upon the face thereof And it came to pass that Moses called upon God saying tell me I pray thee why these things are so & by what thou madest them & behold the glory of God was upon Moses that Moses stood in the presence of God & he talk[ed] with him face to face & the Lord God said unto Moses For mine own purpose have I made these things here is wisdom & it remaineth in me & by the word of my power have I created them which is mine only begotten Son full of grace & truth & worlds without number have I created & I also created them for mine own purpose & by the same I created them which is mine only begotten & the first man of all men have I called Adam which is many but only an account of this Earth & the inhabitants thereof give I unto you for behold there are many worlds which have passed away by the word of my power & there are many also which now stand & numberless are they unto man bu[t] all things are numbered unto me for they are mine & I know them And it came to pass that Moses spake unto the Lord saying Be merciful [u]nto thy Servant O God & tell me concerning this Earth & the inhabitan[ts] [the]reof & also the H[eavens] & then thy Servant will be content And the Lord God spake unto Moses saying The Heavens there are many & they cannot be numbered unto man but they are numbered unto me for they are mine & as one Earth shall pass away & the Heavens thereof even so shall another come And there is no end to my works neither my words for behold this is my work to my glory to the immortality & the eternal life of man And now Moses my Son I will speak unto you concerning this Earth upon which thou standest & thou shalt write the things which I shall speak & in a day when the children of men shall esteem my words as nought & take many of them from the Book which thou shalt write behold I will raise up another like unto thee thee & they shall be had again among the Children of men among even as many as shall believe These words was spoken unto Moses in the mount the name of which shall not be known among the Children of men And now they are also spoken unto you shew them not unto any except them that believe <Amen>

- a Dearly beloved in the Lord
We are under necessity to disappoint you this time for reasons which I shall mention hereafter, but trusting that your meeting may not be an unprofitable one May you all realize the necessity of getting together often to pray and supplicate at the Throne of grace, that the spirit of the Lord may always rest upon you. Remember that without asking we can receive
- b nothing, therefore ask in faith, and ye shall receive such blessings as God sees fit to bestow upon you. Pray not with covetous hearts that ye may consume it upon your lusts, but pray earnestly for the best gifts— fight the good fight of faith, that ye may gain the Crown which is laid up ~~in~~ for those that endure faithful unto the end of their probation. Therefore hold fast that which ye have received so liberally from the hand of God so that when the time of refreshing shall come ye may not have labored in vain, but that ye may rest from all your labors and have fulness of joy in the Kingdom of God.

- b ...Were it not for the prayers of you few, the Almighty would have thundered down his wrath upon the inhabitants of that place; but be not faint, the day of your deliverance is not far distant, for the judgements of the Lord are already abroad in the earth, and the cold hand of death, will soon pass through your neighborhood, and sweep away some of your most bitter enemies, for you need not suppose that God will be mocked at, and his commandments be trampled under their feet in such a manner as your enemies do, without visiting them in his wrath when they are fully ripe, and behold the angel
- d cries, thrust in your sickle for the harvest is fully ripe; and the earth will soon be reaped.— that is, the wicked must soon be destroyed from off the face of the earth, for the Lord hath spoken it, and who can stay the hand of the Lord, or who is there that can measure arms with the Almighty, for at his commands the heavens and the earth must pass away, for the day is fast hastening on when the restoration of all things shall be fulfilled, which all the Holy Prophets have prophesied of even unto the
- e gathering in of the House of Israel. Then shall come to pass that the lion shall lie down with the lamb &c. But brethren be not dis-couraged when we tell you of perilous times, for they must shortly come, for the sword, famine, and pestilence <are> approaching, for there shall be great destructions upon the face of this land, for ye need not suppose that one jot or tittle of the prophecies of all the Holy Prophets shall fail, and there are many that remain to be fulfilled yet, and the Lord hath said that a short work will he make of it, and the righteous shall be saved if it be as by fire.

“May the grace of God the Father, Son and Holy Ghost be and abide with you from henceforth and forever, Amen.

29th Commandment AD 1830

A Revelation to Six Elders of the Church & three members they understood from Holy Writ that the time had come <that> the People of God should see eye to eye & they seeing somewhat different upon the death of Adam (that is his transgression) therefor they made it a subject of Prayer & enquired of the Lord & thus came the word of the Lord through Joseph the seer <saying given> At Fayette Seneca County State of New York

Listen to the voice of Jesus christ your Redeemer the great I am whose arm of mercy hath atoned for your sins who will gather his People even as a hen gathereth her Chickens under her wings even as many as will hearken to my voice & humble themselves before me & call upon me in mighty prayer Behold Verily Verily I say unto you at this time your sins are forgiven you Therefore ye Receive these things but remember to sin no more lest perils shall come upon you Verily I say unto you that ye are chosen out of the World to declare my Gospel with the sound of Rejoicing as with the voice of a Trump lift up your hearts & be glad for I am in your midst & am your advocate with the Father & it is his good will to give you the kingdom & as it is written Watsoever ye shall ask in faith being united in prayer according to my command ye shall receive & ye are called to bring to pass the gathering of mine Elect for mine Elect hear my voice & harden not their hearts wherefore the decree hath gone forth from the father that they shall be gathered in unto one place upon the the face of this land to prepare their Hearts & be prepared in all things against the day of tribulation & desolation is sent forth upon the wicked for the hour is nigh & the day soon at hand when the Earth is ripe & all the proud & they that do wickedly shall be as stubble & I will burn them up that wickedness shall not be upon the Earth for the hour is nigh & the ~~day soon at hand~~ which was spoken by mine Apostles must be fulfilled for as they spoke so shall it come to pass for I will reveal myself from Heaven with Power & great glory with all the hosts thereof & dwell in righteousness with men on Earth a thousand Years & the wicked shall not stand & again Verily Verily I say unto you & it hath gone forth in a firm decree by the will of the father that mine Apostles the twelve which were with me in my ministry at Jerusalem shall stand at my right hand at the day of my coming in a pillar of fire being clothed with robes of righteousness with crowns upon their heads in glory even as I am to Judge the whole House of Israel even as many as have loved me & kept my commandments & none else for a Trump Shall sound both long & loud even as upon mount Sinia [Sinai] & all the Earth shall quake & they shall come forth yea even the dead which died in me to receive a Crown of righteousness & to be Clothed upon even as I am to be with me that we may be one, but, Behold I say unto you that before this great day shall come the Sun shall be darkened & the moon shall be turned into blood & some stars shall fall from Heaven & there shall be greater signs in the Heaven above & in the Earth beneath & there shall be weeping & waileing among the host of men & there shall be a great hailstorm sent forth to destroy the Crops of the Earth & it shall come to pass because of the wickedness of the World that I will take vengeance upon the Wicked for they will not Repent for the cup of mine indignation is full for Behold my blood shall not cleanse them if they repent not Wherefore I will send <forth> flies upon the face of the Earth which shall take hold of the inhabitants thereof & shall eat their flesh & shall cause magots to come in upon them & their tongues shall be stayed that they shall not utter against me & their flesh shall fall from off their Bones & their eyes from their sockets & it shall come to pass that the Beasts of the forest & the fowls of the air shall devour them up & that great & abominable Church which is the whore of all the Earth shall be cast down by devouring fire according as it was spoken by the mouth of Ezekiel the Prophet which spoke of these things which have not come to pass as yet but shurely must as I live for abominations shall not reign & again Verily Verily I say unto you that when the thousand years are ended & men again begin to deny their god then will I spare the Earth but for a little Season & then the end shall come & the Heaven & the Earth shall be consumed & pass away & there shall be a New Heaven & a New Earth for all old things shall pass away & all things shall become New even the Heaven & the Earth & all the fulness thereof both men & beasts the fowls of the air & the fishes of the Sea & not one hair neither moat [mote] shall be lost for it is the workmanship of mine hand But Verily I say unto you before the Earth shall pass away Michael mine Archangel shall sound his trump & then shall all the dead awake for their graves shall be opened & they shall come forth yea even all & the righteous shall be gethered on my right hand unto eternal life & the wicked on my left hand will I be ashamed to own before the father Wherefore I will say unto them depart from me ye cursed into everlasting fire prepared for the devil & his Angels & now Behold I say unto you never at any time have I declared from mine own mouth that they should return for where I am they cannot come for they have no power but remember that all my Judgements are not given unto men & as the words have gone forth out of my mouth even so shall they be fulfilled that the first shall be last & that the last shall be first in all things Whatsoever I have created by the word of my Power which is the Power of my spirit for by the Power of my Spirit created I them yea all things both Spiritual & Temperally firstly spiritual secondly temporally which is the Begining of my work & again firstly temporal & secondly spiritual which is the last of my work speaking unto you that ye may naturally understand but unto myself my work hath no end neither begining But it is given unto you that ye may understand because ye have asked it of me & are agreed Wherefore Verily I say unto you that all things unto me are Spiritual & not at any time have I given unto you a law which was temporal neither any man nor the childern of men Neither Adam your father whom I created Behold I give <gave> unto him that he should be an agent unto himself & I gave unto him a commandment but no temporal Commandment gave I unto him for my commandments are spiritual they are not Natural nor temporal neither carnal nor sensual & it came to pass that Adam being tempted of the Devil for Behold the Devil was before Adam for he rebelled against me saying give me thine honour which is my Power & also a third part of the host of Heaven turned he away from me Because of their agency & they were thrust down & thus came the Devil & his Angels & Behold a place prepared for them which place is Hell & it came to pass Must needs be that the Devil should tempt the children of men or they could not be agents unto themselves for if they never should have bitter they could not k[n]ow the Sweet Wherefore it came to pass that the Devil tempted Adam & he partook of the forbidden fruit & transgressed the commandment wherein he became subject to the will of the Devil Because he yielded unto temptation Wherefore I the Lord God caused that he should be cast out from the Garden of Edan from my presence because of his transgression Wherein he became spiritually dead which death is the first death even that same death which is the last death which is spiritual which shall be pronounced upon the wicked which shall be when I shall say depart ye Cursed But Behold I say unto you that I the Lord God gave unto Adam & unto his seed that they should not Die as to the temporal death untill I the Lord God should send forth Angels to declare unto them Repentance & redemption through faith on the name of mine only begotten Son & thus did I the Lord God appoint unto man the days of his probation that by his natural death he might be raised in immortality unto eternal life even as many as would believe on my name & they that believe not unto eternal damnation for they cannot be redeemed from their spiritual fall Because they repent not for they love darkness more than light & their deeds are evil & they receive their wages of whom they list to obey But Behold I say unto you that little children are redeemed from the foundation of the word world through mine only begotten Wherefore they cannot sin for power is not given to Satan to tempt little children until they begin to be accountable before me for it is given unto them even as I will according to mine own will pleasure that great things may be required at the hand of their fathers & again I say unto you that whoso having knowledge have not I commanded to Repent & he that hath no understanding it remaineth in me to do according as it is written & now behold I declare no more unto you at this time amen

- a Dearly beloved in the Lord
According to your prayers, the Lord hath called, chosen, ordained, sanctified and sent unto you, another servant and Apostle separated unto his gospel through Jesus Christ his our Redeemer, to whom be all honor & praise henceforth and forever— even our beloved brother Orson Pratt, the bearer of these lines. Whom I recommend unto you as a faithful Servant in the Lord, through Jesus Christ our Redeemer, Amen.
- b To the Church in Colesville—
Having many things to write to you, but being assured that ye are not ignorant of all that I can write to you, finally I would inform you that Zion is prospering here, there are many serious inquirers in this place, who are seeking the Lord. It gave us much joy to hear from you, to hear that God is softening the hearts of the children of men in that place, it being the seat of Satan. But blessed be the name of God, it also hath become the abode of our savior, and may you all be faithful and
- c wait for the time of our Lord, for his appearing is night at hand. But the time, and the season, Brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you, for ye yourselves perfectly know that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night: for when they shall say peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman, but they shall not escape. But ye, brethren are not in darkness, therefore let us not sleep as do others, but let us watch and be sober, for they that sleep, sleep in the night, and they that be drunken are drunken in the night, but let us who be of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and law, and for a helmet, the hope of salvation. For God hath not appointed us unto wrath; but to obtain [sa]lvation
- d through our Lord Jesus Christ. Wherefore comfort one another, even as ye also do; for perilous times are at hand, for behold the dethronement and deposition of the kings in the eastern continent,— the whirlwinds in the West India Islands, it has destroyed a number of vessels, uprooted buildings and strewed them in the air; the fields of spices have been destroyed,
- e and the inhabitants have barely escaped with their lives, and many have been buried under the ruins. In Columbia, South America, they are at war and peace is taken from the earth in part. and it will soon be in whole, yea destructions are at our doors, and they soon will be in the houses of the wicked, and they that know not God. Yea lift up your heads and rejoice for your redemption draweth nigh. We are the most favored people that ever have been from the foundation of the world, if we
- f remain faithful in keeping the commandments of our God. Yea, even Enoch, the seventh from Adam beheld our day and rejoiced, and the prophets from that day forth have prophesied of the second coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and rejoiced at the day of rest of the Saints, Yea, and the Apostle of our Savior also did rejoice in his appear^o in a cloud with the host of Heaven, to dwell with man on the earth a thousand years. Therefore we have reason to rejoice. Behold the prophecies of the Book of Mormon are fulfilling as fast as time can bring it about. The Spirit of the Living God is upon me therefore
- g who will say that I shall not prophecy. The time is soon at hand that we shall have to flee whithersoever the Lord will, for safety, Fear not those who are making you an offender for a word but be faithful in witnessing unto a crooked and a perverse generation, that ~~thy~~ the day of the coming of our Lord and Savior is at hand. Yea, prepare ye the way of the Lord, make strait his path. Who will shrink because of offences, for offences must come, but woe to them by whom they come, for the rock must fall on them and grind them to powder, for the fulness of the gentiles is come in, and woe will be unto them if they do not repent and be baptized in the name of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ for the remission of their sins, and come in at the
- h strait gate and be numbered with the House of Israel, for God will not always be mocked, and not pour out his wrath upon those that blaspheme his holy name, for the sword, famines and destruction will soon overtake them in their wild career, for God will avenge, and pour out his phials of wrath, and save his elect. And all those who will obey his commandments are his elect, and he will soon gather them from the four winds of heaven, from one quarter of the earth to the other, to a place whithersoever he will, therefore in your patience possess ye your souls. Amen.

An explanation of the first Epistle to the first Corinthians 7 Chapter & 14th verse given to Joseph the Seer at Wayne County. N.Y 1830

For the unbelieving wife husband is sanctified by the wife & the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband else were your Children unclean but now ere [are] they holy

Now in the days of the Apostles the law of circumcision was had among ~~them~~ all the Jews which believed not the Gospel of Jesus Christ, & it came to pass that there arose a great contention among the People concerning the law of circumcision for the unbelieving husband was desirous that his children should be circumcised & become subject to the law of Moses which law was Fulfilled & it came to pass that the Children being brought up in subjection to the law of mores & gave heed to the traditions of their Fathers & believed not the Gospel of Christ wherein they became unholy wherefore for this cause the Apostle wrote unto the Church giving unto them a commandment not of the Lord but of himself that a believer should not be united to an unbeliever except the law of Moses should be done away among them that their Children might remain without circumcision & that the tradition might be done away which saith that little children are unholy for it was had among the Jews but little children are holy being sanctified through the atonement of Jesus Christ & this is wat these scriptures mean

February 23^d 1831 the rules and regulations of the <Law>

How the Elders of the church of Christ are to act upon the points of the Law given by Jesus Christ to the Church in the presents of twelve Elders February 9th 1831 as agreed upon by Seven Elders Feb 23^d 1831 according to the commandment of God——

1th The first commandment in the law teaches that all the Elders shall go unto the regions westward and labour to build up Churches unto Christ wheresoever they shall <find> any to receive them and obey the Gospel of Jesus Christ except Joseph & Sidney [Rigdon] and Edward [Partridge] and Such as the Bishop Shall appoint to assist him in his duties according to the Law which we have received this commandment as far as it respects these Elders to be sent to the west is a special one for the time being incumbent on the present Elders who shall return when directed by the Holy Spirit——

2^d Every person who belongeth to this church of Christ Shall observe all the Commandments and covenants of the Church and it shall come to pass that if any person among you shall kill they shall be delivered up and dealt with according to the Laws of the land for remember that he hath no forgiveness and it shall be proven according to the Laws of the land but if any man shall commit Adultery he Shall be tried before two Elders of the Church or more and every word shall be established against him by two witnesses of the Church and not of the world but if there are more than two witnesses it is better but he shall be condemned by the mouth of two witnesses and the Elders shall lay the case before the Church and the Church shall lift up their hands against them that they may be ~~dealt~~ dealt with according to <the> Law and if it can be it is necessary that the Bishop is present also and thus ye shall do in all cases which shall come before you and if an man shall rob he shall be delivered up unto the Law and if he shall steal he shall be delivered up unto the Law and if he lie he shall be delivered up unto the Law if he do any manner of iniquity he shall be delivered up unto the Law even that of God and if thy Brother offend thee, thou shalt take him between him and thee alone and if he confess thou shalt be reconciled and if he confess not thou shalt take another with thee and then if he confess not thou Shalt deliver him up unto the Church not to the members but to the Elders and it shall be done in a meeting and that not before the world and if thy Brother offend many he shall be chastened before many and if any one offend openly he shall be rebuked openly that he may be ashamed and if he confess not he Shall be delivered up unto the law, if any shall offend in secret he shall be rebuked in Secret the <that he> may have opportunity to confess in Secret to him whome he he has offended and to God that the Brethren may not speak reproachfully of him and thus shall ye conduct in all things——

How to act in cases of adultery

Behold verily I say unto you whatsoever person among you having put away their companion for the cause of fornication or in otherwords if he shall testify before you in all Lowliness of heart that this is the case ye shall not cast them out from among you but if ye shall find that any person hath left their companion for the sake of adultery and they themselves are the offender and their companions are living they shall be cast out ~~out~~ from among you and again I say unto you that ye be watchful and careful with all inquiry that ye receive none such among you if they are married and if they are not married they shall repent of all their sins or ye shall not receive them——

47 A prophecy March 7th 1831 given to Joseph the seer at Kirtland geauga County Ohio

Saying hearken O ye people of my Church to whom the Kingdom was has been given hearken ye & give ere [ear] to him who laid the foundation of the Earth who made the Heavens & all the hosts thereof & by whom all things were made which live & move & have a being & again I say hearken unto my voice lest death shall overtake you in an hour when ye think not the Summer shall be past & the harvest ended & your souls not saved listen to him who is the advocate with the Father who is pleading your case before him saying Father behold the sufferings & death of him who did no sin in whom thou wast well pleased Behold the Blood of thy son which was shed the blood of him whom thou gavest that thyself might be glorified wherefore Father spare these my Brethren that Believe on my name that they may come unto me And have everlasting life Hearken O ye people of my Church & ye Elders listen together & hear my voice whilst it is called to day & harden not your hearts For verily I say unto you that I am Alpha & Omega the Beginning & the end the light & the life of the world a light that shineth in darkness & the darkness comprehendeth it not I came unto my own & my own Received me not but unto as many as received me gave I power to do many Miracles & to become the Sons of God & even unto them that believed on my name gave I power to obtain eternal life & even so I have sent mine everlasting covenant unto the World to be a light to the world & to be a standerd for my people & for the gentiles to seek to it And to be a mesinger before my face to prepare the way before me

Wherefore come ye unto it With him that cometh I will reason as with men ~~of old~~ in days of old And I will shew unto you my strong reasoning Wherefore hearken ye together & let me shew it unto you even my wisdom the wisdom of him whom ye say is the God of Enoch & his Brethren who were seperated from the Earth & were reserved unto myself a City reserved untill a day of righteousness shall come a day which was sought for by all Holy men & they found it not Because of wickedness & abominations & confessed that they were strangers & pilgrims on the Earth but obtained a promise that they should find it & see it in their flesh wherefore hearken & I will reason with you & I will speak unto you & prophecy as unto men in days of old & I will shew it plainly as I shewed it unto my Deciples as I stood before them in the flesh & spake unto them saying <as> ye have asked of me concerning these signs of my coming in the day when I shall come in my glory in the clouds of Heaven to fulfill the promises that I have made unto your fathers for as you have looked upon the long absence of your spirits from your bodies to be a bondage I will shew unto you how the day of redemption shall come & also the restoration of the scattered Israel & now ye behold this temple which is in Jerusalem which ye call the House of God & your enemies say that this House shall never fall but verily I say unto you that desolation shall come upon this generation as a thief in the night And this people shall be destroyed & scattered among all Nations & this Temple which ye now see shall be thrown down that there shall not be left an stone upon another & it shall come to pass that this generation of Jews shall not pass away [until every] desolation which I have told you concerning them shall come to pass ye say that ye know that the end of the World cometh ye say also that ye know that the Heavens & the Earth shall pass away And in this ye say truly for so it is But these things which I have told you shall not pass away but all shall be fulfilled & this I have told you concerning Jerusalem & when that day shall come shall a remnant ~~shall~~ be scattered among all Nations but they shall be gethered again but they shall remain untill the times of the gentiles be fulfilled & in that day shall be heard of wars & rumours of wars & the whole Earth shall be in commotion & mens hearts shall fail them & ~~&~~ shall say that Christ delayeth his coming until the end of the world & the love of men shall wax cold & inequity shall abound & when the times of the gentiles ~~shall be~~ is come in And a light shall break forth among them that sit in darkness & it shall be the fulness of my Gospel but they receive it not for they perceive not the light & they turn their hearts from me because of the precepts of men & in that generation shall the times of the gentiles be fulfilled & there shall be men standing in that generation that shall not pass untill they shall see an overflowing scourge for a desolating sicknes shall cover the land ~~& shall not be moved~~ but my Deciples shall stand in Holy places & shall not be moved but among the wicked men shall lift up their voices & curse God & die & there shall be earthquakes also in diverse places & many desolations yet men will harden their hearts against me & they will take up the sword one against another & they will kill one another And now when I the Lord had spoken these words unto my Disciples they were troubled for when all these things shall come & I said unto them be not troubled for when all these things shall come to pass ye may know that the promises which have been made unto you shall be fulfilled & when the light shall begin to break forth it shall be with them like unto a Parable which I will shew you ye look & behold the figtrees & ye see them with your eyes & ye say when they begin to shoot forth & th~~o~~◇◇[their] leaves are yet tender ye say that summer is now nigh at hand even so it shall be in that day when they shall see all these things then shall they know that the hour is nigh & it shall come to pass that he that feareth me shall be looking for the great day of the lord to come even for the signs of the coming of the son of man & they shall see signs & wonders for they shall be shewn forth in the heavens above & in the Earth beneath & they shall behold blood & fires & vapors of smoke & before the day of the lord come the sun shall be darkened & the moon be turned into blood & some stars shall fall from Heaven & the remnant shall be gathered unto this place & then they shall look for me & Behold I will come & they shall see me in the clouds of heaven clothed with power & great glory with all the holy Angels & he that watches not for me shall be cut off But before the arm of the Lord shall fall & the Angel shall sound his Trump & the saints that have slept shall come forth to meet me in the cloud wherefore if ye have slept in peace blessed are you for as you now Behold me & know that I am even so shall ye come unto me & your souls shall live And your redemption shall be perfected And the saints shall come forth from the four quarters of the Earth then shall the arm of the Lord fall upon the Nations & then shall the lord set his foot upon this mount & it shall cleave in twain & the Earth shall tremble & reel to & fro & the Heavens also shall shake & the Lord shall utter his voice & all the ends of the Earth shall hear it & the Nations of the Earth shall mourn & they that have laughed shall see their folly & calamity shall cease the mocker & the scorner shall be consumed & they that have watched for iniquity shall be cut-off hewn down & cast into the fire & then shall the Jews look upon me & say what are these wounds in thine hands & in thy feet then shall they know that I am the Lord for I will say unto them these wounds are the wounds With which I was wounded in the house of my friends I am he that was lifted up I am Jesus which was crucified I am the Son of God & then shall they weep because of their iniquities then shall they lament because they persecuted their King & then shall the heathen Nations be redeemed & they which knew no law shall have part in the first resurrection & it shall be tolerable for them & Satan shall be bound that he shall have no place in the hearts of the children of men & at that day when I shall come in my glory, Shall the parable [parable] be fulfilled of which I spoke concerning the ten virgins for he that is wise & hath received the truth & has taken the Holy Spirit for their guide & have not been deceived Verily I say unto you they shall not be hewn down & cast into the fire but shall abide the day & the Earth shall be given unto them for an inheritance & they shall multiply & wax strong & their children shall g~~o~~◇◇[grow] up without Sin unto salvation for the Lord shall be in their midst & his glory shall be upon them & he shall be their King & their law giver & now behold I say unto you it shall not be given unto you to know any farther then this until the New Testament be translated & it in it all things shall be made known Wherefore I give unto you that ye may now Translate it that ye may be prepared for the things to come for Verily I say unto you that great things await you ye hear of wars in foreign lands but behold I say unto you they are nigh even unto your doors & not many years hence ye Shall hear of wars in your own lands wherefore I the Lord have said gather ye out from the Eastern lands assemble ye yourselves together ye Elders of my Church ge [go] ye forth into the western countries call upon the inhabitants to repent & in as much as they do repent build up Churches unto me & with one heart & with one mind gather up your riches that you may purchase an inheritance which shall hereafter be appointed you & it shall be called the New Jerusalem a land of peace a City of refuge a place of safety for the saints of The most high God & the glory of the Lord shall be there & the terror of the Lord also shall be there insomuch that the wicked will not come unto it & it shall be called Zion & it shall come to pass among the wicked that every man that will not take his sword against his Neighbour must needs flee unto Zion for safety & there shall be gathered unto it out of every Nation under Heaven & it shall be the only people that shall not be at war one with another & it shall be said among the wicked let us not go up to battle against Zion for the inhabitants of Zion are terrible wherefore we cannot stand & it shall come to pass that the righteous shall be gathered out from among all Nations & shall come to Zion singing with songs of everlasting Joy & now I say unto you keep these things from going abroad unto the world that ye may accomplish this work in the eyes of the people & in the eyes of your enemies that they may not know your works untill ye have accomplished the thing which I have commanded you that when they shall know it it may be terrible unto them that fear may seize upon them & they shall stand afar off & tremble & all nations shall be afraid because of the terror of the lord & the power of his might even so amen

52nd Commandment May 9th. 1831

A Revelation to the Elders of this Church given at Kirtland geauga Ohio in consequence of their not being perfectly acquainted with the different opperations of the Spirits which are abroad in the Earth & thus saith the Lord unto them as follows

Hearken o ye Elders of my Church & give ear to the voice of the living God & attend to the words of wisdom which shall be given unto you according as ye have asked & are agreed as touching the Church & the spirits which have gone abroad in the Earth Behold verily I say unto you that there are many spirits which are false spirits which have gone forth in the Earth deceiving the world & also Satan hath sought to deceive you that he might overthrow you Behold I the Lord have looked upon you & have seen abominations in the Church which profess my name but blessed are they who are faithfull & endure whether in life or in death for they shall inherit eternal life but wo be unto them that are deceivers & hypocrites for thus saith the Lord I will bring them to Judgement behold verily I say unto you there are hypocrites among you & have deceived some which have given the adve[r]sary power but behold such shall be reclaimed but the hypocrites shall be detected & shall be cut off either in life or in death even as I will & wo is them that is cut off from my Church for the same is overcome of the world wherefore let every man be aware lest he do that which is not in truth & righteousness before me & now come saith the Lord by the spirit by the Elders of his Church & let us reason together that ye may understand let us reason even as a man reasoneth one with another face to face now when a man reasoneth he under[stand]eth of man because he reasoneth as a man even so will I the Lord reason with you that you may understand wherefore I the Lord asketh you this question unto what were ye ordained to Preach my Gospel by the spirit even the comforter which was sent forth to teach the truth & then received you spirits which ye could not understand & received them to be of God & in this are ye Justified? Behold ye shall answer this yourselves nevertheles I will be mercyfull unto you he that is weak among you hereafter shall be made strong verily I say unto you he that is ordained of me & sent forth to preach the word of truth by the comforter the spirit of truth doth he preach it by the spirit of truth or some other way & if by some other way it be not of God & again he that receiveth the word of truth doth he receive it by the spirit of truth or some other way if it be some other way it be not of God therefore why is it that ye cannot understand & know that he <that> receiveth the word by the spirit of truth receiveth it as it is preached by the spirit of truth wherefore he that <preacheth & he that> receiveth understandeth one another & both are edified & rejoyce together & that which doth not edify is not of God & is darkness that which is of God is light & he that receiveth light & continueth in god receiveth more light & that light groweth lighter brighter and brighter untill the perfect day & again verily I say unto you & I say it that you may know the truth that you may choose chase darkness from among you for he that is ordaned of God & sent forth the same is apponted to be the greatest notwithstanding he is least & the servent of all wherefore he is possessor of all things <for all things> are subject unto him both in Heaven & on the Earth the life & the light the spirit & the power sent forth by the will of the father through Jesus Christ his son but no man is possessor of all things except he be purified & cleansed from all sin & if ye are purified & cleansed from all sin ye shall ask whatsoever you will in the name of Jesus & it shall be done but know this it shall be given you what ye shall ask & as ye are appointed to the head The spirits shall be subject unto you wherefore it shall come to pass that if ye behold a spirit manifested that ye cannot understand & you receive not that spirit ye shall ask of the father in the name of Jesus & if he gave give not unto you that spirits then ye may know that it is not of God & it shall be given unto you power that spi over that spirit & you shall proclaim against that spirit with a loud voice that it is not of God not with railing accusation that ye be not over come neither with boasting nor rejoicing lest you be seased [seized] therewith he that receiveth of God let it [him] account it of God & let him rejoyce that he is accounted of God worthy to receive & by giving heed & doing these things which ye have received & which ye shall hereafter receive [illegible] the Kingdom is given unto you of the father & power to over come all things which is not ordained of him & Behold verily I say unto you blessed are you that hear these words of mine from the mouth of my servent for your sins are forgiven you Let my Servent Joseph [Wakefield] in whom I am well pleased & my servent Parley [P. Pratt] go forth among the Churches & strengthen them by the word of exhortation & also my servent John [Corrill] or as many of my servants as are ordained unto this office & let them labour in the vinyard & let no man hinder them of doing that which I have appointed unto them wherefore in this thing my Servent Edward [Partridge] is not Justified nevertheless let him repent & he shall be forgiven—— Behold ye are little Children & ye cannot bear all things now ye must grow in grace & in the knowledge of the truth fear not little children for you are mine & I have overcome the world & you are of them which my father hath given me & none of them which my father hath given me shall be lost & the father & I are one I am in the father & the father in me & I in you as much as ye have received me ye are in me & am I in you wherefore I am in your midst & I am the good shepherd & the day cometh that you shall hear my voice & see me & know that I am watch therefore that ye may be ready even So Amen

Hearken Oh ye Elders of my Church, saith the Lord your God, Who have assemblled yourselves together, according to my commandment in this land which is the land of Missorie which is the Land which I, have appointed & consecrated for the gethering of the Saints. Wherefore, this is the land of promise & the place for the City of Zion. yea thus saith the Lord your God, If ye will receive wisdom here is wisdom. Behold the place which is now called Independence is the centre place, & the spot for the Temple is lying westward upon a lot which is not far from the court-house. Wherefore it is wisdom that the land should be purchased by the saints & also every tract lying westward even unto the line runing directly between Jew & gentile And also every tract bordering by the Prairies in as much as my Deciples are enabled to buy lands. Behold this is wisdom that they may obtain it for an everlasting inheritance & let my Servent Sidney Gilbert stand in the office which I have appointed to receive moneys to be an agent unto the church to buy lands in all the regions round about in as much as can be in righteousness, & as wisdom shall direct. And let my servant Edward [Partridge] stand in the office which I have appointed

¹JSP note: "This heading likely did not appear in the original manuscript; John Whitmer likely added it when he copied the revelation into Revelation Book 1. It is not included in other manuscript copies of the revelation. At some point, Whitmer added 'Not to be printed at present' to the copy in Revelation Book 1, and the revelation was not printed until the 1835 edition of the Doctrine and Covenants." (If you look at the image of this page of RB1, the "[Not to be printd at present]" is very prominent—it's large and in darker ink.)

him to [divide] unto the saints their inheritance even as I have commanded & also them whom he has appointed to assist him And again verily I say unto you let my servant Sidney Gilbert plant himself in this place, & establish a store that ~~his~~ he may sell goods without frauds that he may obtain money to buy lands for the goods of the Saints & that he may Obtain provisions & whatsoever things the Deciples may need to plant them in their inheritance & also let my servants Sidney obtain license (behold here is wisdom & whoso readeth let him understand) that he may send goods also unto the lamanites even by whom he will as clerks employed in his service & thus the gospel may be preached unto them And again verily I say unto you let my servant William [W. Phelps] also be planted in this place & be established as a Printer unto the Church & lo. if the world receiveth his writings (behold this is wisdom) let him obtain whatsoever he can <obtain> in righteousness for the good of the saints. And let my servants Oliver [Cowdery] assist him even as I have commanded in Whatsoever place I shall appoint unto him to copy & to correct & select &c that all things may be right before me as it shall be proved by the Spirit through him & thus let those of whom I have spoken be planted in the Land of Zion as speedily as can be with their families to do these things even as I have spoken And concerning the gethering let the bishop & the agent make preperations for thöse families which have been commanded to come to this land as soon as posible & plant them in their inheritance & unto the residue of both Elders & members further directions shall be given hereafter even So Amen——

61 Commandment August 1st 1831

A Revelation given to the Elders who were assembeled in on the land of Zion Directions what to do &c &c &c

Hearken oh ye Elders of my Church & give ear to my word & learn of me what I will concerning you & also concerning this land unto which I have sent you for verily I say unto you blessed is he that keepeth my commandments whether in life or in death & he that is faithfull in tribulation the reward of the same is greater in the kingdom of heaven ye cannot behold with your natural eyes for the present time the design of your God concerning those things which shall come hereafter & the glory which shall follow after much tribulation for after much tribulation cometh the blessings Wherefore the day cometh that ye shall be crowned with much glory the hour is not yet but is nigh at hand remember this which I tell you before that you may lay it to heart & receive that which shall follow behold verily I say unto you for this cause I have sent you that you might be obedient & that your hearts might be prepared to bear testimony of the things which are to come & also that you might be honoured of laying the foundation & of bearing record of the land upon which the Zion of God shall stand & also that a feast of fat things might be prepared for the poor yea a feast of fat things of wine on the lees well refined that the earth may know that the mouths of the Prophets shall not fail yea a supper of the house of the Lord well prepared unto which all nations shall be invited firstly the rich & the learned the wise & the Noble & after that cometh the day of my Power then shall the poor the lame and the blind & the deaf come in unto the marriage of the lamb & partake of the supper of the Lord prepared for the great day to come Behold I the Lord have spoken it & that the testimony might go forth from Zion yea from the mouth of the City of the heritage of God yea for this cause I have Sent you hither & have Selected my Servent Edward [Partridge] & appointed him his mission in this land but if he repent not of his sins which is unbelief & blindness of heart let him take heed lest he fall behold his mission is given unto him & it shall not be given again & whoso standeth in that mission is appointed to be a Judge in Israel like as it was in ancient days to divide the lands of the heritage of God unto his children & to Judge his people by the testimony of the Just & by the assistance of his councillors according to the laws of the kingdom which are given by the Prophets of God for verily I say unto you my laws shall be kept on this land let no man think that he is ruler but let god rule him that Judgeth according to the council of his own will (or in other words) him that councileth or seteth upon the Judgement Seat let no man break the laws of the land for he that keepeth the laws of God hath no need to break the laws of the land Wherefore be subject to the powers that be untill he reigns whose right it is to reign & subdues all enemies under his feet behold the laws which ye have received from my hand are the laws of the Church & in this light ye shall hold them forth behold here is wisdom & now as I spoke concerning my Servent Edward this land is the land of his residence & those whom he has appointed for his councillors & also the land of the residence of him whom I have appointed to keep my storehouse Wherefore let them bring their families to this land as they shall council between them & me for behold it is not meet that I should command in all things for he that is compelled in all things the same is a slothfull & not a wise Servent Wherefore he receiveth no reward verily I say men should be anxiously engaged in a good cause and do many things of their own free will, & bring to pass much righteousness for the power is in them wherein they are agents unto themselves & in-as-much as men are good they shall in no wise loose their reward but he that doeth not any thing until he is commanded & receiveth a commandment with a doubtfull heart & keepeth it with slothfullness the same is damned Who am I that made man saith the Lord that will hold him guilty that obey not my commandments who am I saith the Lord that have promised & have not fulfilled I command & a man obeys not I revoke & they receive not the blessing then they say in their hearts this is not the work of the Lord for his promises are not fulfilled but wo unto such for their reward lurketh beneath & not from above & now I give unto you further directions concerning this Land it is wisdom in me that my servent Martin [Harris] should be an example unto the church in laying his money before the bishop of the Church & also this is a law unto every man that cometh unto the Land to receive an inheritance and he shall do with his moneys according as the law directs & it is wisdom also that if there should be lands purchased in Independence for the place of the storehouse & also for the house of the Printing & other directions concerning my servent Martin shall be given him of the spirit that he may receive his inheritance as seemeth him good & let him repent of his sins for he seeketh the praise of the world & also let my servent William [W. Phelps] stand in the office which I have appointed him & receive his inheritance in the Land & also he hath need to repent for I the lord am not pleased with him for he seeketh to excell & he is not sufficiently humble meek in his heart behold he that hath repented of his sins the same is forgiven & I the Lord remembereth them no more by this ye may know if a man repenteth of his sins behold he will confess them & forsake them & now verily I say concerning the residue of the Elders of my Church the time has not yet come for many years for them to receive their inheritance in this land except they desire it through prayer only as they it shall be appointed unto them for Behold they shall push the people together from the ends of the Earth wherefore assemble yourselves together & he that is not appointed to stay in this land let them preach the gospel in the regions round about & after that let them return to their homes let them preach by the way & bear testimony of the truth in all places & call upon the rich the high & the low & the poor to repent & let them build up churches in-as-much as the inhabitants of the Earth will repent & let there be an agent appointed by the voice of the Church & I give unto my servent Sidney [Rigdon] a commandment that he shall write a discription of the Land of Zion & a statement of the will of God as it shall be made known by the spirit unto him and an Epistle & subscription to be presented unto all the Churches to obtain money to be put into the hands of the Bishop to purchase lands for an inheritance for the children of God of himself or the agent as seemeth him good or as he shall direct for behold verily I say unto you the Lord willeth that the disciples & the children of men should open their hearts even to purchase this whole region of country as soon as time will permit behold here is wisdom let them do this lest they reserve none inheritance save it be by the shedding of blood & again in as much as there is lands obtained let there be workmen sent forth of all kinds unto this land to labour for the saints of God let all these things be done in order & let the priveliges of the lands be made known from time to time by the Bishop or the agent of the Church & let the work of the gethering be not in haste nor by flight but let it be done as it shall be councelied by the Elders of the Church at the conferences according to the knoweledge which they receive from time to time & let my servent Sidney consecrate & dedicate this land & the spot of the temple unto the Lord & let a conference meeting be called & after that let my servent Sidney & Joseph return & also Oliver [Cowdery] with them to accomplish the residue of the work which I have appointed unto them in their own land & the residue as shall be ruled by the conference & let no man return from this land except he bear record by the way of that which he knows & most assuredly believes let that which has been bestowed upon Ziba [Peterson] be taken from him & let him stand as a member in the Church & labour with his own hands with the brethren untill he is sufficiently chastened for all his sins for he confeseth them not & he thinketh to hide them let the residue of the Elders of this church which are coming to this land some of whom are exceedingly blessed even above measure also hold a conference which shall be held by them & let them also return preaching the gospel by the way bearing record of the things which are revealed unto them for verily the sound must go forth from this place into all the world & unto the uttermost parts of the Earth the gospel must be preached unto every creature with signs following them that believe & behold the son of man cometh Amen

Behold blessed saith the Lord are they who have come up unto this land with an eye single to my glory according to my Commandments for them that live shall inherit the earth and them that die shall rest from all their labours & their works shall follow them they shall receive a crown in the mansions of my Father which I have prepared for them. Yea blessed are they whose feet stand upon the land of Zion who have obeyed my Gospel for they shall receive for their reward the good things of the earth & it shall bring forth in her strength & they also shall be crowned with blessings from above yea & with commandments not a few & with revelations in their time they that are faithful & diligent before me. Wherefore I give unto them a commandment saying thus Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart with all thy might mind & strength & in the name of Jesus Christ thou shalt serve him thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself thou shalt not steal neither commit adultery nor kill or do any thing like unto it thou shalt thank the Lord thy God in all things thou shalt offer a sacrifice unto the Lord thy God in righteousness even that of a broken heart & a contrite spirit. And that thou mayest more fully keep thyself unspotted from the world thou shalt go to the house of prayer & offer up thy sacraments upon my holy day for verily this is a day appointed unto you to rest from your labours & to pay thy devotions unto the most high Nevertheless thy vows should be offered up in righteousness <in> all days & at all times but remember that on this the Lords day thou shalt offer thine oblations & thy sacraments unto the most High Confessing thy sins unto thy brethren & before the Lord & on this day thou shalt do none other <things> only let thy food be prepared with singleness of heart that thy fastings may be perfect or in other words that thy joy may be full verily this is fasting and prayer or in other words rejoicing & prayer. And inasmuch as ye do these things with thanksgiving with cheerful hearts & countenances not with much laughter (for this is sin) but with a glad heart & a cheerful countenance verily I say that inasmuch as ye do this the fulness of the earth is yours the beasts of the fields & the fowls of the air & that which climbeth upon trees & walketh upon the earth yea & the herb & the good things which cometh of the earth whether for food or for raiment or for houses or for barns or for orchards or for gardens or for vineyards yea all things which cometh of the earth in the season thereof is made for the benefit & the <use> of man both to please the eye & to gladden the heart yea for food & for raiment for taste & for smell to strengthen the body & to enliven the soul & it pleaseth God that he hath given all these things unto man for unto this end were they made to be used with judgement not to excess neither by extortion & in nothing doth man offend God or against none is his wrath kindled save those who Confess not his hand in all things & obey not his commandments behold this is according to the law & the prophets. Wherefore trouble me no more concerning this matter but learn that he who doeth the works of righteousness shall receive his reward even peace in this world & eternal life in the world to come I the Lord hath spoken it & the spirit beareth record Amen

Given by Joseph the translator & written by Oliver [Cowdery] August 7. 1831 in the land of Zion¹

¹HDDC 753 says that there is a version of this revelation in the handwriting of Samuem Harrison Smith, and at the end it says: "Given by Joseph the translator & written by Oliver August 7, 1831 in the land of Zion & copied by Samuel H. Smith Brother to the Seer." But I can't find this mentioned on the JSP website.

64 Commandment

given Aug 12th 1831 on the Bank of the River Distruction (or Missorie) unfolding some mysteries &c &c——

Behold & hearken unto ~~him~~ the voice of him who hath all power who is from everlasting to everlasting even alpha & omega the begining & the end Behold verily thuss saith the lord unto you O ye Elders of my Church who are assembled upon this spot whose sins are now forgiven you for I the Lord forgiveth sins & am mercyfull unto those who confess their sins with humble hearts but verily I say unto you that it is not needfull for this whole company of mine Elders to be moveing swiftly upon the waters whilst the Inhabitants on either sides are perishing in unbelief nevertheless I suffered it that ye might bear record Behold there are many dangers upon the waters & more especially hereafter for I the Lord have decreed in mine anger many distructions upon the waters yea & especially upon these waters nevertheless all flesh is in mine hand he that is faithfull among you shall not perish by the waters wherefore it is expedient that my servent Sidney Gilbert & <my servent> William [W.] Phelps be in haste upon their errand & mission nevertheless I would not suffer that ye should part untill ye you are chastened for all your sins that you might be one that you might not perish in wickedness but now verily I say it Behooveth me that ye should part wherefore let them my servent Sidney [Gilbert] & William take their former company & let them take their Journey in haste that they may fill their mission & through faith they shall overcome & in as much as they are faithfull they shall be preserved & I the Lord will be with them & let the residue take that which is needfull for clothing let my servent sidney [Gilbert] take that which is not needfull with ~~them~~ him as you shall agree & now behold for your good I give unto you a commandment concerning these things & I the Lord will reason with you as with men in days of old Behold I the Lord in the begining belessed the waters but in the last days by the mouth of my servent John I cursed the waters wherefore the days will come that no flesh shall be safe upon the waters & it shall be said in days to come that none is able to go up to the land of Zion upon the waters but he that is upright in heart & as I the Lord in the begining cursed the land even so in the last days have I blessed it in its time for the use of my saints that they may partake the fatness thereof & now I give unto you a commandment & what I say unto one I say unto all that you shall forewarn your brethren concerning these waters that they come not in Journeying ~~on~~ upon them lest their faith fail & they are caught in her snares I the Lord hath decreed & the destroyer rideth upon the face thereof & I revoke not the decree I the Lord was angry with you yesterday but to day mine anger is turned away wherefore let those whom I have spoken that should take their Journey in haste again I say unto you let them take their Journey in haste & it mattereth not unto me after a little if it so be that they fill their mission whether they go by water or by land let this be as it is made known unto them according to their Judgement & now concerning my servents Sidney [Rigdon] Joseph & Oliver [Cowdery] let them come not again upon the waters save it be upon the canal while Journeying unto their homes or in other words they shall not come upon upon the waters <to Journey> save upon the canal Behold I the Lord have appointed a way for the Journeying of my saints & behold this is the way that after they leave the canal they shall Journey by land in as much as they are commanded to Journey ~~by~~ & go up unto the land of Zion & they shall do like unto the children of Israel pitching their tents by the way & behold this commandment you shall give unto all your brethren nevertheless unto whom it is given power to command the waters unto him it is given by the spirit to know all his ways wherefore let him do as the spirit of the living God commandeth him whether upon the land or upon the waters as it remaineth with me to do hereafter & unto you it is given the course of the saints or the way for the saints of the camp of the Lord to Journey & again verily I say unto you my Servents Sidney [Rigdon] Joseph & Oliver shall not open their mouths in the congregations of the wicked untill they arrive at cincinnati & in that place they shall lift up their voices unto god against that People yea unto him whose anger is kindelled against their wickedness a people which is well ripened for distruction & from thence let them Journy for the congregations of their brethren for their labours even now are wanted more abundantly among them then among the congregations of the wicked & now concerning the residue let them Journey & declare the word among the congregations of the wicked inasmuch as it is given & in as much as they do this they shall rid their garments & they shall be spotless before me & let them Journey together or two by two as seemeth them good only let my servent reynolds [Cahoon] & my Servent Samuel [Smith] with whom I am well pleased be not seperated untill they return to their homes & this for a wise purpose in me & now verily I say unto you & what I say unto one I say unto all be of good cheer little children for I am in your midst & I have not forsaken you & in as much as ye have humbelled yourselves before me the blessings of the kingdom is yours gird up your loins & be watchfull & be sober looking forth for the coming of the Son of man in an hour you think not pray always that you enter not into temptation that you may abide the day of his coming whether in life or in death even So Amen

Hearken O ye people and open your hearts and give ear from afar and listen you that call yourselves the people of the Lord & hear the word of the Lord & his will concerning you yea verily I say hear the word of him whose anger is kindled against ~~you~~ <the> wicked & rebellious who willet to take even them whom he will take & preserveth in life them whom he will preserve who buildeth up at his own will & pleasure & destroyeth when he please & is able to cast the soul down to hell. Behold I the Lord uttereth my voice & <&> it shall be obeyed wherefore verily I say let the wicked take heed & let the rebellious fear & tremble & let the unbelieving hold their lips for the day of wrath shall come upon them as a whirlwind & all flesh shall know that I am God. And he that seeketh signs shall see signs but not unto salvation Verily I say unto you There are those among you who seeketh signs & there has been such even from the beginning But behold faith cometh not by signs but signs follow those that believe yea signs cometh by faith not by the will of men nor as they please but by the will of God yea signs cometh by faith unto mighty works for without faith no man pleaseth God & with whom God is angry he is not well pleased wherefore unto such he sheweth no signs only in wrath unto their condemnation Wherefore I the Lord am not well pleased with those among you who have sought after signs & wonders for faith & not for the good of men unto my glory Nevertheless I gave commandments & many have turned away from my commandments & have not kept them There were among you adulterers & adulteresses some of whom have turned away from you & others remain with you that hereafter shall be revealed let such be aware & repent speedily lest judgements shall come upon them as a snare & their folly shall be made manifest & their works shall follow them in the eyes of the people & verily I say unto you as I have said before he that looketh on a woman to lust after her or if any shall commit adultery in his heart they shall not have the spirit but shall deny the faith & shall fear Wherefore I the Lord have said that the fearful & the unbelieving & all liars & whoso<ever> loveth & maketh a lie & the whoarmunger <& the> sorcerer should have their part in that lake which burneth with fire & brimstone which is the second death Verily I say <that> they shall not have part in the first resurrection And now behold I the Lord saith unto you that ye are not justified because of these things are among you nevertheless he that endureth in faith & doeth my will the same shall overcome & shall receive an inheritance upon the Earth when the day of transfiguration shall come when the earth shall be transfigured even according to the pattern which was shown unto mine apostles upon the mount of which account the fulness ye have not yet received. And now verily I say unto you that as I said that I would make known my will unto you behold I will make it known unto you not by the way of commandment for there are many who observe not to keep my commandments but unto him that keepeth my commandments I will give the mysteries of my Kingdom & the same shall be in him a well of <living> water springing up unto everlasting life And now behold this is the will of the Lord your God concerning his saints that they should assemble themselves together unto the land of Zion not in haste lest there should be confusion which bringeth pestilence Behold the land of Zion I the Lord holdeth it in mine own hands nevertheless I the Lord rendereth unto Cezar the things which are Cezars Wherefore I the Lord willeth that you should purchase the lands that you may have advantage of the world that you may have claim on the world that they may not be stirred up unto anger for satan putteth it into their hearts to anger & to the shedding of blood Wherefore the land of Zion shall not be obtained but by purchase or by blood otherwise there is none inheritance for you & if by purchased behold ye you are blessed & if by blood as ye are forbidden to shed blood to your enemies are upon you & ye shall be scourged from city to city & from Synagogue to synagogue & but few shall stand to receive an inheritance I the Lord am angry with the wicked I am holding my spirit from the inhabitants of the earth I have sworn in my wrath & decreed wars upon the face of the earth & the wicked shall slay the wicked & fear shall come upon every man & the Saints also shall hardly escape nevertheless I the Lord am with them & will come down in Heaven from the presence of God & consume the wicked with unquenchable fire & behold this is not yet but by & by Wherefore seeing that I the Lord have decreed all these things upon the face of the earth I willeth that my saints should be assembled upon the land of Zion & that every man should take righteousness in his hands & faithfulness upon his loins & lift a warning voice unto the inhabitants of the earth & declare both by word & by flight that desolation shall come upon the wicked Wherefore let my Desiples in Kirtland arrange their temporal concerns which dwell upon this farm let my servant Titus [Billings] who has the care thereof dispose of the land that he may be prepared in the coming spring to take his journey up unto the land of Zion with those that dwell upon the face thereof excepting those whom I shall reserve unto myself that shall not go until I shall command them & let all the moneys which can be spared (it mattereth not unto me whether it be little or much) sent up unto the land of Zion unto them whom I have appointed to receive. Behold I the Lord will give unto my servant Joseph power that he shall be enabled to discern by the spirit those who shall go up unto the land of Zion & those of my Desiples that shall tarry Let my servant Newel [K.] Whitney retain the his store or in other words the store yet for a little season nevertheless let him impart all the money which he can impart to be sent up unto the land of Zion behold these things are in his own hands let him do according to wisdom verily I say let him be ordained as an agent unto the Desiples that shall tarry & let him be ordained unto this power & now speedily ~~go with~~ <visit> the churches expounding these things unto them with my servant Oliver [Cowdery] behold this is my <will> ~~with~~ obtaining moneys even as I have directed he that is faithful & endureth shall overcome the world he that sendeth up treasures unto the land of Zion shall receive an inheritance in this world & his works shall follow him & also a reward in the world to come yea & blessed are the dead that die in the Lord from henceforth when the Lord shall come & old things shall pass away & all things become new they shall rise from the dead & shall not die & shall receive an inheritance before the Lord in the Holy City & he that liveth when the Lord shall come & have kept the faith blessed is he nevertheless it is appointed unto him to die at the age of man Wherefore children shall grow up until they become old. Old men shall die but they shall not sleep in the dust but they shall be changed in the twinkling of an eye Wherefore for this cause preached the apostles unto the world the resurrection of the dead these things are the things that ye must look for & speaking after the manner of the Lord they are now nigh at hand & in a time to come even in the day of the coming of the Son of man & until that hour there will be foolish virgins among the wise & & at that hour cometh an entire separation of the righteous & the wicked & in that day will I send mine angels & pluck out the wicked & cast into unquenchable fire And now <behold> verily I say unto you I the Lord am not pleased with my servant Sidney [Rigdon] he exalted himself in his heart & received not counsel but grieved the spirit Wherefore his writing is not acceptable unto the Lord & he shall make another & if the Lord receive it not behold he standeth no longer in the office which he hath appointed him And again verily I say unto you let those who desire in their hearts in meekness to warn sinners to repentance let them be ordained unto this power for this is a day of warning & not a day of many ~~worlds~~ words for I the Lord am not to be mocked in the last days Behold I am from above & my power lieth beneath I am over all & in all & through all & searcheth all things & the days cometh that all things shall be subject unto me. Behold I am Alpha & Omega even Jesus Christ Wherefore let all men be ware how they take my name in their lips for behold verily I say that many there be who are under this condemnation who useth the name of the Lord & useth it in vain having not authority Wherefore let the church repent of their sins & I the Lord ~~with~~ <will> own them otherwise they shall be cut off. Remember that that ~~cometh~~ which cometh from above is sacred & must be spoken with care & by constraint of the spirit & in this there is no condemnation and ye receive the spirit through prayer wherefore without this there remaineth condemnation. Let my servants Joseph & Sidney seek them a home as they are ~~led~~ taught through the spirit prayer by the spirit these things remain to overcome through patience that such may receive a more exceeding & eternal weight of glory otherwise a greater condemnation Amen.

- a ...Prayer by br Simeon Carter, Glorious things, were then sung Br Sidney Rigdon arose & said that he wished to make a few observations connected with the object of our assembling our selves together, When God works all may know it, for he always answers the prayers of the Savior for he makes his children one, for he by his Holy Spirit binds their hearts from Earth to Heaven; And in this thing God had taught his children to sing a new song even about Zion which David Spoke of, &c, God always bears testimony by his presence in counsil to his Elders when they assemble ~~themselves~~ in perfect faith and humble themselves before the Lord and their wills being swallowed up in the will of God
- b Br Joseph Smith Jr said we have assembled together to do the business of the Lord and it is through the great mercy of our God that we are spared to assemble together, many of us have went at the command of the Lord in defiance of every thing evil, and obtained blessings unspeakable in consequence of which, our names are sealed in the Lambs' Book of life, for the
- c Lord has spoken it. It is the privilege of every Elder to speak of the things of God &c, And could we all come together with one heart and one mind in perfect faith the vail might as well be rent to day as next week or any other time and if we will but cleanse ourselves and covenant before God, to serve him, it is our privilege to have an assurance that God will protect us at all times...
- d ...Br. Sidney Rigdon said that he supposed that it was, saying, I bear testimony that God will have a pure people who will give up all for Christ's sake and when this is done they will be sealed up unto eternal life.

- g ...Br Joseph Smith Jr said that he intended to do his duty before the Lord and hoped that the brethren would be patient, as they had a considerable distance. also said that the promise of God was that the greatest blessings which God had to bestow should be given to those who contributed to the support of his family while translating the fulness of the Scriptures; also said until we have perfect love we are liable to fall and when we have a testimony that our names are sealed in the Lamb's Book
- h of life we have perfect love & then it is impossible for false Christ's to decieve us. also said that the Lord held the Church bound to provide for the families of the absent Elders while proclaiming the Gospel: further said that ~~the~~ God had often sealed up the heavens because of covetousness in the Church. Said that the Lord would cut his work short in righteousness and except the church recieve the fulness of the Scriptures that they would yet fall.

A Preface or instructions upon the Book of Commandments which were given of the Lord unto his Church through him whom he appointed to this work by the voice of his Saints through the prayer of faith this church being organized according to the will of him who rules all things on the Sixth day of April in the year of our Lord 1830

Hearken O ye People of my Church saith the voice of him who dwells on high & whose eyes are upon all men yea verily I say hearken ye People from afar & ye that are upon the Islands of the sea listen to gether for verily the voice of the Lord is unto all men & there is none to escape & there is no eye that shall not see neither ear that shall not hear neither heart that shall not be penetrated & the rebellious shall be pierced with much sorrow for their iniquities shall be spoken upon the house tops & their secret acts shall be revealed & the voice of warning shall be unto all people by the mouth of my Disciples whom I have chosen in these last days they shall go forth & none shall stay them for I the Lord have commanded them Behold this is mine authority & the authority of my servants & my preface unto the Book of my Commandments which I have given them to Publish unto you O Inhabitants of the Earth wherefore fear & tremble O ye People for what I the Lord have decreed in them shall be fulfilled & verily I say unto you that they who go forth bearing these tidings unto the Inhabitants of the Earth to them is power given to seal both on Earth & in Heaven the unbelieving & rebellious yea verily to seal them up unto the day when the wrath of God shall be poured out upon the wicked without measure unto the day when the Lord shall come to recompence unto every man according to his works & measure to every man according to the measure which he has measured to his fellow man wherefore the voice of the Lord is unto ~~his fellow man~~ unto the end of the Earth that all that will hear may hear prepare ye prepare ye for that which is to come for the Lord is nigh & the anger of the Lord is kindled & his sword is bathed in heaven & it shall fall upon the inhabitants of the Earth & the arm of the Lord shall be revealed & the day cometh that they who will not hear the voice of the Lord neither his servants neith[er] give heed to the words of the Prophets & Apostles shall be cut off from among the People for they have strayed from mine ordinances & have broken mine everlasting Covenant they seek not the Lord to establish his righteousness but every man walketh in his own way & after the Image of his own God whose Image is in the likeness of the world & whose substance is that of an Idol which waxeth old & shall perish in Babylon even Babylon the great, which shall fall wherefore I the Lord knowing the calamity which should come upon the inhabitants of the Earth called upon my Servents Joseph & spake unto him from heaven & gave him commandment & also & gave commandments to others that they should proclaim these things unto the world & all this that it might be fulfilled which was written by the Prophets the weak things of the world should come forth & break down the mighty & strong ones that ~~men~~ <man> should not counsel his fellow man neither trust in the arm of flesh but that every man might Speak in the name of God the Lord even the Saveiour of the world that faith also might increase in the Earth that mine everlasting Covenant might be established that the fullness of my Gospel might be proclaimed by the weak & the Simple unto the ends of the world & before kings & Rulers Behold I am God & have spoken it these are commandments are of me & were given unto my Servents in their weakness after the manner of their Language that they might come to understanding & in as much as they erred it might be made known & in as much as they sought wisdom it might be ~~made known~~ instructed & in as much as they sinned they might be chastened that they might repent & in as much as they were humble they might be made strong & blessed from on high & receive knowledge from time to time After they having received the record of the Nephites yea even my Servant Joseph might have power to translate through the mercy of God by the power of [God] the Book of Mormon & also those to whom these commandments were given might have power to lay the foundation of this Church & to bring it forth out of obscurity & out of darkness the only true & living Church upon the face of the whole Earth with which I the Lord am well pleased speaking unto the Church collectively & not individually for I the Lord cannot look upon sin with the least degree of allowance nevertheless he that repenteth & doeth the commandments of the Lord shall be forgiven & he that repenteth not from him shall be taken even the light which he has received for my spirit shall not always strive with man saith the Lord of hosts & again verily I say unto you O inhabitants of the Earth for I the Lord am willing to make these things known unto all flesh for I am no respecter to persons & willeth that all men shall know that the day speedily cometh the hour is not yet but is nigh at hand when peace shall be taken from the Earth & the Devil shall have power over his own dominion & also the Lord shall have power over his saints & shall reign in their midst & shall come down in Judgement upon Idumea (or the World) search these commandments for they are true & faithfull & the Prophecies & promises which are in them shall all be fulfilled what I the Lord have spoken I have spoken & I excuse not myself & though the Heaven & <the> Earth pass away my word shall not pass away but shall all be fulfilled whether by mine own voice or by the voice of my Servants it is the same for Behold & Lo the Lord is God & the Spirit beareth record & the [record] is true & the truth abideth for ever & ever Amen

71 Revelation given Nov 2nd. 1831

Behold & hearken oh ye Elders of my Church who have assembled yourselves together whose prayers I have heard & whose ~~hearts~~ desires have come up before me behold & Lo mine eyes are upon you & the heavens & the earth are in mine hands & the riches of eternity are mine to give[.] ye endeavour to believe that ~~you~~ ye should receive the blessing which was offered unto you but behold verily I say unto you there were fears in your hearts & verily this is the reason that ye did not receive & now I the Lord give unto you a testimony of the truth of those commandments which I are lying before you your eyes have been upon my Servent Joseph & his language you have known & his imperfections you have known & you have sought in your hearts knowlege that you might express beyond his language this you also know now seek ye out of the Book of commandments even the least that is among them & appoint him that is the most wise among you or if there be any among you that shall make one like unto it then ye are Justified in saying that ye do not know that is true but if you cannot make one like unto it ye are under condemnation if ~~you~~ ye do not bear that it is true for ye know that there is no unrighteousness in it & that which is righteous cometh down from above from the father of lights & again verily I say unto you that it is your privilege & a promise I give unto you that have been ordained unto the ministry that in as much as ye strip yourselves from Jealesies & fears & humble yourselves before me for ye are not sufficiently humble the veil shall ~~not~~ be wrent & you shall see me & know that I am not with the carnal neither natural but with the spiritual for no man hath seen

God at any time in the flesh but by the Spirit of God neither can any natural man abide the presence of God neither after the carnal mind ye are not to be able to abide the presence of God now neither the ministering of Angels wherefore continue in patience untill ye are perfected let not your minds turn back & when ye are worthy in mine own due time ye shall see & know that which was confirmed <upon you> by the hands of my Ser[v]ant Joseph Amen

<75> A Revalation given at Hiram Portage Co Nov ^{11th} 1831

To the Church of Christ in the Land of Zion in addition to the Church Laws respecting Church business verily I say unto you saith the Lord of hosts there must needs be ~~presiding~~ presiding Elders to preside over them who are of the office of an Elder & also Priests over them who are of the office of a Priest & also Teachers over them who are of the office of a Teacher in like manner And also the deacons wherefore from Deacon to Teacher & from Teacher to Priest & from Priest to Elder severally as they are appointed, according to the Church Articles & Covenants then cometh the high Priest hood which is the greatest of all wherefore it must needs be that one be appointed of the high Priest hood to preside over the Priest hood & he shall be called President of the ~~hood~~ high Priest hood of the Church or in ~~o~~ other ^{high} words the Presiding high Priest ~~hood~~ over the high Priesthood of the Church from the same cometh the administring of ordinances & blessings upon the Church by the Laying on of the hands wherefore the office of a Bishop is not equal unto it for the office of a Bishop is in administering all ~~things~~ temporal things nevertheless a Bishop must be chosen from the high Priesthood that he may be set apart unto the ministering of temporal things having a knowledge of them by the Spirit of truth & also to be a Judge in Israel to do the business of the Church to sit ~~down~~ in Judgement upon transgressors upon testimony it shall be laid before them according to the Laws by the assistance of his councillors whom he hath chosen or will choose among the Elders of the church thus shall he be a judge even a common judge among the inhabitants of Zion until the borders are enlarged & it becomes necessary to have other Bishops or judges & inasmuch as there are other Bishops appointed they shall act in the same office & again verily I say unto you the most important business of the church & the most difficult cases of the church inasmuch as there is not ~~suffieient~~ satisfaction upon the decision of the judge it shall be handed over & carried up unto the court of the church before the president of the high Priesthood & the president of the Court of the high priesthood shall have power to call other high priests even twelve to assist as counsellors & thus the president of the high priesthood & his counsellors shall have power to decide upon testimony according to the laws of the church & after this desision it shall be had in remembrance no more before the Lord for this is the highest court of the church of God & a final desision upon controvers[i]es all persons belonging to the church are not exempt from this court of the church & inasmuch as the president of the high priesthood shall transgress he shall be had in remembrance before the common court of the church who shall be assisted by twelve counsellors of the high Priesthood & their desicision upon his head shall be an end of controversy concerning him thus none shall be exempt from the justice of the Laws of God that all things may be done in order & in solemnity before me in according to truth & righteousness Amen A few more words in addition to the Laws of the church And again verily I say unto you the duty of a president over the office of a Deacon is to preside over twelve Deacons to set in council with them & to teach them their duty edifying one another as it is given according to the covenants And also the duty of the president over the office of the Teachers is to preside over twenty four of the Teachers & to set in council with them teaching them the duties of their office as given in the covenants Also the duty of the president over the priesthood is to preside over forty eight priests & to set in council with them & to teach them the duties of their office as given in the covenants And again the duty of the president over the office of the Elders is to preside over ninety six Elders & to set in council with them & to <teach> them according to the covenants And again the duty of the president of the office of the High Priesthood is to preside over the whole church & to be like unto Moses behold here is wisdom yea to be a Seer a revelator a translator & a prophet having all the gifts of God which he bestoweth upon the head of the chuch Wherefore now let every man learn his duty & to act in the office in which he is appointed in all diligence he that is slothful shall not be counted worthy to stand & he that learneth not his duty & sheweth himself not approved shall not be counted worthy to stand even so Amen

- a ...Br. Joseph Smith jr. said one item he wished acted upon was that our brs. Oliver Cowdery & John Whitmer & the sacred writings which they have entrusted to them to carry to Zion be dedicated to the Lord by the prayer of faith. Secondly, Br. Oliver has labored with me from the begining in writing &c. Br. Martin [Harris] has labored with me from the begining, & brs. John & Sidney also for a considerable time, & as these sacred writings are now going to the Church for their benefit, that we may have claim on the Church for recompence, if this conference think these things worth prizing to be had on record to show hereafter I feel that it will be according to the mind of the Spirit for by it these things were put into my heart which I know to be the Spirit of truth &c.
- Voted that Joseph Smith jr. be appointed to dedicate & consecrate these brethren & the sacred writings & all they have entrusted to their care, to the Lord: done accordingly.
- b After deliberate consideration in consequence of the book of Revelation now to be printed being the foundation of the Church & the salvation of the world & the Keyes of the mysteries of the Kingdom, & the riches of Eternity to the church. Voted that they be prized by this Conference to be worth to the Church the riches of the whole Earth. Speaking temporally.

Kirtland December 4th— 1831

Hearken and listen to the voice of the Lord o ye who have assembled yourselves together who are the high priests of my church to whom the kingdom and power have been given for verily thus saith the Lord it is expedient in me for a Bishop to be appointed unto you or of you ~~to~~ unto the church in this part of the Lords vineyard and verily in this thing ye have done wisely for it is required of the Lord at the hand of every steward to render an account of his stewardship both in time and in eternity for he who is faithfull and wise in time is accounted worthy to inherit the mantions prepared for them of my father verily I say unto you the Elders of the church in this part of my vineyard shall render an account of their stewardship unto the Bishop which shall be appointed of me in this part of my vinyard these things shall be had on record to be handed over unto the Bishop in Zion and the duty of the Bishop shall be made known by the commandments which have been given and by the voice of the conference.

And now I say unto you my servent Newel [K. Whitney] is the man who shall be appointed and ordained unto this power this is the will of the Lord your God your Redeemer even so Amen—

The duty of the Bishop as made known at the same time

The word of the Lord in addition to the law which has been given making known the duty of the Bishop which has been ordained unto the church in this part of the vinyard which is verily this. To keep the Lords storehouse to receive the funds of the church in this part of the vinyard to take an account of the Elders as before has been commanded and to administer to their wants who shall pay for that which they receive inasmuch as they have wherewith to pay that this also may be consecrated to the good of the church to the poor and needy and he who hath not wherewith to pay an account shall be taken and handed over to the Bishop in Zion who shall pay the debt out of that which the Lord shall put into his hands and the labours of the faithfull who labour in spiritual things in administering the gospel and the things of the kingdom unto the church and unto the world shall answer the debt unto the Bishop in Zion thus it cometh out of the church for according to the law every man who cometh up to Zion must lay all things before the Bishop in Zion. And now verily I say unto you that as every Elder in this part of the vinyard must give an account of his stewardship unto the Bishop in this part of the vinyard a certificate from the judge or Bishop in this part of the vinyard unto the Bishop in Zion rendereth every man acceptable and answereth all things for an inheritance and to be received as a wise steward and as a faithfull labourer otherwise shall not be accepted of the Bishop in Zion. And now verily I say unto you let every Elder who shall give an account unto the Bishop of the church in this part of the vinyard be recommended by the church or churches in which he labours that he may render himself and his accounts approved in all things

And again let my servants who are appointed as stewards over the litterary concerns of my church have claim for assistance ~~in all things~~ upon the Bishop or Bishops in all things that the revelations may be published and go forth unto the ends of the earth that they also may obtain funds which shall benefit the church in all things that they also may render themselves approved in all things and be accounted as wise stewards. And behold this shall be an ensample for all the extensive branches of my church in whatsoever land they shall be established and now I make an end of my sayings Amen and thus if ye are faithfull ye shall be laden with many sheeves and crowned with honor and glory and immortality and eternal life

Therefore verily I say unto my servant William [E. And again verily thus saith the Lord let my servant Orson Hyde and my servant Samuel [Smith] take their journey into the eastern countries and proclaim the things which I have commanded them and inasmuch as they are faithfull lo I will be with them even unto the end

And again I say unto my servant Asa [Dodds] and unto my servant Calvas [Calves Wilson] that they also shall take their journey unto the western countries and proclaim my gospel even as I have commended them and he who is faithfull shall over come all things and shall be lifted up at the last day and again I say unto my servant Major [N. Ashley] and my Servent Burr [Riggs] take their journey also unto the south countries yea let all these take their journey as I have commended them going from house to house and from village to village and from City to City and in whatsoever house ye enter and they receive you leave your blessings upon that house and in whatsoever house ye enter and they receive you not ye shall depart speedily from that house and shake off the dust of your feet as a testimoney against <them> and you shall be filled with joy and gladness and know this that in the day of judgement you shall be judges of that house and condemn them and it shall be <more> tollarable for the heathen in the day of judgement than for that house therefore gird up your loines and be faithfull and ye shall over come all things and be lifted up at the last day even so Amen [1/4 page blank]

Upon my return from Amherst conference, I resumed the translation of the scriptures, From sundry revelations which had been received, it was apparent that many important points, touching the Salvation of man, had been taken from the Bible, or lost before it was compiled. It appeared self evident from what truths were left, that if God rewarded every one according to the deeds done in the body, the term “heaven”, as intended for the Saints eternal home, must include more kingdoms than one. Accordingly on the 16th of February, 1832. while translating St John’s Gospel, myself and Elder [Sidney] Rigdon Saw the following

The Vision

A vision of Joseph & Sidney [Rigdon] February 16th. 1832 given in Portage County Hiram Township State of Ohio in North Ame[r]ica which they saw concerning the church of the first born and concerning the economy of God and his vast creation througout all eternity Here O ye heavens & give ere [ear] O earth and rejoice ye inhabitants thereof for the lord he is God and beside him there is none else for great is his wisdom, marvilous are his ways and the extent of his doings none can find out[.] his purposes fail not neither are there any who can stay his hand, from eternity to eternity, he is the same and his years never fail I the Lord am merciful and gracious unto them who fear me and delight to honor them who serve me in righteousness and in truth great shall be their reward and Eternal Shall be their glory and unto them will I reveal all my misteries yea all the hiden misteries of my Kingdom from days of old and for ages to come will I make Known unto them the good pleasure of my will concerning all things to come yea even the wonders of eternity shall they know and things to come will I shew them even the things of many generations there wisdom shall be great and there understanding reach to heaven and before them the wisdom of the wise shall perish and the understanding of the prudent shall come to naught for by my spirit will I enlighten them and by my power will I make known unto them the secrets of my will yea even those things which eye has not seen nor ear heard nor yet entered into the heart of man

We Joseph & Sidney being in the Spirit on the sixteenth of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and— thirty two and through the power of the spirit our eyes were opened and our understandings were enlarged so as to see and understand the things of God even the things which were from the begining before the world was which was ordained of the Father through his only begoten son who was in the bosom of the father even from the beginning of whom be

[we] bear reccord and the reccord which we bear is the fulness of the gospel of Jesus Christ who is the son whom we saw and with whom we conversed in the heavenly vision for as we sat doing the work of translation which the lord had appointed unto us we came to the twenty ninth verse of in the fifth chapter of John which was given unto us thus speak[i]ng of the reserection of the dead who should hear the voice of the son of man and shall come forth they who have done good in the resurection of the just and they who have done evil in the resurection of the unjust now this caused us to marvel for it was given <unto> us of the spirit and while we meditated upon these thing> the Lord touched the eyes of our understandings and they were opened and the glory of the lord shone round about and we beheld the glory of the son on the right of the Father and received of his fulness and saw the holy Angels and they who are sanctified before his throne worshipping God and the lamb for ever and ever and now after the many testamonies which have been given of him this is the testamony last of all which we give of him that he lives for we saw him, even on the right hand of God & we heard the voice bearing reccord that he is the only begotten of the Father that by him and through him and of him the worlds are made and were created and the inhabitants thereof are begotten sons and daughters unto God and this we saw also and bear reccord that an angel of God who was in authority in the presence of God who rebelled against the only begotten son whom the father loved who was in the bosom with the father and was thrust down from the presence of ~~the father~~ God and the son and was called perdition for the heavens wept over him for he was Lucifer even the son of the morning and we beheld and lo he is fallen is fallen even the son of the morning, and while we were yet in the spirit the Lord commanded that we should write the vision for we beheld satan that old serpent even the devel who who rebelled against God and saught to take the kingdom of our God and his christ wherefore he maketh war with the saints of God and encompasseth them round about, and we saw a vision of the eternal sufferings of those with whom he made war and overcame for thus came the voice of the Lord unto us thus saith the lord concerning all those who who know my power and have been made partakers thereof and have suffered themselves through the power of the devel to be overcome unto the denying of the truth and the defying of my power they are they who are the sons of perdition of whom I say it had been better for them to have never been born for they are vessels of wrath doomed to suffer the wrath of God with the Devel and his angels throughout all eternity concerning whom I have said there is no forgivness for them in this world nor in the world to come having denied the holy ghost after having received it and having denied the only begoten son of the fathe[r] crucifying him unto themselves and putting him to an open shame these are they who shall go away into the lake of fire and brimstone with the devel and his andels [angels] and the only ones on whom the second death shall have any power yea verely the only ones who shall not be redeemed in the due time of the Lord after the sufferings of his wrath who shall be brought forth by the resurection of the dead through the triumph and glory of the lamb who was slain who was in the bosom of the father before the worlds were made and this is the gospel the glad tidings which the voice out of the heavens bore reccord unto us that he came in to the world even Jesus to be crucified for the world and to bear the sins of the world and to sanctify the world and to cleanse it from all unrighteousness that through him all might be saved whom the father had put into his power and made by him who glorifyeth the fathe[r] and saveth all the works of his hands except those sons of perdition who denieth thee [the] son after the father hath revealed him wherefore he saveth all save them, and these shall go away into everlasting punishment which is eternal punishment to reign with the devel and his angels throughout all eternity where the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched which is there torment and the end thereof neither the place thereof and there torment no man knoweth neither was reve[a]lled neither is neither will be reveiled unto none save to them to who are made partakers thereof never[the]less I the Lord sheweth it by vision unto many but straight way shutteth it up again wherefore the end the width the hight the depth and the misery thereof he understandeth not neithe[r] any man save them who are ordained unto this condemnation and we heard the voice saying write the vision for lo this is the end of the vision of the eternal sufferings of the undodly [ungodly] and again we bear reccord for we saw and heard and this is the gospel testamony of the gospel of Jesus Christ concerning them who come forth in the resurection of the just they were they who received the testamony of Jesus and believed on his name were baptized after the manner of his buriel being buried in the water in his name and this according to the commandment which he hath given that by keeping the commandments they might be washed and cleansed from all there sins and receive the holy ghost by the laying on of the hands of him who is ordained and sealed unto this power and who overcome by faith and are sealed by that holy spirit of promise which the father shedeth forth upon all those who who are just and true they are they who are the church of the first born they are they into whose hands the father hath given all things they are they who are priests and kings who having [received?] of his fulniss and of his glory and are priests of the most high after the order of Melchesadeck which was after the order of Enoch which was after the order of of the only begotten son wherefore as it is writen they are Gods even the sons of God wherefore all things are theres whethe[r] life or death or things present or things to come, all are thers and they ar[e] christis and christ is Gods and they shall overcome all things wherefore let no man glory in man but rather let them glory in god who shall subdue all enemies under his feet these shall dwell in the presence of God and his christ for ever and ever these are they whom he shall bring with him when he shall come in the clouds of heaven to reign on the earth over his people these are they who shall have part in the first resurection these are they who shall come forth in the resurection of the just these are they who are come unto mount Zion and unto the city of the Living God the heavenly place the holiest of all these are they who are come to an innumerable company of Angels to the general assembly and church of Enoch and of the first born these are they whose names are writen in heaven where God and Christ is judge of all[.] these are they who are just men made perfect through Jesus the mediator of the new covenant who wrought out this perfect attonement through the shedding of his own blood these are they whose bodies are celestial whose glory is that of the sun even God the highest of all whose glory the son <sun> of the firmament is written of as being typical and again we saw the terrestrial world and lo these are they who are of the Terrestrial whose glory differeth from that of the church of the first born who have received the fulness of the father even as that of the moon differeth from the sun of the firmament behold these are they who died with out Law and also they who are the spirits of men kept in prison whom the son visited and preached the gospel unto them that they might be judged according to men in the flesh who received not the testimony of Jesus in the flesh but afterwards received it these are they who are honorable men of the earth who were blinded by the craftiness of men these are they who receive of this glory but not of the fulness these are they who receive of the presence of the son but not <of> the fulness of the father wherefore they are bodies Terrestrial and not bodies Celestial and differeth in glory as the moon differeth from the sun these are they who are not valient in the testimony of Jesus wherefore they obtained not the crown over the kingdoms of our God, and now this is the end of the vision which we saw of the Terrestrial that the lord commanded us to write while we were yet in the spirit, and again we saw the glory of the Telesstial which glory is that of the lesser even as the glory of the stars differeth from that of the <glory> [of the] moon in the firmament these are they who receive not the gospel of christ neithe[r] the testimony of Jesus these are they who deny not the holy ghost, these are they who are thrust down to hell these are they who shall not be redeemed from the devel untill the last reserection untill the lord even christ the Lamb shall have finished his work these are they who receive not of his fullness in the eternal world, but of the holy ghost through the ministration of the Terrestrial and the Terrestrial through the administration of the Celestial and also the Telesstial receive it of the administring of angels who are appointed to minister for them or who are appointed to be ministering spirits for them for they shall be heirs of salvation and this we saw in the heavenly vision the glory of the Telesstial which surpasseth all understanding and no man knoweth it except him to whom God hath reveiled it and this we saw the glory of the Terrestrial which excelleth in all things the glory of the Telesstial even in glory and in power and might and in dominion and thus we saw the glory of the Celestial which excelleth in all things where God even the father reigneth upon his throne forever and ever before his throne all things bow in humble reverence and giveth glory forever and ever, they who dwell in his presence are the church of the first born and they see as they are seen and know as they are known having received of his fulness and of his grace and he maketh them equal in power and in might and in dominion, and the glory of the celestial is one even as the glory of the son is one, and the glory of the Terrestrial is one even as the glory of the of the moon is one, and the glory of the Telesstial is one even as the glory of the stars is one for as one star differeth from another star in glory even so differeth one from another in glory in the Telesstial world for these are they who are of Paul, and of Apolus and of cephus these are they who say they are some of one and some of another some of Christ & some of John and some of Moses and some of Elius [Elias] and some of Esaises [Esaia] and some of Isaiah some of Enoch but received not the gospel neither the testimony of Jesus neither the prophets neither the everlasting covenants last of all these <all> are they who will not be gathered with the saints to be caught up unto the church of the first born and received into into the cloud these are they who are liars and sorseres [sorcerers] and adulterers and whoremongers and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie these are they who suffer the wrath of God on the earth these are they who suffer the vengence of eternal fire these are they who are cast down to hill [hell] and suffer the wrath of Almighty God untill the fulness of times when christ shall have subdued all enemies under his feet and shall have perfected his work when he shall deliver up the Kingdom and present it unto the father spotless saying I have overcome and have troden the winepress alone even the winepress of the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God then shall he be crowned with the crown of his glory to sit on the throne of his power to reign for ever and ever, but behold and lo we saw the glory of the Telesstial world that they were in number as innumerable as the stars in the firmament of heaven, or as the sand upon the sea shore and herd the voice of the Lord saying these all shall bow the knee and evry tongue shall confess to him who sitteth upon the throne for ever and ever for they shall be judged according to there works and every man shall receive according to his own works and his own dominion in the mansions which are prepared, they shall be servants of the most high but where God and christ dwels they cannot come worlds without end this is the end of the vision which we saw which we were commanded to write while we were yet in the spirit, But great and marvelous are the works of the Lord and the mistries of his kingdom which he shewed unto us which surpasseth all understanding in glory and <in> might and in dominion which he commanded us we should not write while we were yet in the spirit and are not lawful for men to utter neither is man capable to make them known for they are only to be seen and understood by the power of the holy ghost which God bestows on those who love him and purifies themselves before him to whom he grants the privalege of seeing and knowing for themselves that through the power and manifestation of the spirit while in the fless [flesh] they may be able to bear his presence in the world of glory and to God and the Lamb be glory and honor and dominion for ever and ever Amen

- a Nothing could be more pleasing to the Saint, upon the order of the kingdom of the Lord, than the light which burst upon the world, through the foregoing vision. Every law, every commandment, every promise, every truth, and every point, touching the destiny of man, from Genesis to Revelation, where the purity of either remains unsullied from the wisdom of men, goes to shew the perfection of the theory, and witnesses the fact that that document is a transcript from the Records of
- b the eternal world. The sublimity of the ideas; the purity of the language; the scope for action; the continued duration for completion, in order that the heirs of salvation, may confess the Lord and bow the knee; The rewards for faithfulness & the punishments for sins, are so much beyond the narrow mindedness of men, that every honest man is constrained to exclaim; It came from God.

Hearken unto me saith the Lord your God O ye who are ordained unto the High Priesthood of my church who have assembled yourselves together & listen to the counsel of him who has ordained you from on high who shall speak in your ear the words of wisdom that salvation may be unto you in that thing which you have presented before me saith the Lord God for verily I say unto you the time has come and is now at hand and behold & lo it must needs be that there be an organization of the Literary and Merchantile establishments of my church both in this place and in the land of Zion for a permanent and everlasting establishment and firm unto my church to advance the cause which ye have espoused [espoused] to the salvation of man and to the glory of your Father who is in heaven that you may be equal in the bonds of heavenly things yea and earthly things also for the obtaining of ~~heavenly~~ of heavenly things for if ye are not equal in earthly things ye cannot be equal in obtaining heavenly thing[s] for if ye will that I give unto you a place in the celestiel world you must prepare yourselves by doing <the> thing which I have commanded & required of you & now verily thus saith the Lord it is expedient that all things be done unto my glory that ye should who are joined together in this firm or in other words that my Servant Newel [K. A Revelation given to Jerad [Jared] Carter March 12th 1832 in Hiram Portage [Portage] County Ohio,—

Revelation Explained

What is the Sea of Glass spoken of by John 4 Chap. and sixth verse of revelations?

Ans It is the Earth in its sanctified immortal and eternal state

Q What are we to understand by the four beasts spoken of by John in the 4 Chap^t & 6 verse of Revelations?

A They are figurative Expressions used by the revelator John in disscribing heaven the paradise of God the hapiness of men and of beasts and of creeping things and of the fowls of the air that which is spiritual being in the likeness of that which is temporal and that which is temporal in the likeness of that which is spiritual the Spirit of man in the likeness of his person as also the spirit of the beast and every other creature which God has created

Q Are the four beasts limited to individual Beasts or do they represent classes or orders?

Ans They are limited to four individual beasts which were shewn to John to represent the glory of the classes of beings in their destined order or sphere of creation in the enjoyment of their eternal felicity.

Q What are we to understand the Eyes and wings which the beasts had?

A They Their eyes are a representation of light and knowledge that is they are full of knowledge and their wings are a representation of power to move to act &c.

Q What are we to understand by the four and twenty Elders spoken of by John?

A We are to understand that these Elders whom John saw were Elders who had been faithful in the work of the ministry and were dead who belonged to the Seven Churches and were then in the paradise of God.

Q What are we to understand by the Book which John saw which was sealed <on the back> with seven Seals ~~which John?~~

Ans. We are to understand that it contains the revealed will. ~~mystery~~ mysteries and works of God. the hidden things of his economy concerning this Earth during the seven thousand years of its continuance or its temporal existence.

Q What are we to understand by the Seven Seals with which it was sealed?

A We are to understand that the first seal contains the things of the first thousand years and the second also of the second thousand years and so on until the seventh.

Q What are we to understand by the four Angels spoken of by John 7 Chap & first verse of Rev.

A We are to understand that they are four angels sent forth from God to whom is given power over the four parts of the Earth to save life and to destroy[.] these are they who have the everlasting Gospel to commit to every Nation kindred tongue and people having power to shut up the heavens to seal up unto life, or to cast down to the regions of darkness.

Q What are we to understand by the angels ascending from the east Rev 7. Chap. & 2 verse?

A We are to understand that the angel ascended from the east is he to whom is given the seal of the living God over the twelve tribes of Israel wherefore he crieth unto the four angels having the everlasting Gospel to preach saying hurt not the earth neither the Sea nor the trees till we have sealed the Servants of our God in their foreheads and if you will receive it this is the Elias which was to come to gether to gether the tribes of Israel and restore all things.

Q What time are things spoken of in this chapter to be accomplished?

A They are to be accomplished in the sixth thousandth year or the opening of the Sixth seal.

Q What are we to understand by sealing the one hundred and forty four thousand out of all the tribes of Israel twelve thousand out of every tribe?

Q What are we to understand by the sounding of the trumpets mentioned in the 8th. Chap. of Rev.

- a Hyram [Hiram, Ohio] July 31— 1832—
- Broth[er] William [W. Phelps] I have received your letter dated 30th June and procede this morning to answer it. I sit down to dictate for Broth Frederick [G. Williams] to write but cannot write my feelings, neither can tounge, or language paint them to you. I only can observe that I could wish, that my heart, & feelings thereof might for once be laid open before [you], as plain as your own natural face is to you by looking in a mirror; Verily I say ~~unto you~~ my only hope and confidence is in that God who gave me being in whom there is all power who now is present before me & my heart is naked before his
- b eyes continually he is my comfeter & he forsaketh me not in the seventh trouble and in the mean time I have learned by sad experiance there is no confidence to be placed in in man that the spirit of man is as cold as the northern blast and had I not considered the great care and multitude of business which is crowding upon your mind I could not have excused the cold and indifferent manner in which your letter is written, true you have expressed fellowship, but the spirit which I pössess enjoy, the feeling of my soul enquires does this letter give me the important information which I stood in need of at the present critical moment from your hand concerning yourself your family & business & the faith & fellowship & prosperity of the brethren in zion &c let your own heart and the integrity of your own soul answer this question & excuse the warmth of feeling of your unworthy yet affectionate brother in the Lord travling through affliction and great tribulation, you informed

c me that you wrote a few lines to bear up our strength in the glorious labour wherewith our saviour hath been pleased to call us, I rejoice exceedingly for the little strength & information God has been ple[a]sed to give me through your letter— viz— to hear that our brethren from this place & Nelson have arived safe in zion and as I trust without accident this is the mercy of our God, but in the discharge <of my Duty> must inform you that they left here under this displeasure of heaven for several reasons now what I write I write without sparing any (or the feeling of any) knowing that God will bear me up in what I write, I will give you some of the reasons, firstly making a mock of the profession of faith in the commandments by proceeding contrary thereto in not complying with the requirements of them in not obtaining reccommends &c secondly [secondly], that the church should procede to receive Wm M^cLelin [William E. McLellin] into there fellowship & communion on any other conditions, then the filling his mission to the South countries according to the commandment of Jesus Christ, I cite your minds to thise saying he that loveth Father or Mother wife & Children more than me is not worthy of me thus saith the Lord Thirdly the unorganized & confused state in leaving here, and the evil surmisings which were among them & neglect of duty &c more then this I do not wish to mention, now therefore the bufftings of the advasary be upon all those <among you> who are eniquitous persons and rebelious, I would inform y^{ou} them they do not have my right hand of fellowship, but I will leave this subject for will not my God and your God do right, I return to your letter you informed me slightly that you heard of the accident to broth [Newel K.] Whitney at Greenville I^{dn}. [Indiana] A question how did you hear, did any of you receive letters written by any of us informing you of the critical situation we were placed in, if so how did you treat them if not so have you written to us to give us that information which would be calculated to releave the mind of its painful anxciety concerning you, whether that fellowship and brotherly love continued among you towards us which you professed when we left you, it is true we received a letter from broth[e]r John Carl [Corrill] by the hand of Broth [Sidney] Gilbert after we arived home from Indiana who had arived here before us, but what did it contain, it gave us this inteligence, that the Devel had been to work with all his inventive immagination to reward us for our toils in travling from this country to Zion amidst a crooked & preverse generation leaving our familys in affliction amidst of death upon the mercy of mobs & of brethren who you know sometimes are found to be u[n]stable unbeleiving, unmerciful & unkind, and in this trying situation to keeping the commandment of God we took our lives in our hands and traveled through evry combination of wickedness to your country for your salvation & for our travail & our toils, suffering & privations as I said before we learned by Broth Johns letter that the devel had set to work to reward us by stirring up your hearts (I mean those who were engaged in this wickedness) by raking up evry fault, which those eyes that are filled with beams could see in looking for motes in the eyes of those who are laboring with tender and <prayerful> hearts continually for there salvation, and not being content with bringing up those things which had been settled & forgiven & which they dare not bring to our faces but many with which we were charged with were absolutely false & could not come from any other sourse than the fath[e]r of all lies & this is the thanks & the reward the advisory saught to reward us by the instrumantality of those who should have been our staff & after our detention on the road I often times wandered alone in the lonely places seeking consolation of him who is <alone> able to console me, while my beloved Brothe[r] Whitney (who is without gile) poured out his soul with much weeping upon his pillow for you or for Zion while I in <the> lonely places communed with him whi[e]h who is altogeth[e]r lovely witnessed your case & viewed the conspiracy with much grief and learned the displeasure of heaven and veewed the frowns of the heavenly hosts upon zion & upon all the earth, and my Brethren I would inform you that I do not fellowship the letter which was writen to me by Brord John & neither the spirit thereof, I do not plead guilty of the charges made against me in that letter. I have not given occasion of offence to the brethren or sisters in zion, neither of Jealousy, or evel surmisings. I have ever been filled with the greatest anxiety for them, & have taken the greatest intrest for there welfare. I am a lover of the cause of Christ and of Virtue chastity and an upright steady course of conduct & a holy walk, I dispise a hypocrite or a covenant breaker, I judge them not, God shall Judge them according to there works, I am a lover even of mine enimies for an enemy seeketh to destroy openly, I can pray for those who dispitefully use and persicute me, but for all I can not hope, and now I conjure y^{ou} and exhort mine accusers and the hypocrite in zion in the love of Christ yea in the name of Jesus of Nazareth to remember the covenant which they have made with God, and to me & repent of there iniquities and give satisfaction to the innocent whom they have injured I appeal to your conciences, and if appealing to your conciences by all the ties which bind man to man which are st[r]onger than death will not open your eyes & let you see the stand state & standing which you are in and bring you to repentance I then appeal to a higher court even the court of heaven the tribunal of the great God & there I & my Brethren (I mean Broth Sidney [Rigdon] & Newel) will meet them you to be weighed in the ballance and there the innocent shall not suffer and the guilty go unpunished for the Lord God Almighty will do right I bear you record that myself Bro Sidney & Newel as far as any thing that I know have ever maintained the purest desires for your welfare and do still our object in going to zion was altogether to keep the commandments of G^{od} the most high, when Bro Sidney learned the feelings of the Brethren in whom he had placed so much confidence for whom he had endured so much fateague & suffering & whom he loved with so much love his heart was grieved his spirits failed & for a moment he became frantick & the advisory taking the advantage, he spake unadvisedly with his lips after receiving a severe chastisement resigned his commision and became a private member in the church, but has since repented like Peter of old and after a little suffering by the buffiting of the satan has been restored to his high standing in the church of God, now this is a warning to all to whom this knowledge may come, and he that thinks he stands, let him take heed least he fall, tell Bro Edward [Partridge] it is very dangerous for men who have received that the light he has received to be a seeking a <after> sign, for there shall no sign be given for a sign except as it was in the days of Lot. God sent angels to gather him & his family out of Sodom while the wicked were destroyed by a devouring fire behold this is an exsample; but I must return to your letter again you complain that there have already to[o] many deciples arived there for the means, tell brothe[r] Edward to remember Ananias & Sophria, remember also that your own wickedness hedge up your own ways, you Suffer your children; your ignorant & unstable Sisters, & weak members who are acquainted with your evil hearts of unbelief to write wicked and discouraging letters to there reletives who have a zeal but <not> according to knowledge and prophe[s]y falsly which excites many to believe that you are putting up the Indians to slay the Gentiles which exposes the lives of the Saints evry where you observe that God has been merciful, very true then never forget to revere his holy name for ever, that circumstances are as well with you as they are, you requested me to preserve all the origeonal copies of the commandments, my reasons for not sending the remainder, & also the Vision I think will give you satisfaction towards me I have much care and tribulation calculated to weigh down and distroy the mind and in times past they have been snatched from under my hand as soon as given I will send them to you as soon as possable, but I will exhort you to be careful not to alter the sense of any of them for he that adds or diminishes to the prop[h]ecies must come under the condemnation writen therein, you mention concerning the translation I would inform you that they will not go from under my hand during my natural life for correction, revisel or printing and the will of [the] Lord be done therefore you need not expect them this fall, Brother Frederick in [is] employed to be a scribe for me of the Lord— we have finished the translation of the New testament great and marvilous glorious things are revealed, we are making rapid strides in the old book and in the strength of God we can do all things according to his will the rage of the enemy is abating in this regeon of the country and while God is rem[em]bering mercy unto us and making us mighty to the pulling down the strong holds of Satan, having sent down the Angel of God to trouble the waters that a few more sick folk may be healed he is streaching forth his hand in awful Judgment upon all the face of the earth, we have information which may be relyed upon that the cholera is cutting down its hundreds in the city of New York pr day also is raging in Boston Charleston Rochiste [Rochester] Albany & Buffalo and in all the large citys in the eastern countrys we have Just received a letter from sister Elmira Scoba [Almira Mack Scobey] who is now at Detroit to visit her friends she states that the cholera is raging in that city to an alarming degree, hundreds of families are a fleeing to the country and the country people have become alarmed and torn up the bridges and stopped all communication and even shot peoples horses down under them who attempt to cross the river on any express two steam boats loaded with troops for the Indian expedition while going up [the] Detroit river the cholera made its attact [attack] upon the soldiers about fifty died the rest disbanded (about six hundred in number) and the last account we have of them they could find no quarters among the inhabitants and were a dying in the sheds and fields and nobody to bury them while between us and you the Indians are a spreading death and devastation wherever they go no force has as yet been brought sufficient to stand before them frequent cases of the cholera occures on steem boats and <othe[r]> water crafts on the Lakes the dysentary and the Cholera Morbus are the prevailing deseases as far as our information extends and is so malignant that it baffles the skill of the most eminent Phisicians we have news from our brethren who have gone to the east God is with them pulling down the strong holds of Satan two brethren are here from the east New hampshire & one from Vermont who are Elders and worthy young men who were brought in by the hands of Bro^s Lyman Johnson & Orison [Orson] Pratt who are like Peter & John building up the cause of God wherever they go and healing the sick they have baptized better then sixty since they left here we also here [hear] from many others whose good success in gaining converts to the redeemers cause is a proof of there faithfulness in the high calling I would exhort Bros Oliver [Cowdery] & John to be ware of saducing spirits and stand firm in the liberty wherein they have been set free and never be weary in well doing which is also my exhortation to all those in zion that love the appearing of our Lord and saviour Jesus christ. I [w]ent to Kirtland last week and held a meeting on the Lords day and found the brethren strong in the faith and enjoying the sweet influence of the holy spirit cheering there hearts and enlarging ther understandings and binding there souls togethe[r] that nothing but death can break asunder we found the brethren in the injoyment of tolerable health except Siste[r] Elliott whom the Doctors <(two of them)> had given over & Bro Sidney[’s] second daughte[r] but were restored to health by the prayer of faith, Father [John] Johnsons family & mine are enjoying tolerable health inso much we cannot complain. Sister Sarah Jackson came to live with me us yesterday you have the prayers of us all day daily and I think I can say almost hourly and in this day of calamity the saints & sinner hearts are almost failing them for fear and are crying to whom shall we go or whethe [whither] shall we flee O my God spare Zion that it may be a place of Reffuge and of safety. I have a partickuler request to make of Bro John Whitmer that is as soon as you receive this letter for him to assertain the exact number of Deciples that have arived in zion & how many have received there inheritance and the stat[e] and standing of each branch o[f] the church and of this inteligence communicate to us as soon as it can be done by letter such as is not wisdom to publish in the paper, I exhort Bro John [Whitmer] also to remember the commandment to him to keep a history of the church & the gathering and be sure to shew him self approoved whereunto he hath been called

This is a copy of a letter writen to Broth Wm Phelps July 31— 1832 from Hiram except a few words on the wrapper by way of exhortation complementary &c

Behold thus saith the Lord unto you my servant John [Murdock] thou art called to go unto the eastern countries from house to house and from Village to Village and from City to City to proclaim mine everlasting Gospel unto the inhabitants thereof in the midst of persicution and wickedness and whos[o] receiveth you receiveth me and you shall have power to declare my word in the demonstration of my holy Spirit and whoso receiveth you as a little child receiveth my Kingdom and blessed are they for they shall obtain mercy, and whoso rejecteth you shall be rejected of my Father and his house and you shall cleanse your feet in the secret places by the way for a testimony against them and behold and lo I come quickly to judgment to convince all of their ungodly deeds which they have committed against me as it is written of me in the volum of the book and now verely I say unto you that it is not expedient that you should go untill your children are provided for and kindly sent up unto the Bishop in Zion, and after a few years if thou desirest of me thou mayest go up also unto the goo[d]ly land to possess thine in heritence otherwise thou shalt continue proclaiming my gospel untill thou be taken Amen—

- c I was born in the town of Charon [Sharon] in the <State> of Vermont North America on the twenty third day of December AD 1805 of goodly Parents¹ who spared no pains to instruct<ing> me in <the> christian religion[.] at the age of about ten years my Father Joseph Smith Seignior moved to Palmyra Ontario County in the State of New York and being in indigent circumstances were obliged to labour hard for the support of a large Family having nine children and as it required their exertions of all that were able to render any assistance for the support of the Family therefore we were deprived of the bennifit of an education suffice it to say I was nearly instructid in reading and writing and the ground <rules> of Arithmatic which const[it]uted my whole literary acquirements. At about the age of twelve years my mind become seriously imprest with regard to the all important concerns of for the welfare of my immortal Soul which led me to searching the scriptures believing as I was taught, that they contained the word of God thus applying myself to them and my intimate acquaintance with those of differant denominations led me to marvel exceedingly for I discovered that <they did not adorn> instead of adorning their profession by a holy walk and Godly conversation agreeable to what I found contained in that sacred depository this was a grief to my Soul thus from the age of twelve years to fifteen I pondered many things in my heart concerning the sittuation of the world of mankind the contentions and divi[si]ons the wicke[d]ness and abominations and the darkness which pervaded the of the minds of mankind my mind become exceedingly distressed for I become convicted of my sins and by searching the scriptures I found that ~~man~~ <mankind> did not come unto the Lord but that they had apostatised from the true and liveing faith and there was no society or denomination that built upon the gospel of Jesus Christ as recorded in the new testament and I felt to mourn for my own sins and for the sins of the world for I learned in the scriptures that God was the same yesterday to day and forever that he was no respecter to persons for he was God for I looked upon the sun the glorious luminary of the earth and also the moon rolling in their magesty through the heavens and also the stars shining in their courses and the earth also upon which I stood and the beast of the field and the fowls of heaven and the fish of the waters and also man walking forth upon the face of the earth in magesty and in the strength of beauty whose power and intilgence in governing the things which are so exceding great and marvilous even in the likeness of him who created him <them> and when I considered upon these things my heart exclaimed well hath the wise man said the <it is a> fool <that> saith in his heart there is no God my heart exclaimed all all these bear testimony and bespeak an omnipotant and omnipreasant power a being who makith Laws and decreeeth and bindeth all things in their bounds who filleth Eternity who was and is and will be from all Eternity to Eternity and when <I> considered all these things and that <that> being seeketh such to worship him as worship him in spirit and in truth therefore I cried unto the Lord for mercy for there was none else to whom I could go and to obtain mercy and the Lord heard my cry in the wilderness and while in <the> attitude of calling upon the Lord <in the 16th year of my age> a pillar of fire light above the brightness of the sun at noon day come down from above and rested upon me and I was filled with the spirit of god and the <Lord> opened the heavens upon me and I saw the Lord and he spake unto me saying Joseph <my son> thy sins are forgiven thee. go thy <way> walk in my statutes and keep my commandments behold I am the Lord of glory I was crucifyed for the world that all those who believe on my name may have Eternal life <behold> the world lieth in sin and at this time and none doeth good no not one they have turned asside from the gospel and keep not <my> commandments they draw near to me with their lips while their hearts are far from me and mine anger is kindling against the inhabitants of the earth to visit them acording to thir ungodliness and to bring to pass that which <hath> been spoken by the mouth of the prophets and Ap[o]stles behold and lo I come quickly as it [is?] written of me in the cloud <clothed> in the glory of my Father and my soul was filled with love and for many days I could rejoice with great Joy and the Lord was with me but could find none that would believe the hevnly vision nevertheless I pondered these things in my heart about that time my mother and but after many days I fell into transgressions and sinned in many things which brought a wound upon my soul and there were many things which transpired that cannot be written and my Fathers family have suffered many persicutions and afflictions and it came to pass when I was seventeen years of age I called again upon the Lord and he shewed unto me a heavenly vision for behold an angel of the Lord came and stood before me and it was by night and he called me by name and he said the Lord had forgiven me my sins and he revealed unto me that in the Town of Manchester Ontario County N.Y. there was plates of gold upon which there was engravings which was engraven by Maroni & his fathers the servants of the living God in ancient days and deposited by th[e] commandments of God and kept by the power thereof and that I should go and get them and he revealed unto me many things concerning the inhabitants of of the earth which since have been revealed in commandments & revelations and it was on the 22d day of Sept. AD 1822 and thus he appeared unto me three times in one night and once on the next day and then I immediately went to the place and found where the plates was deposited as the angel of the Lord had commanded me and straightway made three attempts to get them and then being exceedingly frightened I supposed it had been a dreem of Vision but when I considred I knew that it was not therefore I cried unto the Lord in the agony of my soul why can I not obtain them behold the angel appeared unto me again and said unto me you have not kept the commandments of the Lord which I gave unto you therefore you cannot now obtain them for the time is not yet fulfilled therefore thou wast left unto temptation that thou mightest be made acquainted of with the power of the advisory therefore repent and call on the Lord thou shalt be forgiven and in his own due time thou shalt obtain them for now I had been tempted of the advisory and saught the Plates to obtain riches and kept not the commandme[n]t that I should have an eye single to the Glory of God therefore I was chastened and saught diligently to obtain the plates and obtained them not untill I was twenty one years of age and in this year I was married to Emma Hale Daughtr of Isaach [Isaac] Hale who lived in Harmony Susquehan[n]a County Pensylvania on the 18th January AD, 1827, on the 22^d day of Sept of this same year I obtained the plat[e]s—and the in December following we mooved to Susquehana by the assistance of a man by the name of Martin Har[r]is who became convinced of th[e] vision and gave me fifty Dollars to bare my expences and because of his faith and this rightheous deed the Lord appeared unto him in a vision and shewed unto him his marvilous work which he was about to do and <h[e]> immediately came to Suquehannah and said the Lord had shown him that he must go to new York City <with> some of the characters so we proceeded to copy some of them and he took his Journy to the Eastern Cittys and to the Learned <saying> read this I pray thee and the learned said I cannot but if he would bring the blates [plates] they would read it but the Lord had forbid it and he returned to me and gave them to <me> <to> translate and I said I said cannot for I am not learned but the Lord had prepared speetticke spectacles for to read the Book therefore I commenced translating the characters and thus the Propicy [prophecy] of Isiaah was fulfilled which is writen in the 29 chaptr concerning the book and it came to pass that after we had translated 116 pages that he desired to carry them to read to his friends that peradventur he might convince them of the truth therefore I inquired of the Lord and the Lord said unto me that he must not take them and I spake unto him (Martin) the word of the Lord and he said inquire again and I inquired again and also the third time and the Lord said unto me let him go with them only he shall covenant with me that he will not shew them to only but four persons and he covenented withe Lord that he would do according to the word of the Lord therefore he took them and took his journey unto his friends to Palmire [Palmyra] Wayne County & State of N York and he brake the covenant which he made before the Lord and the Lord suffered the writings to fall into the hands of wicked men and Martin was Chastened for his transgression and I also was chastened also for my transgression for asking the Lord the third time wherefore the Plates was taken from me by the power of God and I was not able to obtain them for a season and it came to pass afte[r] much humility and affliction of Soul I obtained them again when Lord appeared unto a young man by the name of Oliver Cowd[e]ry and shewed unto him the plates in a vision and also the truth of the work and what the Lord was about to do through me his unworthy Servant therefore he was desiorous to come and write for me and to translate now my wife had writen some for me to translate and also my Brothr Samuel H Smith but we had become reduced in property and my wives father was about to turn me out of doores I & I had not where to go and I cried unto the Lord that he would provide for me to accomplish the work whereunto he had commanded me [4 lines blank]

A revelation given in Kirtland the 22^d & 23^d. day of Sept AD 1832

A revelation of Jesus Christ unto his saints servant Joseph and six Elders as they united there hearts in lifting there voice on high, yea the word of the Lord, concerning his church established in the last days. for the restoration of his people as he has spoken by the mouth of his prophets and for the gathering, of his saints to stand upon mount Zion which shall be called the city New Jerusalem, which city shall be built begining at the temple lot which is appointed by the finger of God the Lord in the western boundaries of the State of Missou[ri] and dedicated by the hand of Joseph and others with whom the Lord was will pleased, verily this is the word of the Lord, that the city New Jerusalem shall be built by the gathring of the saints begining at this place, even the place of the Temple, which Temple shall be built <reared> in this generation for verely this generation shall not all pass away untill an house shalt be built unto the Lord and a cloud shall rest upon it which cloud shall be even the glory of the Lord which shall fill the house, and the sons of Moses according to the holy Priesthood which he received under the father in Law Jethro, and Jethro received it u[n]der the ha[n]d of Caleb. and Caleb received it under the hand of Elihu and Elihu under the hand of Jeremy and Jeremy under the hand of Gad and Gad under the hand of Esaius and Esaius received it under the hand of God, Esaius lived also lived in the days of Abraham and was blessed of him which Abraham received the Priesthood from Melchesedec who received it through the linage of his fathers even till Noah, and from Noah till Enoch, through the linage of thare fathers and from Enoch to abel who was slain by the conspiracy of his brother who received the Priesthood by the commandment of God by the hand of his father Adam who was the first man, which Priesthood continueth in the church of God in all generations and is without begining of days or end of years and the Lord confirmed a priesthood also upon Aaron and his seed throughout all the generations of the Jews. which priesthood also continueth and abideth for ever with the Priesthood which is after the holiest order of God, and this greater

Priesthood administereth the gospel and holdeth the key of the mysteries of the kingdom, even the key of the knowledge of God therefore in the ordinances thereof the power of Godliness is manifest and without the ordinances thereof, and the authority of the Priesthood, the power of Godliness is not manifest unto man in the flesh, for without this no man can see the face of God even the father and live, now this Moses plainly taught to the children of Israel in the wilderness, and saught diligently to sanctify his people that they might behold the face of God, but they hardened their hearts and could not endure his presence therefore the Lord in his wrath (for his anger was kindled against them) swore that they should not enter into his rest, which rest is the fulness of his glory while in the wilderness, therefore he took Moses out of there midst and the holy Priesthood also, and the lesser Priesthood continued, which Priesthood holdeth the keys of the ministring of Angels and the preparatory gospel, which gospel is the gospel of repentance and of Baptism, and the remission of sins, and the Law of carnal commandments— which the Lord in his wrath caused to continue with the house of Aaron among the children of Israel until John whom God raised up being filled with the holy ghost from his Mothers womb, for he was baptised while he was yet in his the mothers womb and was ordained by the Angel of God at the time he was eight days old unto this power to overthrow the kingdom of the Jews and to make straight the way of the Lord before the face of his people to prepare them for the coming of the Lord in whose hand is given all power, and again, the offices of Elder & Bishop are necessary appendages belon[g]ing unto the high Priesthood, and again the offices of Teacher and Deacon are necessary appendages belonging to the lesser Priesthood, which priesthood was confirmed upon Aaron and his sons therefore as I said, concerning the Sons of Moses, for the sons of Moses, and also the sons of Aaron shall offer an acceptable offering and sacrifice in the house of the Lord which house shall be built unto the Lord in this generation upon the consecrated spot as I have appointed and the sons of Moses, and of Aaron shall be filled with the glory of the Lord upon mount Zion in the Lords house whose sons are ye, and also many whom I have called and sent forth to build up my church for whoso is faithful unto the attaining of these two Priesthoods of which I have spoken and the magnifying there calling are sanctified by the spir[it] unto the renewing of their bodies that they become the sons of Moses and of Aaron and the seed of Abraham and the church and kingdom and the elect of God and also all they who receive this Priesthood receiveth me saith the Lord for he that receiveth my servants receiveth me, and he that receiveth me receiveth my father, and he that receiveth my father, receiveth my fathers kingdom, therefore all that my father hath shall be given unto him and this is according to the oath and the covenant which belongeth to the Priesthood, therefore all those who receive the Priesthood, receiveth this oath and covenant of my father which he cannot break neither can it be moved, but whoso breaketh this covenant after he hath received it, and altogether turneth therefrom shall not have forgiveness in this world nor in the world to come and all those that come not unto this Priesthood, which ye have received, which I now confirm upon you who are present this day viz the 23^d day of September AD 1832 Eleven high Priests save one by my own voice out of the heavens and even I have given the heavenly hosts and mine Angels charge concerning you, and I now give unto you a commandment to beware concerning yourselves to give heed diligently to the words of eternal life for you shall live by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God for the word of the Lord is truth and whatsoever is truth is light, and whatsoever is light is spirit even the spirit of Jesus Christ, and the spirit giveth light to every man that cometh into the world, and the spirit enlighteneth every man through the world that harkeneth to the voice of the spirit, and every one that harkeneth to the voice of the spirit cometh unto God even the father and the father teacheth him of the covenant which he hath renewed and confirmed upon you which is confirmed upon you for your sakes and not for yours only, but for the sake of the whole world, and the whole world lieth in sin and groaneth under darkness and under the bondage of sin and by this you may know they are under the bondage of sin because they come not unto me for whoso cometh not unto me is under the bondage of sin, and whoso receiveth not my voice is not acquainted with my voice. and is not of me, and, by this you may know the righteous from the wicked, and that the whole world groaneth under sins and darkness even now, and your minds in times past have been darkened because of unbelief and because you have treated lightly the things you have received which vanity and unbelief hath brought the whole church under condemnation and this condemnation resteth upon the children of Zion even all, and they shall remain under this condemnation until they repent and remember the new covenant even the book of Mormon and the former commandments which I have given them, not only to say but to do according to that which I have written that they may bring forth fruit meet for their fathers kingdom otherwise there remaineth a scourge and a Judgment to be poured out upon the children of Zion for shall the children of the kingdom pollute my holy land verily Verily I say unto you na[y]. verily, verily, I say unto you who now hear my words which is my voice blessed are you inasmuch as you receive these things for I will forgive you of your sins with this commandment that you remain steadfast in your minds in solemnity and the spirit of prayer in bearing testimony to all the world of those things which are communicated unto you, therefore go ye into all the world and whatsoever place ye cannot go into ye shall send, that the testimony may go from you into all the world unto every creature, and as I said unto mine apostles even so <I> says unto you, for you are mine Apostles, even Gods High priests ye are they whom my father hath given me, ye are my friends therefore as I said unto mine Apostles I say unto you again that every soul who believeth on your words and are baptized by water for the remission of their sins shall receive the holy-ghost, and these signs shall follow them, in my name they shall do many wonderful works, in my name they shall cast out devils. in my name they shall heal the sick in my name they shall open the eyes of the blind and unstop the ears of the deaf, and the tongue of the dumb shall speak, and if any man shall administer poison unto them it shall not hurt them, and the poison of the  serpent shall not [have] power to harm them, but a commandment I give unto them that they shall not boast themselves of these things, neither speak them before the world for these things are given unto you for your proffert and for salvation, verily, verily I say unto you he who believeth not on your words, and are not baptized by water in my name for the remission of there sins, that they may receive the holy ghost shall be damned and shall not come into my fathers kingdom where my father and I am and this revelation unto you and commandment is in force from this very hour upon all the world, and this gospel is unto all who have not received it, but verily I say unto all those to whom the kingdom has been given from you it must be preached unto them that they shall repent of ther former evil works for they are to be upbraded for there evil hearts of unbelief and your brethren in Zion for there rebellion against you at the time I sent you, and again I say unto you my friends, for from this time forth I shall call you friends, it is expedient that I give unto you this commandment that you become even as my friends in days when I was with them in travling to preach this gospel in my power for I suffered them not to have purse or scrip, neither two coats behold I send you out to proove the world, and the Laborer is worthy of his hire and any man that shall go and preach this gospel of the kingdom and fail not to continue faithful in all things shall not be weary in mind neither darkened neither body ~~limb~~, limb, or Joint and an hair of your heads shall not fall to the ground unnoti[c]ed and they shall not go hungry, neither athirst, therefore take no thought for the morrow for what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink or wherewith all ye shall ye shall be clothed for consider the lillies of the field how they grow they toil not neither do they spin and the kingdoms of the world in all ther glory are not arayed like one of them for your father who art in heaven knoweth that you have need of all these thing therefore let the morrow take thought for the things of itself, neither take ye thought before hand what ye shall say but treasure up in your minds continually the words of life and it shall be given you in the very hour that po[r]tion that shall be meeted unto evry man therefore let no man among you (for this commandment is unto all the faithful who are called of God in the church unto the ministry) therefore let no man from this hour take purse or scrip that goeth forth to proclaim this gospel of the kingdom behold I send you out to reprove the world of all there unrighteous deeds and to t[ea]ch them of a Judgment which is to come and whoso receiveth you there I will be also for I will go before your face I will be on your right hand and on your lift [left] and my spirit shall be in your hearts and mine Angels round about you to bear you up, whoso receiveth you receiveth me and the same will feed you and clothe you, and give you money and he who feedeth you or chothe you or giveth you money shall in no wise loose his reward and he that doeth not these things is not my deciple, by this you may know my deciples he that receiveth you not, go away from him, alone by yourselves and cleanse your feet even with water, pur water, whether in heat or in cold and bare testamony of it unto your father which is in heaven and return not again unto that man, and in whatsoevr village or city ye enter do likewise, nevertheless search dilligently and spare not, wo unto that house, or that village or city that rejecteth you or your words or testamony concerning me, wo I say again unto that house or that village or city that rejecteth you or your words or your testamony of me for I the Almighty have laid my hand upon the nations to scorge them for ther wickedness and plagues shall go forth and it shall not be taken from the earth untill I have completed my work which shall be cut short in righteousness until all shall know me who remain even from the least to the greatest and shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord and shall see eye to eye, and shall lift up the voice, and with the voice together sing this new song, saying the lord hath brought again Zion the Lord hath redeemed his people Israel, according to the election of grace which was brought to pass by the faith and covenant of ther fathers, the Lord hath redeemed his people and Satan is bound and time is no longer the Lord hath gathered all things in one the Lord hath brought down Zion from above the Lord hath brought up Zion from benienth the earth hath travailed and brought forth her strength and truth is established in her bowels and the heavens hath smiled upon her and she is clothed with the glory of her God for he standeth in the midst of his people, glory and honor and power and might be ascribed to our god for he is full of mercy Justice grace and truth and peace for ever and ever Amen—

And again verily verily I say unto you it is expedient that evry man who goes forth to proclaim mine everlasting gospel that in asmuch as they have families and receive monies by gift they should send it unto them or make use of it for there benifit as the Lord shall direct them for thus it seemeth me good and let all those who have not families who receive monies send it up unto the Bishop in Zion or unto the Bishop in Ohio that it may be consecrated for the bringing forth of the revelations and the printing thereof and for establishing of Zion and if any shall give unto any of you a coat, or a suit take the old and cast it unto the poor and go your way rejoicing and if any man among you be strong in the spirit let him take with him he that is weak that he may be edefied in all meekness that he may become strong also therefore take with you those who are ordained unto the lesser Priesthood, and send them before you to make appointments and to prepare the way, and to fill appointments that yourselves are not able to fill, behold this is the way that mine Apostles in ancient days built up my church unto me, therefore let evry man stand in his own office, and labour in his own calling and let not the head say unto the feet it hath no need of the feet for without the feet how shall the body be able to stand, also the body hath need of evry member that all may be edefied together that the systim may be kept perfect, and behold the high Priestthoed should travel also and and also the Elders and also the lesser Priests, but the Teacher and deacons should be appointed to watch over the church to be a standing minister unto the church, and the Bishop also should travel round about and among all the churches searching after the poor to administer to ther wants by humbling the rich and the proud he should also imploy an agent for to take charge of and to do his secclar business as he shall direct nevertheless let the Bishop go unto the city of New York and also to the city of Albany and also to the city of Boston and warn the people of those cities with the sound of the gospel with a loud voice of the desolation and utter abolishment which awaits them if they do reject these things, for if they do reject these things the hour of thei[r] Jodgment is nigh and there house shall be left unto them dessolate, let him trust in me and he shall not be confounded and an hair of his head shall not fall to the ground unnoticed, ~~but~~ ~~<any>~~ ~~<and>~~ verily I say unto you the rest of my servants go ye forth as your circumstances shall permit in your several callings unto the great and notable cities and villages reprooving the world in righteousness of ~~<all>~~ ther unrighteous and ungodly deeds setting forth clearly and understandingly the dessolation of abomination in the last days for with you saith the Lord Almighty I will rend there kingdoms I will not only shake the earth but the star[r]y heavens shall tremble also for I the Lord have put forth mine hand to exhort the powers of heaven ye cannot see it now, yet a little while and ye shall see it and know that I am and that I will come and reign with my people I am Alpha and Omega the begining and the end Amen——

A Revelation explaining the parable of the wheet & <the> Tears [tares]¹

Verily thus saith the Lord unto you my servants concerning the parable of the wheat and of the tears, Behold verily I say that the field was the world and the Apostles were the sowers of the seed and after they have fallen asleep the great persecutor of the Church the apostate, the whore, even Babylon, that maketh all nations <to> ~~drunk~~ drink of her cup, in whose hearts the enemy even Satan sitteth to reign, behold he soweth the tears, wherefore the tears choke the wheet and drive the church in to the wilderness, but behold in the last days, even now while the Lord is begining to bring forth his <the> word, and the blade is springing up and is yet tender, behold verily I say unto you the angels are crying unto the Lord, day and night who are ready, and waiting to be sent forth to reap down the fields. but the Lord saith unto them pluck not up the tears while the blade is yet tender (for verily your faith is weak) least you distroy the wheat also, therefore let the wheat and the tears grow together untill the harvest is fully ripe then ye shall first gather out the wheat from among the tears and after the gathering of the wheat, behold and lo the tears are bound in bund[l]es, and the field remaineth to be burned therefore thus saith the Lord unto you with whom the priesthood hath continued through the lineage of your fathers, for ye are lawful heirs according to the flesh and have been hid from the world with christ in God therefore your life, and the Priesthood hath remained and must needs remain through you and your lineage untill the restoration of all things spoken by the mouth of all the holy Prophets since the world began, therefore blessed are ye if ye continue in my goodness, a light unto the Gentiles and th[r]ough this Priesthood a saviour unto my people Israel the Lord hath said it

A Revelation given the first Elders of this Church of Christ in the last days Dec 27th 1832

Verily thus saith the Lord unto you, who have assembled yourselves together, to receive his will concerning you, behold this is pleasing unto your lord, and the Angels rejoice over you, the prayers of your prayers have come up into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth, and are recorded in the book of the names of the sanctified, even they of the celestial world, wherefore, I now send upon you another comfortor, even upon you my friends; that it may abide in your hearts, even the holy spirit of promise which other comforter, is the same, that I promised unto my disciples, as is recorded in the testimony of John, This comfortor is the promise which I give unto you of eternal life; even the glory of the celestial kingdom, which glory is that of the church of the first born; even of God. the holiest of all; through Jesus Christ, his son. he that ascended up on high, as also he, descended below all things; in that he comprehended all things, that he might be in all, and through all things; the light of truth, ~~therefore~~ which <truth> shineth— this is the light of Christ as also he is in the son, and the light of the son, and the power thereof by which it was made, as also he is in the moon, & is, the light of the moon, and the power thereof, by which it was made, as also the light of the stars, and the power thereof; by which they were made; and the earth also, ~~and~~ and the power thereof, even the earth upon which you stand, and the light which now shineth; which giveth you light, is through him which enlighteneth your eyes; which is the same light that quickeneth your understandings, which light, proceedeth forth from the presence of God; to fill the emency of space; the light which is in all things which giveth life to all things, which is the law by which all things are governed, even the power of God, who sitteth upon his throne; who is in the bosom of eternity, who is in the midst of all things Now verily I say unto you, that through the redemption, which is made for you; is brought to pass the resurrection from the dead; (and the spirit, and the body is the soul of man) and the resurrection from the dead, is the redemption of the soul; and the redemption of the soul, is through him, who quickeneth all things, in whose bosom, it is decreed, that the poor, and the meek of the earth, shall inherit it; therefore it must needs be sanctified, from all unrighteousness, that it may be prepared for the celestial glory; for after it hath filled the measure of its creation, it shall be crowned with the glory, even with the presence of God the father; that bodies, who are of the celestial kingdom may possess it, for ever, & ever; for, for this intent was it made, and created, and for this intent, are they sanctified, and they who are not sanctified, through the law which I have given unto you; even the law of Christ, must inherit another kingdom even that of a Terrestrial kingdom, or that of a telestial kingdom, for he that is not able to abide the law of a celestial kingdom cannot abide a celestial glory, and he who cannot abide, the law of a Terrestrial kingdom cannot, abide a Terrestrial glory, he who cannot abide the law of a Telestial kingdom cannot abide a Telestial glory; therefore he is not meet, for a kingdom of Glory, therefore he must abide a kingdom, which is not a kingdom of glory. And again, verily I say unto you, the earth abideth the law, of a celestial kingdom, for it filleth, the measur of its creation; and transg[r]esseth not the law wherefore it shall be sanctified, yea notwithstanding it shall die, it shall be quickened again, and shall abide the power, by which it was quickened, and the righteous shall inherit it, for notwithstanding they die, they also shall rise again, a spiritual body, they who are of a celestial spirit, shall receive the same body which was a natural body, even ye shall, receive your bodies; and your glory, shall be that glory, by which your bodies, are quickened, ye who are quickened, by a portion, of the celestial glory, shall then receive of the same, even a fulness, and they, who are quickened, by a portion of the Terrestrial glory, shall then, receive of the same even a fulness; and also they who are quickened by a portion, of the Telestial glory, shall then receive of the same, even a fulness, and they who remain, shall also be quickened, nevertheless they shall, return again, to there own place, to enjoy that which they are willing to receive; because they were not, willing, to enjoy that which they might have received; for what doth it poffet [profit] a man, if a gift, is bestowed, upon him and he receive not the gift, behold he rejoiceth not, in that which is given unto him, neither rejoice in him, who is the giver of the gift; and again, verily I say unto you, that which is governed by law, is also preserved by law, and perfected, and sanctified by the same; that which breaketh a law, and abideth not by law, but seeketh to become a law unto itself, and willeth to abide in sin; and altogether abideth in sin, cannot be sanctified by law; neither of mercy, justice, or judgment; therefore they must remain filthy still, all kingdoms have a law given; and there are many kingdoms; for there is no space, in the which there is no kingdoms; and there is no kingdom, in which there is no space, eather a greater or lesser kingdom, and unto evry kingdom, is given a law, and unto evry law there are certain bounds also, and conditions, all beings who abide not, in those conditions, are not justified, for inteligence, cleaveth unto inteligence, wisdom, receiveth wisdom, truth embraceth truth, virtue, Loveth virtue, light, Cleaveth unto light, mercy hath compassion on mercy, and claimeth her own; justice continueth its course and claimeth its own, judgment, goeth before the face of him, who sitteth up[on] the throne, and gove[r]neth, and executeth all things, he comprehendeth all things, and all things, are before him, and all things, are round about him, and he is, above all things, and in all things, and is through all things, and is round about all thing[s] and all things are by him, and of him, even God for ever, and ever, And again <verily> I say unto you, he hath given a law, unto all things, by which they moove in there times, and there seasons, and there cources are fixed, even the cources of the heavens, and the earth which, comprehend the earth, and all the planets, and they give light to each other in there times, and in there seasons, in there minuits in there hours, in there days, in there week, in there months, in there years; all these are one year with God. but not with man; the <Earth> rolls upon her wings, and the sun giveth her light by day, and the moon, giveth her light by night, and the stars also giveth there light as they roll upon, there wings, in there glory in the midst, of the power, of God, unto what shall I liken these kingdoms, that ye may understand, behold all these <are> kingdoms, and any man, who hath seen, any, or the least of these, have seen God, moving in his magesty and power; I say unto you, he hath seen him, nevertheless, he who came unto his own, was not comprehended, the light shineth in darkness, and the darkness compre[hen]deth it not, nevertheless, the day shall come, when you shall, comprehend even God, being quickened in him, and by him, then shall ye know, that ye have seen me, that I am, and that I am the true light, that is in you, and that you are in me, otherwise ye could not abound, Behold I will liken these kingdoms, unto a man, having a field, and he sent forth, his servants, into the field, to dig in the field, and he said unto the first, go ye and labour in the field, and in the first hour, I will come unto you, and ye shall behold the joy of my countenance, and he said, unto the second, go ye also into the field, and in the second hour, I will visit you with the joy of my countenance, and also unto the third saying, I will visit you, and unto the fourth; and so on unto the twel[f]th, and the Lord of the vineyard field went unto the first, in the first hour, and tarried with him, all that hour, and he was made glad, with the light of this countenance, of his lord, and then he withdrew, from the first, that he might visit the second also, and the third, and the fourth, and so on, unto the twelveth, and they all received, the light of the countinace, of their Lord, every man, in his hour, and in his time, and in his season, begining at the first, and so on unto the last, and from the last unto the first, and from the first, unto the Last, evry man in his own order, untill his hour was finished, even according, as his lord, had commanded him, that his Lord might be glor[i]fied in him, therefore unto this parable, will I liken all those kingdoms; and the inhabitants thereof, evry kingdom, in its hour, and in its time, and in its season, even according to the decree, which God, hath made; and again; and now verily I say unto you, my friends, I leave these sayings, with you, for to ponder in your hearts; with this commandment, which I give unto you, that ye shall call upon me, while I am near, draw near unto me, and I will draw near unto you, seek me dilligently, and ye shall find me, ask, and ye shall receive, knock, and it shall be opened unto you; whatsoever ye ask the father, in my name, it shall be given unto you, that is expedient for you, and if ye ask any thing, that is not, expedient for you, it shall turn unto your own condemnation [condemnation], ~~but~~ behold, that which you hear, is as the voice, of one crying in the wilderness, In the wilderness, because you cannot see him; my voice, because my voice is spirit, my spirit is truth, truth abideth, and hath no end, and if it be in you, it shall abound, and if your eye be single to my glory, your whole bodies, shall be filled with light, and there shall be no darkness in you, and that body, which is filled with light comprehendeth all things; therefore sanctify yourselves that your minds become single to God, The days come, that you shall see him, for he will, unveil his face unto you, and it shall be in his own time, and in his own way, and according, to his own will; Remember the last promise which I gave unto you, cast away your idle thoughts, and your excess of Laughter, far from you; tarry ye, tarry ye in this place, and call a solemn assembly, even <of> those, who are the first Elders labourers, in this last kingdom, and let those, whom they have warned, in there travling, call on the Lord and ponder, the warning in there hearts; which they have received, for a little season, behold and lo I will take care of your flocks, and will raise up elders, and send unto them, behold I will hasten my work, in its time, and I give unto you, who are the first labourers, in this last kingdom, a commandment, that you assembl yourselves together, and organize yourselves, and prepare yourselves, and sanctify yourselvs yea purify yourselves, hearts, and clean your hands, and your feet, before me, that I may make you clean, that I may testify unto your father, and your God, and my God, that you, are clean, from the blood of this, wicked generation, that I may fulfil this promise, this great and last promise, which I have made unto you, when I will, also I give unto you a commandment, that ye shall continue in prayer, and fasting, from this time forth; and I give unto you a commandment, that you shall teach one another, the doctrines, of the kingdom, teach ye diligently, and my grace, shall attend you, that ye may be inst[r]ucted more perfectly, in theory, in principle, in doctrine in the law of of the Gospel, in all things, that pertain unto the kingdom of God, that is expedient, for you, to understand, of things, both in heaven, and in the earth, and under the earth, things which have been, things, which are, things, which must shortly, come to pass, things which are at home, things which are abroad; the wars, and the perplexities of the nations, and the judgments, which are on the land, and a knowledge also, of Countries, and of kingdoms; that ye may be prepared, in all things when I shall send you again, to magnify the calling, whereunto I have called you, and the mission with which, I have commissioned you, behold I send you out, to testify, and to ~~warn~~ warn the people, and it becometh evry man, who hath been warned, to wa~~on~~n his neighbour, therefore they are left with~~out~~ excuse, and there sins are upon your own heads, he that seeketh me early, shall find me, and shall not be forsaken, therefore tarry ye, and labour diligently, that you may be perfected, in your ministry to go forth among the gentiles, for the last time, as many, as the mouth, of the Lord shall name, to bind up the law, and seal up the testamoy [testimony] and to prepare the saints, for the hour of judgments, which is to come, that there souls may escape the wrath of God, the dessolation, of abomination, which awaiteth the wicked, both in this world, and in the world to come, verely I say unto you, let those who are not the first elders, continue in the vineyard untill the mouth of the Lord shall call them, for there time is not yet come, there garments are not clean from the blood of this generation, abide ye in the liberty, wherewith ye are made free, entangle not yourselves in sin, but lit [let] your hands be clean, untill the lord come, for not many days hence, and the earth shall tremble, and real to and fro as a drunken man, and the sun shall hide his face, and shall refuse to give light, and the moon shall be bathed in blood, and the stars shall become exceding angry and shall cast themselves down, as a fig, that falleth from off a fig tree, and after your testamoy, cometh wrath, and— indignation, upon the people, for after your testamoy cometh the testamoy, of earthquakes, and shall cause gronings in the midst of her, and men, shall fall upon the ground, and shall not be able to stand, and also, cometh the testamoy, of the voice of thunderings, and the voice of lightnings, and the voice of tempests, and the voice of the waves of the sea heaving themselves, beyond there bounds, and all things shall be in commotion; and surely mens hearts, shall fail them, for fear shall come up on all people, and Angels shall fly through the midst of heaven crying, with a loud voice, sounding the trump of God, saying prepare ye, prepare ye, O inhabitants of the earth, for the judgment of our God is come, behold and lo, the bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him and immediately, there shall appear, a great sign in heaven, and all people, shall see it together, & another Angel shall sound, his trump, saying that great Church, the mother of abominations that made all nations, drink of the wine, of the earth of its fornication, that per~~o~~iteth [persecuteth] i the saints of God, that shed there blood, her who sitteth upon many waters, and upon the Is[~~l~~]lands of the sea behold she is, the tears [tares] of the earth, she is bound in bundles, her bands are made strong no man can loose them, therefore she is ready to be burned and he shall sound his trump both long and loud, and all nations shall hear it, and there shall be silence in heaven for the space, of a half an hour, imediately after, shall the curtain, of heaven be unfolded as a scroll is unfolded, after it is rolled up and the face, of the Lord, shall be unveiled and the saints, that are upon the earth, who are alive, shall be quickened, and be caught up to meet him, and they who have slept in there graves, shall come forth, for there graves shall be opened, and they also shall be caught up to meet him in the midst of the pillar of heaven they are Christs the first fruits, they who shall decend with him first, and they who are on the earth, and in there graves, who are first caught up to meet him, and all this by the voice, of the sounding of the trump, of the Angel of God, and after this, another trump shall sound, which is the second trump and then cometh, the redemption of those who are Christs, at his coming, who have receved there part in that prisison, which is prepared for them, that they m[i]ght receive the gospel and be judged, according to men in the fless [flesh], and again, another trump shall sound, which is the third trump, and then cometh, the spirits of men, who are to be judged, and are found under condemnation and these, are the rest of the dead, and they live not again, untill the thousand years are ended, neither again, untill, the end of the earth, and another trump shall sound, which is the fo[u]rth trump, saying; these are found among those, who are to remain, untill that great, and last day, even the end, who shall remain filthy still, and another trump shall sound, which is the fifth trump, which is the fifth angel, who comitteth the everlasting gospel, flying through the midst of heaven, unto all Nations, Kindred Tongues, & people, and this, shall be the sound of his trump, saying, to all people, both in heaven, and in earth, and that are under the earth, for evry ear shall hear it, and evry knee, shall bow, and evry tongue shall confess, while, they hear, the sound of the trump, saying fear God, and give glory to him, who sitteth upon the throne for ever, and ever, for the hour of his judgment is come; and again another angel, shall sound, his trump, which is the sixth Angel, saying he is fallen, who made, all Nations drink, of the wine, of the wrath, of her fornication; she is fallen, is fallen, and again, another Angel, shall sound, his trump which is the seventh Angel, saying, it is finished, it is finished, the lamb of God, hath overcome, and troden the winepress allone, even the winepress of the fierceness, of the wrath, of Almighty God; and then shall the Angels be crowned, with the glory, of his might, and the saints shall be filled with his glory, and receive, their inheritance, and be made equal, with him and then, shall the first Angel, again sound his trump, in the ears of all living, and reveal the secret acts, of men, and the mighty works of God; in the first thousandth year, and then shall the second, Angel, sound his trump, and reveil the secret acts of men, and the thoughts, and intents of their hearts, and the mighty works of God, in the second thousandth year; and so on untill the seventh, Angel shall sound, his trump, and he shall stand forth upon the land, and upon the sea, and sware, in the name of him, who sitteth upon the throne, that there shall be time, no longer, and satan, shall be bound, that old serpant who is called the devle [devil], and shall [not?] be loosed, for the space, of a thousand years; and then he shall be loosed, for a little season, that he may gather, together, his armies, and Michael, the seventh, Angel, even the archangel, shall gather, together, his armies, even the hosts of heaven, and the Devel, shall gather his armies, even the hosts of hell, and shall come up to battle, against Michael, and his armies; and then cometh the battle, of the Great God, and the Devell, and his armies shall be cast away, into there own place; that they shall not [have?] power, over the saints any more at all, for Michael, shall fight, their battles, and shall ove[r]come him, who seeketh the throne, of him who sitteth upon ~~upon~~ the throne, even the Lamb, this is the glory of God, and the sanctified, and they shall not, any more see death; Therefore verily, I say unto you my friends, call your solemn assembly, as I have commanded you, and as all have not faith, seek ye diligently, and teach one another, words of wisdom, yea seek ye out of the best books, words of wisdom, seek Learning even by study, and also, by faith organize yourselves, prepare evry needful [thing?] and establish, an house, even an house of prayer and house of fasting, an house of faith, an house of Learning, an house of glory, an house of order an house of God, that your incomings may be in the name of the Lord, and your outgoing may be in the name of the Lord, that all your salutations, may be in the name of the Lord, with uplifted hands, unto the most high, therefore cease from all your light speaches, from all laughter from all your lustful des[i]res, from all your pride and lightmindness, and from all your wicked doings, appoint among yourselves, a teacher, and and lit [let] not all be spokesmen at once, but let one speak at a time, and lit [let] all listen, unto his sayings that when all have spoken, that all may be edified, of all, and that evry man, may have an equal privelege, see that ye love one another cease to be covetous, learn to impart, one to another as the gospel requires, cease to be Idle, cease to be unclean, cease <to> find fault, one with another cease to sleep, any longer then is needful, retire to thy bed early that ye may not be weary, arise early, that your bodies, and your minds may be invigorated, and above all things, clothe yourselves, with the bonds of charity, as with a mantle, which is <the> bonds of perfectness and peace, prey always, that you may not faint until I come, behold, and lo, I will come quickly and receive you unto myself Amen;—

Kirtland 4th. Jan^y. 1833—

M^r. Editor Sir,

Considering the Liberal prisciples [principles] upon which your interesting and valuable paper is published and myself being a subscriber and feeling a deep intrist in the cause of Zion and in the happiness of my brethren of mankind I cheerfully take up my pen to contribute my mite at this every [very] interesting and important period

b

For some length of time I have been car[e]fully viewing the state of things as now appear throug[h]out our christian Land and have looked at it with feelings of the most painful anxiety while upon the one hand beholding the manifested withdrawal of Gods holy Spirit and the vail of stupidity which seems to be drawn over the hearts of the people and upon the other hand beholding the Judgments of God that have swept and are still sweeping hundreds and thousands of our race (and I fear unprepared) down to the shades of death with this solemn and alarming fact before me I am led to exclaim [“]O that

c

my head were waters and mine ey[e]s a fountain of tears that I might weep day and night &c,” I think that it is high time for a christian world to awake out of sleep and cry mightely to that God day and night whose anger we have Justly incured. Are not these things a sufficient stimulant to arouse the faculties and call forth the energies of evry man woman and child that poseses feeling of sympathy for his fellow[s] or that is in any degree endeared to the bud[d]ing cause of our glorious Lord; I leave an inteligent community to answer this important question with a confession that this is what has caused me to overlook my own inability and expose my weakness to a learned world but trusting in that God. who has said these things are hid from the wise and prudent and reve[a]lled unto babes I step forth into the field to tell you what the Lord is doing d

and what you must do to enjoy the smiles of your saviour in these last day[s]—— The time has at last ~~come~~ arived when the Gods of Abraham of Isaac and of Jacob has set his hand again the second time to recover the remnants of his people which have been left from Assyria, and from Egypt and from Pathros &c. and from the Islands of the sea and with them to bring in the fulness of the Gentiles and establish that covenant with them which was promised when their sins should be taken away. see Romans 11, 25, 26, & 27 and also Jeremiah 31. 31, 32, & 33, This covenant has never been established with the house of Isreal nor with th[e] house of Judah for it requires two parties to make a covenant and those two parties must be agreed or no covenant can be made. Christ in the days of his flesh proposed to make a covenant with them but they rejected him and his proposals and in consequence thereof they were broken off and no covenant was made with them at that time but their unbelief has not rendered the promise of God of none effect; no, for there was another day limited in David which was the day of his power and then his people Isreal, should be a willing people and he would write his laws in their hearts and print them in their thoughts their sins and their eniquities he would remember no more, Thus after this chosen family had rejected Christ and his proposals the heralds of salvation said to them. “lo I we turn <un>to the gentiles,” and the g

e

f

gentiles received the covenant and were grafted in from whence the chosen family were broken off but the Gentiles have not continued in the goodness of God but have departed from the faith that was once delivered to the saints and have broken the ~~everlasting~~ covenant in which their fathers were established see Isaiah 24th 5th. and have become high minded and have not feared therefore but few of them will be gathered with the chosen family Has not the pride highmindedness and unbelief of the Gentiles provoked the holy one of Israel to withdraw his holy spirit from them and send forth his Judgments to scourge them for their wickedness; this is certainly the case, Christ said to his deciples Mark 16, 17 & 18 that these signs should

h

follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out Devils they shall speap [speak] with new tongues they shall take up serpants and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them they shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover, and also in connection with this read 1 Corinthians 12 Chapt, By the foregoing testamonies or through the glass of the foregoing testamonies we may look at the Christian world and see the apostacy there has been from the Apostolic platform, and who can look at this, ~~and~~ and not exclaim in the language of Isaiah, [“]the earth is defiled under the inhabitants thereof because they have transgressed the Laws; changed the ordinances and broken the everlasting covenant”

i

The plain fact is this, the power of God begins to fall upon the Nations, and the light of the latter day glory begins to break forth through the dark atmosphere of sectarian wickedness and their iniquity rools [rolls] up into view and the Nations of the Gentiles are like the waves of the sea casting up mire and dirt or all in commotion and they hastily are preparing to act the part allotted them when the Lord rebukes the nations, when he shall rule them with a rod of iron & break them in peaces like a potters vessel, The Lord has declared to his servants some Eighteen months since that he was then withdrawing his spirit from the earth, and we can see that such is the fact for not only the churches are dwindling away, but there are no convers[i]ons, or but very few, and this is not all, the governments of the earth are thrown into confusion & division, and distruction to the eye of the spiritual beholder seemes to be written by the finger of an invisable hand in Large capitals upon almost evry thing we behold——

k

And now what remains to be done under circumstan[c]les like these, I will proce[e]d to tell you what the Lord requires of all people high and Low, rich and poor, male and female, ministers & people professors of religeon, and nonproffessors in order that they may enjoy the holy spirit of God to a fulness, and escape the Judgments of God which are almost ready to burst upon the nations of the earth— Repent of all your sins and be baptized in water for the remission of them, in the name

- of the father, and of the son, and of the Holy Ghost, and receive the ordinance of the laying on of the hands of him who is ordained and sealed unto this power, that ye may receive the holy spirit of God, and this according to the holy scriptures, and of the Book of Mormon; and the only way that man can enter into the Celestial kingdom. These are the requestions of the new Covenant or first principles of of the Gospel of Christ; then add to you[r] faith virtue and to virtue knowledge and to knowledge temperance, and to temperance patience, and to patience, brotherly kindness and to brotherly kindness charity (or Love) and if these things be in you and abound, they make you to be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ——
- The Book of Mormon is a record of the forefathers of our western Tribes of Indians, having been found through the ministration of an holy Angel translated into our own Language by the gift and power of God, after having been hid up in the earth for the last fourteen hundred years containing the word of God, which was delivered unto them, By it we learn that our western tribes of Indians are descendants from that Joseph that was sold into Egypt, and that the Land of America is a promised land unto them, and unto it all the tribes of Israel will come. with as many of the gentiles as shall comply with the requestions of the new co[v]enant. But the tribe of Judah will return to old Jerusalem, The City, of Zion, spoken of by David in the 102 Psalm will be built upon the Land of America and the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to it with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads, and then they will be delivered from the overflowing scourge that shall pass through the Land But Judah shall obtain deliverance at Jerusalem see Joel 2. 32. Isaiah 26, 20 & 21, Jer. 31, 12, Psalm 50. 5, Ezekiel 34, 11, 12 & 13, These are testamonies that the good Shepherd will put forth his own sheep and Lead them out from all nations where they have been scattered in a cloudy and dark day, to Zion and to Jerusalem beside many more testamonies which might be brought——
- And now I am prepared to say by the authority of Jesus Christ, that not many years shall pass away before the United States shall present such a scene of bloodshed as has not a parallel in the history of our nation pestilence hail famine and earthquake will sweep the wicked off this generation from off the face of this Land to open and prepare the way for the return of the lost tribes of Israel from the north country— The people of the Lord, those who have complied with the requestions of the new covenant have already commenced gathering together[r] to Zion which is in the State of Missouri. Therefore I declare unto you the warning which the lord has commanded me to declare unto this generation, reminding [remembering] that the eyes of my maker are upon me and that to him I am accountable for every word I say wishing nothing worse to my fellow men than their eternal salvation therefore fear God, and give glory to him for the hour of his Judgment is come, <Repent ye> Repent, ye and embrace the everlasting Covenant and flee to Zion before the overflowing scourge overtake you, For there are those now living upon the earth whose eyes shall not be closed in death until they see all these things which I have spoken fulfilled Remember these things, call upon the Lord while he is near and seek him while he may be found is the exhortation of your unworthy servant

- a Kirtland 1833 January 11—¹
Brother William [W. Phelps]
- I Send you the Olive leaf which we have plucked from the tree of Paradise, the Lords message of peace to us, for though our Brethren in Zion, indulge in feelings towards us, which is are not according to the requirements of the new covenant yet we have the satisfaction of knowing that the Lord approves of us & has accepted us, & established his name in kirtland for the salvation of the nations, for the Lord will have a place ~~for~~ from whence his word will go forth in these last days in purity, for if Zion, will not purify herself so as to be approved of in all things in his sight he will seek— another people for his work will go on untill Isreal is gathered & they who will not hear his voice must expect to feel his wrath, Let me say ~~unto~~ you, seek to purefy yourselves, & also all the inhabitants of Zion lest the Lords anger be kindled to fierceness, repent, repent, is the voice of God, to Zion, & yet strange as it may appear, yet it is true mankind will presist in self Justification until all their eniquity is exposed & their character past being redeemed, & that which is treasured up in their hearts be exposed to the gaze of mankind, I say to you— (& what I say to you, I say to all) hear the <warning.> voice of God lest Zion fall, & the Lord ~~swore~~ swear in his wrath the inhabiteints of Zion shall not enter into my rest, The Brethren in Kirtland pray for you unceasingly, for knowing the terrors of the Lord, they greatly fear for you; you will see that the Lord commanded us in Kirtland to build an house of God, & establish a school for the Prophets, this is the word of the Lord to us, & we must— yea the Lord helping us we will obey, as on conditions of our obedience, he has promised <us> great things, yea <even> a visit from the heavens to honor us with his own presence, we greatly fear before the Lord lest we should fail of this great honor which our master proposes to confer on us, we are seeking for humility & great faith lest we be ashamed in his presence, our hearts are greatly greaved at the spirit which is breathed both in your letter & that of Bro G—s [Sidney Gilbert] the wery spirit which is wasting the strength of Zion like a pestalence, and if it is not detected & driven from you it will ripen Zion for the threatened Judgments of God, remember God sees the secret springs of human action, & knows the hearts of all living, Br suffer us to speak plainly for God has respect to the feelings of his saints & he will not let them be tantalized with impunity tell Br. G—t [Gilbert] that low insinuations God hates, but he rejoices in an honest heart and knows better who is guilty than he does, we send him this worning [warning] voice & let him fear greatly for himself lest a worse thing overtake him, all we can say by way of conclusion is, if the fountain of our tears are not dried up we will <still> weep for Zion, this from your brother who trembles greatly for Zion,— and for the wrath of heaven which awaits her if she repent not,— PS. I am not in the habit of crying peace, when there is no peace, and knowing the th[r]eatened Judgments of God, I say Wo,— unto them who are at ease in Zion fearfulness will speedily lay hold of the hypocrite, I did not expect that you had lost Commandments, but thought from your letters you had neglected to read them, otherwise you would not have written as you did, it is in vain to try to hide a bad spirit from the eyes of them who are spiritual for it will shewe itself in speaking & in writing as well as all our other conduct, it is also useless to mak[e] great pretentions when the heart is not right before God, for God looks at the heart, and where the heart is not right the Lord will expose it to the view of his faithful saints, we wish you to render the Star as interesting as possible by setting forth the rise progress and faith of the church, as well as the doctrine for if you do not render it more interesting than at present it will fall, and the church suffer a great Loss thereby—

Text

- a Kirtland Mills Geauga Co Ohio Jan^y. 14— 1833
- From a conference of 12 High Priests to the Bishop his council and the inhabitants of Zion, Orson Hyde and Hiram [Hyrum] Smith being appointed by the said conference to write this Epistle in obedience to the commandment given the 22 & 23 of Sept last which says “But verily I say unto ~~you~~ all those to whom the kingdom has been given from you it must be preached unto all them that they shall repent of their former evil works for they are to be upbraided for their evil hearts of
- b unbelief and your brethren in Zion for their rebellion against you at the time I sent you.” Bro Joseph & certain <others> have writen to you upon this all important subject, but you have <never> been apprised of these things by the united voice of a conference of those high priests that were present at the time this commandment was given, we therefore Orson & Hiram the committe appointed by said conference to write this Epistle having received the prayers of s^d conference that we might be
- c enabled to write the mind & will of God upon this subject, now take up our pen to address you in the name of the conference, relying upon the arm of the Great Head of the Church, in the commandment above alluded to the Children of Zion were all, yea even evry one under condemnation, and were to remain in that state until they repented and remembred the new covenant even the Book of Mormon and the former commandments which the Lord had given them, not only to say but
- d to do them and bring forth fruit meet for ther Fathers Kingdom otherwise. there remaineth a scourge & a judgment to be poured out upon the children of Zion, for shall the children of the Kingdom pollute my holy land I say unto you nay— The answers received from those letters which have been sent to you upon this subject have failed to bring to us that satisfactory confession and acknowledgment which the spirit of our Master requires— we therefore feeling a deep intrest for Zion & knowing the judgments of God that will come upon her except she repent; resort to these last, and most efficient means in
- e our power to bring her to a sense of her standing before the most High, At the time Joseph Sidney [Rigdon] & Newel [K. Whitney] left Zion, all matters of hardness and misunderstanding were settled and buried (as they supposed) and you gave them the hand of fellowship but afterwards you brought up all these things again in a sensorious spirit accusing Bro Joseph in rather an indirect way in of seeking after Monarchal power and authority, this came to us in Bro Carrolls [John Corrill’s]
- f letter of June 2^d. We are sensible that this is not the thing Bro J is seeking after, but to magnify the high office and calling whereunto he has been called and appointed by the command of God and the united voice of this Church, It might not be a miss for you to call to mind the circumstances of the Nephites and the Children of Israel rising up against their prophets and accusing them of seeking after Kingly power &c— and see what befel them and take warning before it is to[o] late Bro
- g [Sidney] Gilberts letter of Dec 10th. has been received and read attentively, and the low, dark, & blind insinuations which were in it were not received by us as from the fountain of light, though his claims and pretentions to holiness were great, we are not unwilling to be chastened or rebuked for our faults but we want to receive it in Language that we can understand, as
- h Nathan said to David, Thou art the man We are aware that Bro Gs is doing much, and a multitude of business on hand but let him purge out all the old leaven and do his business in the spirit of the Lord. and then the Lord will bless him <otherwise the frown of the Lord will remain upon him—> There is ma[n]ifestly an uneassness in Bro G, and a fearfulness that God will not provide for his saints in their last days and these fears lead him on to covitousness, This ought not so to be, but let him do just as the Lord has commanded him and then the Lord will open his coffers, and his wants will be liberally supplied,
- i But if this uneasy covetous disposition be cherished by him the Lord will bring him to poverty shame, and disgrace, Bro [William W.] Phelps letter is also received of Dec15th and carefully read, and it betrays a lightness of spirit that ill becomes a man plased in the important and responsable station that he is placed in;— If you have fat beef and potatoes eat them in singleness of heart. and boast not yourselves in these things think not Brethren that we make a man an offender for a word this is not the case, but we want to see a spirit in Zion by which the Lord will build it up, that is the plain solem and pure
- j spirit of Christ; Bro Phelps requested in his last letter that Bro Joseph should come to Zion, but we say that Br J. will not settle in Zion until she repent and purify herself & abide by the new covenant, and remember the commandments which have been given her, to do them as well as say them You may think it strange that we manifest no cheerfulness of heart upon the reception of your letters, you may think that our minds are pregudiced so much that we can see no good that comes from
- k you, but rest assured brethren that this is not the case, We have the best of feelings, and feelings of the greatest anxiety for the welfare of Zion we feel more like weeping over Zion than we do like rejoicing over her, for we know the judgments of God that hang over her and will fall upon her except she repent and purify herself before the Lord and put away from her every foul spirit— we now say to Zion this once in the name of the Lord, Repent! Repent! Awake! Awake! put on thy beautiful garments before you are made to feel the chastening rod of him whose anger is kind[ly]ed against you, let not satan tempt you to think we want to make you bow to us to domaneur over you for God knows this is not the case our eyes are watered with tears and our hearts are poured out to God in prayer for you that he will spare you and turn away his anger from you, There are many things in the last letters from Brs G and P. that are good and we esteem them much, The Idea of having certain ones appointed to regulate Zion and traveling Elders have nothing to do with this part of the matter is something that we highly approve, and you will doubtless know before this reaches you why Wm McLelin [William E. McLellin] opposed you in this move— We fear there was something in Bro Gilberts when he returned to this place from N York last fall in relation to his Bro William that was not right, For Bro G was asked 2 or 3 times about his Bro W, but gave evasive answers, and at the same time he knew that William was in Cleaveland, but the Lord has taken him we merely mention this that all may take warning to work in the light for God will bring every secret thing to Light, we now close our Epistle by saying unto you the Lord has commanded us to purify ourselves, to wash our hands and our feet that he might testify to his father and our Father to his God & our God that we are clean from the blood of this Generations and before we could wash our hands and our feet we were constrained to write this letter, Therefore with the feelings of inexpressable anxiety for your welfare we say again Repent Rep[en]t or Zion must suffer, for the scourge and judgments must come upon her, Let the Bishop read this to the Elders that they may warn the members of the scourge that is coming except they repent. Tell them to read the Book of Commandments Mormon and obey it, read the commandments that are printed and obey them. yea humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that peradventure he may turn away his anger from you, tell them that they have not come up to Zion to sit down in idleness neglecting the things of God, but they are to be diligent and faithful in obeying the new covenant, There is one clause in Br Joseph Letter which you may not understand. that is this if the people of Zion did not repent the Lord would seek another place, and another people, Zion is the place where the Temple will be built, and the people gathered but all people upon that holy Land being under condemnation, the lord will cut off if they repent not and bring another race upon it that will serve him, The Lord will seek another place to bring forth and prepare his word to go forth to the nations, and as we said before so we say again Bro Joseph will not settle in Zion except she repent and serve God and obey the new covenant with this explanation the conference sanctions Bro Joseph letter— Brethren the conference meets again this evening to hear this Letter read and if it meets their minds we have all agreed to kneel down before the Lord and cry unto him with all our hearts that this epistle & Bro J^s and the revelations also may have there desired effect and accomplish the things whereunto they are sent and that they may stimulate you to cleans Zion that she mourn not, Therefore when you get this know ye that a conference of 12 High Priests have cried unto the Lord for you and are still crying saying spare thy peopl[e] O! Lord and give not thy heritage to reproach, We now feel that our garments are clean from you, and all men, when we have washed our ~~hand & our~~ feet & hands according to the commandment We have written plain at this time but we believe not harsh, Plainly Plainness is what the Lord requires and we should not feel ourselves clean unless we had done so, and if the things we have told you be not attended to you will not long have occasion to say or to think rather that we may be rong in what we have stated Your unworthy brethren are determined to pray unto the Lord for Zion as so long as we can shed a ~~tear~~ the sympathising tear, or feel any spirit of to supplicate a throne of Grace in her behalf, The School of the Prophets will commence if the Lord will in 2 or 3 days, a general time of health with us the cause of God seems to be rapidly advancing in the eastern ~~country~~ countries, the gifts beginning to break forth so as to astonish the world, and even believers marvel at the power and goodness of God, Thanks be rendered to his holy name for what he is doing, We are your unworthy brethren in the Lord & may the Lord help us all to do his will that we may at last be saved in his kingdom—

Orson Hyde
Hyram Smith

s N. B. we stated that Bro Gilbert knew that William was in Cleaveland last fall, when he was in Kirtland, we wrote this upon the strength of hearsay, but Wm being left at St Louis strengthened our suppositions that such was the fact, we stated farther respecting this matter or this itim than the testimony will warrant us— with this exception the Conference sanctions this letter

- a To N C Sexton [Noah C. Saxton] Rochester
Dear sir
- I was somewhat disappointed on receiving my paper with only a part of my letter inserted in ~~that~~ it. The letter which I wrote you for publication I wrote by the commandment of God, and I am quite anxious to have it all laid before the public for it is of importance to them, But I have no clame upon you, neither do I wish to urge you beyond that which is reasonable to do it. I have only to appeal to your extended geneorsity to all religious societies that claim that Christ has come in the flesh and also tell you what will be the consequen[c]es of a neglect to publish it— some parts of the letter were very severe
- b upon the wickedness of sectarianism— I acknowledge and the truth, remember is hard and severe against all iniquity and wickedness, but this is no reason why it should not be published but the very reason why it should, It lays the axe at the root of the tree and I long to see many of the sturdy oaks which I have long cumbred the ground fall prostrate. I now say unto you that if you wish to clear your garments from the blood of you[r] readers I exhort you to publish that letter entire but if not the sin be upon your head—

Accept sir the good wishes and tender regard of your unworthy servant—
Joseph Smith Jr

A Word of Wisdom

A word of wisdom for the benefit of the Saints in these last days and also the Saints in Zion to be sent greeting, not by commandment or Constraint, but by Revelation & the word of wisdom shewing forth the order & will of God in the temporal salvation of all Saints, given for a principle with promise, adapted to the Capacity of the weak & the weakest of all Saints who are or can be called Saints—

Behold verily thus Saith the Lord unto you in consequence of evils & designs which will exist in the hearts of conspiring men in these last days, I have warned you & forewarned you by giving unto you this word of wisdom by Revelation, that inasmuch as any man drinketh wine or Strong drink among you behold it is not good, neither mete in the sight of your Father, only in assembling your[s]elves in your Sacraments before him, & behold this should be wine of your own make & again Strong drinks are not for the belly, but for the washing of your bodies, & Tobacco is not for man but is for bruises & all sick cattle to be used with judgement & skill.

And again hot drinks are not for the body or belly, all wholesome herbs God hath ordained for the constitution & nature & use of man, every herb in the season thereof & every fruit in the season thereof, all these to be used with prudence & thanksgiving, yea flesh also of beasts & of fowls, I the Lord hath ordained for the use of man with thanksgiving— Nevertheless they are to be used sparingly & it is pleasing unto me that they should not be used only in times of winter or of famine— All grain is for the use of man & of beasts to be the staff of life not only for man, but for the beasts & for the fowls, and all wild animals that run or creep on the earth & these hath God [made] for the use of man only in times of famine or excess of hunger all grain is good for the use of man ~~& of beasts~~ as also the fruit of the vine that which beareth fruit whether in the ground or above ground. Nevertheless wheat for man & corn for the Ox & Oats for the horse. Rye for the fowls & the swine & for all beasts of the field and Barley for all useful animals & for mild drinks as also other grains— and all saints who remember to keep & do these sayings walking in obedience to the commands shall receive health in their navel & marrow to their bones & shall find wisdom & great treasures of wisdom & knowledge even hidden treasures & shall run & not be weary & walk & not faint. And I the Lord give unto them a promise that the destroying Angel shall pass them by as they did by the Children of Israel & not slay them

A Revelation given concerning Apocrypha

Verily thus saith the Lord unto you concerning the Apocrypha there are many things contained therein that are true and it is mostly translated correct— there are many things contained therein that are not true which are interpelations by the hands of men varely I say unto you that it is not needful that the Apocrypha should be translated therefore whoso readeth it let him understand for the spirit manifesteth truth and and whoso is enlightened by the spirit shall obtain benifit therefrom and whoso receiveth not the spirit cannot be benefited; Therefore it is not needful that it should be translated. - a Kirtlan[d] 13th April 1833
- b Dear Broth[er] [John S.] Carter your Letter to Broth Jared [Carter] is just put into my hand and I have carefully purrused its contents and imbrace this oppertunity to answer it, we proceed to answer your questions first concerning your labour in the region where you live we acquiesce in your feelings on this subject until the the mouth of the Lord shall name and as it respects the vision you speak of we do not consider ourselves bound to receive any revelation forom [from] any one man or
- c woman without being legally constituted and ordained to that authority and given sufficien[t] proof of it, I will inform you that it is contrary to the economy of God for any member of the Church or any <one> any one to receive instruction for those in authority hig[h]er than themselves, therefore you will see the impropriety of giving <heed> to them, but if any <have a vision> heavenly or a visitation from an hevenaly [heavenly] messenger it must be for their own benefit and instruction, for
- d the fundamental principals, government and doctrine of the church is invested in the keys of the kingdom as it respects an apostate or one who has been cut off from the Church and wishes to come in again the law of our church expresly says that such shall repent, and be babtised and be admited the same as at the first, the duty of a high priest is to administer spriitual and holy things and to hold Communeion <with> God but not to exorcise [exercise] monarchy monarchal government or to appoint meetings for the Elders without their concent and again it is the high priests duty to be bet[t]er qualifide to teach principles and doctrines than the Elder for the office of Elders is an appendege to the high priesthood and it <centers &> concentrates in one, and again the proper <process> way of Labouring with a member we are to deal with them percisely as the scripturs direct if thy brother trespass against the[e] take him between him and thee alone and if he maketh the satisfaction

e thou hast saved thy brother and if not proce[e]d to take another with the[e] & [illegible] when there is no bishop they are to be f tried by the voice of the Church and if an Elder or an high priest be presant they are to take the lead in managing the business if not by such that have the highest authority, with respect to preparing to go to Zion first it would be pleasing to the lord that that the Church or Churches going to Zion should be organised, and appointed a suitable person who is well acquainted with the Conditions of the Church & and be sent to Kirtland to inform the Bishop and procure licence from him agreeable to the revelation so doing you will prevent confusion and disorder and escape many difficulties that attend an unorganised band in Journey[ing] to in the last days and again those in debt should in all cases pay their debts and the rich in are in no wise to cast out the poor or leave them behind for it is said that the poor shall inherit the earth you quoted a pass[a]ge in Jeremiah with regard to Journey to Zion the word of God stands sure so let it be done

g There are two paragraphs in your letter which I do not commend as they are written blind speaking of the Elder being sent like lightning from the bow of Judah the second, no secret in the councils of Zion you mention this as if fear rested upon your mind otherwise we cannot understand it and again we never enquire of at the hand of ~~the Lord~~ God for special revelation only in case of ther being no previous revelation to suit the case and that in a court of high Priests for further information on h the subject you have written I will refer you to the Elders who have recently left here for the east by commandment some of whom you will probably see soon you may depend on any information you receive from them that are faithful you may expect to see Bro Orson [Pratt] & Lyman [Johnson] for whom we have great fellowship, it <is> a great thing to enquire at the hand of God or to come into his presence and we feel fearful to appro[a]ch him upon subject[s] that are of little or no consequen[ce] to satisfy the enqueries of individuals especially <about> things the knowledge of which men aught to obtain in all cencerity before God for themselves in humility by the prayer of faith, and more especially a teacher or a high Priest in i the Church of Christ I speak these things not by way of reproach but by way of instruction and I speak as being acquainted whereas we are strangers to each other in the flesh I love your soul and the souls of the Children of men and pray and do all I can for the salvation of all I now close by sending you a salutation of peace in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ Amen the blessings of our Lord Jesus Christ be and abide with you all Amen——

Joseph Smith Jr
F[rederick] G Williams

j NB if it is inconvenient to send a deleget to Kirtland to procure licen[s]e for the brethren to go to Zion it can be done by two or more Elders we have received two letters from bro [Henry G.] Sherwood stating the order and condition of the Church and respecting the vision of his wife but on account of a multitude of business they have not been answered by us you will please to read this letter to Bro Sherwood and for further information appeal to the Elders you will please to inform them at the east who write to us to pay the postage as we are receiving letters from all parts and have to pay a great sum of money otherwise we shall be under the necessity of letting them remain in the office as we are not able to pay so much

- a Kirtland Ohio May 2^d 1833
- Beloved Brother Edward [Partridge],
- I commence answering your letter & sincere request to me, by begging your pardon for not having addressed you, more particularly in letters which I have written to Zion, for I have always felt, as though a letter written to any one in authority in Zion, would be the property of all, & it mattered but little to whom it was directed. But I am satisfied that this is an error, for instruction that is given pointedly, and expressly to us, designating our names as individuals, seems to have double power and influence over our minds, I am thankful to the Lord for the testimony of his spirit, which he has given me, concerning your honesty, and sincerity before him, and the Lord loveth you, and also Zion, for he chasteneth whom he loveth, and scourgeth every son & daughter whom he receiveth, and he, will not suffer you to be confounded, and of this thing you may rest assured, notwithstanding, all the threatenings of the enemy, and your perils among false brethren, For verily I say unto you, that this is my prayer, and I verily believe the prayer of all the saints in Kirtland, recorded in heaven, in these words, Heavenly Father in the name of Jesus Christ thy son, preserve brother Edward, the bishop of thy church, and give him wisdom, knowledge & power, & the holy ghost, that he may impart to thy saints in Zion. their inheritance, & to every man his portion of meat in due season, and now, this is our confidence & record on high, therefore fear not little flock, for it has been your fathers good will to giv[e] you the king[dom],. and now, I will proceed to tell you my views, concerning consecration, property, and giving inheritances &c. The law of the Lord, binds you to receive, whatsoever property is consecrated, by deed, The consecrated property, is considered the residue kept for the Lords store house, and it is given for this consideration, for to purchase inheritances for the poor, this, any man has a right to do, agreeable to all laws of our country, to donate, give or consecrate all that he feels disposed to give, and it is your duty, to see that whatsoever is given, is given legally, therefore, it must be given for the consideration of the poor saints, and in this way no man can take any advantage of you in law, Again, concerning inheritances, you are bound by the law of the Lord, to give a deed, secureing to him who receives inheritances, his inheritance, for an everlasting inheritance, or in other words, to be his individual prope[r]ty, his privat ste[wa]rdship, and if he is found a transgressor & should be cut off, out of the church, his inheritance is his still and he is dilivere[d] over to the buffetings of satan, till the day of redemption, But the property which he consecrated to the poor, for their benefit, & inheritance, & stewardship, he cannot obtain again by the law of the Lord, Thus you see the propriety of this law, that rich men cannot have power to disinherit the poor by obtaining again that which they have consecrated, which is the residue, signified in the law, that you will find in the second paragraph of the extract from the law, in the second number, And now b[r]other Edward, be assured that we all feel thankful, that the brethren in Zion are beginning to humble themselves, & trying to keep the commandments of the Lord, which is our prayer to God, you may all be able to do, and now, may the grace of God be with all, amen.

Joseph Smith Jun

Verely thus saith the Lord, it shall come to pass, that evry soul who forsaketh their sins and cometh unto me and calleth on my name and obeyeth my voice and keepeth all my commandments shall see my face and know that I am and that I am the true light that lighteth evry man who cometh into the world; and that I am in the fathe[r] and the father in me and the fathe[r] and I are one the father because he gave me of his fulness and the son becaus I was in the world and made flesh my tabernacle and dwelt among the sons of men I was in the world and received of my father, and the works of him were plainly manifest and John saw and bear record of the fulness of his <my> glory and the fulness of Johns reccord is hereafter to be reveiled and he bear reccord saying I saw his glory that he was in the begining before the world was therefore in the beg[inn]ing the word was for he was the word even the messenger of salvation the light and the redeemer of the world the spirit of truth who came into the world becaus the world was made by him and in him was the <fife> light <Life> of men and the light of men the worlds were made by him men were made by him all things were made by him and through him and of him and I, John bear reccord that I beheld his glory as the glory of the only begotten of the fathe[r] full of grace and truth even the spirit of truth which came and dwelt in flesh and dwelt among us and I John saw that he received not of the fulness at the first but received grace for grace and he received not of the fulness but continued from grace to grace until he received a fulness and thus he was called the son of God because he received not of the fulness at the first and I John bear reccord and lo the heavens were opened and the holy ghost decended upon him in the form of a dove and set upon him and there came a voice out of heaven saying this is my beloved son, and I John bear reccord that he received a fulness of the glory of the eternal God father and he receivd all power both in heaven and on earth and the glory of the father was with him for he dwelt in him and it shall come to pass that if you are faithful you shall receive the fulness of the reccord of John I give unto you these sayings that you may understand and know how to worship and know what you worship that you may come unto the fathe[r] in my name and in due time receive of his fulness for if you keep my commandments you shall receive of his fulness and be glor[i]fied in me as I am glor[i]fied in the father, therefore I say <unto> you you shall receive grace for grace and now verely I say unto you I was in the begining with the fathe[r] and am the first born and all those who are begotten through me are partakers of the glory of the same and are the church of the first born, ye were also in the begining with the fathe[r] that which is Spirit even the spirit of truth and truth is knowledge of things as they are and as they were and as they are to come and whatsoever is more or less than these is the spirit of that wicked one who was a liar from the begining the spirit of truth is of God, I am the spirit of truth, and John bear reccord of me say<ing> he received a fullness of truth yea even all truth and no man receiveth a fulness unless he keepeth his commandments he that keepeth his commandments receiveth truth and light untill he is glor[i]fied in truth and knoweth all things, man was also in the begining with God, inteligence or the Light of truth was not created or made neith[er] indeed can be all truth is independent in that sphere <in which God has placed it—> to act for itself as all inteligenc[e] also otherwise there is no existance behold here is the agency of man and here is the condemnation of man because that which was from the begining is p[l]ainly manifest unto them and they receive not the light and evry man whose spirit rec[e]iveth not the light for man is spirit the Elements are eternal and spirit and element inseperably connected receiveth a fulness of Joy and when seperated man cannot receiv  fulness of Joy the elements are the tabernacle of God, yea man is the tabernacle of God even temples and whatsoeve[r] temple is defiled God shall distroy that temple, the glory of God is inteligence or in other words light & truth light and truth forsaketh that evil one evry spirit of man was innocent in the begining, and God having redeemed man from, the fall <man> became again in their infant state <innocent> before God and that wicked one cometh and taketh away light and truth through disobeidienc [disobedience] from the children of men and becam[e] of the tradition of their fathers but I have commanded you to bring up your Children in light and truth, but verily I say unto you my servant Frederick [G. Williams] you have continued under this condemnation you have not taught your Children light and truth according to the Commandments and that wicked one hath power as yet over you and this is the caus of your affliction and now a commandment I give unto you and if ye will be delivered you shall set in order your own house for there are many things that are not right in your house verely I say unto my servant Sidney [Rigdon] that in some things he hath not kept the commandments concerning his children therefore firstly set in order thy house, and verely I say unto my servant Joseph (or in othe[r] words I will call you friends) for ye are my friends) and ye shall have an inheritance with me I called you servants for the worlds sake and ye are their servants for my sake and now verely I say unto you Joseph you have not kept the commandments and must needs stand rebuked before the lord your family must needs repent and forsake some things and give more earnest heed unto your sayings or be removed out of their place what I say unto one I say unto all pray always lest that wicked one have power in you and remove you out of your place my servant Newel [K. Whitney] also the Bishop of my Church hath need to be chastened and set in order his family and see that they are more diligent and concerned at home and pray always or they shall be removed out of their place now I say unto you my friends let my servant Sidny go his Journey and make haste and also proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord and the gospel of salvation as I shall give him utterence and by your prayr of faith with one consent I will uphold him and let my servants Joseph & Frederick make haste also and it shall be given them even according to the prayer of faith and inasmuch as you keep my sayings you shall not be confounded in this world nor in the world to come Am

Kirtland June 1st. 1833—

Verily thus saith the Lord unto you whom I love, and whom I love I also chasten that their sins may be forgiven, for with the chastisement I prepare a way for their deliverance in all things out of temptation and I have loved you therefore ye must needs be chast[e]ned and stand rebuked before my face. for ye have sinned against me a verry grievous sin in that ye have not considered the great commandment in all things that I have given unto you concerning the building of mine house for the preparation wherewith I deign to prepare mine Apostles to prune my vineyard for the last time that I may bring to pass my strange act that I may pour out my spirit upon all flesh. But behold verily I say unto you there are many who have been ordained among you whom I called but few of them are chosen. they who are not chosen have sinned a verry grievous sin in that they are walking in darkness at noon day, and for this cause I gave unto you a commandment that you should call your solem assembly that your fastings and your mourning might come up into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth which is by interpretation the creator of all things the first day the beginning and the end. Yea verily I say unto you I gave unto you a commandment that you should build an house in the which house I design to endow those whom I have chosen with power from on high, for this is the promise of the Father unto you. Therefore, I commanded you to tarry even as mine Apostles at Jerusalem. nevertheless my servants sinned a verry grievous sin and contentions arose in the school of the prophets, which was verry grievous unto me saith your Lord. therefore I sent them forth to be chastened. Verily I say unto you, it is my will that you should build an house. If ye keep my commandments ye shall have power to build it. If ye keep not my commandments the love of the father shall not continue with you therefore ye shall walk in darkness. now here is wisdom and the mind of the Lord, Let the house be built not after the manner of this <the> world. for I give not unto you that ye shall live after the manner of the world. Therefore let it be built after the manner which I shall show unto three of you whom ye shall appoint and ordain unto this power and the size thereof shall be fifty and five feet in width and let it be sixty and five feet in length in the inner court thereof, and let the lower part of the inner court thereof be dedicated unto me for your sacrament offering and for your preaching and your fasting and your praying and the offering up your most holy desires unto me saith your lord, and let the higher part of the inner court be dedicated unto me for the school of mine Apostles saith Son Ah Man, or in otherwords Alphas, or in other words Omegas even Jesus Christ your lord Amen.—

Kirtland June 4th 1833—

Behold I say unto you here is wisdom whereby ye may know how to act concerning this matter. for it is expedient in me that this stake that I have set for the strength of Zion should be made strong. Therefore let my servant Newel [K. Whitney] take charge of the place which is named among you upon which I design to build mine holy house, and again let it be divided into lots according to wisdom for the benefit of those who seek inheritances as it shall be determined in council among you. Therefore take heed that ye see to this matter, and that portion that is necessary to benefit the firm for the purpose of bringing forth my word to the children of men, for Behold verily I say unto you, this is the most expedient in me that my word should go forth unto the children of men for the purpose of subdueing the hearts of the children of men for your good even so Amen— and again verily I say unto you it is wisdom and expedient in me that my servant John Johnson whose offering I have accepted and whose prayers I have heard, unto whom I give a promise of Eternal life inasmuch as he keepeth my commandments from hence forth, for he is a descendant of Joseph and a partaker of the blessings of the promise made unto his fathers. Verily I say unto you it is expedient in me that he should become a member of the firm that he may assist in bringing forth my word unto the children of men. Therefore ye shall ordain him unto this blessing, and he shall seek dilligently to take away incumberances that are upon the house named among you that he may dwell there<in> even so Amen——

- a Kirtland June 25— 1833
- Brethren we have received your last containing a number of questions which you desire us to answer, this we do the more readily as we desire with all our hearts, the prosperity of Zion and the peace of her inhabitants for we have as great an intrest in the welfare of Zion as you can have— First as respects getting the book of Commandments bound we think it is not necessary[.] they will be sold as well without binding and there is no book binder to be had as we know off, nor is there materials to be had for binding without keeping the books too long from circulation——
- b With regard to the books of Mormon which are in the hand of brothe[r] Burket we say to you get them from brothe[r] Burkeet give him receipt for them in the name of the littery firm Let Bro. [Sidney] Gilbert pay bro Chapin his mony——
- c We have not found the book of Jasher nor any of the othe[r] lost books mentioned in the bible as yet nor wille we obtain ~~obtain~~ them at present— respecting the Apochraphy [Apocrypha] the Lord Said to us that there were many things in it which were true and ther were many things in it which were not true and to those who desired, it should be given by the spirit to know true from the false, we have received some revelations within a short time back which you will obtain in due time. As soon as we can get time, we will review the manuscripts of the Book of Mormon, after which they will be forwarded
- c to you— We commend the plan highly of your choossing a teacher to instruct the High Priests that they may be able to silence gainsayers— Concerning Bishops we recommend the following, to let Bro I[saac] Morley be ordained second Bishop in Zion. And let Bro John Carrel [Corrill] be ordained third— Let Bro Edward [Partridge] choose as counsellors in their place, Bro Parley P Pratt and Bro Titus Billings, ordaining Bro Billings to the High Priesthood. Let Bro Morley choose for his counsellors Bro Christian Whitmer whom ordain to the High Priesthood and Bro Newel Knights [Knight]— Let Bro Carrol choose bro Daniel Staunton [Stanton] and Bro Hezekiah Peck for his counsellors, let Bro Hezekiah also be ordained to the
- d high Priesthood— Bro John Johnson of Hiram has been received as a member of the firm by commandment and has just come to Kirtland to live. As soon as we get a power of Agency signed agreeable to law for Bro Partridge, we will forward it to him, and will immediately expect one from that part of the firm to Bro Newel K Whitney signed in the same manner. We would again say to Bro Edward to be sure to get a form according to law for secureing a gift, we have found by examineing the Law that a gift cannot be retained without this— The truth triumphs gloriously in the East, Multitudes are embracing it.
- e I Sidney [Rigdon] who write this letter in behalf of the Presidency have had the privilege of seeing my aged Mother Baptized into the faith of the Gospel a few weeks since at the advanced age of seventy five, she now resides with me. We send by this mail a draft of the City of Zion with explanations, and a draft of the house to be built immediately in Zion for the presidency as well as all purposes of Religion and instruction. Kirtland, the Stake of Zion, is strengthening continually, when they [the?] enemies look at her, they wag their heads and march along. We anticipate the day when the enemies will have fled away and be far from us. You will remember that the power of agency must be signed by the wives as well as their husbands, and the wives must be examined separate & apart from the husband the same as signing a deed, and a specification to that effect inserted at the bottom by the Justice before whom said acknowledgement is made, otherwise the power will be of non[e] effect. Clarrissa Bachellor of Boston wants her paper discontinued because she has gone from the place, and she has turned from the faith. Send a paper to Joshua Baley Andover Vermont

Should you not understand the explanations Sent with the drafts you will inform us, so as you may have a proper understanding, for it is meet that all things should be done according to the pattern— The following errors we have found in the commandments as printed 40th. Chap 10th. verse third line, instead of corruptable put corrupted 14 verse of the same chapter 5th. line instead of respecter to persons, put respecter of persons. 21st. verse 2nd. line of the same chapter, instead of respecter to, put respecter of 44 Chapter 12 verse last line, instead of hands, put heads—

Bro Edward Sir, I proceed to answer your questions concerning the consecration of Property. First, it is not right to condescend to verry great paticulars in takeing inventories. the fact is this, that a man is bound by the law of the church to consecrate to the Bishop before he can be considered a legal heir to the Kingdom of Zion, and this too, without constraint, and unless he does this, he cannot be acknowledged before the Lord on the Church Book. Therefore, to condescend to particulars, I will tell you that every man must be his own judge how much he should receive, and how much he should suffer to remain in the hands of the Bishop. I speak of those who consecrate more than they need for the support of themselves and family The matter of consecration must be done by the mutual consent of both parties— For, to give the Bishop power to say how much every man shall have and he be obliged to comply with the Bishops judgment, is giving to the Bishop more power than a King has and upon the other hand, to let every man say how much he needs and the Bishop obliged to comply with his judgment, is to throw Zion into confusion and make a Slave of the Bishop. The fact is, there must be a balance or equilibrium of power between the bishop and the people, and thus harmony and good will may be preserved among you. Therefore, those persons consecrating property to the Bishop in Zion, and then receiveing an inheritance back, must show reasonably to the Bishop that he wants as much as he claims. but in case the two parties can<not> come to a mutual agreement, the Bishop is to have nothing to do about receiveing their consecrations and the case must be laid before a council of twelve high Priests, the Bishop not being one of the council, but he is to lay the case before them. Say to Bro Gilbert that we have no means in our power to assist him in a pecuniary point, as we know not the hour when we shall be Sued for debts which we have contracted ourselves in N[ew] York. Say to him that he must exert himself to the utmost to obtain means himself to replenish his Store for it must be replenished and it is his duty to attend to it. We were not a little surprised to hear that some of our letters of a public nature which we sent for the good of Zion <have been> kept back from the Bishop, this is conduct which we highly disapprove, Answers to queries in Bro Phelps [William W. Phelps's] letter of June 4th. First in relation to the poor, when the Bishops are appointed according to our recommendation, it will involve upon them to see to the poor according to the laws of the church. In regard to the printing of the New translation it cannot be done until we can attend to it ourselves, and this we will do as soon as the Lord permit— As to Bro Frederick [G. Williams], all members of the United Firm are considered one, The order of the literary firm is a matter of stewardship which is of the greatest importance and the mercantile establishment God commanded ~~for~~ to be devoted to the support thereof, and God will bring every transgressor into judgment. Say to the Brethren Hulits and to all others that the Lord never authorized them to say that the Devil nor his angels nor the Sons of perdition should ever be restored, for their state of destiny was not revealed to man, is not revealed, nor ever shall be revealed save to those who are made partakers thereof, consequently, those who teach this doctrine have not received it of the Spirit of the Lord, Truly, Bro Oliver [Cowdery] declared it to be the doctrine of devils. We therefore, command that this doctrine be taught no more in Zion— We sanction the decission of the Bishop and his council in relation to this doctrine being a bar of communion The number of disciples in K[irtland] is, about 150 We have commenced building the House of the Lord in this place, and it goes on rapidly— Good news from the East and South, of the success of the Labourers is often saluteing our ears, a general time of health among us, families all well and day and night <we pray> for the salvation of Zion. We deliver Bro Ziba [Peterson] over to the buffetings of Satan in the name of the Lord, that he may learn not to transgress the commandments of God. We conclude our letter by the usual salutation in token of the new and everlasting covenant

We hasten to a close because the mail is just going

Joseph Smith Jr
Sidney Rigdon
F, G, Williams
Martin Harris

Orson Hyde Clk of for the presidency

P.S. We feel gratified with the way in which Bro William is conducting the Star at present we hope he will seek to render it more and more interesting. In [re]lation to the size of Bishopricks when Zion is once properly regulated there will be a Bishop to each to each square of the size of the one we send you with this; but at present it must be done according to wisdom. It is needful Brethren that you should be all of one heart and of one mind in doing the will of the Lord. there should exist the greatest freedom and familiarity among the Rulers in Zion. We were exceeding sorry to hear the complaint which was made in Bro Edwards letter that the letters attending the olive leaf had been kept from him as it is meet that he should know all thing[s] in relation to Zion as the Lord has appointed him to be a judge in Zion. We hope dear Brethren that the like circumstance will not take place again— When we direct letters to Zion to any of the High Priests which pertains to the regulation thereof, we always design that they Should be laid before the Bishop so as to enable him to perform his duty, we say say so much hoping that it will be received in Kindness and our Brethren be careful about each others feelings and walk in love honoring one another more than themselves as is required of the Lord...

Kirtland 2^d July 1833—

Brother John Smith— (2^d)

We <have> just received your letter of the 8th of June, which seems to have been wrttn [written] in a Spirit of Justification on your part; You well recollect that previous to your leaveing this place you was tryd before the Bishops Court which found you guilty of misdemeanor— and desided that you should no longer retain your authaurety in the Church. all of which we ~~appproove~~ as presidents of of the High Priesthood Sanction. ~~you name~~ you nam[e] something in your letter that took place at Bro— Alneys [Oliver Olney's] in Shalersville on the 27th, and 28th, of August which we perfectly ~~Agree~~ recollect and had you have made such Confession as you was required to at Chipiway [Chippewa], all things would have worked together
b for <your> good; and as I told you, but you did not manifest that degree of humility to the bretheren that was required, but remained obstenate, for that <reason> God withdrew his Spirit from you and left <you> in the in darkness. ~~darkness~~ in your letter you say many hard things against the Bretheren Especially Father Smith Br Reyolds [Reynolds Cahoon] the Bishop &c— all which we highly disaprove,— it seems also that your son Eden [Smith] is confederate with you and needs to repent together with yourself in all humility; before the Lord; or you must expect to be dealt with agreeable to the Laws of the Church.

we say you are no more than a private member in the Church,

Dear Brethren it is truly painful to be under the ~~painful~~ necessity of writing on a subject which engages our attention at this time viz the case of John Smith and Eden Smith his son. we have Just received a letter from you concerning their standing in the Church, we do not hold them in fellowship we would inform you that John Smith has been dealt with and his authority taken from him and you are required not to receive his teachings but to treat him as a transgressor until he repents and humbles himself before the Lord to the entire satisfaction of the Church and also you have authority to call a conference
b and sit in Judgment on Edens case and deal with him as the law directs we feel to rebuke the Elders of that <branch of the> church of Christ for not magnifying their office and letting the transgressor go unpunished we therefore enjoin upon you to be watchful on your part and search out enequity and put it down wherever it may be found you will see by this brethren that you have authority to sit in council on the Smiths and if found Guilty to deal with them accordingly we have this day directed a letter [to] John Smith thereby making known to him our disaprobation of the course he has persued.—

We commend you [to] God and his grace ever praying he will keep and preserve you blameless till he come.

Dear Brethren—

Yours of the 3d of June came safe to hand the last mail and John Smith which was directed to Br Joseph now my brethren on this sheet you have Bro Joseph sanction to my proceedings and the letter I last wrote you and you will govern yourselves accordingly for you have full power and authority to call the two Bro Smiths to an account for their conduct and unless they repent and make satisfaction not only to your branch of the church but also to this branch they must be cut off from the body for under existing circumstances we have no fellowship with them Bro John Smith authority as an officer in the church was taken from him before he left and he ought to have given up his License but he went away without doing so and it seems he has made use of it to impose upon you— as to the two sisters you spoke of in your last. if there is no testamony on either side all you can do is to forbid them to partake of the Sacrament unworthly and pray much and God will bring all thing to light

Kirtland 2^d. of August 1833—

The word of the Lord unto Joseph Sidney [Rigdon] and Frederick [G. Williams], verely I say unto you my friends I speak unto you with my voice even the voice of my spirit that I may shew unto you my will concerning your brethren in the Land of Zion many of whom are truly humble and are seeking dilligently to Learn wisdom and to find truth, verely verely I say unto you blessed are all such for they shall obtain for I the Lord sheweth mercy unto all the meek and upon all whomsoever I will that I may be justified when I shall bring them into judgment behold I say unto you concerning [the school] in Zion I the Lord am well pleased that there should be a school in Zion and also with my servant Parley [P. Pratt] for he abideth in me and inasmuch as he continue to abide in me he shall continue to preside over the school in the Land of Zion and I will bless him with a multiplicity of blessings in expounding all scriptures and mysteries to the Edefication of the school and of the church in Zion and to the residue of the school I the Lord am willing to shew mercy nevertheless there are those that must needs be chastened and their work shall be mad[e] known, the ax is laid at the root of the trees and evry tree that bringeth not forth good fruit shall be hewn down and cast into the fire I the Lord hath spoken it, verily I say unto you all among them who know their hearts are honest and are broken and their spirits contrite and are willing to observe their covenants by sacrifice yea every sacrifice which I the Lord shall command they are all accepted of me for I the Lord will cause them to bring forth as a very fruitful tree which is planted in a goodly land by a pure stream that yealdeth much precious fruit, Verely I say unto you that it is my will that an house should be built unto me in the Land of Zion like unto the pattern which I have given you yea let it be built speedely by the tithing of my people behold this is the tithing and the sacrifice which I the Lord require at the hand of there hands that there may be an house built unto me for the salvation of Zion for a place of thanksgiving for all saints and for a place of instruction for all those who are called to the work of the ministry in all their several callings and offices that they may be perfected in the understanding of their ministry in theory in principle and in doctrine in all thing[s] pertaining to the Kingdom of God on the earth the keys of which kingdom have been confered upon you and inas much as my people build an house unto me in the name of the Lord and do not suffer any unclean thing to come into it that it be not defiled my glory shall rest upon it yea and my presence shall be therefor I will come into it and all the pure in heart that shall come into it shall see God but if it be defiled I will not come into it and my glory shall not be there for I will not come into unholy temples and now behold if Zion do these things she shall prosper and spread herself and become very glorious very great and very tereble and the Nations of the earth shall honor her and shall say surely Zion is the city of our God and surely Zion cannot fall neithe[r] be mooved out of her place for God is there and the hand of the Lord is there and he hath sworn by the power of his might to be her salvation and her high tower therefore verily thus saith the Lord let Zion rejoice for this Zion the pure in heart therefore let Zion rejoice while all the wicked shall mourn for behold and lo vengeance cometh speedily upon the ungodly as the whirlwind and who shall escape it the Lords scourge shall shall pass over by night and by day and the report thereof shall vex all people yet it shall not be staid until the Lord come for the indignation of the Lord is kindled against their abominations and all their wicked works nevertheless Zion shall escape if she observe to do all things whatsoever I have commanded her but if she observe not to do whatsoever[r] I have commanded her I will visit her according to all her works with sore afflictions with pestilence with plague with sword with vengeance with devouring fire nevertheless let it be read this once in their ears that I the Lord have accepted of their offering but if she sin no more none of these things shall come upon her and I will bless her with blessings and multiply a multiplicity of blessing upon her and upon her generation for ever and ever saith the Lord your God Amen
